THEATRICAL.

Following his last summer's phenomenal success of 100 nights on Broadway, Sig. Creatore, the great conductor and his Italian Band, under the management of Howard Pew and Frank Gerth, went on an extended concert tour of the south, west and New England, and met with a success which is generally known and appreciated. In all of these places he broke the concert attendance records, and received the highest possible praise of the musical critics. Creatore is now taking a much needed rest of a couple of weeks in Atlantic City, after which he will give two weeks to rehearsal and open in Philadelphia for three weeks and then go to New York City for another summer season.

Fresh from Broadway triumphs Henry W. Savage will present George Ade's merry musical play "The Sultan of Sulu," with music by Alfred G. Wathall, at the Manhattan Beach Theatre on Saturday evening, June 27. It will inaugurate the summer season at Manhattan Beach and the production and cast will be the same that made "The Sultan of Sulu" a six months success at Wallack's Theatre. In a season noted for its many musical plays "The Sultan of Sulu" won far and away the most favor and was conceded to be the hit of the year in New York. Clean, clear-cut, sparkling wit and novel situations characterize "The Sultan of Sulu." In a new atmosphere on the Atlantic's shore the merry Sultan and his followers during their twoweeks stay are sure to be greeted bybig audiences. Frank Moulan will again be the Sultan Ki-Ram.

In the Suburbs.

These are the days when the suburbanite delights in tantalizing the coped-up city man, for he points out the advantages of the green fields and the delights of out-door life, and compares them with the dusty, paved streets, the absence of trees, and everything of nature and what man likes best—freedom. The New Jersey Central stands first as the commuter's road, and its towns are among the finest suburban places in the country. The General Passenger Department of the New Jersey Central, New York, has just issued an expensive booklet, known as "Within the Suburban Limits," and the book contains much of interest to those interested in suburban life. Send 4 cents in stamps for it.

—The lawn festival of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. has been postponed until today. It is to be held on Pierre Malli's lawn.

—The case in tort of Borman against Battalia which was to receive a hearing in Justice Mosher's court yesterday morning was adjourned to June 19. The disputants will probably settle their difficulty out of court.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS, or
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

WHAT IS WORN.

The Vogue of Embroideries—Canvas a Smart Material.

Embroideries still prevail, and the newest are on velvet, but in silk they now take the form of connected motifs or strings of medallions in two or three sizes. In fact, all trimmings aim at being detachable and are repeated in varying widths, so that the modiste can use the same pattern throughout the toilet.

Canvas is quite a smart material for a summer wrap, and lined with taffeta and bedecked with embroidery or incrusted with lace it is really delightful for summer wear. The biscuit and putty tints are mostly favored, but a soft pinky gray is charming if bearing as well a wee touch of black in its decoration of lace.

The new cotton goods are less effective this season, and there are many small stripes which invariably lack style when made up. There are any number of delaines with exquisite designs of the floral and pompadour order, but somehow delaine never suggests a smart gown, and it is more suitable for morning gowns, home tea gowns and the less dressy type of blouse.

The sketch shows a simple little gown of figured challie. It is trimmed with lines of fagoting.

FOR SUMMER WEAR.

The New Muslins and Batistes—Some Evening Coats.

The new muslins and semitransparent batistes are as charming as ever, and the finer ones are strewed with floral sprays and groups, which appear as if painted. The new chiffon of heavier make is like an extremely fine voile and is termed chiffon de soie and voile de soie. This has more substance than chiffon and is admirable for gauged skirts.

Evening coats are of various types, but a rich satin much powdered with lace motifs and bordered in the same fashion makes a recherche garment. There should be of course a deep pelerine cape liberally enriched with lace and some fussy ruched frills of chiffon. Handsome evening coats are of accordion plaited crepe de soie over a shaped glace lining, and these have the inevitable deep cape and stole ends of lace.

Sleeves are growing fuller and wider. The latest Vienna and Paris models show a very long shoulder and a sleeve actually gathered at the top.

The cut shows a pretty gown of mauve pastel cloth. The toque is of wall flowers. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Elizabeth, N. J., May 13, 1903.

The Honorable, The Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J.

Gentlemen—The undersigned represent that they command the three companies of the National Guard located within the County of Union, viz.: Companies C and I located at Elizabeth, and Company K located at Plainfield, and we would respectfully request, that in making up your budget for the ensuing fiscal year, you appropriate a certain amount for each of these companies, payable to the commandants thereof, and to be expended by them under the supervision of the Regimental Commander for the maintenance of suitable Armory accommodations, as provided for in the statute which authorizes your body to so appropriate (see page 444 of the general statutes of New Jersey, section 198, under title of "Chosen Freeholders.")

We would further represent, that the cost of maintenance for each of these companies is greatly in excess of the funds available from the State, by reason of the heavy expense of hiring or leasing and maintaining drill room and armory quarters for the companies; that heretofore the members have been assessed to make up the deficiency.

This is not possible any longer, neither is it right nor just.

We are prepared to show that nearly every county in the State in which companies of the National Guard are organized make an appropriation annually for this purpose.

We therefore pray that your honorable Board will give this, our petition, favorable consideration, and we most respectfully request the privilege of appearing before your committee on appropriations, when appointed, at which time we will be prepared to submit additional facts and figures.

Respectfully submitted,
Louis J. Park,
Captain Com'd'g Co. C.
Conrad Hall,
Captain Com'd'g Co. I.
Wm. B. Martin,
Captain Commanding Co. K.

Approved:
Dennis F. Collins,
Colonel Commanding 2d Regiment.

On motion of Freeholder King, received and referred to the committee on appropriations when appointed.

The Director announced the appointment of the following committees:

Appropriations — Freeholders Farrell, Westphal, Krouse, Brucklacher and Woodruff. Collector's Bond—Freeholders Connoly, Klu and McCandless.

On motion of Freeholder King, it was ordered that this Board does now adjourn.

Director Hubbard declared the Board adjourned until Thursday, May 28, 1903, at 2:30 p. m.

S. Rusling Ryno, Clerk.

"The Sioux!"

In the pioneer days of the Northwest their coming brought terror to the hearts of the settlers. We expect to bring pleasure to our readers by announcing that within a short time we shall begin the publication of a new serial story in which these red warriors figure, entitled:

"A Daughter of the Sioux"

It is a sufficient guarantee of its quality for us to say that it is written by that prince of American fiction writers,

GENERAL CHARLES KING.

The story deals with conditions in the Northwest following the days of the Custer massacre. It is full of that spirited kind of action that General King puts into his stories of the American army, and through it runs a fascinating and unusual love story. It is the best story that has been offered in newspaper form for years.

CHILDREN'S DAY IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES

Interesting Exercises Attract Large Crowds to Plainfield Edifices.

LITTLE ONES TAKE PART

A PROFUSION OF FLOWERS LENDS BEAUTY TO THE SERVICES.

Baptism in Trinity Reformed, First Presbyterian and Congregational Churches—Features of the Exercises—Those Taking Part.

Children's Day was observed in the majority of local churches yesterday and the exercises were unusually interesting.

TRINITY REFORMED.

Children's Day was happily and appropriately observed at Trinity Reformed Church, yesterday morning, when the Sunday-school, as well as the members of the church and congregation united in a pleasing programme. The edifice was prettily decorated with large flags and a profusion of flowers, including daisies, ferns, palms, etc. The exercises were in charge of Superintendent F. E. Smith, although Mrs. J. M. Tier, as superintendent of the primary department, conducted the exercises of the little folks, all of whom acquitted themselves creditably. The fact that it was "Flay Day" was not forgotten and about 150 small American flags were carried by the children.

The children who took part in the programme, either in recitation or song, were these: Ada Smith, Elsie Debele, Anna Vail, May Titus, Anna Lee, Mildred Creamer, Beatrice Bodine, Beatrice Tier, Marguerite Barkalew, Ella Porter, Madeline Blair, Margaret Hope, Helen Saffron, Lillie Schleif, Helen Garretson, Adelaide Cole, Clara Lee, Maude MacFee, Gladys Mead, Walter Fisher, Ernest Higgins, Thomas Lindsay, Eadon Day, Helen Woolley, Rosamon Rogers, Raymond Stevens, Blanche Derry, Ernest Stevens, Ralph Martin, Percy Emory, Russell Abbott, Edward Schorb, Clifford Cole, Helen Roberts, Margaret VanDeventer, Edna Oliver, Elsie Tier, Ethel Vail, Edith Richards, Ella Case, and Bessie Randall, the last named representing the infermediate department.

After the recitation and songs, Rev. Dr. Schenck gave a patriotic address, in which he referred to "Flag Day," and gave an interesting explanation of the meaning of it. After the talk, Miss Derby, soprano, sang an offertory solo. During the service the "Star Spangled Banner," was sung by the entire congregation and the service closed with the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Mention is due Miss Nettie Krietling for her effort in training the children in the music rendered.

A feature of the services was the baptism by the pastor of six infants, Clifford Voorhees Williams, William Carman Trembath, Beatrice M. Runyan, Kenneth Garretson Voorhees, Helen Elizabeth Egel, Rowland Elmore Wilson.

HOPE MEMORIAL CHAPEL.

Children's Day at Hope Chapel was observed by an appropriate programme in which all the members of the Sunday-school had a part. Following an opening song and prayer, a chorus of Juniors sang "The Children Are Coming Today." Ten primary students sang "The Tree's Friends," and a recitation, "Praise Ye the Lord," was given by Leslie Randolph, Elmer DeHarte, Eva Edmunds and Ida Lowden. Others taking part were the Misses Anna Warnock, Nellie Schlick, Lizzie Porter, Laura Warnock, Alice Rimmer, Minnie Ayers, Barbara Schlick, May Ayers, Grace Graves and Helen Taylor, and Harry Kenny and Willie Lawrence. W. D. Murray, of the Crescent Avenue Church, told several interesting and instructive stories.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Under the auspices of the Sunday-school of the First M. E. Church, yesterday afternoon, Children's Day exercises of an interesting character were held. The programme opened with a selection by an orchestra composed of Robert Davis, cornet; R. Wilson Derby, Elmer E. Cutting, violin; Alvah Davis, piccalo; Kenneth Shupp, trombone and Archibald Derby, double bass. This orchestra also accompanied the school in the rendition of special songs.

There was a contralto solo by Mrs. S. H. Tugwell, an exercise by the beginners' class entitled "Colors of Our Flag," in which Mildred Burnett was the leader. "Salute of the Colors," with Kenneth Forman as color bearer, was a pretty exercise by the primray department. A feature of the programme was an exercise entitled "The History of the Flag." The several flags were carried and represented by these scholars: "Pine Tree," Leslie Leland; "Rattlesnake," Harold Mulford; "Crescent," Russell Lawrence; "Union," Clarence Lawrence; "Stars and Stripes," G. M. Rittenhouse. The programme was in chrage of Superintendent J. R. Joy and during the exercises there were remarks by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass. The decorations were arranged by George E. Horne and Albert Steiner. The members of the primary department carried small American flags in honor of "Flag Day."

GRACE M. E.

Ruth Earp, the daughter of Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp, was baptized yesterday morning at the Grace M. E. Church by Presiding Elder Rev. Dr. Daniel Halleron. At the same time Helen Brown Warrin was baptized by Rev. Dr. E. L. Earp, assisted by Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll. This marked the opening of the Children's Day exercises. Special music was rendered by Dyckman Winkler and Bert Simpson, on the violin and piano.

A sermon was preached by the pastor on "Education, a Safeguard to Society." After the exercises over a hundred plants in pots were presented to the children.

Those taking part were: Miss Myra Lippincott, who made the address of welcome, Miss Clara Bodenheimer, Helen Adams, Howard Titus, Margaret Darby, Evelyn Nelson, Hilda Storey, Lillian Titus, Edna Stewart, Mabel Winans, Elva Lippincott, Edith Lippincott, Ray Stewart, Violet and Lillian Titus, Florence Johns, Beatrice Pope, Alice Mason, Edna Sebring, Bessie Conroy, Minnie Nelson, Etta Bodenheimer, Jennie Nelson, Lillian Teeter. The committee in charge was Mrs. Anna Most, Mrs. M. Giddes, Mrs. Dyckman Winkler and Andrew Wilson.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

At the exercises at the First Presbyterian Church yesterday morning almost thirty scholars were promoted from one class into another. The promotions followed the Children's Day exercises which were largely attended. Those who went from the Mrs. Edgar William's primary class to the intermediate department in charge of Superintendent E. M. Cave, were Ella Adams, Pauline Gates, Mamie Hook, Frank Dunning, Sadie Leacock, Bernice McClintock, Perry Doty, Barbara Surbridge, George Townley, Dorcus Hazzard, Murray Cadwald, Charlotte Surbridge, Schuyler Line, Ada Woodworth and Estelle Karner.

Fourteen children were promoted from the intermediate department to the main school. They were: Ruth Kline, Edith Schenck, Ruth Wean, Winnifred Caldwald, Eloise Dimond, Ruth Murphy, Henrietta Englehart, Mabel Townley, Preston Dunning, Ray Boice, Newell Karner, Alfred Korff, Leo Leek. The welcoming address was made by Superintendent Cave who spoke of the advice of Paul to Timothy carrying the thought that the children should dutifullly study the Bible. Rev. Charles E. Herring made a short address to the children in which he took the title text of the exercises, "All for Jesus." The choir sang special music and Elmer Cutting and Miss Etta Raybert rendered anthems appropriate to the day. Miss Leah Hammond read Dr. Warden's letter from the Board of Missions. Those taking part individually in the exercises were: Craig Blair, Harold Phifer, Miss Barbara Surbridge, Sadie Leacock, Pauline Gates, Ada Woodworth.

The committee in charge of the arrangements were Mr. Dunning, Chas. Hummer, Mrs. Harry Williams, Miss Nettie Remsen, Miss Jennie Abbott.

ALL SOULS' UNITARIAN.

Prizes were awarded to meritorious pupils at the Children's Day exercises at All Souls' Unitarian Church yesterday morning. At the service preceeding the exercises in the morning the child of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis P. Gaston, of Somerville, was baptized by the pastor of the church, Rev. Alfred C. Nickerson. Four young people were received into the church. They were: Harold W. Durar, William Montague Durar, Mary R. Woolston and Harold R. Brownell. Special services for the children were held in the Sunday-school room after the regular church service. Reports were read from each class, one member of each department giving a short outline of the work done during the past fiscal year.

All the reports showed that good work had been accomplished and that the Sunday-school was on a solid

All the games on local diamonds were well attended Saturday afternoon, but interest chiefly centered at Crescent Oval, when the independent nine scored a brilliant victory over Madison. This is a brief account of the games.

CITY LEAGUE.

Safe Works lost for the first time this season, going down in the dust before St. Mary's, 11 to 4. St. Mary's fielding contrasted favorably with the exhibition given by their opponents. Carr was steady and reliable in the box. Braeme, for the Safe Works, had to give way in the seventh to Burns. Score:

Inability to hit Kinney, the Hope pitcher, coupled with hard hitting and sharp fielding by Hope, proved the downfall of the Y. M. C. A. team at Hope Common. Three of Y. M. C. A.'s best players were replaced by substitutes. The score:

Hope—Martin, ss; Hewitt, 2b; Dodge, 3b; Bolan, c; Kinney, p; Overton, rf; Shortman, cf; Symons, 1b; Roseberry, lf.

ASSOCIATION LEAGUE.

By achieving an overwhelming victory the Reform Club came up a peg in the position for the Association League pennant in the game with the Clinton Avenue team. The result of the game places the Reform Club and the Clinton Avenue team on an even basis, each nine having won four games and lost two.

The playing by the Reform Club was good while the Clinton Avenue Club worked hard but seemed to be outclassed. The Cuban Giants won the game with the Orange Field Club by two runs. This gives the colored nine three wins and three loses and leaves the Orange Field Club still at the bottom of the list.

ALIS' FINE VICTORY.

One of the prettiest exhibitions of baseball this season took place on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon, between Alis and the Madison A. C., the home team being victorious. Day, a strong pitcher from New York, occupied the box for Alis and his work was of the highest order. Richardson, Alis' first baseman, played a phenomenal game. He made two brilliant left-handed catches, ordinarily good for clean hits, and distinguished himself by making a three base hit at a time when there were two men on bases. Early in the game Barnes split his hand and he went to centre, while Page, a new man, went behind the bat. His work was fine, as was also that of Worthly, another new man who played third. Hemminger put up a strong game at short, while Ralph Schoonmaker covered second base in a brilliant manner. The entire outfield did good work.

As for Madison the team played good ball, holding its opponents down in clever fashion. Henderson, the crack Cornell pitcher, and Stratton occupied the points for the team and his work was of the best. Poor support at times, was responsible for the team's defeat. At the bat, Madison was unable to bunch hits and place them safely, although in general the team played fast ball.

WESTFIELD WINS.

Westfield defeated Scotch Plains Saturday at Recreation Park, Westfield, 4 to 0, in a game in which the umpire played a leading part. Scotch Plains claimed that three of Westfield's runs were gifts of the umpire, Traphagen. Minnahan, the old Manhattan college twirler for Westfield, struck out fifteen men and allowed only two hits. Davis, for Scotch Plains, was almost equally effective. The umpire's decisions on balls and strikes were acknowledged by both sides to be unfair to both teams. Mr. Traphagen narrowly escaped mobbing by disappointed spectators after the game, the protection of the police being necessary to conduct him safely to his carriage. The summary:

A KITCHEN SHOWER.

Friends Make Useful Gifts to Popular Young Couple.

An affair of much interest was the "kitchen shower" given to Miss Louella Clawson at her home in the Lincoln building in West Fourth street, Saturday evening. Nearly forty young friends of Miss Clawson and Asa F. Randolph, to whom she is engaged, visited her home, taking with them utensils sufficient to furnish a kitchen completely. The whole affair was a complete surprise to both Miss Clawson and Mr. Randolph and was an evidence of the high esteem in which the popular couple are held.

Growing Worse.

Peter Newmiller, of Warrenville, the father of Wm. Newmiller, who was killed while hurrying home from Texas to attend the sick bed of his parent, took a sudden turn for the worse last evening. During the past few days his family have been hopeful of his recovery, but last night he suffered a relapse. Grave fears are entertained for his recovery.

In Honor of Sister.

Miss Mildred Tyrell and Miss Nellie Todd, of East Third street, entertained a few friends Saturday evening. The social was held in honor of Miss Todd's sister, Miss Mabel Todd, of Trenton. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games and listening to music until a late hour when refreshments were served.

Charles J. Fisk will leave on Wednesday for Lakewood, where he hopes to fully regain his strength.

The services were conducted at the home of the dead man on Lee place. Rev. Lawrence R. Howard officiated.

At the house the floral display was handsome. A large pillow, a token from fellow employes, was the most conspicuous of the array of sweet smelling blossoms. Thirty of the men from the local line were in attendance at the funeral in their uniforms. Representatives were present from the Elizabeth lines and the officials of the company were represented by Division Superintendent Phillip Maguire. Out of respect to the memory of the departed the trolley men on the local lines wore crepe on their sleeves all day.

AID IN KANSAS CITY

Relief Committee Asks More Help For Sufferers.

MANY THOUSANDS YET ON CHARITY

These Cannot Be Supplied Without Outside Aid, and If Withheld Dire Suffering and Even Death Must Result.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 15.—The relief committee of Kansas City, Kan., has given out the following:

"In connection with relief for the flood sufferers in Kansas City, Kan., it is very important that the people of the United States should understand that there are two Kansas Citys—Kansas City in Missouri, with about 280,000 people, and Kansas City in Kansas, with over 60,000 people, adjoining the former city on the west and separated from it by the state line; that each city has a separate organization for the relief of its flood sufferers and that in Kansas City, Kan., an area including 23,000 people has been swept by a rushing flood of from ten to thirty feet in depth which has carried away more than one-third of the houses in this district, has almost ruined another third and that in the entire district the merchandise, household goods and clothing have either been washed away or almost totally ruined by a ten days' submersion and a deposit in all buildings of from two to four feet of mud.

"With the falling of the water employment to a large number has been given and the conditions thereby much improved. There remain, however, many thousands dependent on charity for shelter, food, clothing and the most meager outfit of cooking utensils and furniture. These cannot be supplied without outside aid, and unless it is furnished to a large amount the most dire suffering and widespread sickness and even death must result. No more worthy or urgent cause can be presented than that of the flood sufferers of Kansas City, Kan., and we appeal to the generous people of the country to aid in supplying these pressing needs of our stricken people. Money and supplies should be sent to T. B. Gilbert, Mayor of Kansas City, Kan."

The first Sunday trading at the stock yards in the history of the local market prevailed here yesterday, all departments being open. The business of buying and selling cattle and hogs progressed the same as on a weekday. The market was kept open at the request of shippers and feeders close to Kansas City, who have experienced difficulty in obtaining feed because of the conditions resulting from the recent flood.

French Religious Riots.

PARIS, June 15.—Troubles were anticipated on the occasion of the Corpus Christi procession, the Anticlericals threatening to provoke counter demonstrations. In Paris the day passed off without any serious incidents even at churches like the Madeleine and St. Sulpice, where, disregarding the advice of the prefect of police, processions issued from the edifices and marched around the church inclosures. Some disturbances, however, are reported from the provinces. At Nantes, where the prefect forbade the processions, the Clericals mobbed the prefecture, stoned and broke the windows and smashed two sentry boxes. Detachments of gendarmes and dragoons drove back the demonstrators. A collision also occurred between the Catholics and Socialists, in which several persons were badly injured and thirty others arrested. The principal squares in Nantes are occupied by the troops to prevent further disorders. Minor disturbances are also reported from Brest, Dunkerque, Lyons and other places.

New Haven Gardener Drowned.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 15.—John MacArthur, a gardener, was accidentally drowned near the Sperry lighthouse, MacArthur, with two companions, George G. Elie and James Judson, were fishing in a sailboat. MacArthur leaned over the side of the boat, and a strong wave gave the craft such a lurch that he was thrown into the water. None of the men was able to swim. The two men remaining in the boat took turns in dropping themselves into the water in an attempt to catch MacArthur. To do this one man remained in the boat and held on to the heels of the other while he hung over the side. They repeatedly changed places in this daring attempt to catch the body of their companion, but the current was so strong that MacArthur was soon carried away. MacArthur leaves a wife and nine children.

Emil Ziner Arrested.

QUEENSTOWN, June 15.—Dr. Emil Ziner, who was detained at New York on his arrival on the Oceanic on a cable dispatch from the Austro-Hungarian consul general in London and later sent back on board the steamer Cymric, was arrested here on the Cymric's arrival on a charge of embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretenses. The warrant for his arrest was issued by the Bow street police court, London.

Bandits Active In Cavite.

MANILA, June 15.—Disorder continues in the province of Cavite. The bandits named Felizardo and Montalon, with some followers, recently raided a number of towns. The government is planning a campaign to suppress the troubles.

United States Transport Safe.

MANILA, June 15.—The United States transport Samshui, which June 5 was reported to have been wrecked during the hurricane which swept over the Philippine Islands, has arrived here safely.

HOTELS ARE TIED UP

Chicago Patrons Suffer Hunger and Inconvenience.

EVEN MONEY HAS LOST ITS MAGIC

Owners Are Losing $50,000 Daily and Strikers Half as Much. Many Cafes Are Now Involved.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Patrons of Chicago hotels are eating meals relished with police protection and momentary fear of an invasion of striking waiters. Three hundred policemen are held in constant reserve at headquarters subject to call at any minute to quell possible riots. Patrons who pass into hotels are scrutinized by uniformed officers of the law and are obliged to prove they are not pickets or strike leaders intent on fomenting more trouble. Additional strikes have been declared in ten large restaurants.

Most of the hotels which are affected by the strike are doing business in odd ways. Patrons made the best of a bad situation, raved at what they called the tyranny of organized labor, helped themselves to something to eat when there was no one to serve them and climbed endless flights of stairs to their rooms.

Both sides are as determined as ever. There is no sign of yielding or of compromise. One hotel which signed the scale was peremptorily expelled from the Employers' association.

Were it not for the few faithful old employees who remain at their posts Chicago would be full of hungry men. The crisis has brought the millionaire to the plane of the living which knows little but lunch counters, black coffee and ham sandwiches. Money has lost its magic.

The figure fiend has shown that hotel owners are losing $50,000 a day and the strikers half as much. The one consolation is offered by the health authorities, who declare the resting of Chicago stomachs will be a grand thing for the public health.

In addition to the twenty-six big hotels which were tied up, involving more than 4,000 employees, the following well known cafes are paralyzed: The Hayes, the Baltimore, the Commercial, Weistman's, McCloud's, Faddis & Yerkes', the Unity, McDonnell's, Avery's and two others in Dearborn street.

Hundreds of excited men and women followed the strike committee from place to place, but any show of violence was promptly checked by the police, who accompanied the emissaries of labor on their rounds.

Train loads of negroes from the south and neighboring towns are being rushed to Chicago to take the places of the strikers.

Saengerfest Opens.

BALTIMORE, June 15.—The twentieth triennial saengerfest of the Northeastern Saengerbund of America has been opened here with a "reception concert" in the Fifth Armory hall. A number of singing societies from other cities are here to participate in the grand prize concerts. Thousands of visitors are already here, and it is estimated that there will be an average of 40,000 here until the end of the saengerfest. Among the distinguished guests who will be present are included President Theodore Roosevelt, who will make an address; the German ambassador, Baron von Sternburg, and suite; the Prussian minister of finance, Baron von Rheinbaben, and suite and Governor John Walter Smith and staff.

Monument to Negro Slaves.

BARRINGTON, R. I., June 15.—A monument to negro slaves and their descendants in recognition of valuable domestic and patriotic services before and during the Revolutionary war, the first of its kind to be erected in the United States, has been dedicated here. The memorial is a white quartz bowlder buttressed at the corners by large black stones, emblematic of the interdependent relations of the white and black races, and bears a tablet inscribed, "In memory of negro slaves and their descendants who faithfully served Barrington families."

Waterspout Off Asbury Park.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 15.—Visitors to the beach and board walk witnessed a waterspout out at sea. The spout formed about two miles south of the city and perhaps three miles offshore. It traveled in a northerly course, passing the city, and broke about two miles to the northward and somewhat farther at sea than it formed. The whirling column of water appeared to be a couple of hundred feet in diameter at the base. The beach men say they never heard of another on this section of the coast.

France Also Has Floods.

ST. ETIENNE, France, June 15.—Violent rain storms have flooded many mines in this region, compelling a suspension of work. Washouts have also interrupted railway traffic. The rivers Loise, Mare and Glen are in flood, while the Loire is ten feet above its usual level at Balbigny. The damage caused by inundations is already estimated at millions of francs.

Declines Appointment as Governor.

MANILA, June 15.—The government, which intends to appoint an army officer to be governor of Cavite province, offered the post to Captain Shanks of the Eighteenth infantry regiment, but the latter has declined the offer.

Trolley Car Kills Child.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 15.—Christian Schairer, aged six years, was struck by a trolley car and sustained injuries from which he died a few hours after.

Have you made a contribution for the support of the King's Daughters' baby camp? If not, there is no better time to do so than now. Do something for charity's sake!

Once more the flag waves from the high mast at the foot of Park avenue. We wish to thank the person who raised it. Now let it be seen every day from sunrise until sunset during the summer. There will be no difficulty in obtaining funds for a new banner, when the present one is no longer fit for use.

It is quite probable that the Amateur Baseball League's managers will take definite action this evening as to the future of that organization. It is hinted that a least one of the teams will withdraw and that there is a likelihood that two other teams will have to quit the league at an early date. The outlook for this organization since semi-professionalism was introduced has been dark and it is not improbable that there will be a disbandment before the season closes.

Mr. Cleveland has shown his usual common sense in refusing to harness himself to work. His decision to decline the presidency of the University of Virginia, should meet with general approval. That he would be a worthy successor of Thomas Jefferson as the head of this institution there is no doubt, but is there any honor which can be properly bestowed upon a former President? He has reached the highest pinnacle and the acceptance of any other office subsequently would be a step backward. An appointment the Bench of the Supreme Court of the United States or an ambassadorship to the Court of St. James might be a fitting honor for a former President, but there is a well grounded opinion that there is no office good enough for one who has been the chief executive of the Nation. "What shall we do with our Ex-Presidents?" is a question often asked. The best thing is to let them alone.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

Although Dr. O. L. Jenkins, Plainfield's Mayor, believes and practices homeopathy, he had an opportunity a few days ago to prescribe an allopathic dose in a difficult case which was brought to his attention. Now, the Mayor is a wag and is fully capable of enjoying a good joke. The other day he discovered two men trying to solve the problem of getting a pet cat out of a tree, and his assistance was asked for. The men had a ladder, but this was too short and was practically useless to accomplish the purpose. While the trio were debating the question and trying hard to solve the problem, His Honor spied a garden hose on the lawn and at once suggested that the men turn the water on the feline. The suggestion was quickly accepted and carried out. Needless to say the cat and men were very profuse in their thanks to Mayor Jenkins for his assistance.

Rev. Dr. A. J. Chambliss, of Orange, who preached in the First Church, yesterday morning and evening, was entertained at the home of Dr. J. B Probasco, of East Front street.

Telephone Agitation.

Editor, The Daily Press:

It would seem the question of permitting another telephone company to operate in this city has not received the attention and public discussion its importance deserves.

One objection made is that if a second company is admitted it will make it necessary for business firms, physicians and others using the present system, to incur the expense of the second also. Is that a sound objection? At this time the very large majority of the people of Plainfield are deprived of the telephone in consequence of its cost, hence the active business of the city is not in that close and immediate touch of its patrons that a more general use of the telephone would supply. The additional expense of, say $15 per annum, is a mere trifle, not to be considered, compared with benefits surely to be received, but would be to that extent a first class investment.

The claim that a new company, if admitted, would tear up things generally and create great discomfort, would apply as well to all or any public improvements. Of course the city would exact a guarantee that all defacements, etc., would be remedied.

Competition very rarely injures the community. X.

Those Drains.

Editor, The Daily Press:

After having had its attention called to the possible dangers of the drains emptying into Stony brook, the North Plainfield Board of Health has acted. There is now no possible chance of contagion from either of the drains, the existence of which, and their dangerous possibilities were called to the attention of the Board by "The Daily Press." It will be remembered that the Board while admitting the existence of the drains vigorously denied that the flow from them was anything but the natural flow from the streets, and claimed that no sewage was being emptied into them.

By the statement of the inspector of the Board as made to E. S. Hooley, and the analysis of the liquid from one of the drains made by H. P. Reynolds at my request "The Daily Press" was able to prove its original contention. I further called the attention of the Board to the existence of the drain and to the results of the analysis in no uncertain way. A further investigation on the part of the representatives of the Health Board followed which resulted in effectively ending the career of both drains.

The drain which emptied out of the property in the rear of the residence of Mr. Hooley was carefully cemented up; the other drain which emptied into the low land close to my residence will be dug up for a distance and the tile pipe removed. Its opening will then be cemented up, making any further flowing impossible. At the same time the Board of Health sent me the following letter:

"The Board of Health at its meeting last night instructed me to acknowledge your letter of May 19th. The borough authorities have agreed to take such action as will remedy all discovered evils as speedily as possible." To this letter I replied:

"I beg to acknowledge receipt of your esteemed favor of 2nd, advising me that the Board of Health has succeeded in inducing the borough authorities to agree to take such action as will insure a remedy for the evils complained of in connection with the discharge of foul matter into Stony brook.

"Congratulating the Board on this issue, and thanking you, I remain,

"Yours truly,

"W. L. Saunders."

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The Watchung A. C. played a return game on Saturday with the Echo A. C., of Cranford. The Cranford team won the first game and the locals wanted to get revenge but unfortunately they weren't able to do it and the game ended in the same way as before, in favor of Cranford. The final score was 16 to 6 and the game was lost mainly through errors in the Watchung infield. Peters, Schenck and Moynihan were the worst offenders in that respect.

While William Herlich was standing on North avenue conversing with some friends he suddenly became very pale. Without a moment's warning he fell over backward in a dead faint. Water was brought and he was revived in a few minutes but was obliged to go home.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The barn of Charles Krammer, of Midway avenue, was burned to the ground early Sunday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown although it is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The first the family knew of the blaze was when Marshal Hockey, of the borough, woke them up. Then it was too late to save anything as the structure was a mass of flames. A cow and calf together with several hundred chickens, that were in a hen house adjoining the stable, were burned to death. No alarm was turned in as the fire was not discovered by the marshal until all chance of saving anything was lost.

Children's Day exercises of the Methodist Sunday-school were held in the church last night. The church was prettily trimmed with flowers and greens arranged tastefully about the pulpit. A pleasing programme of recitations, carols and responsive readings was rendered and enjoyed by a large audience.

The junior team from the village journeyed to the borough Saturday morning to meet the young stars on the Fanwood diamond, but the home team failed to show up for the game, so the juniors claimed it by a score of 9 0.

The locals will line up against the Alis team, of Plainfield, on the Crescent Oval, on Saturday afternoon. A full delegation should go with the team as a good clean game is assured.

An amusing fact to the residents of the 'Plains are the old familiar faces from out of town that are seen upon the streets of the village on Sunday. Wonder what draws them here?

financial basis. Recitations followed, those taking part being: Agnes McCarthy, Hope Sperry, William McCarthy. The pastor, in the absence of the superintendent, E. B. Smith, gave the children a short talk on the day and awarded prizes to Harold Brownell and Charlotte McCarthy who had the best record for regular attendance. Extra music was rendered by Mrs. Bender and Alec VanOss.

CRESCENT AVENUE PRESBYTERIAN.

An elaborate programme in celebration of Children's Day was rendered yesterday morning after the customary services at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church. Following the regular service at which the children of the Sunday-school sang in place of the regular choir, the exercises were held.

The address was made by Rev. Dr. William S. Hubble. He spoke on the lessons of the day and told the children to study their Bibles with regularity and care. Miss Helen Ryder recited several recitations. Prof. Merrian, of the Hartford Theological Seminary, conducted the services and made a short address to the children. The music at the services was especially fine.

Hall was in charge. It being "Flag Day," the room was decorated with American flags and bunting, as well as flowers. Miss Sara Curry gave an interesting talk about her work both in New York and at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. She brought nine children from her New York nursery, who recited and sang to the delight of all.

In the regular programme there were readings by Stewart Freeman, Miss Anna Clark, "A Short Sermon," by Arthur Whitney; cornet solo, by DeWitt C. Frazee; recitation, with organ accompaniment, by Miss Arline Brown; violin duet, by the Misses Arline and Marjorie Brown; an exercise, "The Changed Cross," by the Misses Elinore Stutzman, Alice Brown, Mildred Odam, Autumn DeLany, Lillian Cuming, Marjorie Brown, Susie Whitney, Mabel Stutzman and Edith Whitney. In addition there were patriotic songs by the school. The offering was for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

QUIET AT BELGRADE

National Assembly Will Pronounce For Prince Peter.

NEW RULER WILL FORM MINISTRY.

Many Students Favor a Republican Form of Government, but the De Facto Kind Is In Great Favor With Majority.

BELGRADE, Servia, June 15.—Complete order now prevails in Belgrade, and absolute quiet is reported throughout Servia. The streets of the capital bear an animated appearance, being crowded with officers, ladies and a large number of students who have arrived from abroad, it is believed, with the object of demonstrating in favor of Prince Peter Karageorgevitch as king.

Some republican tendencies are noticeable among the students who have studied in France and Switzerland. These latter, however, are quite overshadowed by the opinion of the majority, and there seems to be no doubt that the national assembly will pronounce today in favor of a monarchy and elect Prince Karageorgevitch.

The newspapers continue to point out the impossibility of the establishment of a republic and advocate the election of Prince Karageorgevitch in order to assure a brighter epoch in Servian politics.

The foreign diplomatists in Belgrade continue to maintain an attitude of strict reserve.

Peter Velimirovitch, one of the oldest and most prominent members of the Radical party and a former minister of state, has been appointed president of the senate in succession to M. Marinkovitch, who has resigned. M. Velimirovitch will take the chair at the joint meeting of the senate and the skupshtina today on the occasion of the election of the new king.

After the election of the king the skupshtina will draw up a programme of procedure for the new sovereign and will then adjourn until the arrival of the king at Belgrade. The sovereign will then form a new ministry and dissolve the skupshtina.

The provisional government has pardoned all persons imprisoned for political and press offenses and ordered their immediate release. No arrests have occurred, nor have any sentences been passed since the royal tragedy.

Prince Karageorgevitch, although little is known of him among the people generally here, seems to have caught the public fancy, and his election will evidently be a popular one.

Queen Natalie has telegraphed inquiring whether she will be permitted to come to Servia and visit her son's grave.

Lieutenant Colonel Milislav Zivanovics of the general staff has committed suicide by shooting himself. It is understood that the officer took his life because among the late king's papers was found a letter from Zivanovics informing him of the plot against his life.

Prince Karageorgevitch will remain at Geneva until notified of the action taken by the skupshtina.

The prince's cousin, Nanatomtch, is expected in Geneva from Belgrade. It is believed that he is the secret leader of the Karageorgevitch movement in Servia. He was imprisoned during the lifetime of King Milan for an attempt to assassinate that monarch.

Bishop of Jaro Consecrated.

ROME, June 15.—The consecrations of Mgr. Rooker, formerly secretary of the apostolic delegation at Washington, as bishop of Jaro, Philippine Islands, and of the Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, formerly of Philadelphia, as bishop of Nueva Segovia were grand and impressive ceremonies, being performed by Cardinal Satolli in the Church of St. John and St. Paul, assisted by Mgr. Gasparri, secretary of the congregation of extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs, and Archbishop Grazioli. The ceremony took place to the accompaniment of beautiful music, which reached its height of sweetness when the newly consecrated bishop, accompanied by the officiating clergy, went through the church giving his first episcopal benediction. Thirty students of the American college, including all those from Philadelphia, which is Bishop Dougherty's archdiocese, were present. Both will proceed to the Philippines by way of America.

Houlihan Killed by Milk Train.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 15.—James Houlihan and his team of horses were instantly killed by a milk train at the Van Woert street crossing of the New York Central here. The train was going at a high rate of speed, and Houlihan was thrown 200 feet. He was driving a carry all which had just discharged a picnic party of sixteen persons. He was a widower, with one child. The Van Woert street crossing is the only grade crossing on the New York Central within the city limits.

Crevasse Reopens at Hollybush.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 15.—The embankment recently built across the crevasse cut in the St. Francis levee at Hollybush by the March overflow has broken before the weight of the rising waters of the Mississippi, and a big stream is pouring through to the lowlands behind the embankment. The new embankment which has been built in the crevasse at Robins bayou has also broken.

Mexico Demands Greenwell.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 15.—The case of J. H. Greenwell, whose extradition on a charge of murdering J. L. Stanfield near Tannlapas is demanded by the Mexican government, has been set for today by United States Commissioner M. C. Arthur.

HOTEL AT JACKSON BURNED.

Owner Was Witness Against Jett and White, Now on Trial.

JACKSON, Ky., June 15.—The City hotel, a three story building, owned by Captain B. J. Ewen, the principal witness against Jett and White, now on trial for the assassination of Lawyer J. B. Marcum, has been burned to the ground. Fifteen guests were in the hotel, but all escaped without injury. There was no insurance on the structure, and the hotel, with its furnishings and the effects of the guests, is a total loss. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the belief is general that the fire was of incendiary origin.

There is no fire department, and the citizens were awakened by the firing of pistols and guns, and much excitement prevailed. A detachment of militia came on the double quick from their camp across the river and rendered valuable aid in assisting the guests to escape and preventing the flames from spreading. Captain Ewen has been kept at the camp of the militia since he testified that he saw Curtis Jett fire the shot which killed Marcum. Nobody was seen to leave the hotel before the fire broke out. It was only two days ago that Jackson was put under martial law. The fire has caused renewed apprehension.

The burning of Ewen's hotel is not only considered as incendiary, but also as accessory to other acts of intimidation in connection with the trial of those accused of the murder of J. B. Marcum, who was an attorney of the contestants for county offices now held by leaders of the faction with which the defendants were identified. It has openly been predicted that arson would go along with assassination, as disciplinary measures might be needed in Breathitt county. It is now stated that other witnesses for the commonwealth are not property owners, but that the jurors, who are farmers, and witnesses who could not be found when detachments of troops were trying to bring them into court are property owners. The burning of Ewen's property not only has caused renewed fear for both life and property, but also has increased the general doubt of conviction of either of the prisoners.

Captain B. J. Ewen was the chief witness for the prosecution in the pending trials of Curtis Jett and Tom White. He testified that he saw Jett as he advanced with pistol in hand to fire the last shot into Marcum's prostrate body as it lay in the courthouse doorway. Through fears for his own safety he testified that he did not dare to allow Sheriff Callahan and County Judge Hargis to know what he had seen. When it did become known he was first a prisoner in his home, and then he fled the county until he could have the protection of troops. His house had been under the guard of soldiers for several weeks, and as a more stringent precaution against assassination he slept in camp at the provost marshal's headquarters.

Several days ago a man visited him at his home and made him a proposition that if he would repudiate what he had related on the witness stand, saying that he testified to what was not true because of the excitement which he was under, he would be given $5,000 by a certain prominent citizen and that if he did not accept this offer he would be assassinated.

He encouraged his visitor to return in the afternoon and stationed two witnesses in a closet, who overheard a repetition of the proposition and the threat, which was accompanied by the tender of five $1,000 notes. No one has doubted that Ewen was in actual danger, but few were prepared for a step so desperate as that which came yesterday, and it is believed generally that the incendiary fire was due to the statement made to State Inspector Hines about the attempted bribery as well as to Ewen's testimony.

Is Hoffmann Prince Rudolph?

DES MOINES, Ia., June 15.—Professor Charles H. Hoffmann, who is said to be Prince Rudolph of Austria, was connected with the faculty of the Iowa Medical college, the medical department of Drake university in this city, for two years. Dean Lewis Schooler, who had known that he was living under an assumed name, desired that he produce diplomas and certificates which would attest his educational standing. Rather than do this and divulge his real name Dr. Hoffmann resigned.

The Asheville Landslide.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 15.—Later developments from Saluda indicate that with even most favorable conditions for work the track cannot be cleared under three weeks' time. Passengers will be transferred from one train to another across the cavern, and comparatively little time will be lost. Freight traffic is completely annihilated until the tracks shall have been completely cleared.

Suicided With Dynamite on Train.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 15.—Joseph M. Crane of Rossville, Ga., killed himself on a Central of Georgia railroad train by means of dynamite. The explosion occurred in the lavatory of the day coach. Crane's body was frightfully mangled, and considerable damage was done to the rear end of the coach.

Cable Is Nearing Midway Island.

MANILA, June 15.—The cable ship Colonia, which is laying the Pacific cable from Guam eastward, is nearing Midway island, and it is expected that the laying of the section from Midway island to Honolulu will commence next week.

Mackinaw City Has $75,000 Blaze.

MACKINAW CITY, Mich., June 15.—The North Michigan Turning works has been totally destroyed by fire. The estimated loss is $75,000, with insurance at $12,000. The fire originated in the boiler room.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

AT THE TABLE

One of Many Faults

"THERE are a good many things that would make eating a more graceful performance if they were observed," remarked the critical woman.

"For instance?" queried the girl who had much to learn.

"Oh, well, for instance, keeping one's drinking glass at a decent level and not wildly straining to get the last drop. I actually saw you tilt yours on the end of your nose the other night at Mrs. Greatrox's dinner."

The girl looked uncomfortable.

"Then, you know, this matter of spaghetti," went on the critic; "it's a mistaken idea to think one mustn't cut it. Anything is better than to see a man or a woman negotiating a lengthy string of spaghetti which will persist in uncoiling its snakelike length from the fork and often plumping down on the tablecloth at the most inopportune moment. Then this business of using crust to swab around on the end of a fork in order to soak up the gravy in the plate. It's the result of a habit tolerated in the nursery, and it's one of those unfortunate habits that cling to one through life."

"You know so much I wish you would go on and tell me a lot of things," gushed the girl.

"Well, when you give a dinner be sure you make a careful advance survey of the table yourself. It is always unwise to leave everything to the servants. It is also best, unless one has the services of a decorator, to arrange the flowers oneself. They are prettier all the one color, and rarely more than two shades are seen at the same time. Tall vases are completely out and the decorations are flat, to allow of an unintercepted view and a more general conversation. Cruet stands never form part of a table decoration, but elegant saltcellars may be placed on the table so that the guests may not be worried to pass salt to their neighbors. For each guest should be placed at the right hand a tablespoon for soup, a silver fish knife and two large knives. On the left will be the fish fork and three large forks. A dessert spoon and fork are not placed on the table, but in the empty plate which is put before the guest just prior to the handing of the sweets and pudding.

"Fish, pastry and made dishes, such as patties, are always eaten with a fork. A spoon for sweets is only used when there is some creamy substance or juice which cannot be eaten with a fork. Asparagus is cut with a knife and a fork, as the appearance of holding it in one's hand and nibbling on the end is decidedly ungainly and only to be resorted to in private. Guests who are teetotalers should not be asked concerning their principles or pressed to take wine. Where wine is used three wineglasses should be placed on the guest's right side—one for sherry, to be handed around after soup; one for hock or chablis, handed around with fish, and one for champagne, handed around from the first entree until time for dessert. A glass of cordial is served with the coffee. Young girls do not, as a rule, take wine, and the servant should be instructed to immediately offer water to those who refuse wine. At dessert the table is cleared of all paraphernalia of the meal save the flowers, sweets, etc. A dessert plate is then placed before each guest, with a doily on it, on which are a finger bowl and a silver knife on one side and a silver fork on the other. If ices are served an ice plate goes between the doily and the finger glass, an ice spoon also being provided. The finger glass should never be more than a quarter full, and it should be lifted by the guest and placed at her left hand side."

"Well," remarked the girl, with a sigh, "I think you have taught me a few things—and reminded me of a few more."

BEATRICE MILLER.

Don't Bore Strangers.

If on a journey you meet a sympathetic stranger lady don't turn yourself inside out to her. Don't tell her of your ailments or when your children were born, or what you have for breakfast, or what your husband likes or how often he takes a bath. These things may not be so interesting to her as they are to you.

SHAMROCKS ARE ACROSS.

Sir Thomas Lipton's Fleet Has Arrived at New York.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Safe and sound, after a rather rough passage from Gourock, Scotland, of sixteen days and twenty-two hours, Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenger for the America's cup, the Shamrock III., is now lying at anchor off Tompkinsville, N. Y., in company with the steam yacht Erin, that had towed her most of the way across the Atlantic, and by the Shamrock I., towed by the British tug Cruizer. The 156 men who manned the yachts and their convoys are all well, and there were no accidents to mar the passage.

The weather was fairly good except on June 12, when the yachts were caught in a gale from the southeast, and while it blew very hard and a heavy sea was running the yachts shipped very little water, and no damage was done.

The tug Charles E. Matthews, in charge of Mr. H. Hier Davies, met the yachts at daylight twenty miles east of Sandy Hook lightship.

After passing Sandy Hook lightship the yachts were saluted by every vessel that passed them all the way to quarantine. When they arrived there the crews of the yachts gave three cheers for each other as they stood lined up on deck. Both yachts fly the pennant of the Royal Ulster Yacht club.

The new challenger is a far handsomer craft than either the Shamrock I. or II. She looks not unlike the Columbia above the water line, and her beam seems greater than either of those yachts. Her captain, Robert Wringe, says she behaved splendidly under all conditions of weather during the passage across the Atlantic.

When the Erin was 100 miles east of Sandy Hook the telegraph operator on board the Erin succeeded in raising the Coney Island station. Captain Mathews then sent a message to Sir Thomas Lipton, saying:

"Fleet arrived at Sandy Hook. Rough weather during voyage. Shamrocks all right."

The reply from Sir Thomas received on board the Erin said:

"Delighted to receive news. Convey to all officers and men my best wishes. I hope they are all well and fit as fiddles."

Santos-Dumont Air Ship at Races.

PARIS, June 15.—W. K. Vanderbilt's horse, Biltmore, was fourth in the race for the Prix de Villeron at Longchamps. During the racing M. Santos-Dumont in his air ship No. 9 appeared over the course and went through a variety of maneuvers which evoked great enthusiasm from the crowd. The passage of two other balloons over the Longchamps race course at the same time added to the originality of the scene. M. Santos-Dumont finally descended unaided in the center of the course, where a great ovation was given him. He then reascended and after executing a second series of maneuvers sailed away in the direction of Bagatelle.

Payment of the Rose Revived.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 15.—Rain interfered somewhat with the annual feast of roses at Manheim, this county. Nevertheless a great crowd witnessed the quaint and beautiful ceremony of the payment of one red rose by the congregation of Zion Lutheran church to the heirs of Baron Henry William Stiegel, the founder of Manheim, who in 1770 deeded to the congregation the land on which their church stands, with the stipulation that they pay "in the month of June yearly forever hereafter the rent of one red rose if the same shall be lawfully demanded." Twice, in 1773 and 1774, Baron Stiegel demanded the rose, and the custom then fell into disuse. This time the rose was demanded by Mrs. Idie Boyer of Norristown, Pa., a lineal descendant of the baron, and paid by Rev. Dr. Jacob Yntzey of Selins Grove, Pa., on behalf of the congregation.

Telephone Linemen Strike.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 15.—Between 100 and 150 linemen employed by the Cumberland Telephone company in this city are on strike. The men are asking for an increase in pay. The strike so far is confined to the linemen employed in Louisville, although for nearly a year there has been talk of a general strike of the linemen in all cities where the Cumberland company operates. The Cumberland has exchanges in New Orleans, Nashville, Memphis, Natchez and other large cities along the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. At the Home Telephone company, the large independent concern, it was denied that there is any prospect of a sympathetic strike on the part of linemen employed by that corporation.

Mine Workers Will Decide.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 15.—National President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers has arrived here to attend the convention of mine workers which will take up the matter of the operators' representatives on the board of conciliation refusing to recognize the credentials of District Presidents Nichols, Dettrey and Fahy, who were selected as the miners' conciliators by vote of the joint executive boards of the three districts. Mr. Mitchell would make no statement as to what the convention was likely to do. He would only say that the miners, he was assured, would approach the question in dispute in a broad, liberal way and that he trusted the operators would do the same.

Newport Fishermen Lost.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 15.—John and George Palmer, fishermen, were driven out to sea in their sloop Mermaid during a storm, and it is feared they have been drowned, as an incoming vessel has reported seeing the sloop abandoned off Point Judith.

"The Sioux!"

In the pioneer days of the Northwest their coming brought terror to the hearts of the settlers. We expect to bring pleasure to our readers by announcing that within a short time we shall begin the publication of a new serial story in which these red warriors figure, entitled:

"A Daughter of the Sioux"

It is a sufficient guarantee of its quality for us to say that it is written by that prince of American fiction writers,

GENERAL CHARLES KING.

The story deals with conditions in the Northwest following the days of the Custer massacre. It is full of that spirited kind of action that General King puts into his stories of the American army, and through it runs a fascinating and unusual love story. It is the best story that has been offered in newspaper form for years

WRECK OF THE THOMAS.

Captain's Wife Was Killed and Many Seamen Injured.

PORTLAND, Me., June 15.—One life was lost by the wrecking of the new five masted schooner Washington B. Thomas of Thomaston, Me., on Stratton's island, four miles off Old Orchard, while bound with 4,000 tons of soft coal from Norfolk, Va., for Portland. The wife of Captain William J. Lermond, to whom he was married a year ago, was killed by the immense waves breaking in the cabin. Her body was washed away in the darkness and not recovered.

Captain Lermond and the crew of thirteen men were rescued by a volunteer life saving crew. One seaman had a leg broken, and the captain, engineer and four seamen were badly bruised. The Thomas was broken up and practically is a total loss. Tons of wreckage was washed ashore at Old Orchard.

The Thomas was anchored off Stratton island and during the night drifted from her anchorage on to the island. Without a second's warning there came a crash as the schooner tore her way over one rock to strike another a few moments later, then to drive hard and fast on the reef on the southerly end of the outer side of the island.

When the first shock came Mrs. Lermond, her stepson and the first mate's son were in the cabin, but took refuge on the roof of the deck house. Her husband and crew protected her as well as they could, but nothing could withstand the fearful seas, and she was forced to return to the cabin. The rushing waters broke the bulkhead separating the stateroom from the saloon partition, striking Mrs. Lermond on the head and rendering her unconscious.

Captain Lermond tried to drag his wife to the companionway, but the inrushing flood swept her from his grasp, and she was lost in the darkness. The captain and the two boys worked their way to the forecastle, expecting that everybody forward had been lost, but found all safely sheltered there, although badly bruised and injured in their struggle for life.

The men were all taken off after midnight by a crew from the Cape Elizabeth life saving station and a number of volunteers, the work being a most hazardous one. The crew was brought to the office of the United States shipping commissioner and the injured taken to the Marine hospital, except the captain, who has medical attendance elsewhere.

GOVERNOR HUNT OF PORTO RICO

Arrives Here and Tells of Island's Continued Development.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Governor William H. Hunt of Porto Rico has arrived here. He said there was no truth in the rumor that he would resign. Speaking of Porto Rico, he said:

"There has been continued development in the island during the closing fiscal year. Business conditions have steadily improved and commercial relations between the Porto Ricans and the people of the United States have become greatly extended. Trade statistics show, for example, that from January to June of this year more than $500,000 worth of coffee was exported to the United States against only $21,000 worth in the same period last year. Coffee planters find encouragement in the belief that the New York market is at last opening to Porto Rico coffee, which is of unexcelled quality. Americans are investing largely in orange cultivation, and the value of exports in this fruit is twenty fold greater than last year. Over half a million dollars' worth of sugar has been sent north since Jan. 1, which is a heavy increase over last year. Sugar is the great staple product at present. The tobacco manufacturers of the United States are now importing the leaf from the island, indicating an increased demand for Porto Rico cigars. Much tobacco is being cultivated under canvas, with good results.

"Interior development is very satisfactory. The American Steam Railroad company has built more than twenty miles of additional line, which will connect the principal cities, and work is about to begin on the electric railroad between Ponce and San Juan. American capital and enterprise are beginning to work great changes in Porto Rico.

"In a political way we find substantial advancement. Peace and order now prevail, American laws are effectively administered and the people aspire to the rapid adoption of American systems of government. Jury trials are frequent, with good results. We are opening new schools and otherwise extending public improvements. Municipal administration is better, budgets are lower and all sanitary methods are vastly improved."

Son Defends Mother, Kills Father.

MACON, Ga., June 15.—An Eastman (Ga.) special says: "Dr. J. T. Buchanan of Eastman, whose brother is a member of the legislature, was shot and instantly killed by his son Ogletree. The father had seized a pistol and threatened to kill his wife and children. The wife attempted to wrest the weapon from him. The son, hearing the scuffle, ran into the room with a pistol in hand. It is supposed the discharge of the son's weapon was accidental. The ball passed through the father's heart."

H. L. Winslow Killed by Lightning.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—Herbert L. Winslow, general auditor of the Harrison Chemical company, was killed by lightning here. He was out sailing when a storm came up and was in the act of fastening the sailboat to a tree on the shore of the Schuylkill river, when lightning struck the tree, killing him instantly.

NORTH PLAINFIELD NEEDS A NEW SCHOOL

Accommodations for Pupils Admitted to Be Totally Inadequate at Present Time.

TOO MUCH FOR RENTALS

COMMITTEE CONSIDERING THE MOST FEASIBLE PLANS FOR RELIEF.

Portable Structure to Cost $3,000 Suggested — Watchung Building Cannot Be Enlarged—Superintendent Wightman's Request.

Action was taken at last night's meeting of the Borough Board of Education towards securing a new school house. A committee was appointed to look into the cost and advisability of erecting a suitable building. After discussion this committee was instructed to ascertain which would be the better adapted to the needs of the borough, a portable school building or a new school house. The former would meet the needs of the borough for the present while the school building, which could be added to, without destroying the general contour of the structure, would answer permanently.

Chairman of the committee on school accommodations, Samuel Townsend reported, through Superintendent Wightman, that the accommodations for school children in the borough are inadequate. It has been found necessary to hire halls and even empty stores in order to provide sufficient class room for the large increase in school population, which is constantly growing. For the rental of the rooms $300 is paid every year and Dr. Cooley, in his argument said that the money paid for rent would defray the interest on the money invested in new buildings.

President of the Board James R. Joy urged that the committee look into the adaptability of a portable school building such as are in use in Brooklyn and in Boston. He said that a portable school building could be secured for $3,000. It was shown that another story could not be added to the Watchung School as suggested by a member of the Board.

Superintendent Wightman asked the Board to consider the matter of having the class not graded in the school again so as to have the truants and weak pupils under the care of a special teacher. The system was in use years ago and worked satisfactorily.

KEELY GETS THE STREET SPRINKLING CONTRACT

Agrees to Perform the Work for Five Hundred Dollars a Month.

COMMENCES JULY FIRST

CONTRACTOR TO FURNISH EVERYTHING EXCEPT CARTS AND WATER.

Councilman Lee Wanted More Bids, But Proposition Was Opposed by Councilmen Tolles and Garriques—The Other Bidders.

The question of municipal street sprinkling formed an important part of the proceedings of the Common Council at its meeting, last evening. John E. Keely was awarded the contract, his bid being $500 a month. Mr. Tolles, chairman of the street committee, reported on the matter, stating that three bids had been received, the lowest being that of Mr. Keely. J. D. Davis bid $550 and Isaac S. Randolph $540. Mr. Keely will furnish six teams, harness, and all necessary appliances, excepting the wagons, which the city recently purchased. As an evidence of good faith and faithful performance he will furnish a bond of $750.

Mr. Lee thought it would be better to get more bids and Mr. Tolles was opposed to such a proposition. Mr. Garrigues supported Mr. Tolles and stated by way of explanation that one reason why the Council favored Mr. Keely was that he is a liveryman and that being about the city more or less he is well fitted to look after the work of street sprinkling. When the vote was taken on the resolution awarding Mr. Keeley, Mr. Lee was the only member to vote in the negative.

It is expected that the six sprinkling carts recently ordered by the Council, will arrive in Plainfield about July 1, when arrangements will be made to sprinkle the streets.

The appeal sets forth that their own citizens are caring for the refugees temporarily, but that they need our aid.

AFTER ALARM SYSTEM COMES PATROL WAGON

Another Important Improvement to Local Police Department Service.

AT THE HEADQUARTERS

COUNCIL TAKES ACTION FOR THE BETTERMENT OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Six Steel Cells Ordered, Provided With Swinging Bunks and Concrete Flooring—Horse Purchased for Patrol Wagon.

The Police Board had a long inning at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last evening, when several improvements planned were carried into effect and some were laid over for a time. In accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Randolph, chairman of the Board, the sum of $700 was appropriated for the purpose of covering the rental for the present quarters of the police department, the second story of the same building and the use of a plot of ground back of headquarters upon which it is proposed to erect a barn in which to keep the patrol wagon and horse to be used in connection with the new police patrol system. The resolution also included a right-of-way obtained from Mrs. Florence Moon from Front street through her property to the rear, where the barn is to be located. The resolution further provides that the corporation counsel shall draft the lease and attend to the legal side of the question. The lease is to be for one year with the privilege of three more.

Another resolution offered by the chairman of the Board called for an appropriation of $300 with which to purchase a horse for the police department. It will be used for the patrol wagon. The resolution was adopted.

After securing a place to build a barn and purchasing a horse, Mr. Randolph introduced the question of providing police headquarters with six new cells of the most approved pattern. He presented specifications as submitted by W. T. Kirk, representing a firm in Cleveland, Ohio. The cells are to be of steel and provided with steel swinging bunks and a concrete flooring is to be laid. The cost of this improvement is to be $750 for the cells and $140 for the concrete floor. There was some misunderstanding about the bid on this work and it was finally inserted in Mr. Randolph's resolution that the price quoted is to include the purchase and erection of the cells and flooring. The construction is such that the whole business can be removed at any time in case police headquarters should be changed. The resolution providing for the purchase and erection of the new cells was unanimously adopted.

Then followed the question of erecting a barn on the plot of ground back of police headquarters. Mr. Randolph offered still another resolution providing that the Police Board be given the power to erect such a structure in which to keep a patrol wagon and horse at an expense not to exceed $600. The barn to be 25x20, and one story.

This resolution brought forth much criticism on the part of other members, who thought it unwise for the city to expend such a sum of money to erect a building on leased ground and for so short a term. In response to questions, Mr. Randolph stated that J. B. Coward and J. W. Murray, the lessors, would not agree to erect a barn on the property and lease it to the city and the Police Board had learned that it would be economy for the city to erect the barn, rather than pay to have the horse and patrol wagon kept at a livery stable, where it would not be convenient for the department.

There was so much opposition to the Council making an appropriation for the erection of a barn before securing bids for the work that Mr. Randolph withdrew his resolution. The Police Board will now secure bids before asking for an appropriation.

In connection with the practice of making appropriations before bids are received for work or in making purchases of any kind for the city, Mr. Tyler made some timely remarks. He expressed himself as opposed to the foolish and unwise practice of making appropriations in advance of getting bids. He was supported in his opinion by several other members.

After the meeting the Police Board was empowered to purchase a patrol wagon at a cost not to exceed $500.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT OF TROLLEY ORDINANCE

Councilman Robert L. Lee Successfully Remonstrates Against Poor Service.

FLAT-WHEEL CARS TO GO

POLICE DEPARTMENT INSTRUCTED TO STOP VIOLATIONS.

Other Business Transacted by the City Fathers—The Library Report—The Telephone Company's Contract.

Councilman Robert L. Lee's semi-annual remonstrance against certain irregularities practised by the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, was a feature of the Common Council meeting, last evening, and as a result, a resolution offered by him provided for the strict enforcement of the ordinance under which the trolley company operates in this city. In accordance with the resolution the police of the city are to look after these irregularities and violations of the ordinance and stop them. The resolution was adopted with only one negative vote, that being cast by Mr. Tolles.

Mr. Lee stated by way of explanation that the company continued to ignore requests made by the Council and that cars with flat wheels are being run and still greater source of annoyance is the fact that cars are allowed to stand on West Fourth street, which is in direct violation of the ordinance. Mr. Lee stated further that when employes of the company were requested to remove these cars they replied that they would be removed when the men got good and ready to do so.

It will now be up to the police to look after violations of the trolley ordinance and if they fail to follow out the provisions of the resolution offered by Mr. Lee, further action will be taken at a later meeting.

The annual report of the Board of Directors of the Public Library and Reading Room, was presented. The treasurer's report showed a balance on June 1, 1902, of $2,439.79 and the receipts were $4,940, making a total of $7,379.79. The disbursements were $4,-85.95, leaving a balance at present of $2,439.82.

Mr. Daniel offered a resolution transferring $500 from the general fund to the fire account and $500 from the general fund to the poor account.

In accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Tolles, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company was given permission to construct a subway on South avenue, between Richmond street and Belvidere avenue, in which to place telephone wires. This was in response to a petition made to the Council by the company.

Mr. Tolles reported on the petitions from residents in Albert street and Dunellen avenue asking that those streets be macadamized and from residents in West Sixth street asking for flagging, stating that the work was included in other street improvements soon to be made in accordance with a recently-adopted ordinance.

Mr. Gloak offered a resolution calling for an appropriation of $50 with which to put the city lot in the Plainfield Avenue Cemetery in proper condition, and Mr. Tyler moved that the application for a license to serve liquors during meal time at the Hotel Netherwood be granted, all the members voting in the affirmative.

The contract between the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company and the city, whereby the company agrees to take care of the patrol police system after its installation, was received and filed. Two claims, one for $200 for the purchase of a horse for the fire department and the other for $500 for the purchase of a team for the same department, were presented and they took the usual course, being ordreed paid with the other claims.

Verdict for Plaintiff.

FIRST STEPS TAKEN FOR A PUBLIC PARK

Mayor Jenkins Outlines His Scheme to the Members of the Common Council.

PLANS ALREADY MADE

THE SITE OF THE PROPOSED PLEASURE GROUND SUGGESTED.

Committee of Fifteen to be Selected—This Committee Will Report on Feasibility of the Scheme—Composition of Committee.

Mayor O. L. Jenkins' suggestion regarding the establishment of a city park was received by the Common Council, last evening This matter has been considered at some length by the Mayor and it is his idea to have the city secure the land before prices of realty go too high. His plan is to lay out a park on the southwesterly side of Park avenue, Randolph road and Pemberton road, in the vicinity of the new hospital. A draft has been made by F. J. Hubbard. The plans call for an artificial lake covering twenty-five acres. In his communication, the Mayor spoke of the many natural advantages to be found at the proposed site. He suggested that the Council invite the co-operation of citizens, not office-holders. The Mayor also recommended that a joint committee be appointed by the president to confer regarding the improvement.

After the reading of the mayor's communication, Mr. vanHerwerden spoke in favor of the proposition and moved that a committee of fifteen be appointed by the president of the Council, five members of the Council and ten citizens not holding office, and that the committee report at a further meeting. This motion was adopted and President Buckle announced that he would appoint the desired committee at the next meeting.

PLAINFIELD CAUSE FIRST OF ITS KIND

Important Principle Is Laid Down By Court in An Action For Damages.

FELLOW-EMPLOYE CASE

ONE WORKINGMAN CAN RECOVER FROM ANOTHER FOR INJURIES.

Case Appealed to the Highest Court Which Sustains the Lower—The Damages Trifling, But the Principle Important.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 16—A legal principle of much importance to workingmen was settled for the first time in this State in a Plainfield case yesterday. Among the opinions handed down in the Court of Errors and Appeals was one in the case of Charles J. O'Brien against John Trainer.

The damages involved had been awarded for a stiff finger and amounted to only $350, but the case settled a great legal principle. O'Brien was a laborer at the Pond Tool Works. While he was lifting a barrel, his foreman, Trainer pulled down another barrel which fell against him, O'Brien, and mashed the second finger on his left hand, and left two stiff joints.

O'Brien's counsel, Craig A. Marsh, brought suit against the foreman because there was no case against the Pond Tool Works.

It was the first of the kind in New Jersey and Former Judge Childs, of Newark, Trainer's counsel, insisted that this fact was good evidence that no action would lie. The court held the law to be as claimed by Mr. Marsh and the jury agreed with him on the facts. After the verdict, Trainer engaged Reed & Coddington to take the case up to the highest court. That court heard the argument of the appeal for Trainer and Mr. Marsh for O'Brien.

The present opinion again sustains Mr. Marsh and declares the law to be that although the master is not liable in such a case, the foreman is, if the accident is due to his neglect of same duty which under the circumstances, he owed to the workman.

It is a singular fact the case will be a surprise to many workmen who have not imagined that they were responsible in damages if by their negligence, a fellow workman is injured. That is now declared to be the law by the highest court.

ESCAPED THROUGH WINDOW.

Then Gave Himself Up—Cases in the City Court.

Stephen Murphy, an employe at the Safe Works, has been arrested charged with being disorderly by fighting with his brother in-law, Thomas Muldowney. Patrolman Higgins went after Murphy with a warrant for his arrest yesterday afternoon and the latter escaped from his clutches through a back window. He gave himself up this morning. Hetfield & Hetfield will defend him, his case being scheduled for Saturday morning.

City Judge Runyon suspended sentence, this morning in the cases of Oscar Anderson, helplessly drunk, and John W. Pierce, allowing his dog to run in the streets without a muzzle. In the case of Patrick Guinee, accused of having used profane indecent language by Otto Kersting, the charge was withdrawn and the complaint dismissed.

SENT POISONED CANDY?

Young Colored Woman and Boy Held Under Serious Charge.

Eleanor Cobbs, colored, of Second street, appeared before Justice Huff yesterday, charged with attempting to poison Lillian Moore, colored, twenty-one years of age, by means of candy which Dr. Anderson, upon examination, declared to be poisoned. The girl is held in $500 for a hearing June 23 and Zebedee Freeman, a colored boy of fourteen, is held in $200 bonds as accessory.

The case is said to be the result of bad blood between the parties. The box of candy was given to the Cobbs girl by a white boy, Lewis Fay, of Liberty street, who said he was told to deliver it by Freeman. The girl denies all knowledge of the alleged attempt. William G. DeMeza will appear for the defendants.

Attending Reunion.

BACK GIVES OUT.

Plenty of Plainfield Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys — overwork them—

They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and pains.

Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Plainfield people tell you how they act.

Mr. F. O. Smith, of 686 West Front street, contractor for painting, etc., says: "There was a distressing pain across the small of my back which clung to me all the time. When I got seated at times if I moved a sharp pain struck me in the back and loins and almost made me exclaim. Any change in the weather or if I caught the least cold always aggravated the trouble and caused me to suffer severely. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by one of my employes who had been cured of a long standing case of kidney complaint by their use. I commenced the treatment, derived benefit from it immediately and before I had finished the first box I was cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

MINERS' CONVENTION

President Mitchell Talks to United Workers.

OPERATORS MUST KEEP FAITH.

Time Has Arrived When a Specific Policy Must Be Inaugurated—All Will Have to Conform to the Award of Strike Commission.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 16.—President Mitchell addressed a strong plea for moderation to the United Mine Workers' convention called for the purpose of taking action on the refusal of operators to recognize District Presidents Fahey, Nichols and Dettrey as the miners' representatives on the conciliation board. President Mitchell was unanimously chosen president.

Mr. Mitchell in his address said:

"It is needless to say that the refusal of the mine owners to live up to the award of the strike commission is a decided disappointment to me. I was hopeful after our long strike and after the commission had made its award that each side would accept it.

"I desire to say that if the United Mine Workers should refuse to comply with every letter of the award I would be the first to condemn them. We intend to live up to the very letter of the award, and therefore it is not unreasonable for us to expect the other side it live up to it.

"It is a grave question which confronts you. The time is here when we must again decide upon a specific policy toward our employers. We must approach this question with great care. We must do nothing we cannot defend. I might say for myself that I am hopeful we may find an honorable way out of the calamity.

"The commission's award was not a great financial victory for us, but it was a great moral victory. We can afford to bear our disappointment and live up to the award.

"Let me make a suggestion. You are here to discuss this matter, and every delegate to this convention must have a fair chance to voice his views. When you have reached a decision let every delegate present go back home with determination to do everything possible to have the plan agreed upon carried out."

SHOT DOWN IN COURTHOUSE.

Negro Takes Revenge For Arrest For Policy Writing.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Charles F. McFarlane, superintendent of Captain Goddard's Antipolicy society, was shot and killed in the corridors of the criminal courts building shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday by William Spencer, or Rogers, a negro policy dealer of 298 Seventh avenue. He fired twice, and one bullet went into McFarlane's brain, the other through his heart. The negro then turned his weapon against Philip E. Bray, another officer of the society, and succeeded in wounding him in the left shoulder.

McFarlane, who was a young man, leaves a wife and four small children. Spencer killed him because McFarlane had arrested him for writing policy, the punishment for which would have been only a brief imprisonment or possibly a fine.

Before the body of the murdered man had been removed from the corridor Assistant District Attorney Garvan, as head of the homicide bureau, had the machinery of the district attorney's office at work. Eyewitnesses of the tragedy, still pale at the shock, were examined briefly and rapidly and then taken before the grand jury. Lawyer George Simpson, Coroner Goldenkranz, Policeman Tuaney of the Eighth precinct and Chief of County Detectives Hammond there gave their testimony, and within an hour from the time of the shooting Spencer was indicted for murder in the first degree.

There was no question that Spencer had planned to kill McFarlane and went to the criminal courts building prepared to do it. His excuse was that McFarlane had been hounding him and lying about him for seven weeks. To Roundsman Keleher of the Forty-fifth precinct, who grabbed him first, the negro said he might just as well die in the electric chair as anywhere else. He was to have been tried in the court of general sessions for the lesser offense.

George Francis Train Will Not Eat.

STAMFORD, Conn., June 16.—George Francis Train, who has been isolated at the city pesthouse, suffering from an attack of smallpox, has again become a source of worry to the physicians. He positively refuses to eat or drink anything and has not spoken a word all day and cannot be induced to do so. The trouble was caused by the efforts of the health authorities to disinfect the pesthouse preparatory to Mr. Train's removal. All the clothing of the patient was burned, as was also a large number of letters and some manuscript which had been written by Mr. Train during his illness. During these proceedings Mr. Train became furious. The physicians in charge say that Mr. Train will be removed to the home of his daughter even if it is necessary to use force to carry out their plans.

Hamburger Pleaded Guilty.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 16.—Joseph D. Hamburger, a stockbroker, who resides at St. Louis, pleaded guilty to a charge in the county court of grand larceny and was sentenced to pay a fine of $500. Hamburger was indicted for making a false report to the National bank of Springfield, Mass., regarding the assets of the firm of Hamburger & Co., then in business in this city.

CLOUDBURST'S RUIN.

Town of Heppner Destroyed and Many Lives Sacrificed.

TERROR CAME IN DARK HOURS.

Wall of Water Descended From the Summit of Blue Mountain, Sweeping All Before It—Horses, Cattle and Sheep Perish.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 16.—The town of Heppner, Morrow county, Ore., has been destroyed by a cloudburst, and between 300 and 400 lives were lost. One hundred and five bodies have been recovered.

There was a heavy rainfall about 6:30 o'clock, with thunder and lightning, but no unusual atmospheric disturbance, and the people of the town retired as usual. While every one was asleep a wall of water probably eight feet high descended from the summit of the Blue mountains and swept everything before it.

Telegraph wires are down, and only the meagerest details are obtainable by telegraph from Ione, twenty miles distant.

Heppner is the county seat of Morrow, has a population of 1,100 and is the center of a great wool growing industry. It is the terminus of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation company's Heppner branch.

Almost the entire residence portion of the town was destroyed, but some of the business part, which is on higher ground, escaped.

Huge bowlders weighing a ton were carried down by the current, and many people were killed by being crushed against the rocky bluff. Early in the afternoon a thunderstorm occurred, covering a wide region of country, and later a heavy rain storm set in, many of the small streams overflowing their banks in a short time. Bridges were swept away like straws. As soon as possible after the flood had subsided the work of relief was commenced by the citizens of the town.

Dozens of bodies were found lodged along the bends of Willow creek, and in several places they were piled over one another.

The buildings which were not carried away were moved from their foundations or toppled over.

Hundreds of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs that had gone into the creek bottoms for water perished.

As soon as possible news was sent by courier to the near by towns. The Oregon Railway and Navigation company started a relief train with physicians and supplies from The Dalles. The citizens of Portland started a relief fund as soon as the news of the disaster spread over the city, and within a few hours $5,000 was raised.

Supplies will be rushed to Heppner as soon as they can be assembled.

Fifteen buildings in the town of Lexington, nine miles below Heppner, on Willow creek, were washed away, but with no loss of life, the inhabitants having time to save themselves from the surging torrent.

At Ione, seventeen miles away, considerable damage was done to buildings, although no loss of life is reported from there.

Case of Postal Clerk Rand.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The inspectors will take up the case of H. H. Rand, the postmaster general's former confidential clerk and at present an assistant superintendent of the salary and allowance division of the department, and examine into his connection with a mining company, the fact that he was prominently identified with a concern of which August W. Machen, the deposed head of the free delivery system, was president and into other matters.

Welcome For Cotton's Fleet.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The state department has been informed that the American fleet will be entertained at Kiel from the 23d to the 30th of June. The vessels are now at Southampton, re-enforced by the Kearsarge, and it is believed that some informal exchanges have taken place looking to a formal welcome of the European squadron at one of the great English ports and a visit of the officers to King Edward in London.

Institute of Biblical Studies.

ROME, June 16.—The Biblical commission appointed by the pope and numbering among its members the greatest Biblical scholars of all countries, including Professor Charles P. Grannan of the Catholic university of Washington, is about to submit to the pontiff an important proposition providing for the creation of a superior institute of Biblical studies.

Harrison Bull's Sudden Death.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 16.—Harrison Bull of Circleville, for many years bank director, postmaster and a leading merchant, dropped dead here while conversing with his pastor. He was a grandson of Samuel Bull, who forged the chain stretched across the Hudson to prevent the British fleet from ascending the river during the Revolution.

Engineer Wendell May Die.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., June 16.—The top of the steam chest on the cylinder of the engine in the sulphite mills of the Union Bag and Paper company at Fenmore blew off and wrecked the engine house. The Engineer, Edward Wendell of Sandy Hill, was so badly injured that he may die.

Hibbard Went Over the Falls.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., June 16.—George Hibbard of Sandy Hill was drowned in the Hudson river. He was out in a small boat catching driftwood when the boat tipped over. His body went over the falls and has not been recovered.

Plainfield, N. J., June 16, 1903.

Texas agreed to annexation just fifty-eight years ago today.

From Chicago comes the discovery that Shakespeare is a "cheap punster and wit of slim order." This is according to Professor William E. Watt, of the Windy City. Who is Watt?

Over in Newark a young man brought suit to have his marriage set aside, explaining that he believed it was all a joke. Guess there must have been a rent day since the wedding.

William S. Tyler is making a record for himself as a city father. His protest against making purchases on behalf of the city without properly advertising for bids is timely. He's the type of man to have in a city council.

It is said that Charles M. Schwab invested $3,000,000 and took out $27,000,000 in excess of his investment by misrepresenting the assets and earnings of the United States Shipbuilding Company. If this be true Schwab is really a "financier."

An Indiana minister, according to an Associated Press despatch, is preaching every night to hundreds of people, the remarkable fact about his sermons being that they are delivered while the speaker is sound asleep. This is what you might call stealing a march on the congregation.

Councilman Lee's stand against flat wheel trolley cars is right. What Mayor Smalley drove out of the borough should not be allowed in this city. The old regime made no end of promises, but the poor condition of affairs was not rectified. The new management claims that it will improve the service along its entire route. Every citizen hopes that it will fulfill its promise.

BOARD OF EDUCATION WORK

NORTH PLAINFIELD SCHOOL AUTHORITIES TRANSACTIONS.

Attendance Better Than Ever—Mr. Valiant Thanked For Generosity.

Aside from the discussion of the new school building, the Borough Board of Education did but little business outside of a routine character at the meeting last evening.

It was the last meeting before the schools close for the fiscal year and lasted but a short while and then the Board went into executive session. Dr. Cooley, chairman of the grounds committee, reported that the defect in the ceiling in the Watchung School would be remedied by steel ceiling. The repairs to all the buildings will be done during the summer vacation.

Chairman Samuel Townsend, of the truancy committee, reported that the attendance at the schools was much better than it has been in many years past. He called attention to the fact that some children, named Smith, on the Green brook road have been attending the school in the borough, which was out of their district.

The advisory committee of women, composed of Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, Mrs Samuel Townsend and Mrs. Charles McCutcheon, reported that the school had been visited but that the final report would be deferred until next fall so as to allow them to investigate still further into the various departments of the school.

A vote of thanks was extended to John Valiant, of the finance committee, by the entire Board for the $25 cash prize offered by him for the mathematics test. It was announced that some one has donated $10 for a cash prize for a spelling test. The name of the person donating the prize is withheld by the Board.

After transacting several matters regarding the commencement exercises of the school, the Board went into executive session.

Herbert W. Bowen, United States Minister to Venezuela, arrived in New York last night on the steamer Maracaibo. Mr. Bowen is on leave of absence for two months.

RISE IN BOROUGH TAX RATE

WILL PROBABLY FOLLOW WITHDRAWAL OF BANK STOCK.

A. J. Brunson Transfers Taxable Bank Property to Another County.

The tax rate of North Plainfield is likely to rise six or eight points. This will come from the expected withdrawal of 861 shares of stock in the First National Bank from the taxable property of the borough. A. J. Brunson, vice president of the bank, owns the shares and has transferred them to Atlantic County, in order to benefit by the lower tax rate in that county.

The shares as they were assessed last year are worth $65 each, amounting practically to $56,000 for the entire block of 861 shares. They would be taxed something over $1,000. This means that the people of North Plainfield will be taxed to raise an additional $1,000 in order to meet the deficit caused by the withdrawal of the stock.

A Press reporter found by inquiry of bank officials this morning that the action was due to the fact that the borough tax assessor bore rather heavily upon bank stock last fall, the pressure inducing Mr. Brunson to form a corporation to take the stock out of the county. In so doing he is acting entirely within his rights. The people of the borough are the losers.

THEATRICAL.

Now that the question of what should constitute the ideal New York girl in the "Song of the Cities" of "The Prince of Pilsen" has been settled by vote in New York, the girlie girlies in this latest Henry W. Savage success on Broadway have started in to farm a chivalry club to teach New York mashers how not to mash on Broadway; Ella Wheeler Wilcox is helping along the crusade by writing daily on the subject.

SERVIA'S NEW RULER

Prince Peter Made King by Senate and House.

AMNESTY TO BE GRANTED ASSASSINS

Karageorgevitch Accepts the Throne Tendered to Him by the People. Perfect Order Now Prevails In Belgrade.

BELGRADE, Servia, June 16.—Peter Karageorgevitch has been elected king of Servia to succeed the murdered Alexander Obrenovitch. The election was made by the senate and the skupshtina (house of representatives) in joint session, and the vote was unanimous.

It is expected that a resolution granting amnesty to all those who took part in the recent murders will be passed.

The Servian army officers held a meeting at which it was decided to publish the names of the conspirators who were in the plot for the assassination of the king and queen, "because," according to the resolution adopted, "it could not be tolerated that they should renounce the reward of their brave deeds."

The election of Prince Peter Karageorgevitch as king was enthusiastically acclaimed by the people.

King Peter has sent a dispatch from Geneva announcing his acceptance of the throne.

A proclamation signed by all the ministers was read by President Velimirovitch, who took the chair at a joint session of the senate and skupshtina. The proclamation said:

"Every one knows of the events which took place last Wednesday night, when the late King Alexander lost his life. Servia remained without a king or heir to the throne. The friends of the fatherland, having heard of the event, met to discuss what should be done for the country. The result of their consultation has been the constitution of a government and the election of King Karageorgevitch."

The fact that his election as king of Servia was quick and unanimous, however sad might be the conditions surrounding it, may be regarded of fair augury for the speedy return of normal conditions in Servia. It was greatly hoped that the new government would enable the powers and every one else to forget as soon as possible the cruel events which had recently convulsed the country. Seldom has policy and sentiment been confronted with such almost irreconcilable contradiction, but it is believed that the best has been done under the circumstances.

Major Nikolics of the Shabats gendarmerie, who shot Alavantics, an alleged relative of the new king of Servia, when Alavantics attempted to start a revolution March 5, 1902, at Shabats, on the Save, thirty miles west of Belgrade, was himself killed by soldiers at Shabats.

Reported Fight at Belgrade.

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 16.—King Peter received a telegram from Belgrade announcing that a sharp fight had taken place in the streets between the partisans of the king and those of Milan, the legitimatized son of former King Milan, father of the murdered Alexander. Young Milan has recently been living in Constantinople. His partisans posted a proclamation on the walls of Belgrade, and it was torn down by King Peter's supporters after a free fight.

PRECAUTIONS FOR HIS SAFETY.

President's Carriage Was Surrounded by Police.

BALTIMORE, June 16.—President Roosevelt was the guest of honor at the grand concert of the Northeastern saengerfest, arriving in Baltimore in a special car on the Pennsylvania railroad. The president was accompanied by Baron von Sternberg, the German ambassador; Senator Louis E. McComas of Maryland and the president's private secretary, Mr. Loeb.

Congressman Frank C. Wachter and President L. H. Wieman of the Saengerfest society met the train at the Union station and quickly showed the members of the party to awaiting carriages.

Police Marshal Farnan and a cordon of mounted policemen surrounded the president's carriage, and the route to the Fifth regiment armory was begun. Ten of the officers rode close to the curbs of the streets en route, while a solid phalanx preceded the carriage, and a squad followed with the noses of their horses remaining near the hind wheels of the vehicle.

Along the route 400 picked men in uniform and plain clothes lined the curbs so as to prevent any one approaching too near the chief executive's carriage. At the armory a large force of policemen and detectives had cleared the approach to a private entrance, and the president was escorted by President Wieman.

Rioting In Sofia.

BERLIN, June 16.—The Frankfort Zeitung prints a dispatch from Sofiia, Bulgaria, saying that rioting occurred there between Socialists and Nationalists, in which two men were severely and six were slightly wounded. The rioting was caused through the Socialists seizing a hall in which M. Sakossoff, an Opportunist member of the sobranje (national assembly), had called a meeting of Nationalists. The latter, finding the hall occupied, threw stones at the Socialists, who answered with firing revolvers.

Resigned After Thirty-six Years.

CLEVELAND, O., June 16.—Professor N. Coe Stewart, supervisor of music in the Cleveland public schools, has resigned after filling the position for thirty-six years. Professor Stewart is widely known throughout the country in musical circles.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED,

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

THE NEW WOMAN IDEA

Fads and Foibles of the Fair Sex

THE other day a newspaper reported the proceedings of a woman's club and prefaced the account with the observation that the Selectas prided themselves on being the "most fashionably gowned club of women in the country." What a mark of superiority, now, to pride oneself on! To wear the longest, consequently the uncleanest, dress skirts, with the tightest waists, and those most heavily and uncomfortably loaded with embroidery, fringe, lace inset work and outset work, ribbons, velvets, buttons big as small saucers and in no case made to button, awful looking peg heeled Oxford ties with bows so big they give the appearance of bits of rag around the instep, with the sky scrapingest hats and the mealbaggiest sleeves in the United States! Isn't that an item for women supposed to have brains and immortal souls to pride themselves on? If a majority of women's organizations throughout my country have come to this then I say better it were the woman's club had never been invented. In those glorious Greek statues which have stood for twenty centuries as the model of all that is most beautiful in the female figure is it the clothes of the marble women that we admire most? Will American women ever, ever learn that dress is only an adjunct to beauty and not at all beauty itself? The true æsthetic principle in dress is that it shall be secondary to the body which it covers. When a woman is dressed in such a way that her costume attracts more attention than she herself does it is an all round admission on her part that she is nothing in herself, therefore must resort to costly or bizarre garments to draw notice at all. That is the impression conveyed by the Selecta club. They have no intellectual power, so must dress to get any notice taken of them. In this matter of beauty it is the body itself we should spend time on, to make it comely by physical culture, and not the garments that robe it. Add to this accomplishments of intellect and soul and you will have my Lady Beautiful.

Because a thing is so in your neighborhood is no reason why necessarily it ought to be so all over this universe. Don't be provincial.

Golf made John D. Rockefeller over into a new man physically, he says. It is just as good for women as for men.

In a Boston school committee report on coeducation I find this: "The only advantage in having the sexes separated may be to give inferior teachers easy positions in girls' schools. It is a fact that certain masters of mixed schools have separated boys from girls in order to aid inferior teachers."

Do you think girls and women ought to be supported in idleness by men? Read what Ella Wheeler Wilcox says: "I grow to believe there is a curse upon money we have not earned."

Very bad news from Roumania! There is likely to be a famine in the land. Roumanian women have struck. They refuse to do the nation's farm work any more. Thousands of acres lie unplowed, growing up in weeds, the dispatches say. How sad this is! Our hearts bleed for the hunger and want of the poor Roumanian men. It is said, though, that a few of them are coming up bravely to the scratch and are preparing to till what they must of the soil themselves. And the first result of this is a large order to the United States for agricultural machinery. Just so. No hand labor for his majesty Man if he can get out of it. Well, one doesn't blame him for that.

Mrs. Snapback was a smart widow with a grown son. The son was six feet tall and broad and strong in proportion. She herself was of good size and in good health. She married a poor, meek, weak little husband, not much more than half the size of her son and not so strong as herself. The poor little husband was expected to support Mrs. Snapback in comparative luxury. For some reason he failed to fill her ideal of a man, so she left him and sued him for alimony, which she obtained. He paid it awhile, then fell ill. Mrs. Snapback sued him for back pay and demanded also that the regular amount, $7 a week, be increased. She appeared in court beautifully gowned and wearing diamonds. She cast her gorgeous eyes over the pale, little ex-husband, then over the court room, and sniffed. "Oh, my, what a smelly place this is!" she exclaimed. The judge looked at her, ablebodied enough to take in washing for a living if she needed to, then at the brawny, big son, his eagle eye finally hovering over the pale, meek ex-husband. "Little husband," said the judge, "you may reduce your wife's alimony to $1 a week if you want to."

A man who is opposed to the emancipation of women shows that there was something seriously wrong or lacking in his wife and female relatives. His stand on the woman question is a reflection on them.

A man who is liberal on the woman question should be made much of. He is worth ten women in conquering prejudice among his own sex. Besides that, he has a vote.

Stand by your own sex through thick and thin as men stand by theirs.

Scorpio Beat the Favorite.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—A fast track and good card drew a large attendance to the fair grounds track. The fourth race, a handicap at six furlongs, for three-year-olds and upward, was the special attraction. Nine of the speediest sprinters at the track were entered. Father Wentker, Orleans and Scorpio acted very badly at the post, and Father Wentker and Santa Ventura were left. Scorpio lasted just long enough to beat the favorite, Frank Bell, a neck. The favorite met with interference at the first turn.

Badger Girl Wins Petite Stakes.

CHICAGO, June 16.—J. L. Slaughter's Badger Girl, an added starter, backed from 20 to 1 down to 15 to 1 at post time, won the Petite stakes at Harlem. Off last, she gradually wore down her field and at the end ran over everything, finishing three lengths ahead of Determination, with Memories third. Handsome Florry, the favorite, was never a contender and finished next to last. The stake was worth $2,300 to the winner. Hargis in the fifth race was the only favorite that won.

Favorite Finished Last.

NEW YORK, June 16.—In only one race at Gravesend did the talent land on a favorite, which was Africander. The May stakes, the feature event on the card, was won easily by W. R. Condon. The Holland horse got off in front and, gradually increasing his advantage to the finish, won by two lengths. The favorite, John A. Scott, finished absolutely last. Ocean Tide, at 7 to 1, won the Astoria stakes for two-year-olds in a drive from Tepee. The favorite, Julia M., was third.

Ward Wins at Tennis.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Holcombe Ward, the Harvard veteran, won the final match in the lawn tennis tournament for the metropolitan championship. Ward will therefore meet the Yale veteran, Harold H. Hackett, today in the challenge match for the title and trophy on the courts of the West Side Tennis club.

Seawanhaka Cup Race.

MANCHESTER, Mass., June 16.—A howling northeast gale with a nasty sea running and spray flying in clouds were the conditions under which the fourth race for the selection of a challenger for the Seawanhaka cup was sailed, and Molutoo for the third time came in first.

Mrs. Frank Foster Beat Sardine.

DETROIT, Mich., June 16.—Mrs. Frank Foster, a consistent winner at Bennings, beat Corrigan's Sardine, the favorite in the free handicap at Grosse Pointe. Sardine ran a disappointing race in the heavy, rough going and was lucky to be second.

Rockaway Polo Team Beaten.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The Rockaway polo team, holders of the Pembroke cup, were defeated by the Philadelphia Country club polo ists at Bryn Mawr by a score of 12 goals to 2¾ in the semifinal match for the trophy.

Mrs. Deering Dies of Cancer.

BANGOR, Me., June 16.—Mrs. Mary H. Deering, accused of killing her husband, William A. Deering, by shooting at their home in Brewer, has died from cancer. Mrs. Deering, owing to her condition, has never been removed from her room, although the coroner's jury rendered a verdict to the effect that she committed the deed.

Victim of Thomas Wreck Ashore.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., June 16.—The body of Mrs. Lermond, wife of Captain William J. Lermond of the schooner Washington B. Thomas, was washed ashore here. Mrs. Lermond was killed by wreckage while in the cabin of the Thomas after the vessel had been dashed upon the rocks at Stratton's island.

Empress Receives "Fighting Bob."

PEKING, June 16.—The dowager empress received Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, and his staff. All the far eastern newspapers infer that the assembling of an American squadron at Chefu is for the purpose of impressing Russia.

Fisherman's Fatal Fall.

NYACK, N. Y., June 16.—George Springsteen, a well known resident of New City, fell from a boat while fishing and was drowned.

"The Sioux!"

In the pioneer days of the Northwest their coming brought terror to the hearts of the settlers. We expect to bring pleasure to our readers by announcing that within a short time we shall begin the publication of a new serial story in which these red warriors figure, entitled:

"A Daughter of the Sioux"

It is a sufficient guarantee of its quality for us to say that it is written by that prince of American fiction writers,

GENERAL CHARLES KING.

The story deals with conditions in the Northwest following the days of the Custer massacre. It is full of that spirited kind of action that General King puts into his stories of the American army, and through it runs a fascinating and unusual love story. It is the best story that has been offered in newspaper form for years

PREPARING THE SHAMROCKS.

New Challenger Is Fast, but Not Fast Enough.

BROOKLYN, June 16.—Shamrock III., Britain's latest and best flier of the seas, has finished her long journey across the big pond and was warped alongside the main pier in Erie basin dry dock. Almost exactly a half hour later there was a second blowing of whistles and ringing of bells, and Shamrock I., in tow of the ocean tug Cruizer, poked her nose around the end of the pier and was made fast.

It was the first family reunion of the Shamrocks I., II. and III. While the travelers rode gracefully and easily upon the smooth surface of the basin and the dark tanned seamen hustled about on their decks, making ready to put on their summer suits, Shamrock II., only two years ago the center of attention, stood high and dry, her shapely hull and leap spars clear against the leaden sky, only 200 yards away, alone and neglected.

There was something pathetic in a cold, material sort of way in the attitude of Shamrock II. It does not require a vivid imagination to endow a racing yacht with personality, and so it seemed only natural to look up at Shamrock II. to see how she would receive the new sister who has supplanted her in the consideration and esteem of Sir Thomas, the master of them all. From the pier where lay Shamrock III. and Shamrock I. there was in the look of Shamrock II., with her nose turned up in profile against the sky, all the pride and reserve, not to say resentment, of a supplanted actress who watches the performance of her successor from an upper box.

But figures of speech cannot lift the cup, and the old time captains and seamen who stood on the pier and looked the "new boat" over as she bobbed gently on the low swell made their calculations in lines, angles and measurements. The general verdict was:

"She's the best and fastest yet, but not quite fast enough."

No Defeat Can Down Lipton.

LONDON, June 16.—Entertained by a number of distinguished men to a send off dinner at the Savoy hotel, Sir Thomas Lipton said a hundred proverbial reasons boded success for his third attempt to capture the America's cup. But if unfortunately he failed he would be found at the starting line a year hence with Shamrock IV. Among those present were Lord Tweedmouth, Lord Denby, T. P. O'Connor, M. P.; the Hon. Charles Russell and Sir Squire Bancroft.

DEFENDERS DID NOT RACE.

Yacht Estelle Capsized—All Hands Safely Landed.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Apprehension of wetting their sails and spoiling the set of them kept the dainty trio of would be cup defenders—Reliance, Constitution and Columbia—at their moorings, while other yachts sailed a race for the Glen Cove cups of the New York Yacht club in Long Island sound. A fresh north by east wind that raked up the whitecaps and a little tumble of sea afforded a splendid opportunity to try out the Reliance under fine racing conditions. While the other yachts were racing there was one rain squall of half an hour.

August Belmont, managing owner of the Constitution, when asked why the big sloops did not sail referred inquirers to C. Oliver Iselin, managing owner of the Reliance. Mr. Iselin said that the owners had agreed that it would be better not to race and that as the Reliance's sails had not been wetted this season he did not want to wet them.

While the others were racing the schooner yacht Estelle, owned by L. J. Callinan, in which the owner, with a party of friends, was following the racers, was struck by a squall while near the middle of the sound off Oyster Bay and capsized. She was carrying all her light sails, and a vain attempt was made to luff her after the squall struck. She lay in the water on her beam ends, and all hands were taken on board a passing steam yacht and landed at the Larchmont Yacht club. The Estelle was towed to Cold Spring harbor.

Oil Explosion In Mine.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., June 16.—The seventy-five miners working in the shaft of the Thompson Run Coal company mine, five miles south of Ellwood, faced death when a huge oil can located a hundred yards within the entrance of the main shaft exploded and took fire. The entrance was blocked by a wall of fire, but the entombed miners escaped through a second opening a mile distant. All reached the surface safely, none being injured. Even the mules were taken out unharmed. The fire burned fiercely for some time, but was finally extinguished. The mine will be able to resume soon, according to the statement of Assistant Manager Frank Douthitt. The cause of the explosion is involved in mystery and is now being investigated.

Parsons Gives Churches $200,000.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The will of the late Edmund Dwight Parsons bequeathes the sum of $200,000—to the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States, $50,000; to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of America, $50,000; to the Methodist Episcopal church, $50,000; to the Baptist church of the United States, $20,000; to the Young Men's Christian association, $15,000; to the American Sunday School union, $15,000.

Mountain View House Burned.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., June 16.—The Mountain View House, about six miles from Lake Placid, N. Y., in the Adirondacks, owned by Robert Ames, has been totally destroyed by fire; loss, $12,000.

SPORTING NEWS.

CROSSED BATS.

Saturday when Barnes, the Alis catcher, split his hand while playing, there was only one physician, Dr. Roliand Tomlinson, present. He quickly responded to the call and attended to the injury so that Barnes could continue in the game.

It is said that the umpire in Saturday's Westfield-Scotch Plains game twice gave a Westfield man his base after he had fanned three times at the ball. His decisions on balls and strikes throughout the game disgusted the supporters of both nines.

There are great possibilities for George Dupee as a pitcher. He is without a doubt the strongest amateur pitcher in this section of the State. With a good team behind him, he is capable of putting up a first-class game. He is in the game from start to finish.

The Invincible A. C. will hereafter be known as the Inwicti Athletic Club. The change was decided upon this morning at the meeting of the members. A return game will be played on Saturday with the Park A. C. in the morning and in the afternoon with the Somerset A. A.

Page, who played centre field and behind the bat for Alis in Saturday's game, showed up in fine form. Early in the season he was given a trial by the Brooklyn Nationals, but was not quite fast enough for the big league. He caught in Saturday's game without a protector, and his throwing to bases was a feature of the game.

With the Alis Club putting up a gilt-edge game of baseball it is not necessary for the baseball-loving public to go out of town to see semi-professional playing. Saturday the Scotch Plains team will visit Crescent Oval and no doubt the fans will be out in large numbers. Saturday the 'Plains team lost its first game this season and a fine contest can be expected.

The batting and fielding percentages of the North Plainfield Athletic Association has been announced as follows: Fielding—Brose, 1.000; Armstrong, .973; Ovens, .931; Humble, .857; McLaughlin, .853; George, .699; Nischwitz, .667; Mundy, .621; Newmiller, .571; Conover, .535; Adams, .429; Schuck, .364; Kypsey, .250. Batting—Armstrong, .519; Brose, .334; Humble, .271; Conover, .219; McLaughlin, .214; Newmiller, .200; Ovens, .184; Mundy, .154; Adams, .120; Kypsey, .100; Nischwitz, .000; Schuck, .000 and George, .000.

DAYS OF CITY LEAGUE NOW SEEM NUMBERED

Safe Works Management Announces Its Withdrawal From the Organization.

OTHERS NOW TO FOLLOW

THE Y. M. C. A. REMAINS LOYAL TO AMATEUR PLAY.

Hope and St. Mary's to Decide Upon Their Positions Tonight—Professionalism the Cause of the Rupture—Other Details.

The Plainfield Amateur Baseball League is practically a thing of the past. This development, not unexpected, came out at a meeting of the league last evening, at which the Safe Works management announced the withdrawal of its team. The grounds for this action, it was stated, were the disapproval expressed by the management of the company in regard to the prevailing professionalism in the league and its confidence that several players had associated themselves with the Safe Works solely for the purpose of playing ball.

The St. Mary's and Hope Chapel teams will meet tonight to decide whether or not to remain. The Y. M. C. A. management is satisfied to continue in the league under any circumstances with the understanding that its team be strictly amateur.

The managers of the four teams, Gaston of Safe Works, Cose of Hope Chapel, Steiner of the Y. M. C. A., and Shannon of St. Mary's, were present at the meeting and the secretary, George Firstbrook, was in the chair, in the absence of President Runyon. The meeting was adjourned until tomorrow evening in order to give St. Mary's and Hope Chapel an opportunity to decide on the question vitally important.

The members of the Safe Works nine will scatter in all directions. Among others, Allen, the catcher, will cover first sack for Scotch Plains; Braems, pitcher, will return to the Ingersoll Drill Company at Easton; Moore will play first for Alis; Enright, second base, goes to Clinton; and Siegfried, shortstop, will probably make good with Phillipsburg.

The St. Mary's-Hope game scheduled for Saturday is in abeyance, pending the action of Wednesday night, and the question of umpires is also "in the air."

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Special services will be held this evening at the Whosoever Mission on Whitewood avenue, opposite Regent street. Everybody is welcome.

There will be a union meeting in the interest of fresh air work in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church this evening, at 8 o'clock. Rev. C. L. Fox, pastor of the Eleventh Street M. E. Church, New York City, will make an address on the needs and opportunities for fresh air work. His remarks will be illustrated by eighty stereopticon views. Mrs. Gertrude H. Diehl, matron of the Westfield fresh air camp, will also address the meeting.

Children's Day exercises will be held next Sunday at the Mt. Olive Baptist church.

The Men's Club, of St. Stephen's Church, will be reorganized at a meeting to be held June 22.

"Warm Weather Religion" will be the topic of the mid-week meeting in Vincent chapel tomorrow evening.

Special services will be held in St. Mary's R. C. Church Friday in commoration of the Feast of the Sacred Heart.

A feature of the midweek prayer-meeting at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening will be a talk by W. H. Shotwell, who will tell of his recent trip to California, where he attended the sessions of the General Assembly.

A lawn social will be held under the direction of the Epworth League, of the First M. E. Church, at the residence of Charles E. Horne, 64 Willow avenue, North Plainfield, Friday evening. In case of rain the social will be held in Vincent Chapel.

The Swedish Lutheran Sunday services in the German Lutheran Church will be held hereafter at 8 o'clock in the evening instead of 3:30 in the afternoon.

The officials of the Monroe Avenue Church have decided to have the church, the parsonage and Epworth House painted and the property otherwise improved.

The Woman's Association of the Congrgeational Church will hold no more meetings this summer, but the monthly offerings may be placed in the church baskets.

During the summer months the Congregational Church Sunday-school will meet at 9:30 Sunday morning, and the morning preaching service will begin at 10:45.

The summer schedule for the Sunday-school at the Park Avenue Baptist church will go into effect next Sunday, when the school will meet at 9:30 in the morning.

After a brief interruption of its services, the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church, resumed its meetings. They will now be held every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

The offering at the Congregational Church next Sunday will be for the work of the American Missionary Association. Rev. Dr. C. J. Ryder, of the association, will be the speaker.

The work of re-wiring the First Baptist Church with electric wires will be completed this week. The lighting in two of the chandeliers in the main part of the church has been changed from five lights each to ten.

Rev. H. C. Willoughby, pastor of the Talmage Memorial Reformed Church, of Philadelphia, will occupy Dr. Schenck's pulpit in Trinity Reformed Church next Sunday morning and evening.

The pulpit committee of the Crescent Avenue Church has arranged to have Rev. Dr. W. Robson Notman, of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Chicago, occupy the pulpit on June 21 and 28. On July 5 and 21 Rev. Dr. J. Kinsey Smith, of Louisville, Ky., will preach.

The Boys' Mission Band, of the Crescent Avenue church will hold its last regular meeting for the season on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the large parlor. All members are urged to be present and bring with them their missionary boxes. The subject will be "Our South American Missions."

Owing to the repairs still being made at the First Baptist church the Sunday-school will not be able to commence the summer schedule next Sunday. The sessions will still be continued in the main part of the church in the afternoon. While the date has not been definitely fixed it is quite likely that the Children's Day exercises will be held Sunday, June 28.

An Artificial Lake to Cover Twenty-Five Acres—Boulevard a Feature of Plan—Ideas for Landscape Gardening—Other Details.

"I strongly urge upon your honorable body that the project is deserving of prompt and careful consideration. Such a park is needed in the interest of all our citizens, and besides greatly contributing to their welfare, it would be the means of attracting new citizens, and would directly add to the reputation and future growth of the city, more than any other single improvement that is likely to be attempted for many years. If a joint committee, made up of an equal number of your honorable body and the citizens at large, should take the matter in hand, it ought not to be difficult to formulate a plan under the acts of the Legislature referred to in my last annual message whereby the city could acquire the necessary land, either by purchase or condemnation, before the close of the current year."—Mayor Jenkins in his message to the Common Council advocating the establishment of a park.

There appears no dearth of representative citizens willing to assume positions on the park commission to be named at the July meeting of the Common Council. President Buckle has the power to name the committee of fifteen, five of which will be members of the Common Council itself. After the Mayor's message on the subject was read to the city fathers Councilman vanHerwerden's motion for the appointment of the commission disposed of the matter temporarily. The exhaustive report of Civil Engineer Frank J. Hubbard has been made public.

In his report, Mr. Hubbard covers the whole subject thoroughly. He says:

"No doubt, in many ways, the ideal location of a park is in or near the center of the town. This is the thought pursued by many of our newer cities in laying out their original plan, but, for a city of the size of Plainfield, we must obtain the necessary land where the conditions will permit and then make it accessible in every way possible. This condition we have carried out on the plan submitted.

"Properly speaking the park begins on Arlington avenue, at Cedar brook and runs almost due south to a short distance beyond the city line. To make it more accessible, and bring it into the main thoroughfare, a boulevard 113 feet in width, which is obtained by widening Arlington avenue, is continued out to Park avenue, and this, with the other various street connections shown makes the park accessible for driving or walking from every section of the city, while those who may wish to go by trolley can gain access thereto at three different points; either at Arlington avenue and Cedar brook, at Randolph road, or at Park avenue and South End avenue; at which last place would be the most southerly entrance from Park avenue, with the same wide boulevard and a space on either side for beautifying the approach.

"In order to save expense it is proposed to leave a tier of lots fronting on Union street, and also on Park avenue, at the southerly end of the park; and include within the confines of the park all of that land lying along Cedar brook which has generally been considered of little value on account of its swampy nature. We have endeavored, however, to take in enough of the bluff surrounding the low land to protect the park in every way and give an opportuniaty for walks and drives which will overlook the property.

"As to the nature of this land, there is a prevalent idea that it is an impassable swamp fit only for snakes and mosquitoes and, in its present condition, the popular idea is not far astray, but to one who has not been through it, the swamp is a revelation. The mud and vegetable mound is seldom more than two feet in depth and is underlaid with as beauiful a body of sand and fine gravel as may be found anywhere in this vicinity. This gives a firm, unyielding bottom and only the proper drainage is needed to completely abolish the swamp.

"The soil, properly drained and mixed with the underlying sand and gravel would meet every requirement for the purpose, being rich for trees, shrubs, plants and grass, while it would be delightful under foot as there would be no tendency to either extreme of mud or sand. The water is of the purest and the whole place abounds with springs.

"Indeed the stratum of water which underlies our whole city and which is a living, moving stream, here comes very close to the surface and is undoubtedly accountable for this feature. Then too, we find here several tracts of large timber, in some places trees that have grown almost for centuries and would be of inestimable value for park purposes.

"A feature of the plan is something that Plainfield has long needed, a lake with its approach.' As noted, the water level underlying the city here comes very close to the surface and I am of the opinion that we can dredge out the muck, sand and gravel, use the material so obtained to grade up the adjoining low land, build a low dam across the southerly side and have a lake of twenty-five acres, or more, in extent that will be maintained by spring water of the purest and cleanest.

"As a matter of comparison it will be interesing to note that the area of this lake will be eight or ten times that of Tier's Pond. It should be unqualifiedly superior to anything in this vicinity, the water cold and sparkling and the bottom clean white sand and gravel. As opportunity offers, the high land with clumps of trees should be left as islands.

"Carrying out your suggestion I have indicated a proposed straightening and widening of the present line of Cedar brook through the property, making the same forty feet in width, this should also be dredged in the same manner as the lake, carrying it down into the underlying stratum of water and using the material so obtained on the adjoining land.

"The drives indicated have a total length of nearly two miles, the total width is, in each case, 112 feet and they should be built of gravel which could be obtained in dredging for the lake. These graveled drives would make pleasenter riding for the pleasure travel which would naturally seek the spot while the cost of construction would not be as great as that of a macadamized road. Other roads could also be constructed as the development of the park suggested and many beautiful nooks and corners developed. Bridal paths and walks would also naturally be a feature that would suggest themselves, though not shown on the plan, as a complete topographical survey would better determine their location.

"A subject that has excited a good deal of attention in Plainfield in the last few years is the possibility of having a speedway. Should it be found advisable and desirable the city could here encourage the lover of fine horses by permitting the use of the straight portion of the boulevard for fast driving and as it runs into Lake avenue to the south this could be extended to any desired length and I have no doubt but that arrangements could be made with owners in that locality to dedicate the necessary lands for a speedway that would appeal to every horseman in the vicinity.

"Bridges across the stream would not be expensive and should be artistic structure in masonry or concrete, arches lending themselves most readily to the general design. That part of the ground lying north of Randolph road is suggested as a garden which should be laid out with walks and beds of flowers and shrubs. The section south of Randolph road might be left in its wilder state.

"As stated, the park covers an area of about 118 acres, of this acreage it gives me pleasure to hand you an option of gift to the city of about twenty-five acres on condition that the city shall proceed to acquire the balance of the land and improve the same along the general lines herein mentioned. While the parties so giving their lands have other lands adjacent thereto that will be greatly benefitted by this improvement, still the land proposed to be given, and comprising about one quarter of the whole tract, is of considerable value and has been held at good prices; so that too much cannot be said for the generosity and public spirit of these citizens.

"Unfortunately, however, all the owners are not so situated that they can follow this plan and much of the land will have to be bought outright while some few pieces will undoubtedly have to go into the hands of commissioners and be condemned. For the purpose of forming a close estimate of the cost of the land I have personally seen or written nearly every owner within the tract and have based my figures on their price where the same was reasonable or if they were exorbitant in their demands, or unwilling to give a price, I have based my figures on the known recent selling price of property in the

FRIENDS LAUGHED AND APPLAUDED

Class Day Exercises at Stillman High School Were Unusually Bright.

HALL WAS CROWDED

FACULTY AND STUDENTS REMEMBERED BY APPROPRIATE "GRINDS."

History, Prophecy and Will Much Enjoyed By All—Music Included in the Programme—Several Unusual Features.

The members of the class of 1903, Stillman High School, delighted their friends last evening by as bright a series of Class Day exercises as the outgoing of classes from the school has witnessed for many years. All the regular features of a Class Day programme were included, and the dance which followed was equally a source of pleasure. The assembly hall of the Franklin School was the scene of the event, and it was packed to the doors.

The opening song by the class was followed by the history of the freshman year given by Norman C. Hall, and of sophomore year by Cyril Brown. Each was filled with witty references to amusing and interesting events that occurred during those years and the appreciation of the audience was evidenced by generous applause. The history was continued by Helen C. Moody who reviewed the junior year and Arthur F. Conant who told of achievements during the year just past. Both speakers were listened to with keen enjoyment, the humorous "grinds" provoking repeated outbursts of laughter. A number which, in particular, awoke admiration, was a song by the class, "The Red and Blue."

A piano duet by the Misses Davis and Long was enthusiastically received, the selection calling for no small degree of talent. The girls were equal to the task, and were rewarded for their skill by having to respond to an encore.

Neither faculty nor students were forgotten in the assignment of compliments appearing in the proverbs, of which Miss L. M. Taylor was the author, and class prophecy, in which Harold C. Brown foretold the destinies of his classmates. The school song, to the tune of "In the Good Old Summer Time," was sung for the last time by the class together. "In the Good Old Plainfield High" was the title.

The various legacies desirable and otherwise left by 1903 to the succeeding classes were described in the class will by Ralph S. Lane. An original feature introduced consisted of a mandolin solo by William Van Eps, '04, a violin solo by Miss Dorothy Waldo, of the seniors, and a piano solo by Miss Edna D. Long, also '03. The selections were different each from the other and, performed simultaneously, they produced an indescribe effect. Responding to a general request, Mr. Van Eps repeated his solo without accompaniment.

The reading of the class poem, cleverly written by Miss Dorothy Waldo, and the singing of the class song by the class brought the exercises to a close.

Norman Hill, the president of the class, introduced the speakers and had charge of the arrangements for the dance which followed. C. M. Suhr's orchestra provided music for dancing which continued until the "wee sma' hours."

THE OTHER HALF.

A Clergyman Delivers Address on Condition in New York's Tenement District.

A meeting in the interest of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp was held in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, last evening, under the direction of Rev. C. L. Fox, pastor of the Eleventh Street M. E. Church, New York.

Mr. Fox pictured the wretched condition in certain tenement districts in New York with a stereopticon and showed the improvement made in the poorer class of children, as well as their mothers after a visit to the fresh air camp at Westfield. After the illustrated lecture, Mrs. Gertrude H. Diehl, matron of the Westfield camp, gave an interesting talk of the work at the camp.

HORSE THIEVES HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

The Plainfielders Accused of Crime Given a Hearing Before Justice Smalley.

CHIEF KIELY'S WORK

Chief Marshal Campbell Makes Arrests Near Newark—Men Accused Are Olaf Alexander, John Teeple and John Pope.

Olaf Alexander, John Teeple and John Pope, all of this city, arrested near Irvington yesterday on a charge of horse stealing have been remanded to the Somerset County jail. They were brought here yesterday and taken before Justice D. D. Smalley.

From the farm of George Hoffman, of Sterling, it is alleged the men stole two horses and two rigs. According to the story they rode to Smalleytown and stole a rubber tired rig from Augustus Moore. Subsequently they sold one of the rigs to John Barry, a contractor, of Greenbrook road.

When the thieves left he took the wagon to William Sharkey's blacksmith shop on Lincoln place for repairs. Hoffman came to this city in search of his rigs and found the wagon at the shop. Chief Marshal Campbell of the borough and Chief of Police Kiely of this city were notifiedd. Chief Kiely telephoned to different cities and finally located the men near Newark. Chief Marshal Campbell arrested them last evening and they were brought to this city and locked up.

Hope Y. M. A. Out of City League—Plan to Consider New Organization—To Confer With St. Mary's.

Hope Y. M. A. has followed the lead of Safe Works and withdrawn from the City League. The action was taken at an adjourned meeting last evening. A committee composed of William N. Runyon, John Cose and Brit Martin was directed to confer with a like committee from St. Mary's to decide whether the teams should continue on an independent basis or endeavor to establish a new four team league of semi-professional players.

It was suggested tentatively that the league be composed of the two teams mentioned, together with Dunellen and Garwood A. C's. Definite action was lefts to the committee with full powers.

Manager Cose was instructed to arrange a game for Saturday without reference to the present schedule. The meeting was adjourned to Tuesday of next week.

DEEP MYSTERY OVER-HANGS THIS PLACE

Secrecy Maintained In Regard to Purpose of the Factory in the West End.

NONE CAN SEE INTERIOR

A. C. BRUNSON, OF FIRST NATIONAL BANK, THE OWNER.

Entrance Carefully Guarded—Machinery Works An Hour Each Day—Those in the Secret Will Not Talk on Subject.

In the West End, there is a factory over which hangs an air of profound mystery. It goes by the name of "the prison," but what is hidden behind its walls, and what its purpose is, only the owners know and they are silent. For one hour each day, the dull, whirring sound of wheels can be heard, and now and then a man appears for a moment at the one entrance, guarding with watchful eye against the approach of a possible intruder. These are the only signs of life about the building, and further than this there is little concerning it that the most searching inquiry can ferret out.

The factory is located on Rock avenue; is forty by twenty feet, built entirely of sheet iron. At each end is a heavily screened window, twenty feet above the ground, in size twelve feet by twelve. It has no chimney; only an exhaust pipe. It was built by A. J. Brunson, vice president of the First National Bank.

A Daily Press reporter visited the place yesterday afternoon. Promptly at 4 o'clock he heard the rolling noise of heavy machinery set in motion, and for an hour this continued without a break, ceasing as abruptly as it began, on the dot of 5. This, the reporter learned by inquiry, happens every day at the same time.

Once during the hour, the only man who is ever seen about the place opened the inner door in such a way as to foil the reporter who was doing a little detective work on the side, carefully locked it and repeated the operation with the outer door. He then stepped unconcernedly out into the open, turning a deaf ear to the many questions which were hurled at him. His only reply to all queries was: "I cannot answer your question; you will have to see Mr. Brunson." He refused even to give his name. The man it is learned works, eats and sleeps on the place never at any time going more than a few yards from the entrance.

The only machinery which has been seen to enter the building is a gas engine of six horse power installed when the plant was erected about a month ago. No raw material enters the place, so far as can be ascertained, and no finished product has ever come out.

Neighbors profess to know nothing about the place. Mortimer Slater, an employe of the Price, Bond & Woolston Paint Company, of Rock avenue, told a reporter that no floor has ever been laid in the building and no floor lumber has been taken in the plant since it started to operate. He said that the man who was employed to paint the window sashes was prevented from seeing within by heavy curtains hung on the inside.

Various explanations have been advanced to unravel the mystery. The rumor that matches are being manufactured has proved upon investigation to be nothing more than fancy. Other theories are to the effect that a great patent is being developed or that the building covers a shaft by means of which ore is being mined. Still another theoriest, remembering that Mr. Brunson was formerly interested in the manufacture of carpets, thinks that his new factory was also built for that purpose, but this rumor has no foundation in fact. From the truckman who installed the gas engine it was learned that no chemicals are being manufactured. This last individual said that, like all others who had seen the inside of the building, he had been sworn to secrecy.

A. J. Brunson, the owner, was interviewed at his office in the Park Avenue Hotel. He refused to give out any information further than to state that the place was a store house for machinery. Beyond that, he said, its purpose would remain a secret.

Miss Hannah Crandall, of Westerly, R. I., who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Irving A. Hunting, of 335 East Second street, for the past three weeks, returnd home this morning.

THIS CITY'S PROSPEROUS PAST

BOARD OF TRADE THINKS BUSINESS FLOURISHED DURING THE YEAR.

Committees on Trolley Service, the West End Baths and New Quarters Heard From.

No business of more than usual interest was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade last evening. There was a general discussion concerning the growth in the several branches of business in Plainfield during the past year, the concensus of opinion being that the city is unusually prosperous. The growth in the real estate business was commented upon especially.

Charles W. Runyon, who was a committee of one to report on trolley service, announced that as a result of a conference with Phillip Maguire, the local superintendent, better service had been promised on the Arlington avenue line on Saturdays and Sundays. The number of cars running on those days will be increased to whatever extent the demand seems to warrant.

A committee consisting of E. M. Laing, J. C. Pope and H. C. Runyon was appointed to secure rooms in which the board can meet hereafter, as their present quarters will be used by the police office, pool room and dormitory. W. J. Cashin, of the committee on public baths in the West End, reported that several meetings had been held but that no definite action had been taken.

JAPANESE CANTATA.

Hope Chapel Benefitted By An Exceptionally Fine Entertainment Last Night.

The members of the Y. P. S. C. E., of Hope Chapel, gave a Japanese Cantata last evening in the lecture room of the church. The programme was the most interesting in the society's history, every number being well rendered.

The opening scene was a Japanese tableau, posed by the Misses Firstbrook, Duvier, Porter, M. Duckworth, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Dixon. Mrs. Howard was heard in several vocal solos and Messrs. Sweeney and Firstbrook gave an original sketch entitled "A Postal Card."

Piano solos by Miss Sofield, of New Market, and a dialogue, by members of the society entitled "Mrs. Ruggles and Her Family," concluded the programme. Ice cream, cake and strawberries were served later to the guests.

A large sum will be realized from entertainment, the money to be used to defray the expenses of building the chapel kitchen. The following young women composed the committee in charge: The Misses M. Duvier, Mabel Firstbrook, Marion Porter, Neuman and Mrs. A. B. Lewis.

DETAIL OF PLANS FOR PROPOSED PARK

immediate vicinity.

"On this basis I have prepared a list of owners with the valuations on their respective lands which shows the total cost of the property to the city to be $30,000. The above price includes four dwelling houses, from the sale of which the city could recover some small part of the cost, on this no estimate has been made.

"In an undertaking of this character there is almost no limit to the amount which could be spent on the improvement of the ground but it is not necessary, nor, in some ways, desirable that this should all be done at one time. Should the city decide to dredge the lake and brook and use the material therefrom to roughly grade the property and build the drives, such work could be done at an expenditure of about $20,000. Thereafter a yearly appropriation should be made for the further improvement and maintanance of the site, or, if desirable, a larger amount appropriated at the start and the yearly appropriation correspondingly reduced.

"We have then a large park in a location admirably suited to the purpose and by drives, boulevards and trolley, readily accessible to all classes. It combines in its possibilities every feature which makes such a place desirable and provides a lake of no mean size, a single item which would make it worth more than its cost to the city of Plainfield where the people have long deplored the absence of such a body of water. The cost is exceedingly reasonable and is undoubtly lower than will obtain for any such tract of land in the future.

"Since making my report on the proposed city park, under date May 25, two other interested parties than those mentioned have taken a favorable attitude in placing their land at the disposal of the city for the purpose. Mr. J. T. Vail agreeing for his brothers, Daniel S. Vail, to give the two acres of his land which it is proposed to include within the park on condition that the material excavated from Cedar brook through his property be spread on his adjoining land along Arlington avenue.

"The estate of William DeKlyn, through Mr. P. C. Brown informs me that through legal complications they cannot give the land away but that they feel very favorably disposed toward the projeect and will sell that part of their land indicated on the map for park purposes at a nominal figure. This makes a total of over forty per cent. of the total area of the park which is practically given for the purpose."

Plainfield, N. J., June 17, 1903.

A Newark man has been fined $999.99 by his union. Probably he doesn't appreciate the special mark-down as deeply as would one of the gentler sex.

The Battle of Bunker Hill was fought on June 17, 1775. Down in Boston the patriotic people are celebrating the anniversary of that important event in American history.

George H. Babcock, a renowned son of Plainfield, was born exactly seventy-one years ago. Among the inventions which keep alive his memory are the Babcock printing press and the Babcock tubular boiler.

North Plainfield seems to be in an unfortunate position, and it will take some shrewd financial engineering to bring about the desired relief. A large appropriation has been made for the new fire headquarters and now money is needed for a new school house. There is no question about the propriety of these improvements, but obtaining funds for the purpose is most vexing.

The supreme court of Wisconsin has just decided that firemen answering an alarm of fire are "always acknowledged to have the right of way." The court holds that the public service rendered by the fire department does not require it to exercise the caution demanded of ordinary travellers. Street cars, teamsters and pedestrians must make way. Such a decision should be on the statute books of every State. The need for it in Plainfield has been most apparent.

Mayor Jenkins is imbued with a progressive spirit and not the least among his commendable schemes for the betterment of this city is his public park project. The need for a public pleasure ground has long been felt and there appears to be no sound reason why Plainfield should not have one. President Buckle may be depended upon to make a representative selection in naming the park commission. Until the Common Council meets again the matter will necessarily remain in abeyance, but once the commission is announced then let the proposition be carried through without unnecessary delay.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Isaac P. Runyon and son, of Somerset street, have returned from a visit with relatives at Pluckemin.

Mrs. Martin, of 835 Park avenue, who has been quite ill, is much improved. She is now under the care of a physician and a trained nurse.

Miss Dottie Smalley, the trained nurse, has given up her position at Dr. Cooley's sanitarium in the borough, and will do private nursing.

Miss Anna Jennings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Jennings, of Rockview avenue, has returned from school at Farmington, Conn., where she is a pupil.

Mrs. William A. Schorb, of East Front street, is recovering slowly from a difficult surgical operation successfully peformed by Drs. Lufburrow and Currie.

Joseph Duryee, of North avenue, the conductor who was injured in a trolley wreck near Elizabeth last week, has entirely recovered and has returned to work.

While in Plainfield, Daniel Shea will be a substitute letter-carrier. He commenced work yesterday. At the expiration of three months he intends to apply for a transfer to Buffalo.

JOHN C. WHITING ORDAINED

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE IN CLAREMONT PARK CHURCH, NEW YORK.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich Takes Part—Joseph E. Morse One of Two Delegates.

The ordination of John C. Whiting, minister of the Claremont Park Church, New York, took place Monday evening at Trinity Congregational Church, Washington avenue and 176th street, New York. In the afternoon Mr. Whiting was examined. This was followed by a supper and social time and the ordination was held in the evening. The Congregational Church, of this city, was represented by the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, and Joseph E. Morse. Mrs. J. E. Morse was also present.

A number of clergymen took part in the service. Mr. Goodrich offered the prayer of ordination and the closing prayer and benediction were offered by Rev. John C. Whiting. Mr. Whiting resided here for a number of years. He was graduated from the Plainfield High School, class '98. He then entered Amherst College and after graduation entered Union Theological Seminary.

The "1900" Ball-Bearing WASHER FREE

FROM FACTORY TO YOUR DOOR.

EXPRESS PREPAID in Newark and Suburbs on Thirty Days' Trial.

No deposit or advance payment required. If not satisfactory, return it at our expense. No questions asked.

The "1900" BALL-BEARING Washer is the greatest time, labor and expense saving appliance ever invented. An absolute necessity to Households, Laundries, Hotels, Boarding Houses, Public Institutions, Etc., Etc. Only practical, simple, easy running washer ever made. Hundreds of thousands now in successful use.

The "1900" Ball-Bearing Automatic Washing Machine is the simplest, easiest running, most efficient machine for washing clothes ever invented. It is a thoroughly practical labor-saving machine for washing all kinds and grades of materials, from the finest laces to the coarsest fabrics. It is constructed on scientific principles. Soap and hot water are the only necessary things to do perfect work.

The Washing is Done while the Operator Sits by the Side of the Tub, Revolving it by the Handle half way around, to right and left.

CONVINCING TESTIMONY.

$1,000.00 will be forfeited to any one proving this letter not genuine.

Briggs Ave., Morris Park, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1902.

Enclosed please find bill for Washer, with cash to settle same. I can hardly express my satisfaction with the machine, and thoroughly agree with you that the first time you use it you like it, but the more you use it the better you like it. I did not believe it possible could do what you claimed, but thought it must have some good points, or you could not venture to send one on free trial. The free trial is a splendid idea, as I never should have been induced by any amount of advertisements to invest my money to find out if it was a good machine. I stood amazed as I lifted the articles from the washer on my first trial, articles that as I put them in were so soiled that I exclaimed: "Oh, yes, they'll come out clean and white—?" But they certainly did! I have three little ones and plenty of washing, and pretty much soiled generally, but my only regret is that I did not have the washer years ago, and thus have saved myself very much. Thanking you for being the means of robbing washday of its terrors, I am,

Yours very truly, MRS. E. H. VOSE.

REMEMBER—You take absolutely no risk, incur no expense or obligation whatever. The washer is sent by us on 30 days' trial. Express to your door in Newark or suburbs and positively without any advance or deposit of any kind.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

INGLE NOOKS.

A Most Attractive Feature of the Hall Living Room.

Now that the hall, pure and simple, bids fair to disappear, especially in country houses, every effort is made to give a cozy appearance to the entrance room.

The principal feature is without doubt the large ornate fireplace, which is oftener than not placed near the foot of the stairs. A settle arrangement on either side of such a fireplace forms an

The picture shows a fireplace of brick with woodwork of fumed oak and settles and stairway of the same wood. The lanterns are of green and red dull glass, and the carpet combines warm shades of red and green.

THE HOT WEATHER KITCHEN

Some Hints on How to Keep Its Temperature Down.

The kitchen is certainly not the most comfortable place in the world during the summer time, but much can be done toward making it more habitable. In the first place, a gas stove should be used whenever it is possible. If you have not a gas stove and are living in a district with gas laid on you can hire one from the gas company for very little, and some companies will even put one in free of charge. The gas bill need not be so very enormous either if the following rules are observed:

Lower the gas or turn it out the minute the full flame is not needed.

Use a steamer with different compartments so that several items of the menu may be cooked over one ring.

If a gas stove is an impossibility a good oil stove will do wonders. Select one made by a good firm, use good oil, trim the wicks evenly, have every part free from grease or oil, turn the wicks rather low for the first five minutes, then as high as you can without smoking. The oven will take about fifteen minutes to heat.

Never mind what cupboard or shelf acts as your larder, see that it is kept clean. Wash it each day. Put all the scraps on clean dishes and remove at once anything that is in the slightest degree tainted or sour.

It is better to partly bake or boil meat or fish if it must be kept than to risk its being tainted. Scald milk overnight, as it rarely keeps. Burn at once all scraps and refuse.

Above all see that the kitchen windows are properly protected from the sun's rays and if possible have window boxes filled with green plants.

HELEN CLIFTON.

A Woman Night Watchman.

Miss Nettie Gasaway, a young Missouri colored woman of St. Joseph, has been appointed night watchman of the city hall. She was educated for a teacher; but, there being no school for her to teach, the post of city hall night watchman was given to her by the mayor, Hon. Charles J. Borden. Miss Gasaway wears a badge and carries a revolver and is certainly prompt and efficient in her duties.

TO JOHN O'CONNER.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein Catharine D. Woodruff is complainant, and Mathias Silos, et al, (including yourself), are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the complainant's bill on or before the Eleventh day of July next, or in default thereof such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

"The Sioux!"

In the pioneer days of the Northwest their coming brought terror to the hearts of the settlers. We expect to bring pleasure to our readers by announcing that within a short time we shall begin the publication of a new serial story in which these red warriors figure, entitled:

"A Daughter of the Sioux"

It is a sufficient guarantee of its quality for us to say that it is written by that prince of American fiction writers,

GENERAL CHARLES KING.

The story deals with conditions in the Northwest following the days of the Custer massacre. It is full of that spirited kind of action that General King puts into his stories of the American army, and through it runs a fascinating and unusual love story. It is the best story that has been offered in newspaper form for years

ATTEMPT TO POISON COLORED SERVANT

Woman Declares She Received Rough-on-Rats in a Letter.

SEVERAL IMPLICATED

MISS GOODWIN SAYS POLICE DEPARTMENT HAS BEEN NOTIFIED.

Jealousy Claimed to be the Motive for the Fiendish Act—The Druggists Say the Powder is a Deadly Poison.

North Plainfield has a poison mystery somewhat like the Moore case on this side of the brook.

Maria Goodwin, colored, a domestic employed at 38 Sycamore avenue, has received a letter in which was a small and mysterious package of powder. Several druggists in the city have declared the contents to be some kind of a poison. The person sending the package is unknown although several colored men and women are said to be implicated in the supposed plot to put her out of the way.

Miss Goodwin has been in this city three months. She came here to work for Mrs. French, of Somerset street. Her home is in Suffolk, W. Va. She came here a stranger and soon after her arrival went to work at the place where she is at present employed.

Soon after arrival the woman became acquainted with a Henry Little, colored. The pair were often seen together and recently, it is claimed, they went to a colored dance. The morning after the dance a letter was brought to the woman through the mails. In the letter Little's name was mentioned in several places and there were some innuendoes of a threatening nature. In it the writer says: "Enclosed you will find some powder which you can take in some whiskey, you are the one who has taken Henry Little away from me." The letter refers to a girl named "Sally," who was also deprived of "Henry's" company, it is alleged, through the winsomeness of the Goodwin girl.

The letter, written with a lead pencil, is dated Plainfield, May 31. The powder, which was enclosed, is wrapped in yellow paper. No name is signed to the letter although it is evident that it was written by a feminine hand.

The girl said that once before she received a letter containing threats against her if she did not stop Little's attentions. That letter she destroyed. When she received the last letter the girl took the powder to Peter B. Hodge. Upon a brief examination she says he told her that the package contained rough-on-rats. He cautioned her against taking any of it. Several other druggists, when shown the powder by a reporter for The Daily Press last night, said that they thought the powder contained a large amount of arsenic, enough to kill a person if taken internally.

The girl says she notified the police when she received the first letter and they have been making an investigation.

CLOSES BUREAU.

State Weather Service Is Succeeed by U. S. Weather Bureau.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, June 18.—The New Jersey State weather service here is no more. Professor E. W. McGann, for eighteen years in charge of the State weather service in this city, Tuesday closed up the work of the office, and yesterday left for Atlantic City to take charge of the station in that city, which hereafter will be the headquaretrs for the weather service in New Jersey.

Heretofore the State weather service has been a State insitution supported by a Legislature appropriation, except that the director was appointed and paid by the Federal government. Under the new system the State appropriation will no longer be required, and all of the work will be done under the direct supervision of the Federal government. Crop bulletins, daily meteorological reports and weekly and monthly summaries will be made as usual, but Professor McGann's headquarters will be the United States Weather Service for New Jersey, instead of the State Weather Service.

Class Day Orator.

The class day oration at Rutgers College, New Brunswick, was delivered by Arthur E. Smith, of North Plainfield.

IMPROVEMENTS IN WEST END

NEW THOROUGHFARE TO DUNELLEN DEPOT TO BE OPENED.

Dwellings and Factories May be Erected Along Street Being Laid Out.

Realizing the growth of the city westward and the demand for comfortable houses with reasonable rents several property owners in the West End have been at work grading and putting through a street reaching from this city to the Dunellen depot of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The improved thoroughfare is South Second street and about 4,000 feet have been graded and made into a wide residential avenue.

The work has been going on for some time under the direction of Contractor Zarros, of New York. Those who have been putting forward an effort to build up that part of the town are E. F. Vail and Mrs. Dr. Penfield, of this city, and Isaac Brokaw and John Sutphin, of New York, property owners in this city. The improvement has been completed at a great expense.

The street will soon be ready to be thrown open to traffic. As soon as it is opened the lots along the avenue, which have also been graded and improved, will be offered for sale and on many of them comfortable houses will be erected. On the railroad side of the street factories will be built and on the opposite side houses for the operatives will be erected.

This may mean rapid growth to that part of the city which, with the incoming of many factories and industrial plants, has already shown evidences of a healthy boom.

RESENT THE EXEMPTS' ACT

ADVERSE CRITICISM OVER DISPOSAL OF HAND ENGINE.

Exempts It is Claimed Should Have Returned the Engine to Gazelle.

Considerable disapproval has been expressed of the action of the Exempt Firemen's Association in allowing Plainfield's old hand fire engine to pass out of their control into the hands of the Elizabeth veteran association. It is thought that considering the value of the relic it should be kept in Plainfield, there being a large number of places where it could be stored.

The officers and members of Gazelle Engine Company, the old volunteer fire organization, are discussing the matter with a view to calling a meeting at an early date. It is their claim that the Exempt Firemen have exceeded their authority in allowing the engine to go outside the city, as an agreement had been made for returning the engine to Gazelle Engine Company after the Exempt Firemen had no further use for it. An effort will be made to secure the return of the relic after the parade next October at Allentown, in which it will be exhibited.

END OF LEAGUE.

Plainfield Amateur Baseball Organization Winds Up Its Affairs.

The Plainfield Amateur Baseball League has disbanded for the season. This action was finally agreed upon at a short session of the managers of the three remaining teams held last evening. Immediately after the meeting, an effort was made to form a combination between the Hope and St. Mary's teams, of this city, and the Dunellen and Garwood Athletic Clubs. This proved unsuccessful.

John Cose, manager of Hope Chapel Y. M. A. team; John Owens, representing St. Mary's and John Steiner, of the Y. M. C. A., were present at the meeting.

An arrangement was made between Hope Y. M. A. and the Sate Works to play on St. Mary's field Saturday afternoon according to schedule. The proceeds of the game will be divided between the two teams.

Bargains in Realty.

Seventeen choice building lots will be sold next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the premises, between Grant and Monroe avenues, beginning at the Fifth street lots. The sale will be conducted by the Plainfield Real Estate Company, of 207 North avenue. These lots are all well located in a desirable part of the city. The terms of sale are 5 per cent. down and 5 per cent. monthly or 5 per cent. off for cash.

SUGGESTS SWACKHAMER FOR THE LEADERSHIP

The Correspondent of Philadelphia Record Sizes Up Somerset's Assemblyman.

GOVERNORSHIP TIMBER

HE COMMANDS RESPECT AT HOME AND ABROAD.

Some Inclined to Believe That He Will Figure at State Convention As a Candidate for Gubernatorial Nomination.

The Trenton staff correspondent of the Philadelphia Record, Democratic, has some complimentary things to say for Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield.

In discussing the probable candidates for leadership in the next Legislature he says:

"It is rather more likely that attention will be given to that tall, lank, happy man whom Assemblyman Scovel dubbed 'the tall sycamore of Somerset.' So rapidly has he won popular favor at home that the Republicans of Somerset are seriously discussing the advisability of making no nomination for the Assembly the coming fall because of the fear of overwhelming defeat if the Democrats shall renominate Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer. That the Democrats are sure to do, for Mr. Swackhamer has come rapidly to the front as one of the State's leading Democrats. He had been in the Assembly many weeks before he was known. 'He had laid back, just watching us,' said one of his fellows, 'and when we thought he was sleeping his soundest he waked up and he knew everyone of us through and through.'

"Swackhamer wore well and by the time the end of the session came it was some question which of the two, Leader Treacy or the 'Tall Sycamore,' wielded the most influence. Swackhamer soon convinced his fellow-members of his sincerity and integrity, for there were times when he could forget partisan ties and fly to the assault upon meretricious measures which his party colleagues advocated.

"It was soon discovered that he stood for a high standard of purity, and, with his deep, rather melodious voice, commanding figure and fund of apt anecdote, he very readily commanded the admiration and respect of every members of the House, without regard to political ties, were his.

"In the calculations as to a leader, therefore, Swackhamer will have to be very carefully considered. Indeed, there are those who, having watched this man from an ordinarily sure Republican county, are inclined to the opinion that he will cut no small figure in the consideration of candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor."

MR. RANDOLPH BURIED.

Many Friends Attend Funeral Held at Randolphville.

Interment was made in the New Market cemetery.

Buying Land.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, June 18—Recent purchases of real estate on Liberty street, near West street, it is believed, have been made by representatives of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. If true this indicates that that company is preparing rapidly to carry out its plan for a ferry terminal with a bridge across West street similar to that now maintained by the Pennsylvania Railroad at Cortlandt street.

At Northfield.

A number of Plainfielders are preparing to spend the summer at Northfield, Mass., where the camping facilities are so well-known. The camp was organized some time ago by Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist, as a place where young men could spend the summer at a low cost amid congenial surroundings.

SENTENCE DAY IN COURT

WALTER JONES, OF THIS CITY, GETS THIRTY DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL.

Charged With Entering a House With Intent to Steal a Crate of Eggs.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 18—Several prisoners were arraigned before Judge Vail in the Court of Common Pleas, yesterday, for sentence. Among them were Walter Jones, colored, of Plainfield, indicted for larceny of a crate of eggs, and Frederick Kane, also of this city, who pleaded guilty to an indictment, charging him with entering a house with intent to steal. He was sentenced to thirty days in jail. Jones, explained that he simply carried the eggs across the street, because the owner refused to pay him a half dollar for a job of kalsomining he had performed. As Jones had been in jail since April 28, the court sentenced him to one day in jail.

PETER NEWMILLER SUCCUMBS

He was 69 years of age and has lived in that locality the greater part of his life. He was township assessor for twenty-five years.

Surviving him is a wife and four children, Mrs. Jacob Reinmann, Mrs. Louis Casnove and George Newmiller, Mrs. Bornmann, all of Mt. Bethel. CAPTURES SNARER.

Game Warden Charles R. Hawkins Arrests New York Bird Catcher.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 18—Game Warden Charles R. Hawkins has captured a bird snarer, Peter Josten, a Swede, sixty-two years old, who lives at New York City. His method of operating was to bring with him a song bird in a cage, and to conceal this cage in some bushes. The decoy bird, by its twittering, would attract other birds to the spot, around which Josten had plentifully sprinkled bird lime, in which their feet got stuck, thus rendering them an easy prey to the bird catcher. The prisoner was taken before Justice Prescheur, of this city, who fined him $65. He was committed to jail in default of paying the fine, but was released, some of his New York friends coming to his rescue.

Judge Runyon Was Lenient.

Martha Haskins and Sadie Anthony, both colored, of East Sixth street, had a dispute last evening over their cups which ended in Martha's throwing a beer bottle at Sadie. The aim was good and resulted in Mrs. Maskins' answering to a charge of assault in the city court this morning. Neither party was blameless according to the testimony, and Judge Runyon suspended sentence. An adjournment was taken in the case of John Griffin, arrested last night for being drunk and causing a disturbance in the Hotel Roselle.

SUPT. MAXSON'S TALK TO LITTLE GRADUATES

Addresses Pupils Receiving Certificates From the Grammar School.

INTERESTING EXERCISES

REV. DR. SNODGRASS AND REV. MR. GOODRICH TAKE PART.

Timely Remarks of the Superintendent of Schools Who Points Out Ideals for the Graduates—Dr. Probasco Awards Certificates.

Pupils of the grammar department of the local public school, seventy-eight in number, received certificates yesterday afternoon after appropriate exercises were held in the auditorium of the Franklin School. The hall was crowded with relatives and friends of the children.

An invocation by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. Church, of this city, marked the opening of the exercises. A chorus by the graduating class preceded a recitation by Miss May Frances Cogan, entitled "Cicely's Transformation." The latter was a humorous selection and was ably rendered. A two-part song by the girls of the class was a feature of the exercises.

"The Bell of Atri," was the title of a recitation by Robert Lawrence Kyte. After a song by the class, Miss Gertrude Prince Abbott recited in a clever manner Ella Wheeler Wilcox's "How Salvator Won the Race." The High School Mandolin Club rendered two selections which proved to be one of the features of the afternoon's exercises.

Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational Church, of this city, delivered an address, his topic being "Value of an Education." He said incidently that in this age an education was most important in successfully meeting the requirements of the day. His talk was replete with helpful suggestions. Charles L. Lewis sang Schuman's "Two Grenadiers" in a masterful manner.

The address of the afternoon was made by Superintendent of Schools Henry M. Maxson. In his talk he pointed out the fact that one living up to a high ideal would gradually have that ideal reflected in the character of the person. The speaker declared that it is as the small and humble duties of life are performed that the preparation for the performance of great things make it easier to grasp later opportunities.

Incidentaly he said: "We have our aims, our ideals, our inspirations around which our thoughts centre day by day. If these ideals are noble and true our lives grow to be noble and true; if they are base and ignoble then our lives became the same. Youth is the time that most of these ideals are formed. The books you read, the friendships you form and the principles of conduct you accept combine to form pictures in your mindlike that will shape your future."

The remarks of the Superintendent were followed by the presentation of the certificates by Dr. Probasco.

A feature of the exercises not on the programme was the presentation of several volumes of Shakespeare by the pupils of the graduating class to Miss Anna M. Day.

TO WEAR OVERCOATS IN JULY

COOL WEATHER PREDICTED FOR FIRST PART OF NEXT MONTH.

Wet Weather For All Except Last Week in June—Weather Prophet DeVoe Makes Calculation.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Hackensack, June 18—A. J. De Voe, the Hackensack weather prophet, sees weather troubles ahead. In speaking of storms generally, he said yesterday:

"The most important form of storm is the cloudburst, because it marks the beginning of a new storm belt. For instance, between June 5 and 8, violent cloudbursts occurred over South Carolina, Maryland and Arizona. Now, the people who live about 500 miles due west from these points will be in the centre of great meteorological disturbances from July 1 to July 5."

According to De Voe's calculations the centre of the great atmospheric disburances will be over the lower Mississippi Valley. As for this part of the country the weather prophet said without a moment's hesitation, like a man who knows and does not guess at matters:

"June will be cool and wet, all but the last week. That will be warm and sultry. On July 3 it will become cool, and on the Fourth of July overcoats will come handy all over the Northern States. The cold spell will last until July 10 in every State in the 35th latitude line as far as the Pacific. July will be cool and wet also. Between August 15 and 20 there will be great floods in this part of the country, but the weather will remain cool, except a hot spell from August 10 to 15."

SELLS GASOLENE AS KEROSENE

DECEPTION NEARLY COST PLAINFIELD WOMAN HER LIFE.

No Action Taken Against Negligent Dealer, Who Claims to be Innocent of Wrong.

The thoughts of burning gasolene in an ordinary kerosene lamp with the possibility of a terrific explosion, was the experience of a Plainfield woman whose name is withheld, a few days ago. She has been in the habit of purchasing kerosene oil from a dealer who goes about the city with a horse and wagon and on the day in question she thought she was getting that kind of oil.

She did not discover the mistake until she began filling her lamps. It then occurred to her that something was wrong and she did not attempt to burn the exposive stuff. The thoughts of what might have happened gave the woman a nervous shock from which she did not recover quickly.

When the woman's husband returned home in the evening he was informed of what had happened. The matter was reported to a city official and the matter investigated. He refuses to divulge the names of the purchaser or dealer. His excuse was that he made a mistake and that he believed at the time he was selling kerosene oil.

HIT THE BULLS-EYE.

Record of Patrolmen Should be a Warning to Evil Doers.

The police inspection yesterday on the grounds of Sergeant Frederickson in Netherwood was made the occasion for a good time socially as well as an exhibition of expert work with the revolver. Patrolman Moses Quaas won first honors in the shooting with a record of twenty-five out of a possible fifty. Patrolman H. L. Overbaugh was a close second, and Patrolman M. P. Higgins also distinguished himself. After the regular shoot, Patrolman F. S. McCarthy did an exhibition stunt of thirty points out of a possible fifty, the best score of the afternoon. The men shot at the target from a distance of thirty yards, each man having five shots.

Machinist Married.

Edward Bergen, a machinist employed at the Walter Scott Press Company's Works, and Miss Annie Nelson, both of Second street, were quietly married Saturday evening at the bride's home. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed Church, in the presence of the relatives of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Bergen will reside in Plainfield after a brief wedding trip.

—William Winkelbolz, aged eight years, was brought from his home in New Market to Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning, suffering from a dislocation of the hip, the result of a fall. The injury is not a serious one.

PRIZED TROPHY FOUND AFTER TEN YEARS' HUNT

Vase Awarded to Best Appearing Battalion at Battle Anniversary Affair.

WON BY NEW JERSEY

EXHIBITED TO THE PUBLIC AND THEN SUDDENLY DISAPPEARED.

Trophy Found in Box at Trenton—Governor Franklin Murphy Orders That It Be Polished and Placed on a Pedestal.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 18—Tarnished and time-stained, from more than ten years of retirement in a chest in the vaults attached to the office of the Adjutant-General, a tall vase of hammered silver was unearthed last week and now occupies a conspicuous position in a corner of Governor Murphy's inner office in the State House. The cup, which was once the pride of the Jersey soldiers, but which has been forgotten for years, is to be restored to its original brightness, mounted in a pedestal which is now being constructed and put in a position of honor in the executive chambers.

A brief history of the vase is given on a printed card which was found in the chest, and which bears this inscription:

"To the battalion which, during the encampment at the anniversary of the battle of Yorktown, Va., October 17 to 21, 1881, presented the best military appearance." It was awarded by a committee of officers of the regular army of the United States, selected by Major General Hancock, to the New Jersey battalion, Colonel and Brevet Brigadier General E. Burd Grubb, commanding.

The body and handles of the big vase are of quaint repousse work so popular a score of years ago. In bas-relief on one side is a group of figures wrought in the silver, representing General Cornwallis in the act of surrendering his sword. The group is described in an engraved legend, thus: "The Surrender of the Sword, Yorktown, 1781."

The vase was a trophy won by the New Jersey soldiers who participated in the mammoth centennial celebration of that historic battle and was awarded for general efficiency over competitors from all parts of the Union. The Jersey soldiers made up a provisional regiment of between 800 and 900 picked men and officers under command of General Grubb. Brigadier-General Edward A. Campbell, now commanding the First Brigade National Guard of this State, was lieutenant-colonel, second in command, with Quartermaster-General Richard A. Donnelly as major. The adjutant of the winning regiment was none other than the present Secretary of State, Colonel Samuel D. Dickinson.

The Jerseymen won on every point in the competition—for efficiency at drill, the neatness of their camp, fine appearance on parade and every other count—carrying of all honors. The vase went to the Jerseymen by the unanimous vote of the regular officers who served as the committee of judges, and Adjutant Dickinson was delegated to receive the trophy, which he did, at the old house in Yorktown where Lord Cornwallis surrendered.

On the home trip the victorious Jersey soldiers paraded in Washington, carrying the trophy, and were reviewed by General William T. Sherman. The vase was deposited in the office of the Adjutant-General of the State, where it remained until 1893, when it was packed up and sent to form a part of New Jersey's exhibit at the World's Fair in Chicago.

At the close of the big exposition the trophy was again laid away in its chest and shipped to Trenton. Still encased in the chest, the vase was placed in the vaults attached to the adjutant-general's office. In the removal of the offices to the recent addition of the State House building the chest was unearthed and carried to the new offices, then set aside and for the time forgotten. On the lid of the chest is tacked an envelope, bearing the imprint of the New Jersey Commission to the World's Fair. The address on the envelope reads thus:

"Adjutant-General William S. Stryker, State House, Trenton, N. J."

The box was opened last week by order of General Breintnall, and the trophy was resurrected to the joy of Colonel Dickinson and General Donnelly, both of whom were concerned

You tax the kidneys — overwork them—

They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and pains.

Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Plainfield people tell you how they act.

Mr. F. O. Smith, of 686 West Front street, contractor for painting, etc., says: "There was a distressing pain across the small of my back which clung to me all the time. When I got seated at times if I moved a sharp pain struck me in the back and loins and almost made me exclaim. Any change in the weather or if I caught the least cold always aggravated the trouble and caused me to suffer severely. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by one of my employes who had been cured of a long standing case of kidney complaint by their use. I commenced the treatment, derived benefit from it immediately and before I had finished the first box I was cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Editor, Daily Press:

As to the mooted question of new telephone in our city I would be untrue to all my antecedents and teachings were I not in favor of competition. Though the Bell system in our city is doubtless well managed under their most courteous manager, Mr. Runyon, yet I am opposed to a monopoly of any kind, and believe with proper safe guards and restrictions that a rival system would accrue to the interests of the whole people. The argument that doctors and other business men would have to install two 'phones is nonsense—they would only install such 'phones as they found would pay, and only then, so this would be no hardship. First of all let the Council be satisfied as to the soundness and reliability of the company—exacting bonds, etc., for faithful performance of the work then go ahead and no harm can come to citizens or city. James E. Martine.

June 18.

THEATRICAL.

When "The Sultan of Sulu" is seen at Manhattan Beach beginning on June 27, it will have practically the same cast and elaborate production as at Wallack's Theatre during its six months run.

Miss Templeton wears a jockey suit at the finale of the first act in "The Runaways," this being her first appearance in the clothing of the sterner sex in a number of years. The favorites of the original "Runaways" company, Miss Amelia Stone, Miss Helen Lord, Misses Flora and May Hengler, Arthur Dunn, Alexander Clark, Van Rensselaer Wheeler and William Gould continue with the company which is drawing big houses at the Casino.

"Kindred Souls," an extremely comic farce, is the offering in which Proctor's Stock Company appears at Proctor's 125th Street this week. The play is from the pen of William Manning, an English playright, and this will be the first performance in New York. It has been localized by Louis Harrison, who has made millions laugh on and off Broadway for many years past. Adelaide Keim and Willard Blackmore will assume the principal comedy roles.

A day at Luna Park, at Coney Island, will prevent a consultation of doctors for the man and woman whose pent up nerves are almost distracted with the now-a-day cares and worries of twentieth century living. These men who have constructed this most wonderful exposition that has ever been designed have a fortune before them. They have evidently invested their money to the extent at least of a million and a half dollars upon the theory that money invested in a right way comes back again a hundred fold.

Far away from the million blinking, twinkling, white lights of Broadway, and up in a city apart from a city is situated Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street house, the only stock house in Harlem. For the summer season a splendid company of favorite players (mostly comedians), headed by Adelaide Keim and Willard Blackmore, will present in short order all the best metropolitan successes made famous by Broadway players for the past five years. For each production or revival new scenery and electrical embellishments are constructed.

Luna Park has astonished New York. It has turned the mark in summer amusements that will result next year of marvelous electrical displays at all the summer resorts of the country. More than two hundred thousand electric lights are burning every night, and the spectacle is visible for miles along the lines of the various railroads. And within the walls of the park everything is as spick and span as though it had just undergone a process of repairing. Never before has New York had such an array of spectacles, and in addition to it all a monster programme of outdoor acts is on from noon until midnight, for which no charge is made at all.

Electric Park.

If you wish to spend an enjoyable afternoon or evening amid pleasant surroundings there is no better spot in this vicinity than New Electric Park, the new, high class summer resort of Newark. It is situated on South Orange avenue, and there are many attractions and novelties offered for the entertainment of visitors. Electric Park can be easily reached from here, and in addition to the pleasure of the ride you are certain to be well satisfied with your trip to Newark's new summer resort.

—William J. Conroy, of Somerset street, is having an addition built to the front of his place of business.

—It is rumored in financial circles that the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company is now earning more than eight per cent. on its forty million dollars capital stock.

METCALF IS REMOVED

Postal Money Order Superintendent Relieved of Duty.

SON'S EMPLOYERS GOT CONTRACT.

Postmaster Payne States There Is No Charge That the Official Has Done Anything Amenable to Law, Only Serious Indiscretion.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—As a result of alleged indiscretion in matters pertaining to the award of contracts for printing the money order forms of the government James T. Metcalf, for many years superintendent of the money order system of the post office department, was removed from office by the postmaster general. The dismissal is the result of acts of Mr. Metcalf in opposition to the bid of Paul Herman of Rutherford, N. J., the lowest bidder by $45,000, and in favor of the next highest bidder, the Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford company of New York, of which Mr. Metcalf's son is an employee.

The story is briefly told in the following letter of dismissal sent by Postmaster General Payne to Mr. Metcalf:

"You are hereby removed from the position of superintendent of the money order system.

"The charges upon which your removal is based relate to your action in the matter of the letting of the contract for money order forms. These charges were made known to you by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow and Assistant Attorney General Robb of the post office department, and a transcript of your answer thereto is inclosed herewith.

"It appears from your answer that when the proposals of the different competitors for the contract for supplying money order forms were opened Paul Herman of Rutherford, N. J. (formerly employed as foreman by the Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford company of New York, by which company, it seems, your son is also employed), was found to be the lowest bidder, his proposal being $45,000 below that of the next higher bidder—namely, the Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford company—that the bid of Mr. Herman was regular in form and that he had deposited a certified check for $5,000 as a forfeit. It further appears that within a day or two the Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford company filed a protest against awarding the contract to Herman, alleging that he was not financially responsible; that a short time thereafter Mr. Herman called at your office and you advised him to withdraw his bid and re-enter the employ of the Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford company, understanding at the time that such withdrawal would result in the contract being awarded to said company and consequently in a loss to the government; that you offered to write, and did write, a letter to the company apprising it of your interview with Herman and using your good offices in his behalf; that you advised Herman that his $5,000 forfeit would probably be returned to him if he adopted your suggestion.

"It further appears that you regarded Mr. Herman as possessing the mechanical qualifications requisite to the proper performance of the contract and that it was not any part of your duty to pass upon the question of his responsibility, financial or otherwise. It also appears that you did not acquaint your superior, First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne, with the fact that you had endeavored to have Mr. Herman withdraw his bid. It further appears that a hearing has been had before General Wynne upon the question of the financial responsibility of Mr. Herman, although it has developed since the submission of your answer this morning that you discouraged the granting of such a hearing and manifested a desire that the contract be awarded to the Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford company."

Postmaster General Payne in announcing his action stated that there was no charge that Mr. Metcalf had done anything that is amenable to the law, but said that his conduct was a serious indiscretion that could not be overlooked. Mr. Metcalf, he said, always has been considered a faithful, efficient, painstaking and honest employee.

General Bristow and Assistant Attorney General Robb, with Inspector Fosnes, examined Mr. Metcalf closely for two hours, and he, it is stated, corroborated the facts stated in the letter of dismissal. Messrs. Bristow and Robb immediately afterward had a long conference with the postmaster general, who also sent for First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne, who has immediate supervision of the money order system and who has insisted on the lowest bidder being given a hearing and an opportunity to demonstrate his ability to fulfill the contract. The postmaster general later conferred with President Roosevelt regarding the case, and the order of dismissal followed.

Mr. Paine said it had become his duty to make the removal and was a step which he could not avoid in the proper discharge of his duties.

Mr. Metcalf originally was appointed from Iowa and has been in the postal service since 1882. During his administration of the office the money order service has been widely extended by mutual arrangements with a large number of foreign governments throughout the world, and Mr. Metcalf has had cordial personal relations with many foreign postal officials. His salary was $3,000 a year.

Building President Says Action Was Because They Could Not Get Hoisting Done, and the High Rate of Wages Caused a Loss.

NEW YORK, June 18.—President S. P. McConnell of the George A. Fuller Construction company, which stopped work on all of the big buildings which it has under construction, thereby throwing out of work about 10,000 men, denies that the company had instituted a lockout as a result of any agreement with the Building Trades Employers' association, of which it is not a member. Judge McConnell, when seen at the main office of the company, said:

"We have never concealed the fact that our sympathies are with the employers' association, but nevertheless our action in stopping work was not the result of any arbitrary agreement with the members of the association. We stopped work for two good reasons—first, because the engineers were on strike and we couldn't get any hoisting done; second, because several of the building trades organizations have been raising the rates of wages. We believe it will be unprofitable to continue the work at the increased cost of construction which the arbitrary demand for higher wages would entail. I would not venture to say how long our enterprises will remain at a standstill, but in the circumstances it is useless to attempt to continue. No other builders seem able to stem the tide of increased wages and arbitrary demands of walking delegates."

Vatican and Filipino Priests.

ROME, June 18.—Mgr. Nozaleda, the former archbishop of Manila, although asked for his opinion regarding the appointment of American and Filipino bishops in the Philippine Islands, has refused, saying that he had nothing to add to reports he made on leaving the archipelago, which he repeated verbally and amplified in writing when in Rome. In these reports Mgr. Nozaleda has always insisted that the Americanization of the clergy in the Philippines would be a failure, ending in disaster to the Catholic church there. He also professed to have great distrust in the native clergy. The Vatican has little confidence in the native priests; hence the proposition of Mgr. Guidi, the apostolic delegate in the Philippines, in favor of the appointment of two native bishops has not been accepted. The Vatican fears that these bishops might invest with the episcopal dignity some schismatic prelates, whose position would thus become valid. Padre Agilpay and his followers, in the eyes of the church, are now outside of the Catholic pale and are merely playing a comedy.

Governor Visits Camp Odell.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 18.—In most democratic style Governor Odell traveled with his staff to Camp Odell in a smoking car from Albany to Troy and a densely packed passenger coach to Crescent. Returning, a coach which was reserved for his party gave comfortable accommodations as far as Green Island; but, missing the Albany train at Troy, he came down in a trolley and for a long time had to stand in the crowded car. The rain held off at camp long enough for a most successful brigade review. The governor and his party, which included Mrs. N. H. Henry, wife of the adjutant general, and Miss Louise O'Brien, were escorted to camp by Troop B, cavalry, and on arrival received the staff, field and line officers at General Oliver's quarters while the Tenth battalion band gave a concert.

Strike Stops Trolley Service.

RICHMOND, Va., June 18.—Not a street car wheel has turned in Richmond or Manchester or on the line of the Richmond and Petersburg Electric railway. The motormen and conductors have entered on the long expected strike, which is, in general terms, for an increase of pay, the nine hour day and recognition of the union. It is officially announced by representatives of the company that car service will be resumed today. No strike breakers have so far been brought into the city. It is thought, however, that new men to run the cars will soon be brought in. An extra force of policemen has been provided for in order to meet any difficulty that may arise in the way of maintaining order. So far there is not a hint of trouble.

Old British Monitor Sinks.

BOSTON, June 18.—The old British monitor Scorpion, which for years has been used as a target for the guns of the British war vessels on the West Indian station at an anchorage off Hamilton, Bermuda, sunk eighty miles off George's shoals while in tow of the British tug Powerful on the way to St. John, N. B. The tug reached here, and her master, Captain Russell, reported the loss of the monitor. The fifteen men who were on the Scorpion were rescued by the crew of the Powerful.

Cotton Leaves England For Kiel.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Rear Admiral Cotton, commanding the European station, notified the navy department that he had transferred his flag from the cruiser Chicago to the battle ship Kearsarge and that the two vessels named, together with the cruiser San Francisco and the gunboat Machias, have left Southampton for Kiel to participate in the regatta of the German navy next week.

Plainfield, N. J., June 18, 1903.

War against England was declared on June 18, 1812.

The Board of Trade believes that Plainfield is unusually prosperous at present. We don't believe it; we know it.

"A merchant may do business—after a fashion—without advertising, just as a man may live without washing, but neither course is to be recommended."

The weather man certainly lacks versatility. When he decides upon a particular brand of weather he sticks to it like a bluegrass colonel to his mint julep.

The colleges and schools have already begun to send forth the "largest graduating class in the history of the institution." And probably the country will be able to worry along in the same old way, in spite of the crop of genius launched at its head.

Talk about being slow. New York never knew the Liberty Bell was on its way to Boston until the precious relic had passed through Gotham. Now the Metropolis has woke up and Mayor Low is making haste to arrange for its exhibit on the return trip.

We are in receipt of the twenty-seventh annual report of the New Jersey State Hospital, at Morris Plains. The report goes thoroughly into the details of the work being carried on in that institution and is creditable alike to the State and the managers of the hospital.

"The aim of your school work, whether in grammar or high school, is to help you fill your mind with true ideals, to lead you to love that which is noble, but upon you rests the burden of strengthening and confirming these ideals."—Superintendent H. M. Maxson, in address to grammar school pupils yesterday.

Would it not be a good thing for the Common Council to appoint someone to attend to the raising and lowering of the flag every day. The chief of the fire department is the authorized custodian of the flag, but it is not incumbent upon him to unfurl it every day. Neither it should be, for such work is entirely foreign to his office.

This is the season of commencements in schools and colleges. The word is one of much significance. It is an undertaking of no small proportion to commence the work of life. When the pupil finishes his mental training at school, he is equipped with the working tools to be used in carving out his future. Unfortunately in some instances the graduate believes that the world is only waiting for him and that his superior knowledge will insure success. When once at his task, he finds in short order that "every man is the architect of his own fortune," no matter how he may be blessed with a fundamental education. Then he realizes that he must be contented to start at the bottom of the ladder and work his way up. His success depends on his own efforts and his education is only as valuable as he makes it.

Conrad T. Ives, of New Brunswick, is visiting at the home of relatives in the borough.

A. A. Taft and family, of Grandview avenue, will leave tomorrow for School Lake, where they will occupy a cottage recently built by Mr. Taft.

NEW SIGNALS ON C. R. R. OF N. J.

THE FIRST OF THEIR KIND NOW BEING PLACED IN POSITION.

System is Based on Ohm's Law of Electricity—Details of the System.

The first wireless electric signal system in the world based on Ohm's law is being installed on the Long Branch division of the Central Railroad. Workmen have erected signal posts at Elizabeth and at various other points from the Baltimore and Ohio bridge to the Elizabethport station. The system will be put in as far as the Raritan river. Previous to the present time there had been no adequate system of signaling trains automatically on that division of the Jersey Central.

The special feature about this new system is that the signal blades are always set at danger until the approach of a train throws them to safety. In the automatic signals on the main division of the Central, the signals are invariably at safety until a passing train throws them to danger.

The signal blades are operated by an electrified carbonic acid gas motor, and electrically controlled by a normal danger open track circuit, which is one of the latest devices in the signal art. The carbonic acid gas is stored in tanks near the base of the signal post. It costs about 4½ cents for every thousand movements of the blade. From the battery in the signal tower an electric current is communicated to the rails by means of wire connection. Of such slight power is this electric current which runs along the rail, that a galvonometer is required to detect its presence. It is about one volt, but nevertheless sufficient to set the delicate machinery of the signal tower in motion. The rails being charged with this delicate current, the wheels of an approaching train complete the circuit and throws the signal from danger to safety provided there is no other train in the same block. Should the signal get out of order, of course there will be no electric current and the signal would stand at danger until the trouble is investigated.

The new signals are the invention of the Hall Signal Company of Garwood. It is being installed along the line by M. J. Treacy, of the Hall Company and a force of men from the Garwood works.

STOLEN PROPERTY LOCATED.

The Police on Trail of Horses and Wagons Disposed Of by Thieves.

The borough police have located the property stolen by Olaf Alexander, John Teeple and John Pope, of this city, who were arrested near Irvington, Tuesday, on a charge of horse stealing.

A rubber tired runabout, which was disposed of for $35, has been found at Irvington, and a set of single harness sold to Frank Cullen for $4, has also been located. Other property accounted for is a gray horse, spring wagon and harness, at Newark; a bay horse sold to William Lee, of Scotch Plains; a buckboard carriage left at Blimm's on Somerset street; a steel tired road wagon at Sharkey's on Lincoln place; and a spring wagon at Newark. It is believed that the men obtained more than $100 on the property.

DR. COLES EXECUTOR.

Scotch Plains Man to Distribute Estate of Dr. Hoyt.

In the will of the late Dr. Ezra P. Hoyt, of New York, just admitted to probate, Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, of Scotch Plains, is appointed executor of the estate, which may probably reach a half million dollars. More than $200,000 is bequeathed to charity.

To a number of charities are given bequests and annuities during the life of Dr. Coles. The only heir at law is a niece, Mrs. Helen Green, of Kingston, N. Y. To her and her son, E. Hoyt Green bequests are made and the residuary estate is placed in the custody of Dr. Coles for life, to carry out the objects mentioned. Upon his death, $100,000 is to be set apart for the erection and maintainance of the Memorial Hospital at Ihansi.

in its winning, and both of whom feel a personal interest in the vase.

When Governor Murphy was informed of the find he promptly ordered the trophy brought into the executive chamber. Architect Moses, who is in charge of the addition to the State House, was directed to prepare a design for a pedestal, and the artisans are now at work on it. The trophy will be sent to a silversmith to be polished, after which it will be placed on the pedestal and posted in the Governor's office as a tribute to the efficiency of the Jersey soldiers who wrested it from the crack organizations which pariticipated in the anniversary of the battle of Yorktown.

ANOTHER VICE CHANCELLOR

LAWYERS SAY THERE IS NEED FOR ADDITIONAL ONE.

Chancellor Magie Will Take No Action—Governor May Have Appointment.

Lawyers all over the State have been for some time clamoring for an additional vice chancellor and more than one bar association has appealed to Chancellor W. J. Magie to select one; but he has declined to do so without assigning any definite reason for his refusal.

A few days ago Vice Chancellor Eugene Stevenson, sitting in chambers at Jersey City, when asked to fix a date for the trial of a certain cause, consulted his appointments and named April, 1904, when his calandar would be free and the trial will be heard then. This so astonished the lawyers that one of them brought the fact to the attention of the Chancellor himself, with a delicate hint that another Vice Chancellor would make the wheels of Equity's car move a little faster, to the mutual benefit and satisfaction of lawyers and client alike. The Chancellor, it is reported, shook his head and replied.

"I would like to, but wouldn't it seem ungracious for me to do so in view of the fact that the people are about to vote on their appointment by the Governor."

Under the existing state of the law they are appointed by the Chancellor. There are six of them and they are by order of seniority of appointment. Henry C. Pitney, of Morristown; John R. Emery, of Newark; Alfred Reed, of Trenton; Frederic W. Stevens, of Morristown; Martin P. Garey, of Camden; and Eugene Stevenson, of Paterson. The Chancellor and Messrs. Pitney, Emery and Grey are Republicans; Messrs. Reed, Stevens and Stevenson are Democrats. The term is seven years and the annual salary $9,000.

By the proposed constitutional amendments to be submitted to the vote of the people this fall the appointment of a Vice Chancellor will be vested in the hands of the Governor.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was held at the home of William S. Lunger, on Fairview avenue last evening. It was given by a number of young people in honor of the birthday of Miss Belle Lunger. The evening was spent in playing games and in enjoying musical selections. Refreshments were served.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 21, "Be Loyal to the King and the Kingdom"—Text, Job xiii, 15; Dan. vi, 4-10.

These who have traveled in foreign lands and after many days of seeing strange scenes and hearing strange languages have suddenly come to the sea and seen a vessel bearing the flag of stars and stripes will never forget the thrill caused by that sight. Pulses beat more quickly and tears dim the eyes while an unutterable sentiment of devotion and affection makes the heart warmer. The sight of the flag brings into quick recognition the love of fatherland which had for the time being been crowded out of mind.

Not every day are the depth and genuineness of our patriotism put to the test. True is it also that much which passes current as patriotic is more nearly related to bigotry and prejudice. But occasions do arise when all the hidden power of our devotion is put to the proof. The test of courage and loyalty comes when the call to arms is heard; comes when the battle is on. But a severer trial comes to those who, in prison and slowly wasting with starvation, are offered freedom if they will join the forces of the enemy. He who prefers death by starvation to dishonor and disloyalty is a greater hero than when he merely fought on the battlefield.

In maintaining fidelity to God it is less difficult to stand firm under open persecution and danger than to repel the insidious advances of proffered advantage and worldly gain. In the general rules of the Methodist Episcopal church there is a section which is often overlooked, but which is important in the development of sturdy Christian character. It relates to the things to be avoided. It is "softness and needless self indulgence." The appetite for gratification, amusement, recreation, is strong in young life and may become imperious if not dominant. It is a good indicator, but a worthless guide or governor. The demands of spirit are ever superior to cravings of bodily powers. The claims of our King are always above every other right, the needs of His kingdom and our heavenly heritage paramount to all other duties.

It is a fatal mistake to barter integrity for any other interest. The pressure is strong and sometimes almost irresistable to lower the standard of right and consent to do something a little off color, but customary and considered polite. The minister who preaches with a stronger desire to please the people than to declare the truth of God may receive favor among the people, higher salary and position from those he flatters, but he has lost all loyalty to Christ and all that should be of value to one of His ministers. The young Christian who is more anxious for entrance into the fashionable society of the community than for the loving regard of Jesus may win the coveted prize, but may awake to find it all as worthless as a wedge of gold and Babylonish garment of an Achan, accursed and needing to be hid. Loyalty to convictions once bartered or pawned can never be recovered. "Hold fast to that which is good."

Under His Rule.

Let our temper be under the rule of the love of Jesus. He cannot alone curb it. He can make us gentle and patient. Let the vow that not an unkind word of others shall ever be heard from our lips be laid trustingly at His feet. Let the gentleness that refuses to take offense, that is always ready to excuse, to think and hope the best, mark our intercourse with all. Let our life be one of self sacrifice, always studying the welfare of others, finding our highest joy in blessing others. And let us, in studying the divine art of doing good, yield ourselves as obedient learners to the guidance of the Holy Spirit. By His grace the most commonplace life can be transfigured with the brightness of a heavenly beauty, as the infinite love of the divine nature shines out through our frail humanity.—Andrew Murray.

Readiness to Die.

Readiness to die and the wish to die are not descriptive of the same state of mind. It ought to be assumed that every Christian is ready to die at whatever time and in whatever way God may appoint. The wish to die, on the other hand, is generally very far from being a healthy feeling. It usually indicates either feebleness or morbidness or must be attributed to cowardice. We are in the world not to be overcome by it, but to overcome it by carrying to it the gospel in Christ's name and illustrating the gospel in our lives, as Christ did in His life. This assuredly is enough for which to live.—Examiner.

From Everlasting to Everlasting.

From whatever angle the love of Christ is regarded it is unspeakable. It is unspeakable in its length; it had no beginning; it knows no break; it has no end. The mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting. It is unspeakable in its breadth; it includes each and all; it is like a benediction upon every soul; it is unspeakable in its depth; it saves to the uttermost, and it is unspeakable in its height; it makes us joint heirs with Christ, kings and priests with God forever.—A. J. F. Behrends.

The History of the Redeemer's Love.

Consider the history of the Redeemer's love and a thousand enchanting acts of affection will suggest themselves, all of which have had for their design the weaving of the heart into Christ and the intertwisting of the thoughts and emotions of the renewed soul with the mind of Jesus.—Spurgeon.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 21.—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—How we may learn to use our sword.—Eph. vi, 17; Heb. iv, 12, 13; II Tim. ii, 15.

Warfare is both offensive and defensive. The soldier must learn to make aggressive warfare and also how to defend and guard himself. Defensive warfare was more prevalent in the past than today. The weapons of offense were such that it was possible for men by extensive armors to protect and defend themselves. But no armor can withstand the modern weapons of warfare, and hence little attention in recent times has been paid to this important phase of ancient military life. In his description of the Christian's armor in the sixth chapter of Ephesians Paul mentions five articles of defense and but one of offense. The defensive armor is composed of the girdle of truth, the breastplate of righteousness, the sandals of security and swiftness, the shield of faith and the helmet of salvation. The only offensive weapon is "the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God." The chief business of the Christian in this life is to protect himself from the assaults of the evil one, and his only offensive weapon is the word of God, which was inspired by the Holy Ghost. Error is to be overcome by the truth and evil resisted by the use of God's revealed word.

The effectiveness of the sword of the Spirit in Christian warfare is not to be doubted or questioned. The character of the word is a proof of its effectiveness. It is the word of God, and herein lies the secret of its power. It was inspired by God's Spirit, who understood the human heart and life and knew what would be necessary for their welfare and who also understood evil and knew what would overcome it. As the word of God it has great power when rightly used. It is living and powerful and heart searching. Experience also proves the effectiveness of God's word as a Christian weapon of warfare. No better example of this fact can be recalled than that of the Master Himself. During His great temptation the sword of the Spirit was His only weapon, but it was a most effective one. To Satan's argument, "It is written," He invariably replied, "It is written again." Thus He successfully parried every blow of the adversary and came off more than conqueror over him. God's word is still effective in warding off evil and overcoming it.

We may have to use the sword of the Spirit in two ways—by study and by practice. (1) We must know the word of God. A soldier may be provided with all the weapons of warfare, yet if he does not know how to use them he is a failure as a soldier. God has given us His word, but we must study it in its depth and entirety before we can use it effectively. We must understand it and know how to rightly divide it. This can only come from study. (2) We must use God's word. Practice gives proficiency. Every temptation should be met in the strength of God's word; every progressive movement in Christian work or life should be founded upon it. By constant practice we will become proficient as soldiers of Jesus Christ in the use of "the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God."

BIBLE READINGS.

Deut. vi, 4-9; xi, 18-23; Ps. i, 1-3; xix, 7-14; cxix, 105; Matt. iv, 1-11; John v, 39; Acts xvii, 10-12; Rev. i, 16; xix, 15.

The Society's Monogram.

One of the many strikingly characteristic things in connection with Christian Endeavor has been its monogram. Pins bearing the letters "C. E." are worn by thousands of young people not only in this country, but throughout the world. The monogram has found a place on letter heads and envelopes of scores of unions. It has been used on untold numbers of convention badges, and it has given added force to large quantities of advertising matter sent out from a myriad of pressrooms. The Christian Endeavor monogram is known and recognised the world over.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MONOGRAM.

The New Forward Movement.

New York state is leading the list in the matter of increase in the number of societies under the "New Forward Movement." The definite proposition which is the basis of work in connection with this new line of activity, as stated by Dr. Clark, is "at least a 10 per cent increase in membership during the first six months of 1903 or before the time we gather in our international convention in Denver next July."

Stands For the Bible.

The Christian Endeavor movement has always stood for loyalty to the Bible. It aims at a Biblical type of Christianity, both in character, experience and activity.—Rev. Charles A. Cook of New Jersey State Union.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

WOMEN SCULPTORS

The Famous Ones of America

WHEN Caroline Shawk Brooks began modeling in butter some thirty-five years ago on a Missouri farm there was scarcely a woman sculptor in America. "Sleeping Iolanthe," exhibited at the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia, was much admired. A little later Vinnie Ream Hoxie made models of warriors and generals on horseback, heroic size.

A little later yet girls began to learn carpenter work and carve furniture, also portrait heads in wood, at first in Cincinnati, then in other cities, and finally even to use hammer and chisel on stone. Mankind then discovered woman to be no longer the fragile porcelain creature that would break if you looked at her. The discovery did woman herself a world of good.

There is now no transcendently great sculptor in the world; therefore we would not expect to find any in the United States, particularly among American women. There are, however, several American women of respectable rank in this department of art.

The progress made by American women in sculpture may be judged from the gradually increasing specimens of their work in our national expositions. Here they have appeared not so much in the capacity of independent exhibitors as in the humbler yet useful role of workers on the decorative part of the exposition buildings. At the Columbian fair they were mainly the assistants of men artists who received orders for groups or architectural ornamentation. At the Buffalo Pan-American, however, Karl Bitter, the friend of women as well as of men modelers and chiselers, had charge of the decorative architectural sculpture and gave several independent commissions to ladies. One of these fortunates was Miss Enid Yandell, who did a statue of Daniel Boone that was pronounced excellent work.

At the Louisiana Purchase exposition the number of women sculptors who have obtained orders for work on their own account has been greatly increased. Karl Bitter again has charge of the decorative architectural sculpture. Miss Enid Yandell will again model her Daniel Boone, likewise two other heroic figures. Various other portrait statues are making, and on these several young women artists are engaged. One of them is Miss Janet Scudder, now of New York, but formerly of Cincinnati, where she began her studies. Miss Evelyn Longman is another sculptor who has received a commission for work at St. Louis, on which she is busily engaged.

But there is other work, strong and virile, apart from portrait modeling, that has been given to young women. The women who have the St. Louis groups in hand are nearly all quite young; therefore the best of their lives and achievement is yet before them. Miss Edith Barretto Stevens is making the pediment for the main entrance to the Liberal Arts building.

One of the important commissions at the St. Louis fair is that awarded to Melva Beatrice Wilson. She has been ordered to prepare the eight spandrils for Machinery hall. The decoration of the spandrils represents the wheelwright and boiler making trades.

Miss Wilson is also from Cincinnati. Young women artists from the south and west nearly all settle finally in New York because of the greater opportunity there. One, however, who has been called the most powerful woman sculptor in America, lives in Philadelphia, Meta Vaux Warrick. Her mother was a hairdresser, her father a barber.

Meta Vaux Warrick showed such genius when a child that her instructors became interested and urged very earnestly that she should be sent to Paris. It was her own strongest earthly desire. Her mother pinched and saved to pay the girl's expenses. She is only twenty-three years old now. In Paris she worked desperately. One day she took to the artist Rodin a small statue of her making which proved to be the making of her, for it gave the famous artist a "thrill," and no mistake. It represented a man eating his own heart. Her genius lies largely in the depiction of the weird and the terrible, of tragedy, suffering and despair. Perhaps the fact that Miss Warrick has colored blood in her veins may account for this.

E. R. Thomas Wants Suburban.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Twenty-one horses are announced as starters in the Suburban handicap today. On the eve of the great race E. R. Thomas, the young millionaire recent recruit to the turf, has furnished another sensation by purchasing the contract of Jockey Rice from L. V. Bell. Mr. Thomas paid Mr. Bell $60,000 for Hermis a month ago and is said to have given $5,000 for Rice's contract, which runs for two years. The boy's salary, it is said, will be $10,000 a year. He rode Hermis in all his victories last year.

Racing at Nashua.

NASHUA, N. H., June 18.—Favorites won both paces in the opening meet of the New England half mile circuit tracks at the fair grounds. In the 2:21 pace Johnnie Wiseman finished sixth in the first heat, took the second, was beaten out in the stretch in the third and then showed his heels to the field in the next two. In the 2:17 pace Lady Schley dropped the first heat to Allie Snell and then took the race with three straight.

Breaks World's Bicycle Record.

BOSTON, June 18.—Joe Nelson, the little Swede, won the motor paced heat race at the Charles River track and incidentally broke the world's record for both five and ten miles. In the race of ten miles Joe Nelson defeated Gussie Lawson, making the ten miles in 12m. 1s., lowering the world's record by 1m. 32s. His time for the five miles was 6m. 3s., or 3 1-5s. under the record.

Brooklyn Racing Ends.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The spring meeting of the Brooklyn Jockey club came to a close. Long shots almost swept the board. Van Ness was the only winning favorite. Duke of Kendal, at 7 to 1 in the betting, won the Myrtle stakes, with Highlander second and Zoroaster third. Duke of Kendal made almost all the running and won, driving, by a length.

Savable Wins Derby Trial.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The Derby trial at Harlem brought out one of the largest crowds of the season. Savable, the favorite, won. Linguist was second and Judge Hines third. Bernays, who was believed to be savior of many a "sure thing" bettor, did not get a place. The grand stand was filled completely, and the betting ring did a land office business.

Horton Wins State Tennis.

BOSTON, June 18.—Kenneth Horton of the Longwood club won the state tennis tournament at Longwood and will meet Beals Wright in the challenge round for the state championship Friday. Horton's victory was a great surprise, as he was a comparatively unknown player, never before having won an event.

Louis Wagner Wins.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—Only a fair card was offered at the fair grounds. Louis Wagner, second choice in the feature event, had no trouble in winning from Maud Gonne, the favorite. Hilee, favorite in the fifth race, got off running to a very bad start and won without much trouble.

All Favorites Were Beaten.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 18.—In the second day's racing of the Hudson and Mohawk valley circuit the favorites in three races—Colonel Julius, Allabriva and Ned Gillig—were all beaten.

Five Accused of Murder.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 18.—The motion for continuance made by the attorneys of Ward, Allen, Rich, Morgan and Whitley, charged with the murder of the insurance agen J. Percy Jones, was denied by Judge Shaw, who ordered a special venire of 250 men and said that the case would be taken up for trial Friday. The five defendants were arraigned and pleaded not guilty. As to the other defendants Croom, Pittman, Bass, Wells, Piver and Barnes, it was decided to continue their case for the present.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. MRS. J. W. COOLBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y.

"The Sioux!"

In the pioneer days of the Northwest their coming brought terror to the hearts of the settlers. We expect to bring pleasure to our readers by announcing that within a short time we shall begin the publication of a new serial story in which these red warriors figure, entitled:

"A Daughter of the Sioux"

It is a sufficient guarantee of its quality for us to say that it is written by that prince of American fiction writers,

GENERAL CHARLES KING.

The story deals with conditions in the Northwest following the days of the Custer massacre. It is full of that spirited kind of action that General King puts into his stories of the American army, and through it runs a fascinating and unusual love story. It is the best story that has been offered in newspaper form for years

DEFENDER'S MISHAP.

New Boat Loses Her Topmast In Trial Race.

BIGGEST CLUB TOPSAIL EVER KITED

The Immense Spread Aloft Caused Too Great a Strain on the Spar. She Will Be Ready For Friday's Race.

LARCHMONT, N. Y., June 18.—The unbeaten ninety foot yacht Reliance met with her first mishap while competing on Long Island sound in a match race against the Constitution and the Columbia.

Two minutes after the start for a thirty mile race the topmast of the latest Herreshoff boat carried away about ten feet from the masthead practically putting this year's champion out of the race.

The three yachts had crossed the line on the starboard tack for a broad reach to the first mark, with the old Columbia the first over, the Reliance second and the Constitution last. The Reliance was clearly sailing away from her two rivals when the topmast snapped.

Captain Barr immediately held his charge off the wind across the sound to give the crew a chance to clear away the wreckage of the broken spar.

The new defender was carrying the largest club topsail ever kited on a cup racer at the time the accident occurred, and it was this immense spread aloft that caused the toc great strain on the topmast.

The accident in itself will not interfere, it is expected, with the Reliance's engagements at Greenwich and Oyster Bay late this week if repairs are made on her as quickly as they were in the case of a similar accident to the Constitution a few weeks ago.

The Reliance gave up the race after holding off the wind for ten minutes. C. Oliver Iselin, her managing owner, who was on board, said of the accident:

"Nothing parted. The topmast simply snapped off and came tumbling down as far as the rigging and club topsail would let it. I cannot understand how it happened. Nobody was hurt.

"The Reliance will surely start in the race off Greenwich on Friday. We have a duplicate topmast all ready."

LIPTON SAILS FOR NEW YORK.

Message From King Edward Wishes Him Good Luck.

LIVERPOOL, June 18.—A large crowd of well wishers bade farewell to Sir Thomas Lipton as he sailed by the White Star liner Oceanic for New York. Sir Thomas held a reception, where he received the good wishes of his friends. He distributed miniature aluminium bolts of the Shamrock III. and Shamrock I. in the shape of pins as souvenirs to his friends.

Sir Thomas on the eve of sailing received the following kindly telegram from King Edward:

"As you are just about leaving for America, let me wish you a prosperous journey and all possible good luck for the great race in August."

In an interview before his departure Sir Thomas stated that if he was beaten in the cup races he would take off his hat to America and try again. He said that he never would give up.

The New Shamrock.

BROOKLYN, June 18.—Both Shamrock III. and Shamrock I. are dry as a bone in the Boston dock at the Erie Basin, South Brooklyn, where the expert and the amateur will for several days have ample opportunity to observe what kind of a craft the latest aspirant for the yachting championship of the world is like. The new boat proved a veritable surprise to the talent. She also was a pleasing sight to those whose ideas of yacht architecture are limited. There are no radical departures in the boat. She is a legitimate type of the fin keel variety and borders as closely upon the model of the Yankee sloop Columbia as one man can adopt the ideas of another.

The Marcum Murder Trial.

JACKSON, Ky., June 18.—When court convened Judge B. F. French, leader of the French faction of the French-Eversole feud, began the opening argument for the defense of Jett and White. He declared that County Judge Blanton, who said that Witness Crawford had been arrested, had lied. Judge Blanton sprang to his feet and approached Judge French, but Elisor Jones threw himself between the men, and Judge Redwine finally secured quiet in the court room. Judge Redwine threatened to send Judge Blanton to jail for contempt of court and admonished Judge French to be more temperate in his language.

Peonage In Alabama.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—United States Attorney Reece of Montgomery, Ala., was at the department of justice in response to a request from Attorney General Knox, who wished to confer with him in regard to the progress of the prosecutions of persons in Alabama for peonage. Although the attorney general is not disposed to discuss for publication the status of the cases and the extent of the peonage system in Alabama, it is known that a large number of cases are under investigation and that in addition to the arrests already made warrants will be issued soon for a still larger number.

Ammon Found Guilty.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Colonel Robert A. Ammon was found guilty of receiving stolen goods, part of the plunder of Syndicate Miller's 529 per cent get rich quick concern. The jury was out only fifty minutes and agreed on the verdict of guilty on the first vote.

The closing exercises of the Loyal Temperance Legion will be held Tuesday afternoon, June 23, in the W. C. T. U. rooms in Madison avenue. Arrangements will then be made for the annual picnic to be held in July.

On account of the inclement weather the First M. E. Church Epworth League lawn sociable, which was arranged to take place at C. E. Horne's, will be held in Vincent Chapel. Elaborate arrangements have been made the affair.

The arrangements were left in charge of a committee of two composed of Andrew Wison and Dyckman Winkler.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

Hereafter persons desiring to be naturalized will be required to take an oath that they will not antagonize the existing form of government and that they are not members of any organization that has for its object the destruction of the existing form of government or the officials administering the same. The law, which passed Congress at the last session, is designed to prevent Anarchists or those belonging to similar societies from becoming citizens.

A famous Nimrod in a neighboring city took a trip into Central New York at the season when the law allowed shooting of birds, though his ostensible object was not the bagging of game. After the lapse of a week or thereabouts, there came to his New York home by express a large valise which his fond friends said they knew contained some fine birds. Not liking to break the lock and fearing injury to the game, they sought permission of the family butcher to put the valise in his large ice box as the family refrigerator had not sufficient capacity for so large an article. After a couple of days, the Nimrod returned home and was informed that his valise was in cold storage. "Cold storage!" roared the man. "The valise has nothing in it but soiled clothes."

—Miss Helen G. Rafferty, of Sandford avenue, was one of the graduates of the grammar school this year.

MANY MASONIC MEDALS

IN COLLECTION EXHIBITED IN PARK AVENUE SHOP WINDOW.

Property of R. A. Osman—Important Events in Masonic History Represented.

In the window of J. Hervey Doane's jewelry store on Park avenue, there is a portion of what is probably one of the most valuable private collections of Masonic emblems in existence The collection is the property of Richard A. Osman, of Central avenue, and about one-third of it is exhibited in the shop window.

The badges are mostly of bronze and silver, some of them dating back to the time when George Washington was worshipful master of Alexandria Lodge, No. 22. One of the medals, issued by this lodge, commemorates the 100th anniversary of the death of the first president. Others of the medals also refer to Washington's connection with the order, the most valuable of all being dated 1787.

Included in the collection are souvenirs of the triennial conclaves of Masons, covering a space of many years, all of the prominent cities of the country being represented.

One especially beautiful specimen commemorates the completion of the home for the orphan children of Masons, and another celebrates the completion of the Masonic Temple in Chicago, which at the time it was erected, was the loftiest building in the world. The observatory is 302 feet from the street level, and sixteen elevators are required to accommodate those who do business in the building.

The centennial exposition at Philadelphia and the World's Fair at Chicago are represented by handsome medallions. One of the most beautiful medals of all celebrates the 100th anniversary of a visit to Soloman Lodge at Poughkeepsie, made by Washington, December 27, 1782.

Mrs. Fleit, of Elm place, is visiting friends at Staten Island.

Charles W. Eoff and family, of Crescent avenue, returned last evening from a pleasant carriage drive through Somerset and Hunterdon counties, behind Mr. Eoff's famous pair of roadsters. The trip covered a period of five days and was attended by many pleasant features.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Newark Excise Board, in deciding to grant no more new saloon licenses, deserves public commendation. It was what was to have been expected from a body that has made such an excellent record in the six months the members have been in office. When the commissionsrs were appointed by Mayor Doremus, they found the excise department of the city government in a demoralized condition, and at once set about the task of reform. Warfare was begun on dives and disreputable resorts, renewal of their licenses being refused. In this way many of the most objectionable places have been eliminated.

There are already more than enough drinking places in Newark. Figuring the population of this city at 260,000, with 1,425 licensed saloons there is one saloon to each 182 of inhabitants, including women and children.

But the ratio should be lessened. There are many places now licensed which ought to be driven out of business. The Board can do this work effectively by raising the license fee from $250 to $500 or more. There is no good reason why a city of the size of Newark should be so far behind the times in the matter of high license. The popular demand for such a departure is growing not only in Newark, but through New Jersey as well as other States. The recent increase in the license fee in New York has resulted in a large addition to the revenues of the State and its municipalities, and in some of the cities it has reduced the number of saloons about one-third. It is not to be doubted that the same results could be obtained in Newark. There are but two places in New Jersey where anything approaching high license prevails. In the city of Passaic the license fee is $501, and in Plainfield it is $750. If Newark should follow in the lead of these two mnnicipalities, it would not be long before its example would be felt all over the State. The time for fewer saloons and higher licenses is now at hand.—Newark Evening News.

CITY HIGH'S GRADUATION

Thirty-Four Boys and Girls Receive Well-Earned Diplomas.

ADDRESS BY A JURIST

Valedictorian's Essay Wins Applause—Dr. J. B. Probasco Presents Diplomas—L. N. Lovell Announces Awards—Rev. Mr. Stevenson's Invocation.

Thirty-four graduates of the Plainfield High School received from the hand of Dr. J. B. Probasco, president of the Board of Education, last evening, their rewards for four years of labor at their books, while proud parents, relatives and friends, who filled the First Baptist Church, where the exercises were held, to overflowing, applauded with the heartiness that comes from a personal knowledge of work well done.

It was the thirty-third commencement of the school, and the exercises in charge of Superintendent Henry M. Maxson and Principal Ira W. Travell, exhibited an exceptional degree of scholarship on the part of the commencement speakers. Musical numbers by Frank's New York orchestra, interspersed through the programme, were selected with excellent good taste and greatly pleased the audience. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace Episcopal Church, pronounced the invocation.

In her salutatory essay, Miss Alice Allegra Pugh chose for her subject "Child Labor." She dealt at some length with the evils attendant upon child labor, such as illiteracy, ruined health and low morals, and included a careful study of conditions in the large cities, in mining districts and elsewhere. Among the remarkable facts referred to by the essayist was that New Jersey has very nearly 5,000 illiterate children between the ages of ten and fourteen, sixty per cent. of whom have not heard of the United States or Europe; ninety-five per cent. know nothing of the Revolutionary War; and at least thirty per cent. cannot name the city in which they live.

At the close of her remarks, Dr. Probasco, as president of the Board of Education, introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. William N. Ashman, one of the judges of the Orphans' Court, of Philadelphia. The gifted jurist held the undivided attention of the audience while he gave words of advice to the graduates. In part he said:

"The world of men into which you are about to step, needs you. The wealth which you will bring to it will count for more than the cargo of the merchant ship, no matter how costly its lading. I am not a pessimist—I believe the world is better than it ever was, but yet it is an old world, out of repair and agains its mad wish for riches, against its mean frivolities, against is political immoralities, against its seething mass of poverty and crime, it needs your hopefulness, your faith and enthusiasm and above all your hign ideals. * * * *

"Note a paramount reason why, in this age perhaps more than in any preceding, such as you are imperatively needed. The tendency of modern civilization is to emasculate man. * * * The evil is patent in every calling; the rich man's horizon is bounded by his ledger and his bank account; the rich woman gives to society the care which she owes to her children and her home; even the scientist deals in a specialty.

"The result is that only one-half, and that the lower half, of the man's nature is developed; and the past has no lesson and the future no inspiration for this bedwarfed humanity. What wonder is it that shut up in such a prison, violated nature should seek solace in dissipation and crime and perhaps even in suicide.

"There is no excuse in your case for an unused faculty. There is ignorance to be enlighted; there is want to be relieved; there are wrongs to be redressed; and there is encouragment in the thought that the best work which has been wrought, has been done by men who like Bunyan, the tinker, in the intervals between their daily toil.

"Trust to your ideals. From the high domain of the imagination comes the air without breathing which, no true soul can live. * * * Hold fast to your ideal; you may never reach it, but the very effort to attain it, will sanctify your life. * * *

"Each of you is painting a picture—the picture of your life. Sometime today look at that picture; you cannot rub out a single line but the canvas is before you, and the work is unfinished. Paint the rest of it well. It is the best prayer I can utter as I bid you Godspeed and farewell."

Hon. Wm. N. Ashman.

RECEPTION AT HOME AND COLLATION IN WASHINGTON HALL.

He compared the happiness of the period of advancing age with that of youth. He declared that after men and women have passed by the fables and fashions of earlier life they settle down to a more genuine happiness in the quietness and peacefulness of advanced years.

Miss Ida H. Cline, of Newark, chamingly rendered "The Mission of a Rose" and "The Lost Chord." Irving W. Teeple, of Newark, was the accompanist.

About eighty persons were gathered at the tables. At the close of the repast the company joined in repeating the Mispah benediction, "The Lord watch between me and thee when we are absent one from another."

The hall and tables were appropriately decorated with bunting and flowers.

COMMENCEMENT TAKES PLACE IN M. E. CHURCH.

Rev. N. J. Sproul Delivers Invocation and Rev. Livermore the Benediction—Presentation of Scholarship Prizes.

The graduation exercises of the Dunellen High School were held in the Methodist Episcopal Church last evening, and six young people were given diplomas. The class consisted of Miss Irene Ayers, Miss Lillie Kennedy, Miss Minnie Schneider, Miss Edna Vail, Arthur Bogardus and Robert Lowrie. The programme opened with the "Graduates March" by Misses Alice Apgar, and Elsie Peters. Rev. N. J. Sproul delivered the invocation and then the Dunellen orhestra played a selection.

The first essay was by Miss Lillie Kennedy and was "Our Debt to Greece." The article was well delivered and showed careful and earnest preparation. Miss Irene Ayers then delivered an essay on "Our Islands and Their People." The essay was also very good and provoked much applause. A chorus from the schools then rendered two selections, "Merrily Goes Our Bark" and "Fairy Voices." Robert Lowrie delivered an oration entitled "Loyalty." His style of address was good and his subject was well treated. Miss Mamie Schneider, in an essay entitled "Early Education in New Jersey," told of the advance and improvement of educational facilities.

The orchestra followed with the selection, "Hearts Courageous." Miss Edna Vail gave in a very pleasing manner a recitation, "Grandfather's Story." Arthur Bogardus was the last of the graduates to speak. His subject was an oration, "The Value of a Struggle." Hon. Adrian Lyon, of Perth Amboy, was the speaker of the evening. He gave the graduates some good advice. The remainder of the programme consisted of the distribution of diplomas and prizes and singing by the chorus. Rev. L. E. Livermore delivered the benediction.

Mrs. Applegate's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Adeline Applegate, of Mt. Pleasant was held yesterday afternoon at her late home. It is said to have been the largest funeral ever held at that place. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, assisted by Rev. J. H. Cubberly. Interment was made in Hillside.

REINHART WINS.

Plainfielder Adds to His Laurels on the Links—Morris County Club Tournament.

In the competitive play, which began in the invitation tourney on the links of the Morris County Golf Club, yesterday morning, Frank Reinhart, of this city, made low medal score—79, and J. Whitney Baker, also of this city, made the low score of 82. Reinhart made a 37 going out and a 42 coming in. It is quite likely that he will prove a strong factor in the tournament.

A notable feature of the event is the absence of the veteran players, Former Amateur Champion Walter J. Travis and Findlay S. Douglas, the Metropolitan title-holder.

SUCCESSFUL TESTS.

New Five Million Gallon Pump at Netherwood Station.

During the past week tests have been made of the new five million gallon pump which was recently installed at the Netherwood pumping station of the Plainfield Water Supply Company. The test proved to be successful, the new machine working perfectly.

The pump was installed about a month ago for the purpose of pumping water to Scotch Plains. It was purchased from the Worthington Pump Works, of Brooklyn and was installed by William Hand & Sons. It is said to be one of the largest pumps made by the Brooklyn concern.

The new mains at Scotch Plains have been installed and are ready for the water to be turned on but owing to the strikes in the west at the pipe manufactories the local company finds it impossible to secure the pipe to connect this town with Scotch Plains. The delay may mean that the new water system will not be in use for several months.

THEATRICAL.

Manager H. B. Thearle expresses the belief that "Last Days of Pompeii" at Manhattan Beach this summer will be the grandest spectacle ever produced by the Pain Pyrotechnic Company. Expense will cut no figure in rebuilding the famous picture, which by the way, has not been done in New York in fourteen years, for June 24, the opening day, commemorates the Company's twenty-fifth season at Manhattan Beach and the intention is to make this anniversary notable.

The difficulties that dramatic authors meet with in the invention of titles seem to be constantly increasing. Frank Baum, the author of the successful extravaganza, "The Wizard of Oz" which is now running to capacity audiences at the new Majestic Theatre in New York, was asked recently where he got the word "Oz." Well, he said, I have a little cabinet-file on my desk just in front of me. I was thinking and wondering about a title for the extravaganza and had settled on "Wizard" as part of it. My eye rested on this last drawer of the cabinet and "O-Z" furnished the missing link for the rest of my title.

Plainfield, N. J., June 19, 1903.

It looks as though those who prayed for rain were a little too fervent.

We call attention to the excellence of the valedictory of Miss Louise M. Taylor delivered at the Plainfield High School commencement last night. The salient parts of this essay, entitled "conventionalties," are reproduced in another column.

It is with regret that through lack of space we are unable to publish the full text of Judge Ashman's scholarly address to the graduates of the Plainfield High School. Those who were fortunate enough to be able to hear the Philadelphia jurist's discourse were impressed by his able treatment of the aims and ideals of life.

On June 19, 1819, Maine became separated from Massachusetts. We don't know that Maschusetts suffered any from this geographical operation. Speaking of separations, have you noticed how this cold wave hangs on to us? The weather man doesn't seem able to "cut it out" at all. The thermometer registers 68 degrees while we register as many kicks.

LECTURERS AND SUBJECTS

DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE TO ADDRESS MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

List Practically Completed for Next Year—F. Hopkinson Smith Among the Speakers.

The list of lectures under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club, for the coming season, is about complete. They are sure to be of more than ordinary interest treating as they do so many subjects. The lectures will be held at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoons at the Casino.

The first one, on October 5, will be by Prof. C. T. Winchester, of Wesleyan University. His subject will be "London in 1780." On December 7 Prof. Stockton Axson, of Princeton University, will lecture on "Richardson and Fielding and Their Influence on the Modern Novel." The lecture for January 4 will be given by Miss Mary Taylor Blauvelt, her subject being "Edmund Burke." James R. Joy, of North Plainfield, will lecture on "John Wesley," on February 15 and the one for March 7 will be announced later. The last lecture in the series will be on May 16 by F. Hopkinson Smith, his subject being "The Quality of the Picturesque."

Heretofore, the club has followed a course of study on one particular subject, hence the desire for a change during the coming year. The lectures have always proved a source of much pleasure and instruction not only to the members, but to others who have been fortunate enough to attend them.

—John Borman, of Belvidere avenue, is going to build a new house on South avenue.

—The case in tort of John M. Ledley against Abrams & Welch will be tried before Justice Hand, Thursday, June 25.

—Housekeepers who desire the best should see the fruit and vegetable display each morning at Neuman Brothers before purchasing elsehwere. Here are some of the specialties: Raspberries, strawberrcies (including the Colburn variety), huckleberries, gooseberries, apricots, cherries and fresh mushrooms.

programme was that of Miss Louise Monfort Taylor, the valedictorian. Miss Taylor discussed the "Abuse of Conventionality" unconventionally and helpfully as follows:

"Conventionality is undoubtedly one of the strongest influences in our lives. Nowadays the prayer is not 'I thank Thee that I am not as other men are,' but, 'Let me be exactly as other men are.' If we examine our inmost feelings and motives, we find that our actions are largely controlled by that ever present question, 'What would people say?' From the most trivial matters of dress to questions gravely affecting our moral welfare, conventionality rules us, and none dare gainsay its power.

"It cannot be denied that conventionality is sometimes a great factor for good. It is of immense advantage to those people who are so weak that they are kept from wrongdoing, not by moral consciousness of right, but by fear of calling forth adverse criticism. * * * *

"To fully understand the evils arising from too strict adherence to laws of convention, it is only necessary to consider the woman of today, and the woman of fifty years ago. Then conventionality was far greater than now, and allowed a woman only a meagre education and small opportunity to make her way in the world. Now times are changed, and society no longer places a ban upon the woman who elects to earn her own living, or to develop to the utmost her intellectual powers. But, in spite of this greater freedom which she has gained, woman still imposes upon herself rigid and unchangeable laws.

"Emerson says, 'Things are in the saddle and ride mankind.' It is equally true that fashions are are in the saddle and ride womankind. Serenely woman sweeps along in trailing dresses, and remonstrance from the press and the public-at-large, is of no avail. Cheerfully she risks life and limb by wearing three-inch heels. She envies men their convenient pockets, but herself, pocketless, continues to lose purses and handkerchiefs without number. Dame Fashion decrees and she must obey. If by chance a woman is found brave enough to defy the laws of fashion and dress, according to individual preference, she is forthwith dubbed eccentric and strong minded.

"Not only in regard to dress does conventionality assert itself strongly, but all social intercourse is under its sway. The laws which govern social 'sets' are nearly as firmly fixed as those of the Medes and Persians. We often hear the remark that a certain person is 'very nice, you know, but not exactly in our set.' As for the idea of associating with anyone below us in a social scale—perish the thought! Now this division of society into classes is, of necessity, unavoidable. There are in this world people of so many types and such varying degrees of culture and refinement that it would be an impossibility to have perfect freedom of social intercourse between all classes. But divisions between classes should not be so firmly fixed that they may not be passed. Why is Shakespeare acclaimed the greatest writer who has ever lived. It is because of the splendid breadth of human sympathy, the understanding of human nature, which he displays. He would not have had that sympathy, that understanding, if he had held himself aloof from those below him. He mingled with rich and poor alike, discovered their thoughts and feelings, and put them in his works. It was his willingness to enter into the lives of others that put him in touch with man and man's nature. So it is with all of us. The more we keep to ourselves, the more self-satisfied, self-centered, and intolerant we become; the more we mingle with others, the more our views are broadened, our sympathies made larger, and our understanding of human nature increased. By refusing to take an interest in the poor and huumble about us, we foster in ourselves that great curse of humanity, selfishness, and we miss that divine touch of pity which makes the whole world kin. * * * * *

"Why must we make ourselves such slaves to such convention? Why must we always control our conduct by what the world thinks? The truly great men are those who, calmly ignoring the petty fault-finding of those about them, keep on steadfastly in what they believe is the right way. Abraham Lincoln, in a serious crisis in a nation's affairs, boldly chose his course, and kept it with no deviation. His object was not to observe conventionality, and cater to public opinion, but to do his duty. He stands before us as the most striking example in our history of a man who, in small matters and in great, was freed from all trammels of conventionality. To be great one must rise above the little things of life, and this we cannot do if we are bound hand and foot by the chains of convention. By too strict adherence to conventional standards our independence and self-reliance are weakened. We see things in the wrong perspective.

"Trivial matters take precedence in our minds over those of much greater moment, and we become narrow and selfish. He who, for the sake of avoiding censure, swerves from what he realizes is the path of duty, is a coward. It is only by acting according to principle, and not according to pattern, that we can 'rise on stepping stones of our dead selves to higher things.' * * * * *

"And now, as I say good-bye, I feel that I cannot do better than quote to you these splendid words of Emerson, who was himself great enough to rise above the petty conventionalties of the world:

"'What I must do is all that concerns me, not what people say. This rule, equally arduous in active and intellectual life, may serve for the whole distinction between greatness and meanness. It is the harder because you will always find those who think they know what is your duty better than you know it. It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion. It is easy in solitude to live after our own, but the great man is he, who in the midst of the crowd, keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.'"

The presentation of diplomas by Dr. Probasco, during which the ushers were kept busy presenting the "sweet girl graduates" with bouquets sent by friends and admirers, concluded the exercises, after which an adjournment was taken to the Casino, where the usual alumni reception and dance brought Commencement Day to a close.

The following were the ushers at the church: H. J. DuBois, head usher, George L. Babcock, Lucius T. Koons, Henry B. Drake, Jose Tweedy, H. M. Brakeley, Maxwell Perkins, Charles B. Morse and Fred. K. Armstrong.

These are the graduates:

—"Turkey" Webster, one of the members of the Invincible A. C., of the borough, while playing ball yesterday afternoon, was injured in the head and was taken to his home on Duer street. The young man was endeavoring to catch a foul ball and collided with a tree striking his forehead. He was rendered temporarily unconscious.

Ladies and Children Invited.

All ladies and children who cannot stand the shocking strain of laxative syrups, cathartics, etc., are invited to try the famous Little Early Risers. They are different from all other pills. They do not purge the system. Even a double dose will not gripe, weaken or sicken; many people call them the Easy Pill. W. H. Howell, Houston, Tex., says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Layayette, Ind., says all others gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work well and easy. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

THE USEFUL TEA GOWN.

The Correct Thing In This Dainty and Serviceable Garment.

It makes one feel cool on a hot day to look at the pretty tea gown herewith illustrated. It has such comfortable short elbow sleeves and the yoke is so fine and transparent that it not only is but looks cool and comfortable. The dress itself may be of china crape or any of the pretty, thin woolens, like challie or voile. There is a soft and thin wool printed in very dainty designs, called wool delaine, and this also is made up after this model. But to be really cool the material should be silk in a soft and clinging weave.

The back of this pretty gown is in princess shape, with the fronts hanging loose from the sides, while the inner part may or may not be of some other material. While the outside is printed in a design the inner part may be plain in the same shade and trimmed with lace and black velvet ribbon run in in trou trou style, with loops at the ends. Some of the prettiest of the tea gowns have no collars, but have the neck finished off with a row of lace laid on flat.

I saw one beautiful creation of lilac crepe de chine with the inner part of liberty silk in the same shade. The pointed belt was of soft, dark green velvet, and several small rosettes of the same were set along the bottom just above the shaped flounce. There was a superb trimming of rich cream colored lace, so that it formed the edge, and this fell over a silk ruffle of the same shade. The yoke was of lace lined with chiffon of the same color.

There is a pretty and quite cheap stuff called poplinette which makes up into attractive tea gowns and will wear for at least one season. A tea gown made of this stuff in pastel blue poplinette had a shaped flounce quite high in the back and bordered with a line of white insertion laid over a line of pale pink ribbon. This is a decidedly French touch. At the waist is a belt of dark blue velvet and down the front is a double line of rosettes made of quarter inch blue velvet ribbon, with loops to cross and close the fronts. The sleeves are wide and reach but little below the elbows, while the neck is finished off in V shape with ruffles of fine lace along the edge.

The empire shape is also much affected for these dainty garments called tea gowns for want of a better name, though many of them are just simply cozy and comfortable house dresses for those who have no active domestic duties to attend to. One other pretty gown of this sort is of drab crapeline trimmed around the bottom with frills of reseda green ribbon shirred on, perhaps six or seven of them. This is a welcome change from so much lace, of which the eye is beginning to weary. The waist is short and smooth across the bust, while the skirt is tucked in clusters and hangs from the bust line, where it is laid under a lace yoke. The sleeves are in bell form, and have ruched ribbon around them. This is a simple design, but a dainty one.

Heliotrope eolienne was used to make another beautiful tea gown. The outer portion hangs in a loose shape from shoulders to feet, but is open from the neck. The under part is of the same material and is shirred in three lines in two places. At the bottom the fullness spreads for a flounce. This is simply hemmed, while the outer part is embroidered with green floss wrought in all around with heavy lace as a border.

It is square at the neck and has a deep, square lace collar, which hangs over the shoulders. The sleeves are in two parts, just like one flounce above another, and each has a narrow ruching of chiffon.

With the thermometer at no one knows how many degrees one must not forget the latest in shirt waists. They are just the neatest and finest of linen lawns, with a little choice embroidery, handmade, upon the garment. Very sparse is this between the tucks, but the effect is smart. In the first place the linen is the finest and sheerest that can be made, and the tucks are hand run. Every stitch is done by hand, and so these waists are not only neat, but expensive. Narrow ties finish them off at the neck, sometimes black and sometimes in one color or another.

Quite a fancy touch is added by sewing on many tiny pearl buttons along the fold. I saw one with a monogram embroidered on the sleeve above the elbow. HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

THE VALUE OF CONSTANCY.

The constant drop of water
Wears away the hardest stone;
The constant gnaw of Towser
Masticates the toughest bone;

The constant cooing lover
Carries off the blushing maid;
And the constant advertiser,
Is the one who gets the trade.

"The Sioux!"

In the pioneer days of the Northwest their coming brought terror to the hearts of the settlers. We expect to bring pleasure to our readers by announcing that within a short time we shall begin the publication of a new serial story in which these red warriors figure, entitled:

"A Daughter of the Sioux"

It is a sufficient guarantee of its quality for us to say that it is written by that prince of American fiction writers,

GENERAL CHARLES KING.

The story deals with conditions in the Northwest following the days of the Custer massacre. It is full of that spirited kind of action that General King puts into his stories of the American army, and through it runs a fascinating and unusual love story. It is the best story that has been offered in newspaper form for years

J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

AFRICANDER WINS.

Great American Suburban Won by Dark Horse.

BEATS ROLLINS' HERBERT BY A HEAD

At Sheepshead Bay Track Forty Thousand Witness a Thrilling Struggle For the Great Racing Prize of the Season.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The great Suburban handicap was run at Sheepshead Bay in the presence of 40,000 or more spectators.

E. R. Thomas' $60,000 Hermis was neck and neck with Africander until the stretch was reached, when Igniter, Major Daingerfield and all of the other high priced favorites fell back, and the despised long shot Africander came on and won.

There was not an unusual delay at the start when Mr. Fitzgerald released the barrier and dropped his flag. Yardarm, Articulate and Hermis were away in the lead, neck and neck. Then Herbert galloped into the lead and led at the quarter by half a length. Here Mr. Thomas' costly Hermis made his effort and, although he carried a heavy impost, gradually crept into the front. Africander was a neck behind him. Lux Casta was close up, Colonel Bill fourth and Herbert fifth.

At the three-quarters Hermis was leading by a neck. Africander, moving smoothly and his jockey controlling him under a gentle pull, was a length in front of Herbert, third. Colonel Bill was fourth and Yardarm fifth.

At the next post Lux Casta had sprinted into the lead and led Africander by a neck. Herbert was third, a length away, with Hermis, Colonel Bill and Igniter close behind in a bunch.

Coming into the stretch Africander took the lead, and his head was nodding slightly in advance of Herbert, who was a neck in front of Major Daingerfield.

Down the stretch they came. The struggle was a thrilling one, and 40,000 cheering men and women helped them on. Africander won by a head. Herbert was second, fairly beating Hunter Raine. The time, 2:10 2-5, was not fast, but was excused by the condition of the track.

BOROUGH HIGH COMMENCEMENT

Twenty-Two Young People Are Graduated From North Plainfield High School.

DR. HURLBUT SPEAKS

Largest Class in History of Institution — Reception and Dance Follow the Exercises — Outline of Address and Essay.

The members of the class of 1903 made their formal exit from the North Plainfield High School, last evening, celebrating their commencement with music and oratory in the Young Men's Christian Association Hall. Twenty-two strong, five boys and the rest girls, they presented a series of exercises that honored themselves and their preceptors. The platform with its burden of youth and beauty and its decorations of red and black, the class colors, backed by a profusion of roses, palms and ferns, made a picture delightful and inspiriting to the families and friends of the graduates who occupied all the available space in the hall. Above the platform was the class motto, in large red and black floral letters, "Non Nobis Solum,"

A chorus of girls voices successfully combining natural talent and careful training carried unusually pretty selections. The invocation by Rev. Edwin L. Earp, of the Grace M. E. Church, was followed by the salutatory address by Frances Ursula Krewson, a thoughtful article, in part as follows:

"Life has grown broader, more full of meaning, we come to feel a greater sympathy toward all the world, and now as we go forth into the broader walks of life may we keep in mind the thought embodied in our motto, 'Non nobis Solum'—Not for ourselves alone.

"In all material affairs the law is 'Save and ye shall have.' Thrift, economy, saving; capital, investment, gains, interest, discount, income; these are the vocabulary of the business world. The whole process is centripetal. This course is not to be condemned, but it is barren and unsatisfactory if it stops with this. On the other hand the principal of increase in moral life is beneficent.

"In all the richer life of the heart one profits by what he parts with. Wealth is here increased as it is shared. The order is centrifugal. We find abundant illustration of this in the intellectual life. Knowledge is always surer that has been shared. * * * * To have in a true sense is to share with others." * * * *

"To live for one commonwealth is to make every fellow citizen one's neighbor. * * * *

"Readiness to lose the individual life that all life may be elevated thereby is the one condition of saving one's own. We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths. We should count time by heart throbs. He most lives, who thinks most, feels the noblest and acts the best."

In his commencement address, Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut took for his text the "Secret of Success," which he said was to "live within your income and take care of your safe." This text the speaker applied in its relations to financial, mental, social and moral problems sure to arise in later years. He laid stress upon the importance of no confining one's self to a single vocation. One should have an vocation, radically different, that will dignify and uplift." He concluded with words of good cheer, urging upon his hearers the necessity for observing economy in time, variety in work, steadiness and strength in purpose, loftiness in aspiration.

Edgar W. Adams, the valedictorian, spoke in part as follows:

Carlyle says, "The centuries are all lineal children of one another" and bound by the same law of heredity. Looking back over the pages of history let us mark the rise of a great people and from its past predict its future.

Let us go back about eleven centuries to that little island then called Britain, now England, whose people were destined to surpass in achievement and power every nation which came before or after it.

We find Britain at this time the scene of a conflict between the natives and foreign invaders. There was no army or navy to protect the homes. Society was disorganized and civil-government was unknown, each petty king striving with his neighbor. * *

At the head of this new nation there was a man who was strong enough to resist all foes, prudent enough to lead an untutored people and who saved from destruction a race that was destined for a great mission. * * Under his guidance a new government was organized and society set on a firmer basis. A great revival of learning took place and Christianity took a lasting hold on the Anglo Saxons. * *

England has produced more great men of literary ability than any other nation. * * * For three hundred years following that age of unrivaled splendor a wonderful succession of poets, essayists, historians, novelists, philosophers, orators, scientists, scholars and thinkers of every description have enriched the language with wealth that has made all latter generations their debtors. * * * *

Another high expression of the intellectual of a people is found in their statesmanship, crystallized in their laws and institutions. The institutions of a people, says a noted writer, are its solution of the problem of life. Surely there is no greater problem and the solution of the greatest problem implies the best powers of the mind. The growth of the English constitution is a living monument to the practical statesmanship of the Anglo Saxon. * * * *

Another expression of the intellectual life of a people is inventive genius which especially characters the Anglo Saxon. * * * * It is not strange that this race which has accomplished so much is the richest. The Anglo Saxon race possess two thirds as much wealth as all Europe.

What is the significance of these facts? Do they not clearly indicate that this race of unequaled energy with all the majesty of members and might of wealth behind it, the representative of the largest liberty, purest Christianity is destined to become the ruling race in the world. * * * *

We have entered upon a magnificent career, a career that will result in the transformation and Americanization of the world. By this we mean the acceptation of American ideas of personal freedom, political and religious, liberty and the right of every man to make for himself his place in the world. In adopting "E Pluribus Unum" as the motto of the U. S. our political forefathers unconsciously adopted what seems a fitting motto for the universe, the motto of a perfect civilization toward which the world is moving, a civilization which is destined to be effected there the influence of the Anglo Saxon race.

James R. Joy presided over the exercises and presented the diplomas. Their recipients were as follows:

These pupils received diplomas: Edgar Whittington Adams, Fred Kline Armstrong, Jennie D. O. Smith-Bergman, Florence B. Conroy, Matilda E. Coddington, Marion Alberta Engelhart, Edgar Dawson George, Jr., Leah Angela Hammond, Arthur Roland Humble, Frances Ursula Krewson, Agnes LaBoyteaux, Edna Antoinette Lewis, Hattie R. McLaughlin, Raymond L. Martin, Mary Hazel Martin, Hope Irene Miller, Minnie Mae Nischwitz, Mary Agnes Seal, Clyde May Slater, Stella Parkins Vermeule, Isabelle Hurlbut Williams, Sadie Adele Winckler.

Prizes for excellence in scholarship were awarded as follows: Edgar W. Adams won the first John Valiant mathematical prize of $15, and Fred Armstrong took second prize of $10 in the same competition. Honorable mention was given three others who came within half a point of Armstrong. They were Matilda Coddington, Ray Martin and Edgar George. The award for the greatest improvement in spelling, in which competition was open to all members of the school, was won by Leslie Backer, president of the Junior Class.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS IN GREAT DANGER

Vaults in Secretary-of-State's Office Are a Veritable Fire Trap.

FAULT OF LEGISLATURE

GOVERNOR MURPHY MAKES AN APPROPRIATION.

The Original Papers Stored There, Would, If Destroyed, Mean a Loss of Thousands of Dollars to the State—Temporary Safeguards.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, N. J., June 20—So careless of the safety of valuable documents are the legislators of New Jersey that should the State House in Trenton burn down official record of the big trusts would be wiped out of existence, all State record of an enormous capitalization reaching into the billions of dollars would vanish in smoke. More than that, all original wills probated in New Jersey since 1663 would be destroyed, besides railroad maps, road maps, turnpike maps and other records of property almost impossible to redeem, and that only at enormous cost. This is the conservative statement of the situation in regard to the vaults in the office of the Secretary of State, one of which is a veritable fire trap.

The legislators' attention has been called to this alarming state of affairs, how State records of priceless value are at the mercy of any good flame which starts, but session after session passes and nothing is done in remedy. What the business man would not tolerate in private life New Jersey's legislators pass over in their official capacity as sworn servants of the people's interests.

Governor Murphy sees the danger and has this year given $500 out of the emergency fund to build steel racks in the vaults containing the original certificates of corporations. To cut out a mass of wood from these old and antiquated vaults is to gain in fire proofing.

In the vault where the corporation certificates are stored are the only records the State has of its corporations. These original incorporation papers are recorded in the county clerk's office of counties, where the respective corporations have their chartered offices. This would seem to indicate a preservation of record should the State House burn down, but it is not fact as regards the very large corporations, "the trusts," as they are properly called.

Governor Murphy, when he first investigated the workings of the corporation office, expressed his astonishment that the State of New Jersey has no record of all her corporation children beyond a paper filed, to be burned up in a bad vault or to be carelessly picked up by a caller in the corporation office and lost to the State until correspondence relocates and causes duplicates to be filed.

ALUMNI DANCE.

The North Plainfield High School Graduates in Pleasant Affair.

The alumni dance following the North Plainfield High School commencement exercises took place in the ball room of the Park Avenue Hotel. The officers of the association, president, Miss Winifred Carroll, vice president, Walter F. Hamilton, Jr.; secretary and treasurer, Miss Mabel Stevens, had charge. The decorations were the class colors, maroon and gold of 1901, red and white of 1902, and red and black of 1903. Potted palms, ferns and smilax furnished a background. Westervelt's orchestra from Newark supplied music.

TWO KNOCKED DOWN.

Reckless Bicyclist Injures Two Men on Watchung Avenue.

Truman Bilyeu, of Somerset street, was knocked down on Watchung avenue last evening by a cyclist and sustained a sprained wrist. The bicycle rider did not stop to inquire whether or not he had injured the man, but mounted his wheel and rode on. An aged man, whose name is not known was thrown down by the cyclist near the same place and had his head severely cut. Friends lifted the injured man to his feet and took him home. The accident happened during the rush hours at the corner of East Front street and Watchung avenue.

Miss Fannie Rafferty, who has been visiting her parents in Sandford avenue, has returned to New York State, where she is employed as a milliner.

FRIENDS THREW RICE.

Newly-Married Couple Narrowly Escaped Injury—Groom Formerly of Plainfield.

A pair of badly frightened horses, running through crowded streets at a made pace, collided with a trolley car, demolishing the carriage and throwing out the occupants, and all because of showers of rice aimed at a newly married couple by their friends. It was the same old story with new environment and new actors.

Miss Anna J. Fogel, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., was the bride, and Dr. John Alfred Brooke, a practicing physician of that city formerly of Plainfield, was the groom. Fortunately neither was injured by the fall, although the fright and excitement made an unpleasant beginning to the wedding trip. The trip to the station was continued in another carriage, uninterrupted by further instances of their friends playful affection.

The wedding ceremony was performed Tuesday evening at the bride's home in Wilkesbarre, a brilliant gathering of relatives and friends from New York and Philadelphia, making a notable society event. The groom's parents from Plainfield were among those present. Dr. and Mrs. Brooke will include Plainfield in their wedding trip, remaining a few days as the guests of the groom's parents.

CUP PRESENTED.

Successful Junior League Team Honored at Y. M. C. A. Last Evening.

The cup offered to the winning team of the Junior Plainfield Baseball League was presented to the class of '06 and '07 at the reception given to the members of the team last evening at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The three teams in the league, the Y. M. C. A., '06 and '07, of Whittier School and the Whittier School nine, were represented by the full membership. The rooms were attractively decorated. The pennant of last year was hung on one side of the room and about the pillars and tables were arranged festoons of roses. Refreshments were served.

Features of the evening were musical selections on the graphaphone loaned by F. L. C. Martin. John Rankon, of this city, entertained with sleight-of-hand performances. The committee in charge of the arrangements was Kenneth Robbie, Sydney Rockwell, Miss Smith and Miss Florence M. Hughes.

Numerous Realty Deals.

William Jeffery, real estate agent, has sold for the First National Bank of Plainfield, to C. Elmer Gulick, eight houses on Arlington avenue and some lots on Marion avenue, near the new hospital, for C. Elmer Gulick to Hetfield.

GRAND ARMY SERVICE FOR COL. CRONKITE

Funeral at the Home Attended By Veterans and Many Personal Friends.

INTERMENT AT CAPITAL

PATHETIC INCIDENT AT THE CLOSE OF THE SERVICE.

Many Floral Tributes—Those Taking Part in the Service—Rankin Post Unable to Attend the Funeral in a Body.

An affecting incident of the funeral of the late Col. James W. Cronkite, which was held yesterday afternoon from the home in Grant avenue, was the arrival of a long-absent son from Iowa just as the services were concluded. He had received word of his father's death and hastened with all possible speed home believing he would reach this city in time for the funeral.

It was expected that Rankin Post, No. 10, G. A. R., of Brooklyn, of which the dead man was a member, would have charge of the services, but at a late hour this was found impossible and Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, of this city, was asked to take charge. There were a large number of friends present including a delegation from the Custom House, New York, where Col. Cronkite was employed, and one from Rankin Post, of Brooklyn, as well as representatives from other Posts in Greater New York.

Commander H. Craig Smith, assisted by Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market; Chaplain M. C. Dobbins, Past Commanders T. O. Doane, J. F. Berg, Albert Perry and Comrade George Stover, represented Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, and conducted the ritual of the order. In addition Mr. Fletcher read the war record of the dead soldier, besides making a few appropriate remarks. Comrade Stover was a member of Col. Cronkite's company, but until the latter's death did not know where he had been living.

There were many handsome floral tributes, including a bunch of roses and greens entwined with an American flag, from Post No. 73, G. A. R., a large wreath from the associates of Col. Cronkite in the Custom House, and a tribute from Rankin Post, of Brooklyn.

The remains were taken to Washington, this morning, where a military funeral will be held at the interment in Arlington Cemetery.

The pall-bearers from Rankin Post, No. 10, of Brooklyn, were Edward Maybury, Paul Shellhorn, Francis Mullen and John Gray.

STREET SPRINKLERS HERE.

Six Carts of the Latest Design Now Ready For Use.

The six sprinkling carts purchased by the Common Council arrived at the freight house last night. While the present weather does not necessitate the use of the carts, they will be gotten ready for use at once. The carts will be kept in John E. Keeley's stables in East Seventh street, as he has received the contract for the work of sprinkling.

The wagons are of the latest approved type, with broad tires, the rear wheels overlapping the front ones, thereby making them serve the purpose of a street roller as well as sprinkler.

Up to the Time.

When the Common Council meets in July, among other things to be considered will be the care of the town clock. During the past five years L. Moraller & Son, the Park avenue jewelers, have been successful in their efforts to make the clock keep accurate time. There is every reason to believe that the Council will continue to employ this firm as its services have been satisfactory.

Brother of Prosecutor.

John Pope, one of the men arrested during the week on a charge of stealing horses in Stirling, is a brother of Frederick Pope, the assistant Prosecutor of Pleas in Somerset county.

St. Mary's Commencement.

The commencement exercises of St. Mary's Parochial School will be held Thursday evening, June 25. On Friday evening, June 26, the school prizes will be awarded.

—The name "Neuman Brothers" on a bottle of olive oil is a guarantee of its purity. There need be no fear of it containing dangerous ingredients. If the firm name is on the label it was imported direct from France.

MEMORY OF JOHN WESLEY

SPECIAL SERVICES IN CHURCHES OF CITY TOMORROW.

Is the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of the Great Methodist.

Special services will be held in the local Methodist Churches tomorrow and the following Sunday in celebration of the birthday of John Wesley, the founder of Methodistism. President Roosevelt addressed the first meeting held in honor of the birthday of the English clergyman in New York. Since then the churches throughout the country have been holding exercises in commemoration of the father of the sect.

At Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, North Plainfield, Rev. W. F. Anderson, of Ossining, N. Y., will deliver the sermon at both the morning and evening services. Special music will be rendered. The pastor, Rev. Edwin L. Earp will have charge of the exercises. At both the morning and evening services lessons from the life of Wesley will be presented.

Special services will also be held in the First Methodist Episcopal Church and at the Monroe Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in the morning and afternoon of June 28. Although Wesley was born on June 17, 1703, the change in the computation of time with the introduction of the Gregorian calender brings his birthday to June 28.

Rev. John MacMurray will preach a sermon in the morning, after the Sunday-school exercises, on "John Wesley and His Times." In the evening Rev. Dr. Daniel Halleron, the presiding elder of the Elizabeth conference will preach, drawing a lesson from the life of the man. Special music will be a feature of the services. At the First M. E. Church at the morning session the Sunday-school will hold short exercises appropriate to the day. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, the pastor, will deliver a special sermon, his subject being "John Wesley and His Work." At the evening services, James R. Joy, author of "The Life of John Wesley," will tell something of the work of the founder.

John Wesley was born June 17, 1703, at Epworth, England. He studied at Oxford. He emphasized his theory of "instantaneous conversion" and doctrine of "entire sanctification." The chief influence of his life in his time was the good he did in his work in the poorer classes of England. It is said that his influence with the poorer classes of London saved that city from a repetition of the French Revolution.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

Bethel Chapel C. E. Society Hold Successful Affair in Spite of Rain.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Bethel Chapel conducted a strawberry festival in the parlors of the church last evening. It was largely attended in spite of the rain and was said to be successful. Music was a feature of the evening's entertainment. Those taking part were: Alfred White, Miss Stella Hill, Edward Blair, Albert White, Lorenzo Hopkins, Henry Peterson, Miss Gertrude Hamilton, Miss Bertha Hill, Miss Edith Johnson, Miss Lizzie Kinley, Miss Gussie Wade, Robert Toney and Miss Cora Shipley.

The committee having the arrangements in charge was Miss Lizzie Kinley, Charles E. VanHorne and Abram Brown.

Withstands All Weather.

Persons passing Boice, Runyon & Company's office in Park avenue, recently, have wondered what device the firm had placed on the side of its building resembling two tablets. Investigation revealed two samples of the New Jersey Pulp plaster for which the firm is an agent. The idea in thus placing it out of doors is to prove that weather conditions do not affect this plaster.

Feast of Sacred Heart.

Special services were held yesterday in St. Mary's R. C. church in commemoration of the Feast of the Sacred Heart. Mass was said in the morning by Rev. Father Egan. All during the day the Blessed Sacrament was exposed. The evening Benediction was said by Rev. Father Delahanty, who assumed his duties yesterday as assistant priest.

Hillside's Japanese Tea.

Notwithstanding the condition of the weather, the Japanese tea and musical planned for the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, this afternoon and evening will be held. Stages will meet all trolley cars and convey the members and friends direct to the clubhouse. The programme arranged for the affair is elaborate.

Among the graduates of Rutgers College this year is Arthur Embury Smith, of Grandview avenue, North Plainfield. His career through school and college have been one continued success.

When he was graduated from the North Plainfield High School he was the second honor man and made the salutatory address at the commencement exercises. He was the first of his class in mathematics and won the John Valiant mathematical prize of $15. While in school here he took an active interest in military tactics and was a member of Dr. Ward's New Jersey Military Academy as long as that institution lived.

He entered Rutgers College four years ago, and became one of the leading members of the Freshman class. In that year he became interested in college fraternal societies and identified himself with the Delta Kappa Epsilon, one of the most exclusive in the College town. During his junior year he was elected manager of the college magazine, "The Scarlet Letter." His name appears in the publication of 1902 among the list of editors.

Mr. Smith became the manager of the College Glee Club, which has delighted Plainfield audiences on several occasions. During his senior year he was chosen delegate to represent the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity convention to be held in Memphis, Tenn., this summer. Athletics also had honors in store for the North Plainfield student. He joined the college baseball team and soon had the position of pitcher. The successes of the team so far this season speaks well for his work in that capacity. He was prominently identified with the college batallion.

In the final examinations previous to his graduation he was successful in being one of the honor men of his class. In oratory he won the Barbour prize and upon his graduation the degree of bachelor of science was conferred upon him. Civil engineering is his chosen profession.

Father Delahanty officiated at his first service in this city at the Feast of the Sacred Heart last evening.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

Judge Ashman in his commencement address the other evening told a good story of a boy who was asked by his mother to name the Great Lakes. The boy said he couldn't do it. "Why, yes," said his mother, "you have travelled all over them yourself. I am sure you have them in your head." "No," said the young hopeful, "that isn't so; if i had them in my head, I should have water on the brain." And from that hour, said the Judge, the youngster was designed by his parents for the medical profession.

RELIANCE LEADS AT TRIAL.

Beats Old Cup Yachts by a Very Narrow Margin.

GREENWICH POINT, Conn., June 20.—Although the weather was as unpromising for a yacht race as could be imagined, the three ninety footers, Reliance, Constitution and Columbia, began a twenty-five mile race across the Sandy Hook course.

The Constitution got the start and, swinging around the mark boat, headed for the line on the starboard tack. The Reliance, however, came rushing for the line and cut in between the Constitution and the mark boat, and, although the Belmont boat was across the line first, the Reliance had no difficulty in establishing herself on the Constitution's weather quarter.

Within a minute after the start the Reliance was the leading boat.

The Columbia was behind the other two, also crossing the line on the starboard tack. But she immediately swung around on the port tack and headed for the Long Island shore, where, where there was a little more wind and not so much tide. Five minutes afterward the Reliance followed as well as the Constitution.

At the start the wind was blowing not over three knots an hour, and it looked like a slow race, with the chances in favor of the Reliance.

Soon after a driving northeast rain storm set in, and, although the wind was not heavy, there was fear that the rain would continue throughout the day.

During the first half hour of the race the Reliance gained on the Constitution until she was about a quarter of a mile ahead, with the Columbia steadily dropping astern. All the boats went over to the Long Island shore and began to make sharp tacks along the beach.

The Columbia, while the Reliance and Constitution were having their fight in Huntington bay, gained on both of them, but could not quite pull up to even terms. The rain was falling very heavily, and the wind had died out almost completely. There was some doubt expressed whether the boats would finish within the time limit.

The run home was a close fetch, and Reliance gained a few seconds. Five miles from the finish it looked as if the Constitution would win the race on time allowance.

The Reliance beat the Constitution at the finish line by 1 minute and 54 seconds and the Columbia by 13 minutes and 28 seconds. It is thought that the Reliance won the prize from the Constitution by a few seconds, although the time allowance which the former must give to the latter is close to two minutes. The exact amount of the allowance will not be known till later in the season.

Could Not Get In Foul Claim.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Coming to the wire heads apart, Lady Uncas, Blues and Astarita finished in the order named in the Coney Island handicap at Sheepshead Bay. Blues was thrown on the fence and had his side badly bruised, and Hoar, his rider, had his leg hurt. Before Hoar could ascend the steps leading to the stewards' stand to claim a foul the red board announcing everything to be all right was run up.

Frank Bell Won.

ST. LOUIS, June 20. — Frank Bell won the feature at the fair grounds. He was assisted materially by a straggling start. Scorpio, Ereme and Croix d'Or were practically left. The race was run in two divisions, with Frank Bell and Santa Ventura leading. Frank Bell won easily from Santa Ventura, who was two lengths ahead of Scorpio, who ran a good race from a bad start.

E. E. Farley Ruled Off.

DETROIT, Mich., June 20.—E. E. Farley was ruled off the turf by the judges of the Grosse Pointe meeting, as he failed to produce the mare Sarah Black, which won a race on Tuesday and which was claimed to be Aimless, which ran at Latonia and was substituted for Sarah Black.

BROOKLYN INQUIRY.

Grand Jury Investigates Case of Brandt Registers.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS MAY BE IN IT

Strawn Is Said to Have Gone to Washington and Given the Authorities Inside Information Concerning Driggs.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The federal grand jury in Brooklyn spent the day investigating matters pertaining to the Brandt cash register concern.

Bruce Correll of Canton, O., an assistant doorkeeper of the house at Washington, was at the federal building and, it was understood, was subpoenaed as a witness against the company. It was reported that Correll introduced former Congressman Driggs of Brooklyn to George F. Miller as the representative of the Brandt company and that he also introduced Miller to other members of congress. Correll was formerly in the law office of William McKinley at Canton. The following statement purporting to come from Correll has been published:

"Correll said that a representative of the Brandt-Dent company approached him in Washington and asked to be introduced to some of the influential congressmen, intimating that it might be made worth his while. He did so, but the perquisite never was forthcoming. After a fruitless demand on the Brandt-Dent company for compensation he instructed his attorney to bring suit at Watertown, Wis., for $700 for services. In this way the postal inspectors heard of the matter, and he was brought here as a witness. He says the Brandt-Dent people now say they never saw him, much less had anything to do with him."

Those testifying included Post Office Inspectors Oldfield and Little and Edward J. Brandt, president of the Brandt company. W. S. Strawn was expected to tell the grand jury about Driggs' business relations with the Brandt company. It is thought possible that certain check transactions may conflict with the Driggs representation that he earned $12,500 during the recess of congress in 1899.

Strawn is said to be suing the company for alleged commissions. He is credited with having gone to Washington and given the authorities inside information concerning the company's relations with the government and Driggs' duties as agent.

MORE POSTAL SCANDAL.

Several Arrests Are Expected Within a Week.

WASHINGTON, June 20. — Reports on the postal scandal have been made by the inspectors investigating the offices in New York, Brooklyn, Washington and Baltimore, and as a result several more arrests are promised within a week.

Inspectors have been sent to examine the offices in Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City and New Orleans, where millions of dollars are reported to have been squandered in useless furniture and supplies.

Postmaster General Payne has received a report from Assistant Attorney General Robb in reply to the former's request for a statement whether the decision of the post office department in the Ryan Turf Investment case, signed by former Acting Assistant Attorney General Christiancy, is in accordance with the law and the facts. Mr. Payne is not yet ready to make the report public. Mr. Christiancy is still under suspension.

Postmaster General Payne has not announced his final action on the appeal of former Superintendent Metcalf of the money order system for a suspension of the order of dismissal, but the disposition of the appeal is foreshadowed by a suggestion from Mr. Payne that Mr. Metcalf was convicted on his own statement at a full hearing.

Denmark at St. Louis.

COPENHAGEN, June 20. — Interest in the Danish participation in the St. Louis exposition is increasing. A good display of Danish industries is assured, including an exhibit from the royal porcelain factory and the exposition of Professor Finsen's light treatment for lupus and other diseases. A full exhibit of the products of the Danish West Indies will also be sent to the exhibition, and it is hoped to have a Danish art section. The Danish commissioner to the exposition, Herr Arup, will go to St. Louis in August.

Returns From Erin, Is Arrested.

CATSKILL, N. Y., June 20.—Bernard Smythe, who broke jail here in December, was returned to his cell, having been arrested at his home in Brooklyn on his return from a trip to Ireland. Smythe assaulted his employer, William Friend, a farmer of Stanton Hill. Before making his escape Smythe liberated a prisoner, Robert Burns, who in October attempted to shoot down Peter Welsh, a Catskill merchant. Burns is still at large.

PARIS, June 20.—In the chamber of deputies the Nationalists, lead by M. Lasies, made a series of violent attacks on General Andre, the war minister, and brought in several interpellations criticising the minister on the subject of discipline in the army.

IN MARCUM MURDER

Jury at Jackson, Ky., Could Not Agree on Verdict.

MAJORITY WAS FOR CONVICTION.

General Belief Is That Everything Is For the Best After All—There Is Still a Reign of Terror, as Others "Have Been Marked."

JACKSON, Ky., June 20.—But for one juror Curtis Jett would have been convicted here for the murder of J. B. Marcum, and a majority of the jury also favored the conviction of Thomas White. Both are almost a hundred miles from home in jail at Lexington, and their next trial will be at Cynthiana, more than a hundred miles from Jackson, away from the mountains in the blue grass region, under very different conditions from those existing in Breathitt county.

The interest in the change of venue was second only to the verdict. When Judge Redwine refused to hear arguments on the change of the location it was stated by many in the courthouse that the presiding judge had heard from Governor Beckham, who is generally believed to have had something to do with the change of venue to Harrison county, which is in the Eighteenth judicial district of Kentucky, where J. J. Osborne is the circuit judge, L. P. Fryer is the commonwealth's attorney and the sheriff and other court officers are also favorably known.

With such general confidence in the surroundings of the next trial there is a general belief here that "everything is for the best after all."

If the verdict had been one of conviction the residents here feel that violence would have followed and that it would have extended to others than witnesses, jurors and those who had taken part in the prosecution. It is believed now that after the trials of Jett and White in Harrison county the cases of other assassins who are known here and who have never been arrested will be taken up with some assurances of securing justice.

The next case on the docket here was that of Curtis Jett for killing the town marshal, James Cockrill, but it will be postponed until after the trials at Cynthiana and may never come to trial.

Colonel Williams is at Frankfort conferring with the governor regarding the withdrawal of the troops. It is understood that he has advised the governor that no number of troops can stop the lurking firebugs or hidden assassins, but that at least one company should be kept in Jackson as long as Provost Marshal Longmire is kept in charge of the town. The troops that escorted Jett and White to Lexington will not return. There is still much apprehension in the community for the future, and many here share in the movement in different parts of Kentucky to have Breathitt county parceled out for annexation to other counties.

It is claimed that all the feud troubles that have afflicted the county originated in contests for local offices and afterward extended into professional, business and social affairs. There is a feeling of relief here so far as old scores are concerned, but there is still a reign of terror because it is believed that others "have been marked."

BRITISH MINISTER WITHDRAWS.

Government Orders Its Representative at Belgrade Home.

LONDON, June 20.—In the house of lords Foreign Minister Lansdowne announced that the British minister to Servia had been instructed to withdraw from Belgrade for some time on the arrival there of King Peter and in the meanwhile to do nothing which could be construed as a recognition of the new government.

Lord Lansdowne expressed indignation at the crimes at Belgrade and said he thought it was not desirable that Sir George Bonham, the British minister, should be in that city when the new regime was inaugurated.

The foreign minister added that no proposal had been received for concerted action toward Servia by the powers, but the British government had no intention of maintaining ordinary relations with the persons concerned in the massacres. The government yielded to none in its abhorrence of the events which had lately disgraced the capital of Servia, and that abhorrence had not been diminished by later intelligence which had reached the foreign office.

Briggs Ave., Morris Park, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1902.

Enclosed please find bill for Washer, with cash to settle same. I can hardly express my satisfaction with the machine, and thoroughly agree with you that the first time you use it you like it, but the more you use it the better you like it. I did not believe it possibly could do what you claimed, but thought it must have some good points, or you could not venture to send one on free trial. The free trial is a splendid idea, as I never should have been induced by any amount of advertisements to invest my money to find out if it was a good machine. I stood amazed as I lifted the articles from the washer on my first trial, articles that as I put them in were so soiled that I exclaimed: "Oh, yes, they'll come out clean and white—?" But they certainly did! I have three little ones and plenty of washing, and pretty much soiled generally, but my only regret is that I did not have the washer years ago, and thus have saved myself very much. Thanking you for being the means of robbing washday of its terrors, I am,

Yours very truly, MRS. E. H. VOSE.

REMEMBER—You take absolutely no risk, incur no expense or obligation whatever. The washer is sent by us on 30 days' trial. Express to your door in Plainfield or suburbs and positively without any advance or deposit of any kind.

THE GALVESTON CASE.

No Action Will Be Taken at Present With Troops.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Except to announce that "the Galveston matter is in the hands of the attorney general and nothing on the subject will be said at this department" Secretary Moody refused to discuss the cabinet meeting or the probable action of the department in view of the revised opinion of Attorney General Knox. He desired to be placed in the attitude of saying nothing on the subject, and he requested Rear Admiral Bowles, who advanced the contention regarding the rights of the government, to be equally mindful of the president's wishes as to silence on the subject.

Modification of the attorney general's opinion, which in its unrevised form already had been communicated to Secretary Moody, somewhat disarranges for the moment the programme of the department as to a show of force. The president thinks a show of force under the circumstances will be inexpedient, and the navy department, therefore, must content itself with awaiting the advice of the department of justice in the matter. Meanwhile it has instructed its agents at Richmond not to interfere with the order of the court until specifically instructed by the department.

It was learned that all the workmen employed by the Trigg company left the yard when the company went into the hands of a receiver, and the government is experiencing some difficulty in securing laborers. This will prevent the vessels being ready for launching on Monday, and it is hoped the department of justice in the meantime will have prevailed on the local court officials at Richmond to withdraw from what it regards as their illegal position.

The case of the Galveston has been forced to a test so that the government may be sure of its ground in the event of complications with the United States Shipbuilding company.

Secretary Moody will take no action for the present on the appeal of Rear Admiral Bowles for troops to protect Lieutenant Theiss and Naval Constructor Grosbeck, in charge of the work on the Galveston, from any interference by the local courts. The secretary was asked to order marines to Richmond or to call on the war department for sufficient troops to handle the situation.

CLEVELAND IS ASTONISHED.

Substance of Interview With Bailey Grossly Inaccurate.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 20.—Grover Cleveland on being shown the alleged interview reported by Mr. Bailey of the Galveston News made the following statement:

"I am very much astonished to see such an outcome from a visit made to me by one who only gained friendly access to me by reason of his being a representative of a paper formerly conducted and owned by my deceased friend Colonel Belo and now conducted by his son.

"I don't know whether Mr. Bailey intended it or not, but he has given a very erroneous impression of what occurred between us.

"If I had dreamed that he would attempt to construct an important interview dealing with important subjects out of what was said on the occasion of his visit I would certainly have insisted, according to my habit, upon its being then and there reduced to writing and submitted to me. Instead of gaining the least intimation of such an intention on his part his first words were that he knew an ex-president was not a person to be interviewed, and he left me without the least hint that I had been interviewed for publication.

"All I care to add is that the substance of the interview as published is in some respects grossly inaccurate. There are statements in it attributed to me that I certainly would not have made to a person no nearer to me and no more in my confidence than Mr. Bailey."

The alleged interview to which Mr. Cleveland objects credited him with saying that it was absurd to suppose for an instant that he had any desire to re-enter public life or to have even remotely entertained the thought since he left Washington six years ago. The article further said that the ex-president deprecated what his friends had done toward advancing the so called Cleveland movement and quoted him as saying that he had never spoken to anybody on the subject of a fourth candidacy, had never written to a political friend one way or another nor been written to or spoken to by them.

Lands For Fruit Culture.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 20.—The negotiations begun by a New York syndicate for the purchase of crown lands with a view to extensive cultivation of fruit have been temporarily suspended and are likely to be abandoned. The syndicate wished to purchase 74,000 acres of banana and cocoa land and intended to construct light railroads from the plantations to the seaports, whence its products would be shipped to the American markets.

Pope Will Not Receive Loubet.

ROME, June 20.—It is announced at the Vatican that all efforts to induce Pope Leo to receive President Loubet in his official capacity have failed, and the attempts at a compromise by which the president would be received privately have also been without result. It is probable that President Loubet's visit to Rome will be postponed.

PILGRIMS IN LONDON

Great Dinner to the Father of the Irish Land Bill.

GEORGE WYNDHAM IS HONORED.

He Is Toasted by Senator Depew. Replies That Irish Land Settlement Would Be a Link Between the Two Countries.

LONDON, June 20.—The first annual dinner of the Pilgrims' society was given at Prince's restaurant and was presided over by the venerable W. M. Sinclair, archdeacon of London, with the chief secretary for Ireland, George Wyndham, as the principal guest.

Among those present at the gathering were Senator Chauncey Depew, Perry Belmont, Lord Fairfax, General Sir George White, General Sir Ian Hamilton, Secretary Carter and Captain Stockton of the United States embassy, James Macdonald, the Duke of Newcastle, Lord Napier, Sir Gilbert Parker, Richard Peabody, Sir John Puleston, the Prince of Thurn and Taxis, Sir Horace Walpole, C. F. Moberly Bell of the London Times, Egerton Castle, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and many other distinguished men from both countries.

Senator Depew proposed the health of George Wyndham, who in responding alluded to the Irish land bill and said that Ireland, which had been a chasm between Great Britain and the United States, might now become a link between them. "One of my chief incentives," continued Mr. Wyndham, "in proposing what may seem to many a visionary course is the hope that Ireland might become a bond between our country and yours."

Sir George White spoke eloquently on the benefits to mankind of an Anglo-Saxon alliance, and the remarks of all the other speakers were in the same vein.

The incident of the evening was the presentation of a loving cup to Lindsay Russell, the founder of the Pilgrims' society in London, who will return to New York next week.

PEACE FOR SERVIA.

Foreign Minister Explains Why He Took Office.

BELGRADE, Servia, June 20.—The Servian foreign minister has explained the necessity of some one taking office in order to insure the continuance of the federal administration after the violent coup d'etat which resulted in the death of the sovereigns. He was called to office, he said, practically by force, but he was happy and willing to do his utmost for his country in her present distressed condition. He commented on the tranquillity which prevailed throughout the country and even admitted that he was surprised that there had not been a single attempt at reprisals from any quarter.

It had not been necessary to change a single provincial officer, though all were nominees of the late regime. He declared that the mutilated version of the Austrian emperor's telegram circulated in Belgrade, in which the latter's terms of reprehension were slurred over, was not the work of officials, but simply a newspaper translation, the harsh sections of the telegram being suppressed on the editors' own initiative.

Regarding the official version of the tragedy in the royal palace the minister said the government was too busy now to draw up such a document; besides, only the officers who participated in it could give the details. He did not expect a complete revision of the constitution after the arrival of King Peter. Such changes as had been already made were merely with a view to its easier working. M. Kallevics in conclusion expressed his confidence that the new regime would restore stability and peace to Servia.

Spain Wants New Army and Navy.

MADRID, June 20.—In the course of a long debate in the chamber of deputies arising from the recommendation made by the Marquis de Villaverdes to renounce the intended expenditure for the development of the army and navy Premier Silvela and Marine Minister Toca declared that the government could not abstain from increasing the country's naval power. It was accordingly proposed to submit a bill providing for the construction of a squadron the expenditure of which would be independent of the ordinary budget.

Edward and Alexandra Entertain.

LONDON, June 20.—The king and queen entertained 800 persons at a ball in Windsor castle last night. The dancing took place in Waterloo chamber, the crack band of the Scots guards contributing the music. Supper was served in St. George's hall. All the members of the royal family were present at the function, and among the American guests were United States Ambassador and Mrs. and Miss Choate, Secretary and Mrs. Henry White and their daughter.

Consular Appointments.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Announcement is made at the state department of these consular appointments: John G. Foster, Vermont, consul general at Ottawa; Robert Woods Bliss, consul at Vienna; James Verner Long, Pennsylvania, consul at Patras; Edward Higgins, Massachusetts, consul at Berne.

Were Unlawfully In Country.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., June 20.—Twenty-five Chinamen captured on the frontier while stealing across from Canada were brought here by immigration inspectors. United States Commissioner Gray committed them to the county jail for trial for being unlawfully in this country.

Plainfield, N. J., June 20, 1903.

Plant your advertising appropriation in the daily newspapers that circulate in the homes.

Mr. Jupiter Pluvius, Mr. Encyclopedia and Mr. Dictionary are being overworked this month.

Speaking of cinches, how would you like to be the street sprinkler this weather. How 'bout it, Mr. Keely?

An Indiana prize hog has just sold for $15,700. That's more than the average human porcine would bring.

This postoffice department scandal will have to be hushed up. It's getting altogether too close to election time.

Sir Thomas Lipton declares that if he fails to lift that cup this time the building of a fourth Shamrock will begin at once. We're inclined to think that there is a strain of Yankee blood in Sir Thomas' veins.

Having been assured that it cannot ring and frighten the street car horses, New York now wants to see the Liberty Bell.—Philadelphia North American.

But the politicians accompanying the Bell—How about them?

Another wail comes from the New Brunswick Home News office. This is the latest:

"The importance of a better supervision of the milk supplied to the community is pointed out by the spread of such diseases as typhoid fever and scarlet fever in other places by the distribution of impure milk. Only in a general way does our State Health Board watch the milk supply. It must devolve upon local boards of health to protect their own citizens. Price cutting in this county has had one bad effect, that of causing the best dairymen to send their milk to the big cities, where they can get better prices. Our opinion is that cheap milk is a positive menace to the health of the household. An agricultural friend tells us that a farmer who sells milk at six cents cannot make a decent profit, and that he must dilute it to get square with the consumer. The wise man will pay his milkman a fair price and get the pure article."

There need by no fear from price cutting if New Brunswick only will wake up. Plainfield spends money wisely in protecting its city through an efficient Board of Health department.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

What ten years has done for Scotch Plains: Good roads, electric lights, one of the best schools in the State, trolley and city water. There is no reason why the village should not grow, all it needs is some one to build houses they will rent. A town can hardly expand much when real estate dealers are unable to supply the demand for houses.

Services at the Baptist Church tomorrow will be: Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching by the pastor, 10:45; Children's Day exercises at 8 o'clock; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7 p. m.; evening service, 7:45. A delegation from Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., will be present.

Miss Pond, who has been one of the efficient teachers of the Public School during the past year, will not return in Septemebr when school reopens, having accepted a position in one of the Plainfield schools.

Notwithstanding the roast the local team received at Westfield last Saturday, the balance of the series will be played as arranged, one more game at Westfield; the last of the series to be played here.

A number of bills were ordered paid and considerable other business of a routine nature was transacted at the meeting of the Town Committee held last night in the town rooms.

John Rickerson, who has quite a local reputation as a follower of Isaac Walton, intends putting a boat on the Passaic river for the use of himself and friends.

Several from the village are spending the day at Boynton Beach.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Frank Reinhart Defeated.

Much to the surprise of his many friends, Frank O. Reinhart was beaten, yesterday, in the golf tournament on the Morris County Golf Club course, by his college friend, L. H. Conklin. Reinhart made an 84, while Conklin turned in a score of 82. It was generally conceded beforehand that Reinhart would win the tournament.

In the afternoon L. H. Conklin and J. Whitney Baker met in the upper half of the semi-finals and a nineteen-hole match was necessary to decide things in favor of Conklin. In the second round play for the President's cup, J. Whitney Baker beat Morgan Smith, of Morris County 7 up and 6 to play, only to meet defeat in the semi-final play as noted.

Sanitary Arrangement.

For the purpose of giving his patrons the best possible service, Edwin B. Maynard, the North avenue tonsorial artist, has installed in his shaving and hair-cutting parlors a modern sterilizer, in which are kept small wash-rags, towels, and the like. There is also a place in which razors can be sterilized. This will absolutely prevent the presence of germs of any description, insuring cleanliness to the highest degree.

Game Postponed.

On account of the weather the baseball game scheduled for this afternoon between Alis and Scotch Plains on Crescent Oval, has been postponed.

Annual Excursion.

Until Thursday, July 9, the children of the First Baptist Church Sunday-school will count days. The annual excursion to Asbury Park occurs.

Cold Comfort From Doctors.

Doctors say neuralgia is not dangerous. This is poor consolation to a sufferer who feels as if his face were pierced with hot needles and torn with a thousand pairs of pincers. A word of advice to him: stay indoors and use Perry Davis' Painkiller. The blessed freedom from pain which follows this treatment cannot be told. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

THE CACTUS FAMILY.

Botanists Divide It Into Four Distinct Branches.

With Very Few Exceptions They Are All Natives of the Western Hemisphere—How They Are Classified.

[Special Los Angeles (Cal.) Letter.]

TO THE collector probably no family of plants, outside the orchids, present so many fascinating features as the cacti, which, with very few exceptions, are natives of America and its adjacent islands, only. The cactus industry moves in cycles. Latterly, it is very quiet, but interest is again gathering, although it will probably be about ten years before another actual craze is experienced. Even now, there is a great demand, especially in Europe, Germany furnishing the best market, at present. Most of our large cities, according to their several climates, have good collections. In the east, that at Baltimore is, perhaps, as worthy of remark as any. Of course, in climates where the plant is a native it thrives best, as is seen in the parks at Los Angeles and Riverside, Cal. In the latter city is probably one of the most interesting little cactus parks in the world. In our first illustration is a bit from one of the gardens in Los Angeles, in which the Cereus giganteus is most prominent.

The Echino cactus grows to a height of about eight feet. Its fruit is sour and not much relished, but the inner part of the plant itself is soft, acrid and juicy, and, to some, agreeable to the taste. An Indian selects a plant three or four feet long and two feet in diameter, cuts it down and hollows it to form a trough into which he throws the soft pulp, which surrounds the central woody axis, and adds meat, roots, seeds, meal, fruit, or anything edible at hand, together with water. He mixes the whole and drops in hot stones, which he takes out and licks, reheats, and drops in again, repeating the process until the mixture is thoroughly cooked. Horses sometimes kick open the cactus plants, to obtain the juicy pulp. The small, black seeds of the Echino cactus are dried, parched and pulverized into meal.

Closely resembling this variety in structure is the Cereus giganteus (represented also in the second cut). This latter is found native in Arizona only and sometimes attains a height of 60 feet. The fasceate form at the right in the photograph is very rare and highly prized. A collector discovering same would cut off the fan-shaped top and if he felt unable to retain such a prize for himself, could readily find a purchaser. A specimen of this kind was recently sold at the Royal Botanical garden at Kew, England, for a very large sum. The plant here represented is probably about 25 feet high and two feet in diameter. The cactus plants furnish the abiding place of these little desert woodpeckers. The fruit grows near the top of the plant and is highly prized by the Indians. Its interior is of a beautiful red color and is very palatable, being more juicy than the fig while resembling it in flavor. It is sometimes preserved, also made into syrup. The Pimos Indians prepare from it a clear, amber colored, exceedingly intoxicating wine called Tiswine. After a plant has been dead for about a year, it splits longitudinally into long poles. The natives utilize a strip from a dead plant with which to reach up and push off the fruit from a living one. There are various uses to which this plant is put. Sometimes a cup-like cavity is made in the side of a plant and allowed to fill with the sap. In case of extreme thirst, this may be drank, but the taste is acrid and exceedingly unpleasant and the beverage is never used except in extreme cases. The plant might serve as fuel, but this is seldom necessary as, in the desert, all the vegetation has a greasy tendency and, as a rule, may be burned when green. The scrubby little bushes seen all over the ground in the picture are grease-wood. To illustrate this characteristic of desert foliage, the pepper tree, a native of Peru, found through Mexico and California, rarely presents the dusty appearance asserted on cultivated trees which have been introduced here from moist climates. This is due to the quantity of volatile oil in the leaves which eventually explodes, repelling the dust

The third great cactus section is the Opuntia. Of this, the Tema family is the most extensive. In Los Angeles county are found many varieties of Opuntias. The edibles grow on flat-leaved plants. There are two local fields in this state in which collections of value may be made. First, the Colorado desert between San Bernardino county and Yuma, beginning about 100 miles from Los Angeles. The other field is the Mojave desert, beginning on a line with the San Fernando tunnel and ending at Bakersfield, the northernmost limit of native cacti in California. Prickly pears, very common Opuntias, have been known to grow in running water. They are very tenacious of life.

There are more specimens of cactus in Texas than any other state, among which are at least 40 of commercial value. The most common of the Opuntias is that shown in the third cut, where the fruit may be seen growing in abundance on the flat, pear-shaped leaves (so-called). "Indian figs," are very common. This fruit grows from three to four inches long and two or three inches in diameter, is egg-shaped or pear-like in form and covered with minute and excessively annoying spines. The pulp is of an agreeable sub-acid flavor. They are sometimes called "Barbary figs." Over 150 varieties are native in the United States. The Opuntias, set in line, make an impenetrable fence. They grow in any dry, sandy soil and will subsist where scarcely any other vegetation is found, as on the porous lava of volcanic districts.

A fact interesting to scientists is that the cochineal insect lives on a species of the Opuntia. In southern Mexico, Central America and the Canary islands, the plant is largely grown and insects reared. Cochineal dye, carmine, lake and other dyes are prepared from this insect. In the island of Sicily over 10,000 acres are said to be cultivated for the fruit alone.

A fourth but very small section of the cactus family is found in this state, viz.: the Mammillaria, which does not often grow more than one foot high. Many new and curious forms of cacti are constantly being produced by cultivation.

Mr. Ernest Branton, one of the best authorities on the cactus and to whom we are indebted for our information, states that on one occasion he was listening to a sermon on the desert around Sinai, from which he quotes "imagine a dreary waste, nothing but sand and rocks, torn by storms and destroyed by time, no sign of vegetable life except here and there a cactus." After the sermon Mr. Branton told the preacher that all authorities agreed that no cactus was native to any of the country around Sinai. "But," said the preacher, "I have seen them growing there." However, a few days later, Mr. Branton received a clipping from him in which it was stated that a young artist was painting a picture of Jerusalem at the time of Christ. Near a wall, he had introduced a cactus. A friend told him that he had committed an artistic anachronism, as no cacti grew in that land until carried there by the Spanish after the discovery of South America. Like many other of our institutions the cactus has been adopted by many nations.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

PRACTICAL GOWNS.

Crepe de Chine a Good Material. The New Taffetas.

For everyday wear charming gowns are made of dark woolen material trimmed with bright colored embroideries or Arabian lace.

A dark gown can be prettily arranged with a small square opening outlined with galloon or insertion lace, and removable chemisettes can be worn.

There has been a great revival of taffeta—in fact, no material is so popular in Paris unless it be chiffon. The new silk weaves possess less brilliancy, but greater wearing qualities.

BLUE LINON GOWN.

For economically minded people the best frock is a black one of crepe de chine, chiffon, voile or taffeta. There are many dull days and occasions where black seems the only suitable wear, for it has a smartness of its own and seldom advertises its date. Crepe de chine is softer and not more expensive than taffeta; but, after all, on a hot summer's day there is something chic about the latter, for it sheds dust like alpaca.

A sun rayed plaited skirt of soft taffeta is charming worn with a blouse of the same and a jabot of yellowish lace.

The illustration shows a gown of heavy lace ecru and pale blue linon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Navy Blue Is Popular—Pretty Taffeta Frocks Are Useful.

Navy blue is considered very chic this year, and it is seen in all materials, from cheviot to glace silk.

A dark navy blue glace seen recently was made with closely gauged skirt, the gauging coming about three inches below the hips, and it was finished at the hem with five large flat tucks, stitched with fancy veining between each tuck. This skirt touched the ground all round. In fact, it did more, for it lay on the ground, although it had no train. This is a characteristic feature of many of the smart afternoon skirts of the hour.

WALKING COSTUME OF BLUE CHEVIOT.

The short skirt is kept in Paris for street wear in the morning, and for practical purposes it does not enter in the category of smart gowns for afternoon wear.

Some of the taffeta frocks are made with loose sack boleros, with a fichu or stolelike ends of lace and chiffon. In most cases taffeta is a fabric which requires softening, and nothing can be more attractive than lace to give the required effect.

The cut shows a walking costume of blue cheviot. The jacket is made in the prevailing loose sack shape, laced in front with a silk cord.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

Clyde Blair.

Intercollegiate track and field meets among the larger colleges are about over for the present season, and the new captains for the teams of '04 have been selected. Chicago has picked a sprinter for the place, Northwestern a pole vaulter and high jumper, Wisconsin and Michigan two-milers, Yale a hurdler and Princeton a half-miler. Clyde Blair, who was elected at Chicago, is one of the greatest runners in the country, and at a recent meet established a new western record of 0:09 4-5 with unfavorable weather conditions. He succeeds Jerome Magee, the pole vaulter. Arthur Baird was the unanimous choice of Northwestern he is the star center of the football team of the Evanston institution, and is a weight man as well as a jumper. At Michigan N. S. Kellogg succeeds former Capt. Robinson. He is the best two-miler in the west, and has won the event three years in succession at the conference meets. Wisconsin has also selected a two-miler in Edgar J. McEachron to succeed Capt. Keachie. Edwin J. Clapp, who has been elected to the position of honor at the head of the Yale track team, holds the intercollegiate championships for both the 120 and the 220-yard hurdles. At Princeton the Tigers have selected Lynn M. Adsit as track captain for the coming year.

Yale has declined Cambridge's challenge for an athletic meet between the two universities. Yale decided that inasmuch as the original plan for a joint meet has proved impossible, and as it would be rather late in the season, they would have to decline the challenge of the Cambridge university.

Alfred Shrubb, of England, recently broke all records for two miles for both grass and cinder tracks by going the distance in nine minutes, 11 seconds, on a grass track.

Phelps B. Hoyt.

Although the venerable game of golf has been played across the water for a great many years, not more than 20 years ago there was not a regular golf course in America; to-day there are thousands. C. B. McDonald was one of the first Scotchmen to come to this country with his bag of clubs, but his play was confined to driving a few balls in the outskirts of Chicago. The first course in the vicinity of Chicago was laid out at Lake Forest in 1901, but it was only a small affair. About the first club actually organized in the country was the Old Apple Tree brigade at Yonkers, N. Y. The St. Andrew's Golf club was formed in 1888, and after the game became more generally known championship tournaments were started. The Newport Golf club ran off the first one, and W. Lawrence took the honor. In 1895 the United States Golf association was formed and the first championship event was won by McDonald; since then H. J. Whigham has captured the honor twice, winning in both 1896 and 1897; Findlay Douglas won in 1898, while the fifth championship went to Herbert Harriman. Travis won the year following, and the present champion is Louis James, who won his title last year at Glenview. The progress of the game in this country has been remarkable since its inception, and it is impossible to give with any degree of accuracy the number of followers of the game to-day or the number of clubs in existence. Phelps B. Hoyt is the popular captain of the Glenview club. He has done much to further the game in the west, and has figured prominently in championship events in recent years.

Barney Oldfield, of Toledo, O., recently broke the world's record for a mile on an automobile. During a five-mile match race at Yonkers, N. Y., he reeled off the second mile in 1:01 3-5 and won the race in 5:31. The world's record for a mile for steam automobiles was also recently broken when F. E. Stanley went the distance at Readville, Mass., in 1:02 4-5.

Jack Root, light heavy-weight champion of the world, and George Gardner, a claimant for the honor, have been matched to fight for the honor before the International Athletic club of Fort Erie, Canada, on the afternoon of July 4.

Among the entries for the famous Henley regatta, which is held yearly on the Thames river, London, appear the names of two Americans and one Canadian: Titus, of the Atlantic Boat club, of New York; Juvenal, of the Vesper Boat club, of Philadelphia, and Scholes, of the Don Rowing club, of Toronto. The Argonauts, of Toronto, are also entered in the regatta.

There is a lively fight on for Sunday ball in Ohio. The ministers of Tiffin, Fostoria and Findlay held a meeting recently and decided to do their best to abolish the evil, but have thus far failed in their efforts.

HARRY MARTIN.

News from the Front!

The dispatch-bearer does not always bring good news, but that is the kind we have for our readers to-day, for we can announce that the opening chapters of a new and unusual story, entitled

"A Daughter of the Sioux"

Will begin in our next issue. It is the most fascinating, thrilling and interesting story ever written by the Soldier-Author,

GENERAL CHARLES KING.

It is a story of the days when the Sioux of the Northwest were continually on the warpath and kept running gallant little army busy protecting the advancing line of settlement. Through it runs the romance of a Sioux maiden.

THE VALUE OF CONSTANCY.

The constant drop of water

VICTIM OF MUSKIES.

Being an O'er True Tale of a Fishing Expedition.

Discomforts and Disfigurements Count for Naught When the "Strikes" Are Numerous—The Story Has a Sad Ending.

I am a sight and I know it.

A week's growth of beard disfigures my face. Beneath it shows a skin of many hues.

My nose is at least four different shades of red, varying from a brilliant crimson to a pink.

My lips are parched, and cracked, and bleeding.

I know these things for several reasons.

First my friends never fail to comment upon my appearance when I meet them.

Secondly I can feel my disfigurement.

Thirdly a mirror hangs on the wall before me as I write.

It will be at least a week before even "store clothes" will make me presentable in good society.

My family shun me. My wife refuses to appear upon the streets in my company, and finds excuses for eating her meals alone. My children evince a decided preference for their mother's society, and I am not called upon to entertain my friends.

But I cast the thoughts of all these things from me, and permit my mind to ponder only on the past pleasures.

"Muskies" were the cause of my disfigurement. Those wolves of the waters that entice many a disciple of Walton from the city and make of him a dime museum attraction for his friends.

I am but one of thousands in this class who brave ridicule and the elements for the sake of the sport these prizes furnish. But one of thousands who listen impatiently to the clicking of the clock until Father Time says to the authorities whose duty it is to protect the fish during the close season: "Take down the bars and let the anglers in. Their day of sport has come."

My "muskies" are, or were, denizens of the waters of Tomahawk lake. (For the unknowing ones I will explain that this bit of water, like many others of its kind, lies in northern Wisconsin, close beside the tracks of the Northwestern railway.

The wind blew at Tomahawk. It tumbled its waters into choppy seas that made navigation difficult for Tom, our guide. It blew from the north directly from the ice fields that Perry and others have buffeted unsuccessfully. It came down upon us with a frigidity that congealed the waters the dashing waves cast into our boat.

The sun shone at Tomahawk, but its rays, though intensely bright, had none of the congenial warmth belonging to late May.

I have but a dim recollection of shielding my eyes from the blinding reflection from the water, and my face from the cutting blasts of the wind.

That which I do remember with a vividness which cannot be effaced is the rush of the "muskie" through the water.

The strike!

The leap of the finny prize into the air!

The plunge into the depths of cold water!

The whirr of the reel as he took out line!

The bending, quivering rod!

The tug and pull on the line!

The turning of the little crank that reeled in the line as the "muskie" darted for the boat!

The final landing of the prize as Tom's arm shot out with the gaff and brought him into the boat!

All of these things I remember distinctly. There needs no jogging of the memory to bring them back again, and remembering these what care I for the disfigurement of face; what care I for the jeers of friends; what care I for uncomplimentary comments.

Ah, but I remember one thing more. It was not a pleasant incident. It is with curses that I recall it.

I remember all too distinctly the doom pronounced upon me by the game warden.

"Confiscated!"

My "muskies" gone to feed the madding crowd that fish not, neither do they brave the discomforts heaped upon us by the weather man.

"Confiscated!"

And all because the law was stronger than my will or "pull."

Disfigurements count for naught, but this is a sad ending to a pleasing tale. The next time the label will be right. Tom shall be my witness that it is, and I and mine shall eat the next "muskie" that falls a prey to my prowess.

SPORTING NEWS.

INSHOOTS.

St. Mary's management has arranged a game with the West End A. C. for next Saturday. The West Enders are the ball tossers who defeated the All Plainfield team. A good game is anticipated.

"Warry" MacLaughlin, now with the Newark team of the Eastern League, pitched against Baltimore, Thursday. He did not show up very strongly, his team losing the game by a score of 5 to 4.

The baseball game between Hope Y. M. A. and St. Mary's nine will be played this afternoon on St. Mary's field, if the weather permits. The St. Mary's team will play under difficulties. Peter Campbell, the center fielder, has a sprained leg and will be unable to play. Thomas O'Keefe will substitute. William Carr, the St. Mary's pitcher, threw his arm out of joint last Saturday and is unable to take part in today's games. Daley, of Elizabeth, will twirl the ball for the crippled team today.

AN INDIAN WARRIOR?

Bones Discovered Surrounded by Old Musket, Coins and Arrow Head in Blacksmith Shop.

A few scattered bones, the rusty remains of an old flint lock, some coins on which the signs are indecipherable, and several arrow heads have been discovered buried five feet deep beneath the blacksmith shop of J. E. Flannery on Third street opposite Church street. Men digging in the cellar found the remains Thursday. They are probably all that is left to tell the story of some old Indian or colonial warrior. The bones were reburied and the other relics are in the possession of Fred W. Hand, of Leland avenue.

Peter Newmiller Buried.

The funeral of the late Peter Newmiller was held yesterday afternoon from the Coontown Church at 3 o'clock. Rev. George Bowers officiated. The interment was in the Coontown Cemetery. Many people from this city were present.

The members of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will attend divine services at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening, assembling at the lodge rooms at 7 o'clock. A full attendance of members is desired.

Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., initiated one candidate last evening. District Deputy Fred Fowle, of Newark, delivered the address. An invitation to attend Upchurch Lodge at Westfield Tuesday was accepted. Ten neophytes will become workmen at that time.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Liberty Bell and the liberty of the press have gone on a vacation from Pennsylvania.—Jersey City Evening Journal.

State Entomologist Smith has built cages on the Newark meadows in which he hopes to catch a few mosquitoes. We think he would have better success if he had set steel traps. —Trenton State Gazette.

The seductive title of People's Co-operative Telephone Company was insufficient to sway City Council from the determination to call a halt on further privileges to companies desiring to build overhead wire lines, and the State Committee's adverse report to the corporation's petition for a franchise was, last evening, unanimously adopted. For this action the city legislators are commended.—Elizabeth Daily Journal.

"John Hiscox broke his connection with The Sun office last Friday, and last evening he started for Plainfield, N. J., where he is to assume the business management of the printing office of the American Sabbath Tract Society. The society publishes the Sabbath Recorder, and does a great deal of job printing. Its management requires special qualifications, which Mr. Hiscox possesses in a remarkable degree. His friends have every confidence in his ability to successfully carry through his new responsibilities. —Westerly, (R. I.) Sun."

"The management of the Westfield baseball nine have assembled what may be called without exaggeration a team of magnificent players, and the appointments of their grounds are all that the most exacting could ask; but one thing they lack which is of paramount importance, to wit: an umpire. "Whether ignorance or knavery was responsible for the disgusting conduct of the individual who occupied that position at Saturday's game matters not. The duty of the moment is to get him aboard a comet whose first stop is the Pleiades."—Cranford Chronicle.

The Trenton State Gazette cries out against the agitation in favor of repealing the law making it unlawful to kill robins, by reminding New Jersey farmers that other States have discovered their mistake in not earlier protecting these useful insectivorous birds. It quotes the experience in Texas, and all friends of our robin breasts will assent to the Gazette's concluding words, "In the face of this testimony to our great dependence upon the birds as insect exterminators, who would be so mean as to grudge the baby robins a few cherries in season? We can live without cherries (they're generally wormy anyhow), but the birds must be protected."—Elizabeth Journal.

THE FORUM.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Will you please publish if donation of wearing material will be acceptable to Western flood sufferers. If not, who in Plainfield can same be sent to? What charity? Respectfully, Plainfield, June 18, 1903. Giver.

(No request has been made by the Armourdale Flood Association for wearing material. The Plainfield Relief Association, in West Front street, will gladly accept any donations of clothing.—Editor.)

Plainfield, N. J.,
June 19th, 1903.

Editor, The Daily Press:

It is not that I have any desire to join the ranks of those who inevitably cry "I told you so," after a thing is all over, but because I feel the inclination to laud what I consider an effort in the right direction, that I am asking your indulgence for taking up your valuable time and space.

In commenting on the baseball situation as it exists today in Plainfield, it is safe to say that the disruption of the League is but the natural result of "running a good thing to its death." There are many local followers of the game, who at the League's inception had foresight enough to see its early "finish," and who regretted the wasted energy that was spent to please that portion of our residents, who divided into cliques, furnished the only spectators really caring about the results of the games.

True, it was very nice for the interested friends of each team, but to a person having no preference, what was there to enthuse over? What we want is a ball team representative of our city, not an exclusive set that confines the interest to its own circle. The fact that Plainfield could not cope with her smaller neighbors on the diamond needs no comment other than a reference to the conditions which have existed here.

I use the words "could not cope" advisedly, as I believe the situation now to be greatly changed. With the advent of the "Alis," we may expect much better things, and according to my idea, Manager McLaughlin deserves great credit for taking up this work and trying to give us a team to represent the city of Plainfield.

As for professionalism invading the field, all that need be said is that we want to see games that will gain a reputation for our city in the baseball world, and if amateurs are not "swift" enough to furnish the necessary article (and they have been proven incapable), let us have the best players available.

"Semi-Pro."

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Tell of the Week's Trade.

NEW YORK, June 20.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Unseasonably low temperature, together with excessive precipitation at many points, has retarded the distribution of merchandise. Taking the country as a whole, however, the net result has been satisfactory, better crop prospects accelerating forward business and enlarging order lists of manufacturers. A new disaster by the elements caused heavy losses in Oregon, but floods subsided at St. Louis, where industrial plants are resuming and traffic is rapidly being restored. Mail and other interrupted orders are coming forward freely, farming operations are pushed with renewed vigor and normal conditions will soon exist.

Structural work at this city has been checked by the conflict between labor and employers, and new controversies have occurred elsewhere, but many settlements were arranged and others are in progress. Trade in Pennsylvania improved through removal of anxiety regarding the threatened suspension of work in the anthracite region.

Collections at many points are more prompt. Payments through the clearing house at New York for the week surpassed last year's by 19.3 per cent, although compared with 1901 there was a loss of 16.2 per cent, owing to exceptional speculative activity two years ago. At other leading cities there were gains of 6.1 and 8.1 per cent respectively.

Railway earnings thus far reported for June exceed last year's by 5.8 per cent and those of 1901 by 14.8 per cent.

Conditions in the iron and steel industry are sufficiently confusing to prevent any definite tendency, although factors calculated to produce weakness appear to preponderate.

At the cotton mills there is fair current activity, although spinners whose stocks of raw material are low have not only ceased to seek business for future delivery, but refuse to consider propositions or else place their figures at a prohibitive position. Foreign trade is remarkably well maintained, considering the numerous factors that operate against it.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for June aggregated $4,531,183, of which $1,287,675 were in manufacturing, $1,642,926 in trading and $1,600,582 in other commercial lines. Failures this week were 213 in the United States against 194 last year and 24 in Canada compared with 19 a year ago.

HAPPY TIME IN CHAPEL

SOCIABLE TAKES THE PLACE OF THE SCHEDULED LAWN FETE.

Largely Attended Affair at Which a Delightful Musical Programme Was Given.

The last entertainment and social under the auspices of the Epworth League of the First M. E. Church, was held last evening in Vincent Chapel. Originally, it was intended to have a lawn fete at the home of the president, George E. Horne, but the weather made a change of plans and the elaborate programme arranged had to be given up.

There was a large attendance of the members and friends and the evening was pleasantly spent in playing several new games which were genuine fun-makers. Interspersing these games there were selections by an orchestra consisting of Miss Gertrude Sharp, piano; R. Wilson Derby, violin; Archibald Derby, double bass; Alvah B. Davis, flute and Robert W. Davis, cornet.

The affair was in charge of the social committee, of which Harry Gee is chairman, and after an evening of fun, this committee served refreshments and a social time was had.

ROCHESTER HAS BIG FIRE.

Wholesale Liquor House Burns, With Loss Estimated at $150,000.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 20.—Fire was discovered in Fee Bros.' wholesale liquor house on Water street near Main. It originated in the subbasement, used as a wine cellar, below the bed of the river, flush on the bank of which the building stands. This is considered the most dangerous location for a fire in the city and difficult for the firemen to reach. The fire is still burning, though it is thought to be under control. One floor has fallen and carried with it barrels of whisky, which add to the fury of the flames. The loss so far is estimated at $150,000.

The sensational feature was the attempt of the firemen to fight the fire from the rear of the building. To do this ladders were lowered into the bed of the river, and three firemen carried hose through an adjoining building and jumped into the river. They stood in water up to their shoulders, holding the hose directed on the burning building.

Van Benthuysen's Death.

NEW YORK, June 20.—William C. Van Benthuysen of the editorial staff of the World is dead at his home at Prospect Park South, Brooklyn. Mr. Van Benthuysen joined the forces of the World in March, 1899, coming here from the Chicago Tribune. On the Tribune he advanced rapidly from a reporter to chief telegraph editor, then to night editor and in 1890 was appointed managing editor, which position he held until he came to the World.

General Schaefer Gets Children.

NEW YORK, June 20.—General Emil Schaefer of New York was awarded the custody of his two children in Jersey City by Vice Chancellor Pitney. The fight over the two girls has been on ever since last fall, when Mrs. Schaefer took them from their father's home at Mount Morris park. Mrs. Schaefer and the children were not in court, and her counsel and relatives said they did not know where she was.

Beckmann's Heirs Get $15,000.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A verdict for $[illegible] awarded to the administrators of the estate of John H. P. Robbins [illegible] the North Jersey Street Railway. Robbins was a [illegible] railroad brakeman and was killed while standing on top of a car [illegible] trolley wire.

H. R. STOCKTON LEADS FOR COMMITTEE CUP

Now Holds First Place in Golf Competition at Hillside Club Course.

NO PLAY AT PARK CLUB

FEW PARTICIPATE IN EVENT AT THE WESTFIELD CLUB.

Rain Drives Away the Enthusiasts—Present Standing for Golf Committee Cup at Hillside—The Scores Made on Saturday.

H. R. Stockton, by winning first honors, leads for the Golf Committee cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. He made a net score of 76 on Saturday and he now has a total of 9½ points. Augustus R. Fisk, who has lead in this competition for a number of weeks, has not played of late, thereby not having an opportunity to improve his position in the race.

Despite the wretched condition a number of enthusiasts took part in the competition, although but few posted their scores. Olaf Saugstad finished second with a net score of 79, while E. T. Newkirk won the remaining point with a net score of 81, pretty low scores considering weather conditions. It was decided to postpone the play for the Men's Handicap cup until next Saturday, owing to the limited number present willing to enter the competition.

These scores were made for Golf Committee cup:

H. R. Stockton, 82, 6—76; Olaf Saugstad, 94, 15—79; E. T. Newkirk, 91, 10—81; H. deP. Wright, 85, 1—84; Walter Peterson, 95, 10—85; Dudley H. Barrows, 93, 6—87; Arthur Murphy, 100, 10—90; C. B. Morgan, 107, 12—95.

This is the standing for the Golf Committee cup:

	Points
H. Reeve Stockton	9½
Augustus R. Fisk	7
Arthur Murphy	6
Robert Abbott	4½
E. T. Newkirk	3½
C. Westley Abbott	3
Marion S. Ackerman	3
E. B. Shoemaker	3
W. L. Glenney	2½
Julius Erickson	2
H. W. Beebe	2
Morris J. Dumont	2
H. D. Hibbard	2
J. Whitney Baker	2
Dudley H. Barrows	2
Walter Peterson	2
Olaf Saugstad	2
A. G. Henderson	1
Elliott T. Barrows	1
D. H. Rowland	1
Dr. F. C. Ard	1
G. H. Squires	1
S. H. Patterson	1
H. deP. Wright	½

The rain was too much even for the enthusiastic golfers of the Park Golf Club and the weekly competitions were allowed to go by default. W. B. Faber was the only member to visit the course during the day and he did not remain to play.

A corporal's guard visited the course of the Westfield Golf Club and took part in the monthly handicap play. Charles Hansell won the cup with a moderately low score. A majority of those who played did not post their scores.

AS FROM THE GRAVE.

Mrs. J. H. McVey Surprised by Arrival of Her Long Lost Sister.

Mrs. J. H. McVey, whose husband is the proprietor of the Belmont Hotel, on North avenue, was agreeably suprised Saturday, when her sister, whom she has not seen in six years and who was thought to be dead, walked into the place unexpectedly. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buckle were last heard of in Central Africa and since then they have been travelling in different parts of the world.

Infant Phenomenon.

A twelve pound boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Truman, of Chatham street, on Wednesday. The child was born with twelve fingers and twelve toes. The father of the child, when an infant, underwent an operation for the removal of two superfluous toes and fingers.

Engagement Announced.

At a very charming luncheon given to a number of friends Saturday at 521 Madison avenue, by Miss Anna K. VanArsdale, daughter of Mrs. John K. VanArsdale, the engagement was announced of Miss VanArsdale to Clarence Browne Brokaw, of New York, formerly of Plainfield.

WEATHER DOES NOT DETRACT FROM DELIGHTGUL AFFAIR.

Young Men and Women Sing Popular Songs From Latest Comedies—Awards in Pony Cart Parade—A Dinner at Night.

The heavy downpour of rain did not dampen the enthusiasm of the members and friends of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday afternoon, when the Japanese tea and musicale was given for the benefit of the club. The affair was a decided success, attracting over two hundred guests. Everything was on the Japanese order. Many Plainfield society women appeared in Oriental costume. The clubhouse was prettily decorated to represent a Japanese garden, there being a profusion of roses, fans and fancy umbrellas. Several cozy nooks and corners were arranged where oriental draperies were used to good effect.

In the large room of the clubhouse there was a sale of Japanese fans, umbrellas and novelties. This was in charge of Mrs. Theodore Wilson, Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Mrs. Henry Clay Irons, Mrs. John G. Drayton. The candy table was in charge of the Misses Holly, while Mrs. Joseph Sandford presided over the lemonade well. An attraction was the room devoted to fortune-telling by Miss Stewart. Assisting at the various tables were the Misses Fraley, Davis, Sykes, Moore, Stewart, Scott, Fleming, Finch, Tracy and Goddard. They were all dressed in Japanese costume.

A decided feature of the afternoon was the musicale, a programme of unusual merit being arranged from the latest musical comedies. The solo work by Mrs. LeRoy Mack, Mrs. E. T. Newkirk, Mrs. George Ring, Willard Wadsworth, Irving Stewart, as well as that of the chorus of men and women won hearty merited applause. Accompanying the singers was an orchestra composed of Miss Hyatt, piano; A. Willis West, mandolin and Dr. Charles Davis, violin. They assisted largely in making the musicale a success.

This is the programme:

Opening chorus, "The Moon" from San Toy; solo and men's chorus, "Chinese Soye Man," from San Toy, Irving Stewart; solo and chorus, "Rhoda," from San Toy, Mrs. LeRoy Mack; solo, "Posey from Over the Sea," San Toy, Willard Wadsworth; solo, "My Hong Kong Baby," Chinese Honeymoon, Mrs. E. T. Newkirk; chorus of men, "Heidlberg," Prince of Pilsen; solo, "Jewel of Asia," Mrs. George Ring; solo, Mrs. LeRoy Mack; solo and chorus, "Six Little Wives," San Toy, Willard Wadsworth; solo and quartette, "The Violet," Prince of Pilsen, Mrs. Joseph Shellabarger; solo and chorus, "My Sulu Lulu Loo," Mr. Hall.

It was intended to have a pony cart parade in the afternoon, but here the weather seriously interferred, but not to the extent of defeating the scheme altogether. There were three pony carts out and the occupants of each one received a prize. Howard and Delano Ladd received first prize, Miss Kelly and "Jack" Holly the second and Marion, Warren and James Ackerman the third. Each cart was handsomely decorated with flowers, chiefly roses. The cart occupied by the Ackerman boys was the most elaborate, but they did not arrive until after the awards were made. However, it was arranged to have the carts parade again, when the third presentation was made.

Nearly all of the members and friends present in the afternoon, remained at the club for dinner and enjoyed the repetition of the musicale programme in the evening, given with equal success. The whole affair was planned and arranged by Miss Maud VanBoskerck, who was assisted by a number of other women of the club. It is expected that a substantial sum will be netted for the club's treasury to meet current expenses.

BURGLARS AT WORK IN HEART OF CITY

Three Business Houses Entered, But Small Amount of Booty Secured.

NO ARRESTS YET MADE

THIEVES OPERATE AT E. S. F. RANDOLPH'S STORE IN DAYLIGHT.

Nagle's Pharmacy and Belmont Cafe Entered—No Clew to Perpetrators — Methods of Entrance to Stores.

Three daring burglaries in the heart of the business section of the town took place yesterday, and one of them was perpentrated in broad daylight. E. S. F. Randolph's drug store at the corner of Watchung and North avenues, was robbed by persons supposed to have been familiar with the place and the habits of the proprietor and clerks. The Belmont Hotel, conducted by J. H. McVey, on North avenue, was entered shortly after 1 o'clock in the morning by means of the transom and Clayton N. Nagle's pharmacy, at the corner of Front and Grove sterets, was entered by the same way. There is said to be no clews to the robbers.

After Frank Denoklau, the clerk, had closed the store at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. Randolph had occasion to enter his store. Although Denoklau had been gone but ten minutes when the money drawer had been looted and $16 was missing. Investigation showed that none of the stock had been taken. "No Sale" was rung up on the cash register. Further investigation showed that the door to the rear elevator had been forced open. None of the stock was disturbed. The robber left behind $10 secreted in the back part of the till.

Although the other two burglaries took place early in the morning the boldness with which they were accomplished is astounding. At Nagle's the men gained admittance through the transom. They secured $1.25 from an automatic chewing gum machine. The men did not loot the stock. Mrs. Joseph Frank, a next door neighbor heard a noise at 1 o'clock. She fell over a chair upon getting out of bed and this is believed to have frightened the burglars away. Mr. Nagle was robbed a year ago yesterday.

After breaking into Nagle's pharmacy the men are supposed to have gone to the Belmont Hotel on North avenue. Entrance was secured through the grating at the top of the door. Some odd change was secured in addition to several meal tickets.

Yesterday morning Patrolman McCarthy visited the hotel and found on the floor strange footprints. Old straw and traces of manure lead the police to think that the men came from some stable in the vicinity.

COMMEMORATE BIRTH OF JOHN WESLEY

Services at the Grace M. E. Church in Honor of Founder of Methodism.

GREAT REFORMER'S LIFE

REV. DR. W. F. ANDERSON SKETCHES CAREER OF PREACHER.

Bi-Centenary Anniversary of Wesley's Birth—Hyms Sung Composed by English Clergyman—Rev. Dr. Earp Presides.

The bi-centenary anniversary of the birth of John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, was commemorated in the Grace M. E. Church in North Plainfield at the regular services yesterday. Special music coupled with two sermons by Rev. Dr. William F. Anderson, of Ossining, N. Y., were the main features of the celebration.

At the morning service Rev. Dr.

Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp.

Anderson delivered a sermon on the life, character and work of John Wesley. He told of his times and the manner in which the reformer fought his way for a revival of religious fervor. His childhood and later career were sketched. Wesley's conversion and the zeal with which he entered into the work of enlightening the poorer classes of London and bringing them into a living knowledge of things spiritual was lucidly brought out. His teachings and doctrines, the speaker said, were accepted today by a large proportion of the Christian people.

During the morning service all the hymns sung were those composed by John Wesley. Miss Carrie Tingley rendered one of the great preacher's hymns as an offertory solo. The choir composed: Mrs. Charles Greer, Miss Mary Steiner, Miss Agnes Tingley, Mrs. Anna Most, Miss May Conover and Miss Carrie Tingley, assisted by John Steiner and E. H. Quipp. Miss Alice Carrol presided at the organ.

At the evening service of the Epworth League, the topic generally discussed was Wesley. His work was discussed and the hymns sung were those composed by the great preacher.

Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp presided at the evening service and introduced Rev. Dr. Anderson. The latter preached another instructive lesson. His text was taken from the first verse of the forty-sixth Psalm. In order that the truths of the Gospel might be brought to men, said he, it was necessary that men should first be brought to God. He emphasized the importance of having God near at hand at times of trouble and illustrated his thought with narratives of some of his ministerial experiences.

SUTTERLLEIN MISSING.

Nothing Known of Whereabouts of Local Tobacconist—His Accounts Being Investigated.

G. S. Sutterlein, of North avenue, who for years was connected with Patterson Brothers, tobacconists of this city, has been missing since Wednesday. There is no reason given for his strange disappearance neither it is known where he has gone. A representative of Williams Brothers, Perth Amboy, where he was employed, was in this town this morning trying to ascertain if the missing man is short in his accounts. Mrs. Sutterlein has closed her house and is living at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Smalley, of Somerset street.

—Charles H. Kirby & Son, wholesale and retail dealers in foreign and domestic cigars, have opened a store at 106 Park avenue, where they would be pleased to serve the public in general.

REV. J. H. ZELIE ACCEPTS THE CALL

Choice of Crescent Avenue Church Congregation to Become Its Pastor.

SUCCEEDS DR. RICHARDS

HE IS TO ASSUME CHARGE HERE IN SEPTEMBER.

Favorable Letter Received by Committee of Fifteen, Which Was Delegated to Select a New Pastor—Announcement Made.

As was expected by the members of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church and congregation, Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, of the First Reformed Church, Schenectady, N. Y., has accepted the call to become the pastor of the local church, to succeed Rev. Dr. William R. Richards. Announcement of his decision was received in a letter from Mr. Zelie which was read at the church service yesterday morning. The communication was received by the committee of fifteen, appointed by the church to secure a successor to Dr. Richards. This is what the new pastor has to say:

"First Reformed Church,
"Schenectady, N. Y.

"To the Officers and Congregation of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church of Plainfield, N. J.:

"Having taken such time as seemed reasonable for considering your invitation to become your minister I now write to say that I accept this call.

"It was in the first year of my own ministry, thirteen years ago, that I first began to know of the work and preaching of your former pastor, Dr. Richards, whom you have called me to succeed. In accepting this call I wish to speak of the interest which ever since then I have felt in him, as preacher and man and, to say how deeply I appreciate the honor of following him in the pastorate whose traditions and spirit will always be an inspiration to me.

"The large degree to which your members have personally given themselves to the work of the church and to extending that work beyond their own borders and to making others sharers in it, encourages me beyond all other considerations in taking this step, and while in all this I enter into the reward of other men's labors, I do so in the hope and prayer that there will be no abatemen but rather an advance in the services which your people have so freely given to the work of Christ's kingdom.

"In this spirit I cordially accept your call and ask you to pray with me for God's blessing upon this new relationship. I shall be ready to take up the work of the church at such time in September as may be arranged for with your officers.

"Faithfully yours,
"John Sheridan Zelie.

CELEBRATED HER BIRTHDAY

MARJORY THOMAS ENTERTAINED HER FRIENDS AT CLUBHOUSE.

Little Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis Thomas, of Watchung Avenue, Hostess at Hillside.

By no means the least important events at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Saturday afternoon was a party given by Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis Thomas, of Watchung avenue, for their daughter, Marjorie Thomas, in celebration of her sixth birthday anniversary. The affair was attended with many pleasant features and little Miss Thomas entertained eleven of her friends.

During the celebration the hostess and her guests enjoyed refreshments, after which all received favors. A pleasant incident was the presentation of Japanese dolls to the girls and bows and arrows to the boys by Keo Tetsuka, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Tetsuka, of Belvidere avenue, who was one of the guests. The little fellow was dressed in Japanese costume.

These were the guests at the party: Marjorie Thomas, Eleanor and Dorothy Webber, Katharine and Elizabeth Brown, Wesley Johnston, Winnifred Titus, Keo Tetsuka, Mary Thomas, Dorothy MacKenzie, Waltham Newkirk and Mary Rushmore.

PYTHIAN SERVICES OVER DEAD BRETHERN

Local Knights Visit Cemeteries and Adorn Graves of Departed Ones.

MANY VISITING KNIGHTS

NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY MEMBERS OF THE ORDER IN PROCESSION.

Pythian Pledge Said Over Mounds of Those Who Have Crossed the Great Bourne—Services Also Held at Scotch Plains.

In honor of their departed brethren local Knights of Pythias, accompanied by representative delegations from other lodges in this and New York State, journeyed to the cemeteries in this city and Scotch Plains yesterday and held memorial day services over Pythian graves. Two hundred Knights were in line. The services at the cemeteries were solemn and impressive. Each mound was decorated with a small American flag and flowers and the Pythian pledge was recited by the Knights with uncovered head.

The services of the day were in charge of Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniformed Rank Knights of Pythias, of this city, assisted by Perseverance Lodge, No. 74. Among the guests were Rathborn Company, of Brooklyn; Black Prince Company, of Newark; Ethic Company, of Harrison, and delegations from Unity Lodge, No. 102, this city, Calanthe Lodge, Newark, and Port Chester Lodge, of Port Chester, N. Y.

The various organizations headed by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps marched to the several cemeteries in this city. The North Plainfield, Evergreen and Hillside Cemeteries were visited. At the burying places the ceremonies were in charge of Captain J. E. Flannery, Chaplain David Bowden, Quartermaster Charles McGinley, and Privates Joseph Blimm, William Young and John Hall. The services at the Methodist Cemetery were conducted by Captain Hale, of Brooklyn. One of the former members of Rathbone Lodge being interred there.

Following the services at the cemeteries in this city the Knights journeyed in trolley cars to Scotch Plains. There further services were conducted in the Baptist Cemetery, where a number of Knights are interred.

Dinner was served in Excelsior Hall. Co. P. Frank Shanley, of Jersey City, grand chancellor of New Jersey Knights of Pythias; Brigadier General Hitchcock, of Newark; Col. Edward Howe, of Kearney, and Major Pfeiffer, of Jersey City and Adjutant Hoffman, of Newark, were among the State officers present at the services.

The committee in charge of the arrangements consisted of Lieutenants J. Stephen Highman and Jacob Blimm, Jr.; Chaplain David Bowden, of Crescent Company, and Asa D. Pope, Frank Randolph and Robert Lee, of Perseverance Lodge.

DIED IN NEW MEXICO.

Death of Plainfield Youth Who Was Traveling for His Health.

Word was received from New Mexico, Saturday, of the death of Harry Hunn, the youngest son of Townsend S. Hunn, of 1217 Prospect avenue, this city.

About a year ago, the young man was sick with lung trouble and, following the advice of his doctor, went to New Mexico to recuperate.

He improved slightly for a short time, but never regained the best of health. His death was not unexpected although last week word was received that he was improving.

T. S. Hunn, the father, went to New Mexico, Saturday, to make arrangements for bringing the body to this city, where it will be buried. The dead man was well known in this city and was a graduate of the Plainfield High School.

POURS HOT SHOT INTO CASINO DANCERS

Rev. John McMurray Says It Is Not Different From Orgies at Galvin's Park.

HARMFUL CANDY SOLD

MINORS CAN GET INTOXICATING DRINKS IN PLAINFIELD.

Gambling Prevalent in the City—Pitfalls in the Way of Young Men and Women—Sermon at Monroe Avenue Church.

"Are the speakers at our graduating exercises consistent when they address the students on the importance of high ideals, and allow them immediately thereafter to hie themselves to the Casino, and spend the remaining hours until morning in dancing, a mere physical, not intellectual, gratification?" This was one of the many sensational questions and utterances made by Rev. John McMurray, last evening in his sermon on "Pitfalls in the Way" at the Monroe Avenue Church. He was referring to the dangers and temptations that beset the pathway of the youth going from the schools into the world. He continued further:

"Can a minister of the Gospel consistently denounce the orgies at Galvin's Park and the notorious resorts at Scotch Plains and not condemn the late dances at the Casino and other dancing halls in our own city? Does evening dress prove a talisman or charm against the harmfulness of these practices? Is there any ethical difference between the two? Both are indulgence in mere physical pleasures, one of the pitfalls in the way of young men and women.

"Another danger comes from the habit of social drinking in the home. There is as much danger and wickedness attendant upon the drinking of wines and champagnes at the club or in the home as there is in drinking beer or whiskey in a public bar. And perhaps the beer drinker has the better excuse, if excuse there can be."

Mr. McMurray quoted statistics showing the comparative numbers of young men in cities who attend church, and drink in public barrooms. In one city 2,000 young men visited a single saloon in two hours and the next morning there were only 557 young men present at church services. He referred to the evils of the practice of selling confectionery with brandy in it—brandy drops. He also made mention of the fact that it is possible for minors to obtain intoxicating drinks in Plainfield in open violation of the law, instancing the case of a minor who is a notorious drunkard.

"Gambling," he said in referring to a third pitfall, "is stealing. It is prohibited by State laws. And yet I know of cases in North Plainfield where 'hand-book men' have gone openly among young boys and induced them to 'play the races.'

"There is also open gambling among the followers of baseball, noticed in one instance repeatedly in the game between Safe Works and St. Mary's. It was in direct violation of the law. And the policeman carefully looked the other way."

Mr. McMurray concluded by referring to the last pitafll, the danger of irreverence, of making light of the name of the Creator. "A personal belief in the Creator is necessary to success."

ANTICS OF INSANE WOMAN.

She Disturbs Religous Service and Threatens to Kill Herself.

Miss Barnett, a young woman temporarily deranged, escaped from Dr. Cooley's sanitarium yesterday morning and entered Grace M. E. Church while the services were in progress. She took a front seat and when the singing began she rose in front of the pulpit and led the chorus. A nurse soon appeared and took her in charge. Later in the afternoon, a woman, believed to be the same person, made her appearance at the Grant Avenue depot and at each train that whizzed by waved her cloak shouting that she wanted to go to Philadelphia, and threatening to commit suicide. Dr. Cooley's son, with the assistance of Patrolman Quass, took her back to the sanitarium.

Ladies and Children Invited.

All ladies and children who cannot stand the shocking strain of laxative syrups, cathartics, etc., are invited to try the famous Little Early Risers. They are different from all other pills. They do not purge the system. Even a double dose will not gripe, weaken or sicken; many people call them the Easy Pill. W. H. Howell, Houston, Tex., says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Layayette, Ind., says all others gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work well and easy. Fireworks for the Fourth.

A certain section in our sporting goods store looks like a fireworks shop. It's glowing with firecrackers of every size—from the tiny "sisser" to the "giant cracker" and others of the more pretentious sort—the spectacular kind for the night celebration. Special attention is directed to the aerial and exhibition assortments. You'll want some, of course, and we've plenty for everybody, but not here at the store—these are only samples—there's too much danger in the "real thing." Besides, we would have the insurance man down on us—so we have arranged to deliver them direct to your home, and we ask you to please get your orders in early. These fireworks are all put up by experts, thus enabling you to choose from a much greater variety than most places, and you can save about seventy-five per cent. by ordering from us.

SERVIA INDIGNANT.

British Government to Withdraw Its Minister.

MILITARY ASSASSINS ARE REWARDED

Officers of the Army Who Took Part In the Murder of the Sovereigns Are Promoted—Servians Detested the Queen.

BELGRADE, Servia, June 22. — M. Kalievics, foreign minister, in an interview expresses intense indignation at the announcement from London that the British minister has been instructed to withdraw from Belgrade for some time on the arrival here of King Peter. The minister said it was inexplicable why the British government intended to make the provisional Servian ministry responsible for the deplorable events of the night of June 11. The members of the present cabinet, he added, had really displayed great patriotism in coming to the aid of their country in the sad crisis.

Minister Kalievics' statement was made carefully for publication and may be regarded as an official expression of the view of the government. The minister said:

"It is with deep indignation that we find in a recent telegram from London an indication that it is intended to hold the present government responsible for the deplorable events which occurred on the sanguinary night of June 11 in the royal palace. It is known that the events of that night were carried out by Servian officers who had resolved to prevent the probable proclamation of the brother of Queen Draga as the successor to the throne.

"The fact that a woman was among those who perished in the struggle provoked by the attack of an aid de camp upon officers is regrettable, more so as her death was by no means necessary, even though she had been detested by the whole Servian people from the moment she presumed to place the crown upon her unworthy head."

The promotions are announced of various members of the military deputation to King Peter at Geneva. Colonel Popovics of the late King Alexander's palace guard is created a general and first aid de camp to King Peter; Captain Kostics, who opened the palace gates for the assassins of the late king and queen, is promoted to be a major, and Lieutenant Gronica, who was on guard outside the palace on the night of the assassination and who was a confidant of the conspirators, is made a captain.

Jett and White at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 22.—Curtis Jett and Thomas White of Jackson, Ky., spent a quiet day in jail here. They were not accessible to visitors, and the usual religious services were dispensed with on account of the crowds of curious people who would have taken advantage of the services to gain admission. The two men were allowed a pint of whisky and had their meals sent from a restaurant, with a parting admonition from Judge Hargis to the jailer to allow them to have anything they desired and to charge the expense to him. Judge James Hargis has returned to Jackson. He did not see the prisoners before leaving, but left a message requesting them to be courteous to the jail officials and to visitors and expressing his regret at their conduct when they used abusive language to those who saw them.

White, Colored, May Be Lynched.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 22.—What is believed to have been a deliberate attempt to wreak vengeance on George White, a negro who is charged with assaulting and killing Helen Bishop, was foiled through the watchfulness of the authorities and through lack of numbers in the attacking party. Ever since the girl died as a result of her injuries there has been talk of lynching. A band of about sixty men gathered at Marshallton, near the scene of the crime, and marched to the workhouse. The crowd was armed with pistols and shotguns. When it reached the prison a demonstration was made, and those that had weapons fired them off. The chief warden had all his guards on duty, but they were not compelled to resist an attack because the crowd soon dispersed.

Gang Robbed a Post Office.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 22.—The gang of robbers arrested in the Seven mountains had evidently committed a post office robbery recently. A package they had buried in the old barn where they were captured has been found, and in it were postage stamps of all denominations from 1 to 10 cents, aggregating in value $167.44. In the package were two bottles of nitroglycerin and several other articles. The men are all about thirty years of age. The one that was shot by the sheriff's posse is improving and has a good chance of recovery.

Cardinal Vaughan Passes Away.

LONDON, June 22.—Cardinal and archbishop of Westminster, the Most Rev. Herbert Vaughan, is dead. The cardinal, who had been sinking for some weeks from heart disease and dropsy, died peacefully. Two days ago he appeared in St. Joseph's college chapel in full cardinal's robes and made a farewell address to his bishops and priests. His remains will lie in state in the cathedral at Westminster and will be buried at St. Joseph's college.

Still No Trolleys at Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., June 22.—The trolley companies did not attempt to run cars, and the city was entirely orderly. The striking car men and sympathetic labor organizations, some 1,500 strong, paraded to one of the city parks, where an immense throng had gathered.

Plainfield, N. J., June 22, 1903.

A member of "Newport's "smart set" has been giving his parrot the honors of a personage, having it driven about town in front of a couple of footmen. Rather rough on the bird, to have to impersonate a high society "swell." Doubtless he answers all the requirements quite as well as his master.

The statement of Rev. C. J. Ryder, secretary of the American Missionary Association, in addressing the Congregational Church yesterday, to the effect that the race problem can best be solved by training up a wise leadership in the negro race itself deserves thoughtful consideration. It differs from the solution offered for instance by Former President Cleveland, who says that the problem should be left for the southern whites to settle. Perhaps, however, the two theories are not so much at variance as seems at first sight. "Let the white man do all in his power to train the black leadership and then leave these leaders to settle the problem with the others of their own blood." This is the substance of Mr. Ryder's doctrine, and probably Mr. Cleveland would concur in its good common sense.

With this and other problems of race and nation that have to be faced, one is often remainded of the applicability of Shakespeare's advice:

"To thine ownself be true,
And it must follow as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."

When whites as well as blacks are educated to a realization of the truth of these words and to an ability to act upon their wisdom, there will be no race problems to solve.

Wickoff, Annie and Carl Nelson, Nattie and Fred Stover, Daisie and Iva Morrison. Miss Fannie Mundy and Floyd Huick sang a duet, accompanied by Miss Randolph.

PROBLEM OF THE RACES

DISCUSSED BY REV. C. J. RYDER AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

"Educate Negro Leaders and Let Them Work Out Their Own Salvation," is His Advice.

"Every fourth man, woman and child in the United States is colored," said Rev. C. J. Ryder yesterday morning, in his address at the Congregational Church, his statement going by way of illustration of the magnitude of the race problem in America. Mr. Ryder is the secretary of the American Missionary Association, and the subject of his address was "The Problem of the Races in America." He said further:

"The problem of the twentieth century is the problem of the colored man. For the solution of the difficulty it is not safe to trust the white people of the South, as prominent statesmen have advised. The whites by their harsh treatment are driving out the better class of negroes from the South. They will not give the blacks the opportunity they seek for social and spiritual betterment. The race demands a leadership from its own blood, and when you have trained up a black leadership, wise and intelligent enough to cope with the ethical and industrial problems of the race, you will practically have settled the race question. As for the Indians," said Mr. Ryder further, "they can be trusted to work out their own problem. All that is needed for them is a little assistance in training their natural persistence and reverence."

FREEDOM CASTLE AT CHURCH

LOCAL FRATERNAL ORGANIZATION ATTENDS DIVINE SERVICE.

Rev. Chas. E. Herring Preaches and Choir Sings Special Music.

Members of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, to the number of seventy-five, attended divine service, last evening, at the First Presbyterian Church. The pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring, delivered an appropriate sermon. His text was "Press Toward the Mark." Mr. Herring spoke many pointed truths. He urged his hearers to strive for the Kingdom of Heaven, as well as for the better things in this life.

During the services the quartette, Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; Mrs. S. H. Tugwell, alto; Elmer E. Cutting, tenor, and Henry Baldwin Drake, bass, rendered special music, including a duet by Miss Raybert and Mrs. Tugwell. The music was under the direction of Clifford Braider, organist. Mr. Drake sang in place of R. Wilson Derby, the regular bass, who was taken suddenly ill during the afternoon.

RAIDED ROAD HOUSES.

Garwood Constables Busy Confiscating Slot Machines—Grand Jury Will Act.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Garwood, June 22—A number of the road houses at this place, who have been harboring slot machines in open defiance of the law, were raided last night by six constables, under the direction of County Detective John Keron, of Elizabeth.

A number of the machines were confiscated, but no effort was made to arrest the proprietors. The evidence was loaded on wagons and taken to Elizabeth, where it will be held for the Grand Jury to act upon.

FIFTEEN GLASSES.

Apple Whiskey Proved Too Much for Colored Brothers.

Charles and Walter Jenkins, colored, appeared before City Judge Runyon this morning charged with being drunk and resisting arrest. Charlie confessed to having got outside of fifteen glasses of apple whiskey, and His Honor commended him for his honesty in admitting it.

Other cases in court were Alfred Freeborn, porter at the Hotel Rosell, drunk and disorderly, sentence suspended; Harry Goldstein, reckless driving and brutally treating his horse, $5; Hyman Semer, keeping his store open seven days in the week, $5; Lena Paretti, allowing a cow to run at large, $3.

Took Horse and Wagon.

While Matthew Eganey, of Dunellen, was in Kerwin's saloon yesterday somebody appropriated his horse and wagon. It was found later by Officer Safford. Eganey charges William Wilson, alias Pecker, with being the offender.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The members of the Baptist Sunday-school observed their annual Children's Day exercises in the auditorium of the church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The large room was well filled with the children and their guests. The pulpit was prettily trimmed with flowers, greens and palms. A pleasing programme of recitations, carols and responsive reading, together with short, bright and able addresses by Rev. Dr. Whitney, of Plainfield and Rev. Geo. Shaw, of the Methodist Church, was enjoyed by all. Delegations were present from the Park Avenue Sunday-school, of Plainfield, and Episcopal and Methodist Sunday-schools, of the village.

The fans and followers of the ball team are sorry to learn that Manager Johnston has released Dick Harvey, change pitcher and left fielder for the locals. Dick has been with the team since its organization, but as Davis is pitching great ball, Manager Johnston felt that the carrying of a substitute was an unnecessary expense. McManus, of last year's Westfield team, has been signed to cover left garden. McManus is fast in the outfield and will do his share of the stick work.

Following their usual costum, a large delegation of Knights of Pythians, of Plainfield, together with visiting brothers from Newark and Jersey City, decorated the graves of brothers Knights buried in the Baptist Cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The Knights were accompanied by a fife and drum corps. After the exercises at the cemetery a collation was enjoyed by the members and their guests in Excelsior Hall.

Owing to the rain on Saturday the two games of ball of the local teams was called off. Manager Johnston and Manager MacLaughlin got together and as both had open dates for Saturday of this week, it was decided simply to postpone their meeting one week. The Second team, who were scheduled to play Garwood, have Saturday open but may close with the New Market team for a game on the local diamond.

M., have nominated the following officers for the ensuing six months: Councilor, Ernest Clark; vice councilor, James Johnston; conductor, Henry Guerrier; Warden, George Keuhn; financial secretary, George Johnston; recording secretary, Chas. Wade; trustee, Wm. Jamison. The election will be held at the weekly meeting on Thursday night of this week.

Manager Bryant Johnston, of the High School team, has arranged two games for this week, both of which will be played on the local diamond. Tomorrow afternoon, The Laurels, of Bound Brook, will be their opponents. On Wednesday, Commencement Day, the visitors will be the H. S. team of Plainfield.

At the business meeting held in the Methodist Church on Friday night, the following trustees were elected for the year: Wm. Jamison, Howard D. White and John Frazee.

LAKE LANAO FIGHT.

Captain Pershing Tells of the Bravery of His Soldiers.

ASSAULT MADE UNDER A HEAVY FIRE

Bridge Was Built In Face of the Enemy — After Thirty Minutes' Fighting Moros Were Overcome by Hand to Hand Encounter.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Captain John J. Pershing, who was in command of the troops at the fight at Lake Lanao in the Philippines, has sent an account of the battle. He says:

"In reality the battle of Bacolod was the best fight of the Moro campaigns; not so many Moros killed as at Bayan or Pandapatan, but they fought according to some sort of system. Of course I have worked on this fight, as I foresaw long ago that it must come, and the whole thing from the beginning worked out as planned. First we got behind them, much to their surprise, and could post our guns above and drop projectiles down into their fort, so that the artillery fire in this case was not all noise. We had some work and some fighting to gain this position. Once there, it was only a question of sitting down deliberately and waiting to see what the Moros would do. Many got away before the place was invested thoroughly.

"The fight began in a flood of a rain storm that lasted till dark, and reconnoitering was difficult. So we did not find all the avenues of escape until next day, and I am glad now we didn't, as they had such confidence in this fort that they have been constructing for a year that they took many women and children inside, and these escaped during the night. The next day and night we held them fast, however; tried to get them to surrender; had two talks under flag of truce. No; they would fight it out. So there was then only to finish it. I called my officers together and gave each one his work.

"The main obstacle was a deep ditch thirty-five feet wide and forty feet deep to be crossed. It was to be bridged with fallen trees, and over all a bamboo bridge was laid. Everything in readiness, the assault began. In the face of a heavy Remington fire from the fort the lines advanced against two faces of the fort, putting out of business every Moro that appeared. They could not use their portholes, as we had battered them to pieces, although we could not with our light field artillery damage the earthworks.

"The lines up to within fifty yards, the bridge was completed by two companies detailed for that purpose, the trees having been previously cut and hauled as near as could safely be done. Thirty minutes when the assaulting infantry swung across and formed line on the berme and clambered up nearly in line to the top of the parapet. Here they were met with Kampilan and Kris, and a bloody hand to hand fight occurred—one soldier against two Moros here, another running his bayonet into a fanatic there. Moros plunging headlong into the deep ditch in their impetuosity and impetus. It was as a whole a scene never to forget. Too much cannot be said of the valor, the bravery, the courage and cool nerve of the American soldier.

"The majority of those left inside never reached the top of the parapet. It was a relief to me that none of our men were killed. Two will lose an arm each; the rest will recover with honorable scars, but not maimed. It was the proudest day of my life. Cholera existed in all that section, and we did not examine the interior of the fort until after it was burned and wet thoroughly through, for there were all sorts of underground galleries and passageways. Some officers in the assaulting line counted sixty dead on one floor, and Moros say more than a hundred were killed inside, while the list outside has been growing ever since the battle, so that 150 all told is a conservative estimate.

"I have labored with these Bacolod Moros for a year through other Moros, some of them near relatives, trying to convince them of their foolishness in thinking of fighting us, but they have replied in insulting messages, and, in fact, the whole Laguna de Lanao has anticipated a reverse for us."

Sandford Northrop Kills Himself.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—Sandford Northrop, until recently secretary and general manager of the American Refrigerator Transit company, has committed suicide at the home of Claude Kennerly, vice president of the Republic Railway Appliance company, where he was stopping. Mr. Northrop, who was about thirty-five years of age, leaves a widow and one child. He was a cousin of George Gould and stood high in social and financial circles. About six weeks ago he resigned his position with the American Refrigerator Transit company. No cause for the deed is known.

No Second Slide at Saluda.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 22.—General Passenger Agent Hardwick of the Southern railway requests a denial of reports that there had been another landslide at Saluda mountain and that it would be a month before through traffic over that part of the line would be renewed. He said, "There has been no additional landslide at Melrose or Saluda cut, and the work of clearing the track is proceeding rapidly."

Italy's New Ministers.

ROME, June 22.—The king has accepted the resignations of Interior Minister Giolitti and Marine Minister Battolo. Premier Zanardelli will take the interior portfolio ad interim and Vice Admiral Morin will be marine minister. The other ministers have been confirmed in their present posts.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

A SMART COSTUME.

It Is Made of Taffeta, Eolienne and Crepe de Chine.

A dress of crepe de chine seen recently had its skirt arranged with flat plaits on the hips and finished at the hem with heavy folds and tucks. The coat shaped bodice was short at the back and had a big collar of cream embroidery edged with silk fringe and tassels. It opened over a waistcoat of pink and black chine silk which was cut away to show a tucked chiffon vest and a cravat of alencon lace. With this was worn a pink chiffon hat trimmed with a wreath of green foliage, the brim being lined with black chip.

Taffeta, crepe de chine, eolienne and silk voiles are all very smart. Ring spotted net is having a good share of favor on a lining of shiny silk, but it is too flimsy and not to be compared with firmer fabrics. For tea and coffee coats it is all very well and even for blouses, but for an afternoon season frock a material which in itself is more attractive is to be preferred.

There is a great deal to be said in favor of the chine silks, especially for gala occasions. Such frocks must be softened by lace or a net fichu. To forget this is to court failure, for the general effect of a gown must be soft.

The cut shows an accordion plaited costume made of soft taffeta trimmed with passementerie.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

They Follow Closely the Fashions of Their Elders.

Very dainty light tones are used for young girls' dresses. Crepoline, etamines and summer woolens are the favorites for such gowns, and the fashions follow very closely those intended for older people. Thus there are the same deep capes, the same plaited coatee and the same sack bolero.

The plaited skirt, if well made and fitted, is a most becoming fashion when worn to the ankle and is especially suitable for girls from fifteen to seventeen. The hip yoke is less popular, for it requires shapely lines and a well rounded figure. The excessively pouched front has disappeared, but the fullness is slightly fuller and more pronounced.

Belts, too, are not pulled down so low, but encircle the waist. The swathed belt of bias silk or satin without buckle or clasp is generally worn and for light woolen gowns is generally of silk matching the color.

Creamy whites, pastel blue, pink and beige are very fashionable, and for a dark girl the champagne tint is becoming, but it is too yellow in tone for a blond wearer.

A complete novelty in the blouse world is to be found in a slip of chine net, such a pretty stuff, the pattern dissolving into the net ground, achieving a completely original result, while the latest muslins acquired for a like purpose are unrushable. These can be pulled through the hand like an eastern silk fabric and emerge unscathed.

The cut shows a French sailor suitable for a young girl. It is of yellow straw trimmed with pink roses.

CHAPTER I.

The major commanding looked u from the morning report and sur veyed the post adjutant with some thing of perturbation, if not annoy ance, in his grim, gray eyes. For th fourth time that week had Lieuter ant Field requested permission to b absent for several hours. The majo knew just why the junior wished t go and where. The major knew jus why he wished him not to go, bu saw fit to name almost any othe than the real reason, when, with certain awkward hesitancy, he be gan:

"W—ell, is the post return ready?

"It will be, sir, in abundant time, was the prompt reply.

"You know they sent it back fo correction last month," hazarded th commander.

"And you know, sir, the error wa not mine," was the instant rejoinder so quick, sharp and positive as t carry it at a bound to the verge o disrespect, and the keen, blue eye of the young soldier gazed, fran and fearless, into the heavily am bushed gray eyes of the veteran i the chair. It made the latter wince and stir uneasily.

"If there's anything I hate, Field it is to have my papers sent back by some whipsnapper of a clerk, inviting attention to this or that error, and expect my adjutant to see to it tha they don't."

"Your adjutant does see to it, sir I'm willing to bet a month's pay fewer errors have been found in the papers of Fort Frayne than any pos in the Department of the Platte Gen. Williams told you as much when you were in Omaha."

The major fairly wriggled in his cane-bottomed whirligig. What young Field said was true, and the major knew it. He knew, moreover, there wasn't a more painstaking post ad jutant from the Missouri to the mountains. He knew their monthly reports—"returns" as the regulations called them—were referred to by a model adjutant general as mode papers. He knew that it was due to young Field's care and attention and he knew he thought all the world of that young gentleman. It was just because he thought so much of him he was beginning to feel that it was high time to put a stop to something that was going on. But, it was a delicate matter; a woman was the matter; and he hadn't the moral courage to go at it the straightforward way. He "whip sawed" again. Thrumming on the desk with his lean bony fingers, he began:

"If I let my adjutant out so much, what's to prevent other youngsters asking similar indulgence?"

The answer came like the crack of a whip:

"Nothing, sir; and far better would it be for everybody concerned if they spent more hours in the saddle and fewer at the store."

This was too much for one listener in the room. With something like the sound of a suppressed sneeze, a tall, long-legged captain of cavalry started up from his chair, an outspread newspaper still full-stretched between him and the desk of the commander, and, thus hidden as to his face, sidled sniggering off to the nearest window. Young Field had fearlessly, if not almost impudently, hit the nail on the head, and metaphorically rapped the thrumming fingers of his superior officer. Some commanders would have raged and sent the daring youngster right about in arrest. Major Webb knew just what Field referred to—knew that the fascinations of pool, "pitch" and poker held just about half his commissioned force at all "off duty" hours of the day or night hanging about the officers' club room at the post trader's; knew, moreover, that while the adjutant never wasted a moment over cards or billiards, he, the post commander, had many a time taken a hand or a cue and wagered his dollars against those of his devoted associates. They all loved him. There wasn't a "mean streak in his whole system," said every soldier at Fort Frayne. He had a capital record as a volunteer—a colonel and, later, brigade commander in the great war. He had the brevet of brigadier general of volunteers, but repudiated any title beyond that of his actual rank in the regulars. He was that rara avis—a bachelor field officer, and a bird to be brought down if feminine witchery could do it. He was truthful, generous, high-minded, brave—a man who preferred to be of and with his subordinates rather than above them—to rule through affection and regard rather than the stern standard of command. He was gentle and courteous alike to officers and the rank and file, though he feared no man on the face of the globe. He was awkward, bungling and overwhelmingly, lavishly, kind and thoughtful in his dealings with the womenfolk of the garrison, for he stood in awe of the entire sisterhood. He could ride like a centaur; he couldn't dance worth a cent. He could snuff a candle with his Colt at 20 paces and couldn't hit a croquet ball to save his soul. His deep-set gray eyes, under their tangled thatch of brown, gazed straight into the face of every man on the Platte, soldier, cowboy, Indian or halfbreed, but fell abashed if a laundress looked at him. Billy Ray, captain of the sorrel troop and the best light rider in Wyoming, was the only man he ever allowed to straddle a beautiful thoroughbred mare he had bought in Kentucky, but, bad hands or good, there wasn't a riding woman at Frayne who hadn't backed Lorna time and again, because to a woman the major simply couldn't say no.

And though his favorite comrades at the post were captains like Blake and Billy Ray, married men both whose wives he worshipped, the major's rugged heart went out especially to Beverly Field, his boy adjutant, a lad who came to them from West Point only three years before the autumn this story opens, a young fellow full of high health, pluck and principle—a tip top soldier, said everybody from the start, until, as Gregg and other growlers began to declaim, the major completely spoiled him. Here, three years only out of military leadingstrings, he was a young cock of the walk, "too dam independent for a second lieutenant," said the officers' club element of the command, men like Gregg, Wilkins, Crane and a few of their following. "The keenest young trooper in the regiment," said Blake and Ray, who were among its keenest captains, and never a cloud had sailed across the serene sky of their friendship and esteem until this glorious September of 188— when Nanette Flower, a brilliant, beautiful brunette came a visitor to old Fort Frayne.

And it was on her account the major would, could he have seen the way, said no to the adjutant's request to be absent again. On her account and that of one other, for that request meant another long morning in saddle with Miss Flower, another long morning in which "the sweetest girl in the garrison," so said they all, would go about her daily duties with an aching heart. There was no woman at Fort Frayne who did not know that Esther Dade thought all the world of Beverly Field. There was one man who apparently had no inkling of it—Beverly Field himself.

She was the only daughter of a veteran officer, a captain of infantry, who at the age of 50, after having held a high command in the volunteers during the civil war, was still meekly doing duty as a company officer of regulars nearly two decades after. She had been carefully reared by a most loving and thoughtful mother, even in the crude old days of the army, when its fighting force was scattered in small detachments all over the wide frontier, and men, and women, too, lived on soldier rations, eked out with game, and dwelt in tents or ramshackle, one-storied huts, "built by the labor of troops." At 12 she had been placed at school in the far east, while her father enjoyed a two years' tour on recruiting service, and there, under the care of a noble woman who taught her girls to be women indeed—not vapid votaries of pleasure and fashion, Esther spent five useful years, coming back to her fond father's soldier roof a winsome picture of girlish health and grace and comeliness—a girl who could ride, walk and run if need be, who could bake and cook, mend and sew, cut, fashion and make her own simple wardrobe; who knew algebra, geometry and "trig" quite as well as, and history, geography and grammar far better than, most of the young West Pointers; a girl who spoke her own tongue with accuracy and was not badly versed in French; a girl who performed fairly well on the piano and guitar, but who sang full-throated, rejoiceful, exulting like the lark—the soulful music that brought delight to her ageing father, half crippled by the wounds of the war days, and to the mother who so devotedly loved and carefully planned for her. Within a month from her graduation at Madame Piatt's she had become the darling of Fort Frayne, the pet of many a household, the treasure of her own. With other young gallants of the garrison, Beverly Field had had been prompt to call, prompt to be her escort when dance or drive, ride or picnic was planned in her honor, especially the ride, for Mr. Adjutant Field loved the saddle, the open prairie or the bold, undulating bluffs. But Field was the busiest man at the post. Other youngsters, troop or company subalterns, had far more time at their disposal, and begged for rides and dances, strolls and sports which the post adjutant was generally far too busy to claim.

LOWELL STRIKE OFF

Council of Operatives Vote to Return to Work.

MILL WORKERS HAVE BEEN DEFEATED

Agents Will Take Back the Old Help They Have Room For and Will Not Discriminate Against the Leaders.

LOWELL, Mass., June 22.—The textile council has declared the great strike in the Lowell mills at an end. Every union affiliated with the council was represented, and the vote was unanimous. Mule spinners and loom fixers were included in this vote despite statements that they would oppose a return to work. When the meeting was called there was no dissension. The situation was discussed carefully and with no suggestion of excitement. The vote showed every delegation favorable to a return to work, and the sentiment was that the vote take immediate effect.

When asked for a statement President Conroy smilingly said:

"We now worship at the altar of defeat, but later we shall rise again and conquer."

Agent William S. Southworth, secretary of the agents, said when interviewed:

"It will be impossible to start the balance of machinery so as to employ at once all who will come back. Running with an incomplete force for three weeks has disturbed the balance that usually exists between the stock and prices in the various deparemtns. A mill may have depleted stock in certain kinds of yarn and for that reason be unable to start all of its looms even if the full complement of help is available. It is for the selling agents and the treasurers to decide in view of the market whether we shall attempt to run in full."

The strike began on March 30 and involved about 17,000 operatives. The mills were shut down till June 1, when the agents opened the gates, and the majority of the operatives went back to work. The strike has cost in wages about $1,300,000.

It is understood that the agents will take back all the old help they have room for and will make no discrimination against the leaders of the strike movement.

The high price of cotton precluded any hope of the success of the strikers' campaign for a 10 per cent increase.

Battle Ship Strikes a Schooner.

BOSTON, June 22.—The battle ship Massachusetts on her way to New York collided twenty-seven miles southeast by east of Boston lightship with the schooner Martha T. Thomas of Thomaston, from Apalachicola, loaded with lumber. Captain Watts of the Thomas says the battle ship struck his schooner a glancing blow on the starboard side abreast the main mast, tearing off the main chain plates, carrying away rails and damaging some planking about the hull, causing her to leak about two inches per hour. The captain says the weather was clear, and he could see four miles away. His vessel, having a fair wind, kept a clear course, thinking the battle ship, which was headed out the bay, would give them a clear way. Immediately after the collision the Massachusetts put about and followed the schooner into the bay in case she might need assistance, but Captain Watts decided that it was unnecessary. The Massachusetts then put to sea.

ATTRACTIVE CHURCH FESTIVAL

A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR CONDUCTED BY WOMEN.

Ladies' Aid Society of Park Avenue Baptist Church Realize Goodly Sum.

While the rain did not cause a postponement of the lawn fete planned to be held on the lawn of the Park Avenue Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon and evening, it interferred considerably with the affair and caused the Ladies' Aid Society, under whose auspices it was held, to move indoors.

However, it was a success. The affair was held in the Sunday-school room of the church, which place was made attractive by many fancy booths and through the use of bunting and flags.

These women were in charge of the booths and tables mentioned: Cake—Mrs. A. D. Thompson, Mrs. Theodore L. Runyon and Mrs. Charles VanWinkle; aprons and stocks—Mrs. J. Wesley Johnson and Mrs. Nelson Runyon; "mystery booth"—Mrs. Emily Runyon, Miss Marguerite Ostrom and Miss Esther Thompson; lemonade—Miss Henrietta Cuming and Msis Cora Brokaw; candy—Miss Luce, Mrs. David M. Runyon and Miss Julia Wyckoff; refreshments—Mrs. Wheaton S. Lowry, assisted by Mrs. A. L. Hellyer and Miss Olive Z. DeLany. In the afternoon these young women assisted as waitresses: Miss Eleanore Stutsman, Miss Mabelle Stutsman, Miss Marjorie Brown and Miss Arline Brown and in the evening these young women served: Miss Grace Weeks, Miss Mlidred Odam, Miss Autumn DeLany, Miss Lillian Cuming, Miss May Kelley and Miss Alice Brown, all members of the Junior Endeavor Society.

The officers of the society who arranged the affair are: President, Mrs. Frank T. Ostrom; vice presidents, Mrs. W. H. Freeman and Mrs. Udelle; treasurer, Mrs. J. Wesley Johnson; secretary, Miss Julia Wyckoff. Frank T. Ostrom was the efficient cashier. The proceeds from the fete will go toward paying off a floating indebtedness carried by the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Norm G. Cooper, of Brooklyn, will reside this summer with their son-in-law, J. B. Forman, at 63 Grove street. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper have recently returned from Michigan.

SPORTING NEWS.

INFIELD HITS.

Manager MacLaughlin, of Alis Club, hopes to land a permanent pitcher within a short time. He has several strong men on the list and any one would fill the bill.

If it can be arranged the management of the Alis Club will endeavor to have the Scotch Plains team play on Crescent Oval, Saturday, instead of the Equitable team, of New York.

In a well-played game of baseball, the Park A. C. team defeated the Invincibles on the grounds of the former, Saturday morning, the score being 9 to 3. Features were the pitching of Barlow and a brilliant one-hand catch made by Charles Lyman, of the winning team. Conover, of the Invincibles, pitched well, but received poor support. The battery for the Park A. C. was Barlow and Ovens, and Conover and Ward for the Invincibles.

PUPIL WORK EXHIBIT AT PAROCHIAL ACADEMY

Work of the Youngsters Being Shown in St. Gabriel's Academy, in the Borough.

CLOSE OF FIRST YEAR

SOME DESIGNS ATTRACT SPECIAL ATTENTION OF VISITORS.

Idea of Work Along Lines of Art and Elementary Sciences May be Gained—List of Exhibitors—School to Reopen in Fall.

An interesting exhibition of school work is made at St. Gabriel's Academy in North Plainfield for the benefit of the parents of the pupils. The exhibit opened yesterday and will close this afternoon. The work shows the careful training of the pupils by the Sisters of Mercy in charge of the school.

In the school rooms, an idea of the work of the department of art and elementary sciences is gained by the examples of the work arranged about the walls. Map making, by little tots six years of age, and even fancy work by children only a few years older is shown. The original examination papers and drawing sheets are exhibited so that the visitor gets a thorough idea of the every day work of the pupils.

On the first floor some of the work of the older pupils is shown. Delicate drawn work, carefully executed embroidery, hand paintings in water colors and in oils are samples of the work accomplished by the older pupils. Included in the display are some pastels and etchings by some of the Sisters of Mercy which are worthy of more than passing notice.

Some of the pupils whose names appear on the articles displayed are Miss Margaret Monahan, Miss May Duchesne, Miss Rebrant, Miss Nettie Blank, Miss Anna Pedeflous, Miss Lucy Traynor, Miss Marie Kenny, Miss Dorothy Heise, Miss Anna Jaeger, Miss May McCullough, Miss Francis LaPorte, Miss Madelene Noonan and Miss May Berkham.

There are thirty-two pupils in the school ranging from four years to eighteen. One of the more advanced pupils, Miss Edna Smith, has on exhibition a large tapestry depicting a bootblack. It is cleverly executed and is considered a work of art.

On Friday the school was closed, the occasion marking the first year of its existence. The event was observed by a feast for the pupils provided by the Sisters of Mercy of St. Joseph's parish. The institution will be opened again in the fall when better accommodations will be had.

Welcome Home.

A welcome home party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shotwell and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cadmus, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Bodine, of Dunellen, at Mr. Shotwell's home on Fairview avenue last evening. It was to celebrate their home coming from Los Angeles, Cal., where they were representatives at the Presbyterian general assembly. About fifty of their friends were present. Music and refreshments were enjoyed. Warm congratulations were extended the returned people for their fortunate escapes from disaster in travelling, through Kansas at the time of the floods.

Look at That!

A. J. Leader, of 63 Duer street, who is at the head of the Leader Printing Company, 52 Duane street, New York, suffered the loss of about $10 last Friday night, that amount being taken from a petty cash drawer at his New York office by safe crackers who had gained entrance to the office presumably by a fire-escape. The thieves tried to force off the door to an iron safe, thinking the cash to pay the employes on Saturday was inside. They were fooled, however, for Mr. Leader had paid his men on Friday.

Cold Water Advocates.

Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, will hold an open meeting on Monday evening, June 29, in the rooms in Washington Hall building. There will be an entertainment and it is expected that some of the State officers will be present. A general invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Opening Postponed.

Owing to the inclement weather it was impossible to open the King's Daughters' baby camp on the mountains, on Saturday, the date set for that event. If the weather becomes settled the camp will be opened during the latter part of the week.

ENGAGEMENT AND BIRTHDAY

Mrs. W. D. Smith Celebrates Birthday Anniversary and Announces Daughter's Engagement.

A pleasant affair of last evening was a party given in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. W. D. Smith, of Washington avenue. It was also the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Smith's daughter, Miss Drusilla O. Smith, to William D. Pike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah W. Pike, of East Front street. The home was prettily decorated, there being a profusion of carnations. The reception was from 5 to 8 o'clock and at 6:30 the guests enjoyed an elaborate supper.

Mrs. Smith received a great many handsome gifts, while Miss Smith was also remembered. The latter received from her parents an engagement present of a two-stone diamond with pearls and torquoise, and from Mr. Pike's parents she received a hand-painted vase. Miss Harriet Seward, of Cranford, presented her with a hand-painted collar. Mr. Pike's gift to his fiancee was a pearl and torquois pin.

These people were present: Mr. and Mrs. Noah W. Pike, W. D. Pike, Garfield Pike, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith, Miss Drucillia Smith, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Ada Smith, Orvil Smith, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Snodgrass, of this city; Mrs. W. D. Cole, of New York, and Miss Harriet Seward, of Cranford.

The Sheriff expects no further developments till the fight for a receivership is ended.

The trial of John Hayes, who was arrested on complaint of Chief Marshal Campbell on a charge of ill-treating his wife, was heard in the borough court last evening before Judge Doud. Hayes was arraigned, pled guilty, fined $20 and seven days in the Somerville county jail and was on his way to Somerville all in eighteen minutes.

These officers were elected: President, Dr. George Dupuy; vice president, F. L. Herbert; secretary, Ralph Davidson; treasurer, Alfred Lacey.

The organization has as its object church work and instruction. Meetings will be held every Monday night. Two meetings in succession will be devoted to social intercourse and one night a month to business. The club was organized last October but was not started on a solid basis. The club now bids fair to be one of the leading organizations of the church.

LOOKING OUT FOR STATE.

What She Got From Congress Compared With Appropriations for Other States.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, June 23—New Jersey, with 400,000 more people than California, received appropriations by the last Congress for the federal buildings amounting to one-fifth as much as the Pacific coast State. The figures are California, three new buildings, appropriation $1,850,000. New Jersey, three new buildings and an increase for one, appropriation $365,000.

The District of Columbia, with a population of but a little more than the city of Newark, received a public building appropriation of $1,275,000.

But New Jersey fared better proportionately than some other States.

For instance, Massachusetts, with nearly 1,000,000 more inhabitants than New Jersey, received an appropriation of $60,800 less than New Jersey. Illinois with 3,000,000 more people than New Jersey, received $35,000 less than double the appropriation for New Jersey.

The total amount appropriated by the last Congress with which to improve federal buildings and to build new ones foots up to $19,425,450, or about twenty-five cents per capita of population.

MANY TRIPPED THE LIGHT FANTASTIC

Young People Were Out in Force to Dance at Casino Last Evening.

WAS SENIOR CLASS BALL

RECEPTION TO GRADUATES OF LEAL'S SCHOOL BY THE PRINCIPAL.

Over Three Hundred Society People Danced and Made Merry—Decorations Were Beautiful—Waltzes and Two-Steps.

About three hundred people "tripped the light fantastic" last evening at the Casino the occasion being the annual senior reception and dance given by the principal of Leal's School, John Leal, to the members of the graduating class. For the younger society set of the city it was the event of the season.

Over a score of waltzes and two-steps were enjoyed to the delightful music furnished by Pound's New York orchestra of ten pieces. The patronesses were Mrs. C. F. Abbott, Mrs. E. T. Barrows, Mrs. W. A. Pinton, Mrs. J. Blake, Mrs. F. S. Martin, Mrs. A. E. Faber, Mrs. G. E. Hall, Mrs. George E. Hallock and Mrs. Charles Robert.

The hall certainly deserved the description "beautifully decorated." The boys of the class of 1903 outdid themselves, transforming the ball room into a "dream" of beauty. Most prominent among the decorations were the figures 1-9-0-3 draped above the stage in gold letters over a red background, the school colors. College flags indicating the Almae Matres of many of Leal's former graduates were hung upon the walls, prominent among them being the blue of Yale and the orange and black of Princeton, which latter university was represented at the dance by Frank Reinhart and Whitney Baker, the well-known golf experts. Creeping ramblers, backed by red bunting, festoons of green leaves, and lines of Japanese lanterns added their beauties. The balcony and stage decorations were especially admired.

RECORDS BROKEN.

The Present Month Has Been the Wettest June in Many Years.

Today's showers are adding to the rain record for June which has already eclipsed all records for many years. On the night of June 7 the rain began, and up to yesterday there was only one clear day—June 16. The precipitation has reached 7.24 inches, and in the last decade the closest approach to that for wet June weather was last year, when the total rainfall for the month was 7.20 inches. This is about double the average rainfall for June, which is 3.65 inches.

Sunday the longest day in the year, the sun was shining for about two-fifths of the time, and the break in the clouds was caused by a breeze from the south-west, which dispersed them.

The atmospheric conditions still indicate unsettled weather although a fair day is possible for tomorrow.

Oratorical Contest.

An oratorical contest will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms in Madison avenue, on Thursday evening, June 25. In the interest of temperance and prohibition a number of young women will compete and there will also be reading and dialogues by members of the congregation. The Watchung Quartette will sing several popular selections and a quartette from Westfield will have a part in the programme. Admission will be free and the public is invited.

A Model and a Monument.

A dispatch to The Philadelphia Record from Bristol, Pa., says that "there was nothing remarkable in the life and death" of Sammy Cox, of Emilie, near Bristol, who was buried last week. There was something very remarkable in his life. He died at eighty-two in the old homestead where he was born; and in those eighty-two years he "had never been absent over night from his home." A man of settled habits, a model and a monument of permanency, a rebuke to American nomadic life.

Westcott, president of the Board of Education, will present the diplomas to the graduates. A reception will follow in the school hall.

Bacon; guide, George Ayres; recording secretary, Griffith Jenkins; financial secretary, Charles Greer; treasurer, W. D. Williams; chaplain, J. B. Sutton; guardian, Edward Baker; trustee for 18 months, John Struble.

These officers will be installed at the next meeting on July 13. An elaborate programme is being prepared for the occasion and a dinner will be served. A. C. Hoagland, Charles Greer and Griffith Jenkins have been appointed a committee to arrange for a trolley ride.

YOUNG MUSICIANS.

Performed Cleverly at Recital Given by Their Instructor, Miss Grant—Was Last of the Year.

Little tots entertained a number of music lovers, Saturday afternoon, at the closing recital of Miss F. May Grant's music class at her home on East Seventh street. In spite of the rain the attendance was large and the selections rendered by the pupils were most creditable to their instructress. The programme was not rendered in its entirety on account of the storm, but the performance was none the less interesting.

Master Mames Vail displayed exceptional ability as a pianist in his rendering of Braga's "Angels' Serenade" and the "Dance of the Demons," both difficult pieces. Although but nine years of age he astonished his hearers by the sympathy and accuracy with which he interpreted the works. Miss May Pruden and Miss Rose Hook, who played several duets, were commended for the ease with which they carried intricate parts from classical compositions in perfect time and harmony. Six-year-old Gertrude Blair also pleased her audience by work remarkable in one so young.

Vocal selections by Miss Ruth Adele Fray, aged six years, were a feature of the programme providing of special interest. Miss Grant, the instructress, sang and played several classical compositions. The rooms were decorated attractively with flowers and were filled with parents and friends of the pupils.

The case in Justice Huff's court against Eleanor Cobb, colored, charged with attempting to poison Lillian Moore June 12, by sending poisoned candy through the mails was continued indefinitely this morning. After a week's trip on the ocean the American rifle team, of which Captain W. B. Martin, of Company K, of this city, is a member, arrived on the Lucania in Liverpool Saturday. The team proceeded to Bisley to prepare by a couple of weeks' rest for the great international contest for the Palma cup.

A "Design for a Water Supply for Alfred, N. Y." was read at the Seventy-seventh annual commencement of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, by Clarence Mord Rogers, of this city.

WANTS FARMERS TO ACT

JAMES KING NOT SATISFIED WITH THE DECISION OF "CITY FELLERS."

The Famous Mustard Seed Case Taken Away From Borough Court.

"What does a city jury know about seeds anyway," said James T. King, this morning, when he was asked why he withdrew the famous mustard seed case from Justice Mattison's court in the borough. "A lot of these city fellers don't know the difference between a plow share and a keg of molasses, let alone tellin' anything about seeds. Why'd I take the case up country? Well, jest so I could have the advantage of an intelligent farmer jury."

The case between John T. King and Jonathan Ayers, of Warrenville, was adjourned last Monday to yesterday, and was then withdrawn.

Some time ago farmer King went to his neighbor and bought what he thought were oats, but when the seed sprouted it proved to be strongly mixed with mustard. The case in tort was brought before Justice Mattison but was adjourned once. King decided that "city fellers didn't know much about farmin' anyhow" and concluded to take the case before Justice Cooper in Warrenville.

CRANE DID DAMAGE.

Became Loose on Wrecking Train and Removes Obstacles in Path.

A peculiar accident occurred on the New Jersey Central near Bayonne, yesterday, while the company's wrecking train was passing that point. In some unknown manner the coupling pin which fastens and holds the large lifting crane in position, was not put in place and when the train was well under way, the crane swung out to one side of the tracks. The first thing to fall before the heavy piece of iron was a telegraph pole and the wires were allowed to sag very near the ground. Then a signal tower was put out of business. The next obstacle was an arc light and this was demolished. The crane finally destroyed a small shanty along the tracks. The crew on the train then had attention called to the difficulty and before any further damage resulted, it was pulled into place. That the train should travel any distance without the damage being noted seems remarkable.

Chemical Engine Out.

On his way home last evening at 10 o'clock, John DeMeza, of the telephone exchange, discovered a fire in a small room in the Eastern Bottling Works on West Second street. A telephone message was sent in to fire headquarters and the chemical engine resopnded. The fire was extinguished before much damage was done. The blaze was caused by a pot of meat on a small gas stove catching fire.

Youths Shot Crap.

Twelve young men were arrested Saturday night by Chief Marshal William Campbell in the borough for shooting crap. The men were told to appear before the Recorder Monday night. When court was called they appeared and begged for mercy. Sentence was suspended.

Had No Relative.

John Soden, a man without relatives, who died at Muhlenberg Hospital last Saturday, was buried yesterday by the city in its plot in the Plainfield Avenue Cemetery. He was forty-four years old and was admitted to the hospital last week for treatment.

Struck by Umbrella.

WAS THE BRIDE OF A WEEK KIDNAPPED?

Alleged That Mrs. Clifford Schorb is Detained at Home Against Her Will.

GROOM THREATENS SUIT

BOTH PARTIES TO MARRIAGE ARE SAID TO BE UNDER AGE.

Were Wedded Secretly—Parents Claim Girl is Still Legally Under Their Control—Was She Enticed to Scotch Plains?

Clifford Schorb, son of John Schorb, the North Plainfield liveryman, has threatened to bring suit against his father-in-law, for the recovery of his bride of a week. It is alleged that the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Marsh, of Scotch Plains, enticed the girl away from her home in this city and are detaining her in Scotch Plains, against her will.

Schorb drove over to Scotch Plains on June 9 and after inviting Miss Marsh to a carriage drive went to Metuchen where they were married by an Episcopal clergyman. They then returned to their parents' homes and kept the wedding a secret until last week. When the announcement was made it is understood the bride's parents were up in arms against the match on the ground of the youth of the contracting parties, both, it is claimed, being under age.

Mrs. Schorb, who came to this city to live with her husband, was enticed to her home at Scotch Plains, according to the story, where she has been detained ever since. The groom has tried every possible scheme to regain his bride but without success. His wife's parents claim that the girl is not yet of age and is still legally under their control. It is said, though not officially, that they will attempt to have the marriage annulled.

Last evening an express wagon from Scotch Plains called at the Schorb residence on Somerset street with a trunk, but no statement as to the meaning of this or other details of the affair was forthcoming from the house this morning. Schorb declares he will have his bride if he has to go to law about it. It is said that the girl will be eighteen years old in the course of a few months.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late John R Marsh, who was reputed to be worth over a million dollars. Mrs. Schorb is heir in part to the estate.

Ingersoll-Sergeant Co.'s Mortgage.

A mortgage for 250,000 lbs ($1,250,000), issued by the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company, of which Ex-Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, is vice president, to the City Trust Company of New York and the Rt. Hon. Algernon Hawkins Thomond Keith-Falconer, Earl of Kintore, G. C. M. G., and Henry James Lubbock, trustees, has been placed on record in the office of the recorder of deeds of Northampton County, at Easton, and in the office of the county clerk of Warren, at this place. The mortgage covers the drill company's property in West Easton and the large plant now being constructed in the newly annexed Sixth Ward of Phillipsburg. The mortgage is given as security for five per cent. gold-bearing bonds.

KODOL
Digests What You Eat.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol

Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammeled action.

THE RUSSIAN NOTE

Servian Ministers Waiting For King Peter's Action.

CZAR MAY WITHDRAW HIS SUPPORT

King Peter, Who Has Left Geneva For Belgrade, Is Reported to Have Had Full Knowledge of the Military Conspiracy.

BELGRADE, Servia, June 23.—The position of the ministry is becoming more unenviable daily because of the Russian and Austrian demands for the punishment of the assassins of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

The terms of the Russian note caused almost a panic among the cabinet ministers, who are anxiously awaiting the arrival of King Peter to extricate them from the dilemma. The war minister is the paramount power in the ministry, as he is backed by the entire army, and he threatens severe resentment in the case of any hint by a member of the cabinet looking toward punishment of the conspirators.

The Russian minister is in a quandary. He resumed relations with the provisional government when the czar telegraphed his recognition of King Peter, but the minister takes the subtequent publication of Russia's demands for the punishment as an indication that Russia will possibly order the suspension of relations with the government until the murderers are punished.

Meanwhile preparations for the reception of King Peter continue. A public holiday has been proclaimed, provincial deputations are coming to Belgrade, free wine and beer are to be provided by the government, and the town is to be given up to rejoicings.

It is reported that the new king of Servia was not only fully informed of the military conspiracy at Belgrade, but it was actually carried out by his agents. The officers broke into the konak with the fixed determination of killing the royal couple. The question of demanding the abdication of King Alexander was not mentioned. On the contrary, the late king, perceiving his peril, spontaneously offered to renounce the crown, but the officers had determined to assassinate him.

King Peter I. of Servia has left Geneva for Belgrade.

The Geneva people made quite a holiday of the king's departure. His house in the Rue Belot was surrounded by a good natured crowd, which increased in numbers along the route to the railroad station, where several thousand persons were congregated. The king dined with the members of his household before his departure. He drove to the station, accompanied by General Popovics, the head of the Servian military deputation, and was followed in carriages by the president of the Servian senate.

On the platform was gathered a deputation of Geneva ladies, who presented the king with magnificent bouquets of flowers, and many other flowers were thrown in the carriage. The Russian consul was among the last to shake the king's hand as the train pulled out of the station amid loud cheering, in response to which King Peter cried, "Vive la Suisse!"

King Peter's promotions of officers of the Geneva military delegation have given serious offense here, and it is probable that they will be canceled.

A party of Servian officers met with a violent demonstration while attending a performance at a variety theater. The audience hurled eggs and vegetables at them, shouting, "Down with the murderers!" The Servians were compelled to make a hasty withdrawal.

Prominent men who were banished by King Alexander are returning, while others who suspect that the new regime may prove disastrous to their interests are leaving the country.

Some newspapers take umbrage at the Russian official note and the attitude of the powers generally, declaring that Servia's domestic affairs should not be meddled with by outsiders and that she is not bound to give account to any power of what happens at home.

Mrs. Henry Siegel Injured.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Mrs. Henry Siegel, wife of Henry Siegel, principal stockholder in the Simpson-Crawford company, was seriously hurt in a runaway accident at Mamaroneck. The horses drawing a carriage in which she was riding were frightened by a passing railway train and ran away. She was thrown from the carriage and so badly hurt that she lost consciousness. After being taken to her home she revived.

Solace Sails For Guam.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—The navy hospital transport Solace, under command of Captain Singer, has sailed for Guam and Manila, carrying passengers, a large number of enlisted men of the navy and several hundred tons of supplies. Most of the passengers are naval officers who are to join vessels now on the Asiatic station. The Solace will return here about September.

Well Known Critic Dead.

CHICAGO, June 23—Samuel Vernon Steele, for many years one of the best known dramatic and musical critics in Chicago, has died of bronchitis. The illness which culminated in death was contracted during the World's fair, for which Mr. Steele was second in command in the bureau of publicity and promotion.

Millionaire Peats' House Destroyed.

GREENWICH, Conn., June 23.—The mansion of Alfred Peats, the millionaire wall paper manufacturer, on Electric hill, was destroyed by fire last night, and Mrs. Peats and her eight-year-old daughter were badly burned. The latter will probably die.

FIVE ARE INDICTED.

Machen, the Groff Brothers and Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz,

ARE CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

Statutes Provide a Fine of $10,000 and Imprisonment For Not More Than Two Years—Lorenz Says Wife Is Entirely Innocent.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The federal grand jury has returned indictments against August W. Machen, former chief of the free delivery service of the post office department; the Groff brothers and Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz, charging them with conspiracy to defraud the government. This is in addition to the indictment already found against Machen and the Groffs on the charge of bribery, but relates to the same transaction—namely, the purchase of patent letter box fasteners for the government. It is alleged that the 40 per cent excess over the price bid by the Groffs was sent to Lorenz and his wife and by them distributed to Machen and the others interested.

The one indictment against the five persons named embraces twelve separate counts. It was brought under the revised statutes, which provides a penalty on conviction of a fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for not more than two years. The Groff brothers are charged with the payment of bribes, Machen with receiving bribes and Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz with acting as go betweens.

Assistant District Attorney Taggart, who has had charge of the indictments in the post office cases, said that the one indictment presented was brought by the grand jury for the purpose of implicating Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz in the conspiracy.

The bureau of the third assistant postmaster general, the only important branch of the post office department not heretofore included in the investigations under the direction of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, has at last been added to the list of those which will be subjected to the dragnet of the scandal inquiry.

It has not been actually alleged in formal charge to the postmaster general that there has been anything criminal or irregular in the transactions of this office, but in view of the recent discharge of Superintendent Metcalf of the money order division for an "indiscretion" committed in trying to divert a contract for the manufacture of money order books certain contracts in the third assistant postmaster general's office for the manufacture of registry order books will be carefully investigated.

Mr. George E. Lorenz, who, with his wife, was indicted by the federal grand jury in connection with the post office scandal, when seen at Toledo, O., did not discuss the case as it referred to himself, but said that Mrs. Lorenz is as innocent as a child of any wrongdoing. He said his shoulders were big enough and broad enough to relieve her of any criticism in connection with the post office cases.

John F. Kumler, attorney for Mr. Lorenz, said that Mr. Lorenz would establish a complete defense to all the charges made. As to Mrs. Lorenz, Mr. Kumler said that she is not connected in the most remote degree with the Washington case.

Paper Mill Hands on Strike.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., June 23.—One hundred men employed at outdoor work by the International Paper company at the Fort Edward mill are on strike. They ask for the following wage scale: All wood handlers and tower workers, shovelers, guy tenders and hoisters in coal and sulphite boats, 20 cents per hour; all day workers, 16½ cents. It is expected that the strike will result in the shut down of the Fort Edward mill as soon as the stock in the sulphite tanks is exhausted, probably tonight.

Who Will Succeed Vaughan?

ROME, June 23.—The candidate most preferred at the Vatican to succeed the late Cardinal Vaughan as archbishop of Westminster is Mgr. Merry del Val, formerly apostolic delegate in Canada. His father was for many years Spanish ambassador to the holy see, but his mother was English, and he was born in London. To the objection regarding the nationality of his father it is replied that Cardinal Wiseman, who was first archbishop of Westminster, was born in Seville.

El Menebhi's Advance on Taza.

TANGIER, Morocco, June 23.—The latest official reports state that the advance of El Menebhi, the Moorish war minister, on Taza, the rebel stronghold, is slow, but satisfactory. Preparations are being made to send ammunition and re-enforcements to him today. There is no mention of the reported defeat of El Menebhi, with a loss of 6,000 men.

CONVICT WAS SHOT.

Desperate Attempt to Escape Proved Unsuccessful.

USED WARDEN'S WIFE AS A SHIELD

Six Prisoners Overpowered Penitentiary Guards and Blow Off the Gates With Dynamite — One Killed, Others Recaptured.

CANYON CITY, Colo., June 23.—Kirch Kuykendall, a convict at the state penitentiary, was shot and killed while attempting to escape with five other desperate prisoners. As Dr. T. D. Palmer and the hospital steward were making the morning rounds Kuykendall complained of being ill, and the doctor prepared to make an examination. The prisoner drew a bottle supposed to contain nitroglycerin and ordered the two men to throw up their hands. They did so. Kuykendall and five other convicts then overpowered Cellhouse Keeper Cleghorn and Steward John Keefe. The four prison officials thus made prisoners were stripped of their clothing, which the convicts put on.

Taking the doctor and the steward with them, the mutineers passed toward the gates. On the way they captured Warden John C. Cleghorn's wife and forced her to go along, using her as a shield to prevent the guards from firing at them. The inner and outer gates were blown off their hinges with dynamite which the convicts had secured, but an attempt to force the armory was foiled.

Meantime Warden Cleghorn had arrived from town and, collecting the guards, ordered them to shoot the fugitives whenever an opportunity presented itself to do so without injuring Mrs. Cleghorn. Holding knives over the woman, the mutineers shouted that they would kill her if the guards fired. Mrs. Cleghorn fainted, and the convicts then took to their heels, pursued by the guards. Kuykendall was killed by Yardmaster John Clark after shouting: "I'll never be taken alive. I'll not go back to that hole."

James Armstrong was overtaken by Will Cleghorn, son of the warden, and was severely beaten over the head with a revolver, but was not seriously wounded. The other fugitives who were taken alive were Thomas Fisher, Thomas Fallon, C. Cordova and Robert Kane.

Kuykendall was a member of a gang of thieves and was serving a fourteen year term for shooting an officer in the Stratton Independence mine.

James M. Watson's Shortage.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Auditor Petty of the District of Columbia, who was expected to submit to the commissioners a report on the shortage of $73,000 in his accounts, for which James M. Watson, a clerk, is now in jail, asked for several days for its preparation. At the request of the commissioners two treasury department accountants began a thorough and separate examination of the accounts and will make separate reports. The treasury has agreed to accept the deposit of the funds formerly kept by the auditor's office, being what are known as "the whole cost funds," including moneys deposited by citizens and corporations as guarantees to cover the costs of repairs and improvements. The department delayed acceptance of the deposits because they were not federal accounts. The farm owned by Watson in Prince William county, Va., has been seized by the authorities.

The Baron Was a Fraud.

DRESDEN, Saxony, June 23.—George de Focke, an alleged baron, has been arrested here and sentenced to ten days' imprisonment for assuming a title of nobility. On his release he will be turned over to the Berlin police, who want him on the charge of swindling. It is further asserted that he is wanted by the American police on the charge of bigamy in having married a New York woman while his wife, a San Francisco actress, was alive. The names of the American women are not given. De Focke, who is a Hungarian, succeeded in ingratiating himself into the highest society here.

E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe.

LONDON, June 23.—Charles Frohman has completed arrangements for the joint appearance under his management of E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe for three consecutive seasons. They will begin in New York in the middle of September, 1904, and then tour through the United States to San Francisco, finishing each season by an engagement in London. The contract provides that they shall play "Romeo and Juliet," "Much Ado About Nothing," "As You Like It," "The Taming of the Shrew," "The Merchant of Venice," "A Winter's Tale" and "Hamlet."

American Cigar Company's Offer.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 23.—The American Cigar company, which closed its Kingston factory two weeks ago on account of a strike of employees, has offered to open the factory under a new management and to investigate grievances and conditions here if the employees will return to work. The employees are considering the offer. They struck for higher wages, but merchants who are affected are urging them to return to work and settle their differences with the company later.

Earthquake at Guayaquil.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, June 23.—A slight shock of earthquake has been felt here. Ashes from the volcano Sangay have been falling during the last few days. Six French priests belonging to the Redemptionist order who arrived here some days ago have been expelled by the authorities and will have to leave the country.

Plainfield, N. J., June 23, 1903.

Too bad that John Wesley could not live to hear some of the good things said about him that were not interred with his bones.

According to the almanac, summer began at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The almanac man and the weather man are evidently not on speaking terms.

William Penn smoked the pipe and made peace with the Indians just two hundred and twenty years ago today. Now smoke up and try to pursuade Jupiter Pluvius to cease his assaults on us.

The Elizabeth boy who said he was not born in the United States but in New York had reason in his statement. If New York's foreign element increases at its present rate, the city will be anything but American in a comparatively few years.

A California man has left his son a legacy of $400,000 on condition that he shall marry a New Jersey girl, and the young man is speeding East at the present time on his quest for a bride and a fortune. Get in line girls and look your prettiest. It is the opportunity of a life time for one of you.

The local pastor who in a Sunday sermon severely attacked the practices of drinking and gambling, bringing home the lesson by disclosures of evils in our own city, was perfectly right and justified in so doing. Doubtless he knew whereof he spoke, and taking the facts as he presented them there was certainly ground for remonstrance. In his efforts to discountenance gambling, drinking and irreverance, Mr. McMurray has the hearty approval of The Daily Press. But when he goes so far as to compare the dances at the Casino with the orgies at Galvin's Park or at some of the low dance halls in neighboring towns, he rather overshoots the mark and invites the opposition of any man intelligent enough to think for himself.

It is perhaps true that the late hours attendant upon dances are harmful to High School scholars. But Mr. McMurray does not rest content with condemning the late hours. In his haste to save Plainfield from the bottomless pit, he casts upon the dance itself and upon halls cleanly and admirably conducted by most irreproachable managements, the stigma of his all-embracing disapproval.

The dance in itself is not only harmless but useful. In it the beauty and grace of motion are comparable to melody in music, to the blending of colors in a painting, to the harmony of curve and outline in a piece of sculpture, or to the rythm of a poem by Shelley. As the "poetry of motion," it is generally viewed as a fine art, subordinate to music. Nearly every school of philosophy includes it as such, and even the Puritan, Milton, spoke approvingly of "tripping the light fantastic toe."

But the young people do not view dancing from the aesthetic standpoint. Of course not. And there are magnificent specimens of the sculptor's and painter's art that they would not view as purists. And for that reason presumably we ought to take an axe to the masterpieces of Phidias, or, coming to another age and another art, to some of the canvases of Millais, in which beauty unadorned is pictured. Or should we close the doors of our art galleries.

No, no, Mr. McMurray. You are doing yeoman service as it is. In the midst of sin and frivolity, you are stretching out the arresting hand and warning against the downward path that leads to perdition. In all sincerity, your utterances against drinking and gambling are timely and altogether commendable. But let it go at that.

In a properly conducted dance, it is safe to say the average layman finds no impurity. If the dancer does offend in this respect he should look to himself. "Honi soit qui mal y pense."

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Forest avenue, corner of Westfield avenue, seems to be a bad corner for patrons of the trolley trying to get a car. There is hardly a night passes but what some motorman will pass patrons by without stopping his car. The Park avenue crossing is only a short block below and it seems as though it were determined to force patrons to go there to take the cars. Cars are obliged to make a stop here, as the Township Committee, in granting the franchise, inserted a clause, (looking towards the safety of the school childern who nearly all use this crossing), which calls for all cars to come to a standstill before crossing Park avenue.

The fans will be pleased to see the locals playing on the home grounds again. Three weeks without a game in the village is pretty hard on the lovers of the sport, but as Manager Johnston was obliged to book some return games with out of town teams, it was deemed best to make the trips early in the season, as July and August are the two best months for attendance at the games.

The signing of McManus to cover left field, and Allen to cover first base by Manager Johnston, will greatly strengthen the ball team not only in the field but at the bat. Both are to report for play for the Alis game at Crescent Oval on Saturday afternoon.

The annual county examinations for promotion at the public schools is finished. Those who have passed and are in line for promotion will receive their certificates at the commencement exercises on Wednesday evening.

The bad weather of the past two weeks interfered materially with the work on the water main on Front street. A week's pleasant weather would give the company a chance to finish the work.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold its semi-monthly meeting in the Library rooms tonight. A full attendance of the members is desired as business of importance will be transacted.

The public school closes for the summer vacation, Wednesday morning. Commencement exercises will be held in the Baptist Church at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Malster Wins at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—Mud larks had an outing at the fair grounds, and many horses were scratched. The feature, a six furlong handicap for all ages, was won by Malster, equal favorite with Santa Ventura. Santa Ventura finished second after leading to within a hundred feet of the wire, where she was collared by Malster, who won hard held. In the third race Bill Knight, the odds on favorite, and Matt Wadleigh had a duel down the stretch, the former getting the verdict by a nose.

Hamburg Belle Won In a Canter.

NEW YORK, June 23.—By her victory in the Rosebuds stakes for two-year-olds over the last five furlongs of the Futurity course at Sheepshead Bay Hamburg Belle again showed that she is a high class filly. Hamburg Belle galloped her field to a standstill in half a mile and won eased up by two lengths. She ran the distance in 59 4-5 seconds, remarkably good time considering the slow track. The Grass selling stake, last on the card, went to the favorite, Leader.

Claude Wins Frontier Stakes.

DETROIT, Mich., June 23.—Claude, second to The Picket in the American Derby, won the Frontier stakes, the chief event of the Highland park club's opening day, in a gallop. He was an even money favorite and indulged Sir Gallant with the lead to the middle of the home stretch and then ran by him and won as he pleased by five lengths. Bank Street finished third.

Racing For Emperor's Cup.

DOVER, England, June 23.—Eight yachts started in the annual race for the Emperor William cup, from Dover to Helgoland, 320 miles. A light breeze was blowing. The schooner yacht Cicely, owned by Cecil Quentin and designed by Fife, speedily assumed the lead.

Schwalbe Wins at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 23.—The races were run over a track deep in mud. Lucien Appleby, favorite for the mile and a sixteenth race, was beaten a neck by Schwalbe, well ridden by Wilson. Sylvia Talbot and Pirate were Wilson's other winning mounts.

Clothier Champion at Tennis.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—W. J. Clothier, the present Pennsylvania state tennis champion, defeated L. E. Mahan, the former champion of Columbia university, in the final game for the championship of the state.

Will Attack Ciudad Bolivar.

CARACAS, Venezuela, June 23.—The government has decided to attack by land and from the river Orinoco the town of Ciudad Bolivar, which is still in the hands of the revolutionary General Rolando, the only lieutenant of General Matos (who has fled to the island of Curacao), who possesses an army of about 2,000 men, with guns and ammunition. Twelve hundred government troops have left Maturin for San Felix, where they will meet Vice President Gomez, who is on his way thither by sea with 3,400 men. After a junction of the two forces has been effected they will march on Ciudad Bolivar, which, it is expected, will be attacked next Saturday. A heavy resistance is probable.

Japanese Farmers For Texas.

NEW ORLEANS, June 23.—As a result of his experiment in rice farming near Del Rio, Tex., with a colony of four Japanese, K. Isomoto, the Japanese expert, has decided to return home and organize a colony of a hundred farmers to settle on lands in the rice belt of Texas along the line of the Southern Pacific railroad. Mr. Isomoto says the experimental farming he has been doing has been so successful that he believes that within a few years the rice lands of Louisiana and Texas will be filled with Japanese rice farmers.

Government Gets Cruiser.

RICHMOND, Va., June 23.—In the chancery court Judge Grinnan dissolved the injunction restraining the United States government from taking possession of the cruiser Galveston. The federal government stipulates that the ship shall remain the property of the Trigg creditors until the case is determined by the court of highest resort. The Galveston will be launched this week.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

YACHTING COSTUMES.

Serge Is Always Useful—Rough White Hopsacking Skirts.

Yachting costumes are among the considerations of the moment. French women are having a great deal of deep crimson serge made up in this way. The average woman, however, looks best in a costume of navy blue trimmed with touches of red or white.

Costumes of white serge and brilliantine are also smart trimmed here and there with touches of dull green.

A blue yachting costume seen recently was of blue serge decorated with crochet applique in scarlet with dark blue and red tassels. The skirt just escaped the ground and was cut very full. The jacket was loose braided and lined with scarlet silk. With this was worn a white tailor made shirt waist with a red leather belt and a tie of red silk.

Rough white hopsacking skirts are very smart cut with a wide flare and trimmed with five rows of military braid.

Flat military braid is very good also for linens.

Orange linen is a new shade. It is usually trimmed with black and white braid.

The yachting costume illustrated is of serge. The jacket is blue and the skirt cream with a blue band.

COOL DRESSES.

China Silk a Favorite, as Is Also Embroidered White Linen.

Rose is one of the favorite Parisian shades. A very smart afternoon gown seen recently was in soft white china silk decorated with a border of silk covered with pink spots. The skirt was caught up on the hips in pannier fashion, while the bodice was finished with a fichu of black embroidered soie de chine edged with heavy fringe and worn with an all black toque trimmed with pink roses.

Entire dresses of white linen are the latest thing. These dresses are of two descriptions, those intended for walking costumes and the dressy variety. A gown of linen inset with giod cluny lace is fit for almost any summer occasion. The other little gowns are made shirt waist fashion, with the skirts just clearing the ground. They are ornamented with tucks and with tulle made applications.

White china silk costumes are smart and almost universally becoming. They are trimmed with lines of fagoting and wide bands of antique lace.

An all white hat trimmed with a long ostrich plume is a very useful adjunct.

The illustration shows a very stylish gown of rose spotted muslin. The hat is of rose chiffon and straw.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Hobart Company.

It was Esther who brought lawn tennis to Frayne and found eager pupils of both sexes, but Field had been the first to meet and welcome her; had been for a brief time at the start her most constant cavalier. Then, as others began to feel the charm of her frank, cordial, joyous manner, and learned to read the beauty that beamed in her clear, truthful eyes and winsome, yet not beautiful face, they became assiduous in turn—two of them almost distressingly so—and she could not wound them by refusals. Then came a fortnight in which her father sat as a member of a court-martial at old Fort Laramie, where were the band, headquarters and four troops of the ——th, and Captain and Mrs. Freeman who were there stationed, begged that Mrs. Dade and Esther should come and visit them during the session of the court. There would be all manner of army gaities and a crowd of outside officers, and, as luck would have it, Mr. Field was ordered thither as a witness in two important cases. The captain and his good wife went by stage; Esther and Beverly rode every inch of the way in saddle, camping over night with their joyous little party at LaBonte. Then came a lovely week at Laramie, during which Mr. Field had but little to do but devote himself to, and dance with, Esther, and when his final testimony was given and he returned to his station, and not until then, Esther Dade discovered that life had little interest or joy without him; but Field rode back unknowing, and met at Frayne, before Esther Dade's return, a girl who had come almost unheralded, making the journey over the Medicine Bow from Rock Springs on the Union Pacific in the comfortable carriage of old Bill Hay, the post trader, escorted by that redoubtable woman, Mrs. Bill Hay, and within the week of her arrival Nanette Flower was the toast of the bachelor's mess, the talk of every household at Fort Frayne.

Hay, the trader, had prospered in his long years on the frontier, first as trader among the Sioux, later as sutler, and finally, when congress abolished that title, substituting therefor the euphemism, without material clog upon the perquisites, as post trader at Fort Frayne. No one knew how much he was worth, for while apparently a most open-hearted, whole-souled fellow, Hay was reticence itself when his fortunes or his family were matters of question or comment. He had long been married, and Mrs. Hay, when at the post, was a social sphinx—kind-hearted, charitable, lavish to the soldiers' wives and children, and devotion itself to the families of the officers when sickness and trouble came, as come in the old days they often did. It was she who took poor Ned Robinson's young widow and infant all the way to Cheyenne when the Sioux butchered the luckless little hunting party down by Laramie Peak. It was she who nursed Capt. Forrest's wife and daughter through ten weeks of typhoid, and, with her own means, sent them to the seashore, while the husband and father was far up on the Yellowstone, cut off from all communication in the big campaign of '76. It was she who built the little chapel and decked and dressed it for Easter and Christmas, despite the fact that she herself had been baptized in the Roman Catholic faith. It was she who went at once to every woman in the garrison whose husband was ordered out on scout or campaign, proffering aid and comfort, despite the fact long whispered in the garrisons of the Platte country, that in the old, old days she had far more friends among the red men than the white. That could well be, because in those days white men were few and far between. Everyone had heard the story that it was through her the news of the massacre at Fort Phil Kearney was made known to the post commander, for she could speak the dialects of both the Arapahoe and the Sioux, and she had the sign language of the plains veritably at her fingers' ends. There were not lacking those who declared that Indian blood ran in her veins—that her mother was an Ogallala squaw and her father a French Canadian fur trapper, a story to which her raven black hair and brows, her deep, dark eyes and somewhat swarthy complexion gave no little color. But, long years before, Bill Hay had taken her east, where he had relatives, and where she studied under excellent masters, returning to him summer after summer with more and more of refinement in manner, and so much of style and fashion in dress that her annual advent had come to be looked upon as quite the event of the season, even by women of the social position of Mrs. Ray and Mrs. Blake, the recognized leaders among the young matrons of the ——th cavalry, and by gentle Mrs. Dade, to whom every one looked up in respect—almost in reverence. Despite the mystery about her antecedents there was every reason why Mrs. Hay, should be held in esteem and affection. Bill Hay himself was a diamond in the rough—square, steady, uncompromising, generous and hospitable; his great pride and glory was his wife; his one great sorrow that their only child had died almost in infancy. His solecisms in syntax and society were many. He was given at times to profanity, and at others, when madame was away, to draw poker; but officers and men alike proclaimed him a man of mettle and never hesitated to go to him when in financial straits, sure of unusurious aid. But even had this not been the case, the popularity of his better half would have carried him through, for there was hardly a woman at Frayne to speak of her except in terms of genuine respect. Mrs. Hay was truth-telling, sympathetic, a peacemaker, a resolute opponent of gossip and scandal of every kind, a woman who minded her own business and was only mildly insistent that others should do likewise. She declined all overtures leading to confidences of her past, and demanded recognition only upon the standard of the present, which was unimpeachable.

All the same it came something like a shock to society at Frayne that, when she appeared at the post this beautiful autumn of 188—, nearly three months later than the usual time, she should be accompanied by this brilliant and beautiful girl of whom no one of their number had previously heard, and whom she smilingly, confidently presented as, "My niece, Miss Flower."

CHAPTER II.

The major sought to block that morning ride in vain. The impetuous will of the younger soldier prevailed, as he might have known it would, and from the rear gallery of his quarters, with his strong field-glass, Maj. Webb watched the pair fording the Platte far up beyond Pyramid Butte. "Going over to that damned Sioux village again," he swore between his set teeth. "That makes the third time she's headed him there this week," and with strange annoyance at heart he turned away to seek comfort in council with his stanch henchman, Capt. Ray, when the orderly came bounding up the steps with a telegraphic dispatch which the major opened, read, turned a shade grayer and whistled low.

"My compliments to Capts. Blake and Ray," said he, to the silent young soldier, standing attention at the door step, "and say I should be glad to see them here at once."

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Plainfield Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Plainfield people endorse our claim.

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says: "I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across my back and hips. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping, and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could not get relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles as mine, got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation and from my experience Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine."

For sale by all dealers; price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

A RUNAWAY COAL TRAIN.

Rushed Through Spokane, Killed Four and Wrecked Buildings.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 23.—On the Spokane Falls and Northern railroad, a part of the Great Northern system, a short distance from the center of the city, a runaway train of sixty cars loaded with coal without an engine rushed four miles down grade through town, demolishing a dwelling house, wrecking the Crystal laundry, killing at least four people, injuring eight others and piling up a tangled mass of debris nearly fifty feet high.

The train began to slip while standing on a heavy grade and soon gained a terrific speed. An empty box car in which W. H. Thomas and an unknown tramp were sleeping was first struck and demolished, both men being killed. Then the train crossed the street, ran over a rock pile and crashed into a six room dwelling 300 feet from the end of the track occupied by the families of John Slee and Mrs. Meyer. The house was smashed into kindling wood. Two hundred feet farther on the frame building occupied by the Crystal Steam laundry was struck and wrecked, and the force of the train was spent. Nine people were sleeping in the Slee house. James Slee, the father, was pulled out of the ruins practically uninjured. The dead body of his son Elmer was found near by. Another son, Clarence, and the baby were injured and were taken to the hospital. Of the three children of Mrs. Meyer who were sleeping in the house only one was injured.

THE DEAD ALIVE.

Waiters Charged With Murder of Man Who Is Alive.

NEW YORK, June 23.—According to police records, Simon Greenberg is dead. He reached his home late Sunday night suffering from several scalp wounds and other injuries and told his son Abraham that he had been thrown out of a restaurant by three waiters. Then he became unconscious.

Abraham notified the police, who arrested William Lampkin, Joseph Fisher and Herman Osterborn, waiters, and Bernard Horschend, the proprietor, on a charge of assault. Later word was sent to the police that Greenberg had died from his injuries, whereupon the charge of assault was changed to homicide, and the coroner was notified.

The supposed dead man was lying on a couch in the front room. The coroner applied the usual tests to ascertain if death had resulted and was surprised to hear the supposed dead man call out, "Don't, don't!"

The coroner turned to the man's son and said, "Why, your father isn't dead."

"Well, three doctors said he was," answered the son.

The coroner then notified the police that the man was not dead, and again the charge was changed, this time back to assault.

Plot to Kill Captain Ewen.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 23.—Captain B. J. Ewen, the leading witness in the trial of Jett and White for the murder of J. B. Marcum at Jackson, has left for a secret destination. This action was taken on the advice of friends after Captain Ewen had been informed by a man who came from Jackson of the existence of a plot to assassinate him. All sorts of rumors are in circulation concerning efforts to interfere with the course of justice in the Marcum case. Captain Ewen not only felt that he was in danger constantly, but that his presence here might endanger his friends.

Building Operations Resumed.

PITTSBURG, June 23.—The trouble between the Bricklayers' and the Stonemasons' union, which has tied up much of the building operations for a month in Pittsburg and Allegheny, is temporarily settled, and all the men returned to work today. Nearly 10,000 men were affected by the settlement. The cause of the trouble was the contention of the Bricklayers and Masons' International union that the Stonemasons' National union had no right to exist and that the members of the National should join the International.

Negro In Hands of Mob.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 23.—A mob of a couple of thousand last night broke into the county workhouse, bent on lynching George White, the negro who is held on a charge of assaulting and killing Helen Bishop on Monday last. The guards defended the place, and a boy and a man, members of the mob, were shot and slightly injured. The negro was finally secured and taken to Ponce's Corners to be burned to death.

Mrs. Roosevelt Arrives at Oyster Bay

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 23.—Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by two or three of the White House domestics, arrived at Oyster Bay from Washington today. It was expected that she would remain at the capital until the president came on for the summer, but it was deemed desirable on account of the presence of the children at Sagamore Hill that she should reach home in advance of the president.

Lace Smuggler Held.

BOSTON, June 23.—Michael Freda, recently arrested for alleged smuggling of lace worth $2,500 from Naples, Italy, at a hearing before United States Commissioner Fisk was held for the grand jury in $2,500. The lace in question is alleged to have been brought over on the steamer Vancouver a month ago by an interpreter named Gino Bianco.

Servia Has a Cloudburst.

BELGRADE, Servia, June 23.—A cloudburst has occurred at the village of Zenom, near Knapzevas, and fifty-four houses were demolished. Thirty persons were drowned and the damage done is estimated at $20,000.

BUNTS.

The suits for the Holy Cross Church choir baseball team are expected this week.

Manager Edward Smith, of the Reform Club baseball nine, desires to book engagements for the rest of the season. Communications may be sent to Mr. Smith, Allen place, North Plainfield.

The Aeolian and Equitable Life teams will cross bats at the Aeolian's grounds, Saturday. The batteries will be Maurer and Poole for the Aeolian's and Hopper and Freedburg for the New York teams. The Aeolian's will meet the strong Brooklyn Field Club, July 11. Their grounds are on North avenue, between Cranford and Garwood.

Manager MacLaughlin, of the Alis Club, has arranged with Manager Johnston, of the Scotch Plains team, to play the postponed game between these teams on Crescent Oval, Saturday. The management of the Equitable team very kindly released the Alis Club, with whom it had a game for that date. The games hereafter will be called at 3:45 o'clock, instead of 3:30.

The Cuban Giants are seeking games with strong out-of-town teams, amateur or semi-professional. They have dates open throughout the season, and are particularly anxious to get two games for July 4. Managers are asked to write to Manager W. F. Walters, 217 Lee place, stating guarantee. The team is to be strengthened by the addition of one or two "stars" whose names are not yet announced.

The Invincible Terrors met the Scotch Plains A. C. on the Stelle avenue grounds, yesterday afternoon, defeating the visitors by a score of 15 to 8. Mallinson and VanWinkle formed the battery for the home team, and Miller and Vail served in that capacity for the visiting team. Mallinson struck out twelve of the opposing men and Miller had six strikes outs to his credit. The home team played a much better game all around.

GOLF.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, caddy-master at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, is steadily improving in his game and bids fair to become a strong player of the ancient game. It is likely that he will be entered in some professional events toward the latter part of the season.

Friedgens' Military Band, of New York, has been engaged to give two concerts, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening, at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Fourth of July. The band will also furnish music for dancing in the evening. It has been arranged to display the fireworks on the hill facing the city, so that the people in Plainfield may have an opportunity to see them.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

John Long, manager of the All-Plainfield Tug-of-War team, issues a challenge to all teams to a contest at $25 a side.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

New Brunswick seems to be in the grasp of the liquor traffic. In spite of the fact that petitions have been sent to the Common Council by a number of citizens and even the victims of the liquor curse in the county jails, the Council has granted the full number of liquor licenses. This is not strange when it is known that at least three members of the Council are liquor dealers. There are now 104 saloons in the city of New Brunswick which has a population of 20,006. This means a liquor store for every 25 men in the town. New Brunswick may attribute much of stagnation to the prevalence of saloons.

Rev. C. J. Ryder, secretary of the American Missionary Association, in addressing the Congregational Church Sunday on the race problem, told the story of a professor in a northern college who had the idea that he could settle the negro question himself by a few days of personal investigation in the South.

The professor attended the graduating exercises of one of the southern universities and sat by the side of a member of the faculty.

Noticing one of the graduates who, to all appearances, was a perfect white man, and who had an unusually bright face, the northerner asked his companion who he was. "Why," said his friend, "nobody at all. He's only a nigger."

A few minutes later, another student, a girl, also apparently white, approached to receive her diploma. "Ah!" said the northern 'expert,' "If I hadn't learned by experience, I should say that was a white girl. But now I can see the unmistakable signs of her negro blood—the slight flatness of the nose, the thickness of the protruding lips, and the lowness of the forehead."

"Indeed," said the southerner, whose family was distinguished by the bluest of blue blood, "that is my daughter."

There will be two sections and the start will be made from Plainfield at 8 o'clock in the morning, returning, leave the Park at 6:30 o'clock.

The First M. E. Church has just issued its new directory. It contains among other things a complete list of the membership, the various organizations, together with the officers, a short history of the church from its inception and the names of those who have served as pastors. The book is well arranged and is very valuable to those interested in this church.

"Lunnon" Likes It "'Ot."

It may be that the quality of imagination was lacking in the Boston and Salem merchants who attempted, in 1842, to introduce American ice into London. One of them tried to attain this end by demonstrating the merits of American iced drinks. He hired a hall—as the story goes—and trained a number of men to mix the cool beverages of his native land. The members of the Fishmongers' association—presumably as fond of turtle as aldermen themselves—were the guests. The waiters made an imposing entry—but alas! the first sound that met the ear of the American "promoter," expecting a chorus of approval, was that of an English voice calling for hot water, and saying: "I prefer it, all in all." The American completes the story: "I made a dead rush for the door, next day settled my bills in London, took a train for Liverpool and the steamer for Boston, and counted up a clear loss of $1,200."—M. A. De Wolfe Howe, in Atlantic.

Compensations of Pastors.

In the ministry, service and salary are not coequal terms. The high office was not created for the advantage of the holder, and the calling is degraded into a mere profession when it made the subject of money equivalents. The work of the ministry is more especially in the realm of the moral and spiritual, and therefore can never be "financially compensated in any exhaustive commercial sense." Nevertheless, the minister adapted by conduct and learning to his high calling ordinarily does have, and should have, a salary proportionate to the demands of the field he is tilling, and compensations far more satisfying and worthy of consideration than salaries.—Century.

Similar But Different.

Brown—Hello, Jones! You don't mean to say this is really you?

Jones—It certainly is.

"Why, I thought you were dead."

"No; never was dead."

"Say, are you sure of that?"

"Of course, I am."

"Well, I read something in the paper some time ago about your funeral."

"Oh, no. You probably read about my marriage."

"Perhaps that was it. I know it was something sad."—Chicago Daily News.

GONZALES MURDER CASE.

Tillman Claims That He Cannot Get Fair Trial at Columbia.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 23.—The circuit court, Judge D. A. Townsend presiding, heard a motion for change of venue in the case of ex-Lieutenant Governor James H. Tillman, charged with murdering N. G. Gonzales, editor of the State, last January. Tillman produced about 300 affidavits to show that a fair trial could not be had in this county because of prejudice against the defendant. The principal affidavits were made by defendant's counsel and friends and asserted that the Columbia newspapers and preachers had incited feeling against Tillman by their references to the case.

The prosecution presented about 400 affidavits in reply. Practically all the ministers of Columbia asserted that they have made no reference to the case from their pulpits. Newspaper men, including Messrs. W. F. and A. E. Gonzales, respectively editor and publisher of the State, stated in affidavits that the Columbia papers had conspicuously and carefully refrained from inflammatory denunciations of the defendant, and these assertions were backed by statements from bank presidents, lawyers, physicians, college professors and merchants.

Tillman's mother, wife and child were in court part of the time, as was his uncle, Senator B. R. Tillman.

MILL HANDS STRIKE AGAIN.

Claim That Employers Have Not Kept Faith.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The textile workers employed in the carpet mill of Ivans, Dietz & Metzger, who returned to work last week, struck again. They claim that all of the operatives excepting the dyers were granted a new scale on the basis of sixty hours' pay for fifty-five hours' work. The dyers demanded an increase of $2 a week in wages, which was refused. The other hands assert also that they were notified by the firm that beginning this week wages would be paid on the old scale. The employees therefore remained away from the plant.

The executive committee of the Central Textile Workers' union has sent telegrams to the dyers employed by Ivans, Dietz & Metzger in the company's dyeing plants at Reading, Pa.; Meyerstown, Pa., and Long Island requesting them to join the strikers.

New York Architect Honored.

LONDON, June 23.—Charles F. McKim, the New York architect, was given the king's gold medal awarded by the Royal Society of Architects. The medal was bestowed upon Mr. McKim on account of the excellence of his designs of many public buildings in the United States and of his being the president of the American Institute of Architects and also in order to do honor to the great progress of architectural art in America. Ambassador Choate and others witnessed the presentation. Mr. McKim in acknowledging the medal said he accepted it for his whole profession in America rather than as a personal tribute. "The fact that the medal had gone to America twice within a decade," he continued, "showed how kindly the British body recognized the work of its younger colleagues."

Queen's Matinee Breaks Record.

LONDON, June 23.—Record receipts for a London matinee were reached at Beerbohm Tree's performance of "The Man Who Was" at His Majesty's theater for the benefit of Queen Alexandra's sanitarium at Davos, Switzerland. A total of $25,000 was netted. Lord Rothschild paid $1,500 for a box, and other patrons paid fancy prices. Forbes Robertson, Gertrude Elliott, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, Edward Seymour Hicks and Ellaine Terriss contributed to the programme.

LITERARY.

In Scribner's for July, Charles E. Magoon's account of what the War Department at the present day has achieved in the Civil Government of Porto Rico, Hawaii, and the Philippines is of absorbing interest. He explains briefly how the great instument of destruction, the United States Army, was turned to the work of construction, and wonderfully succeeded until purely Civil Governments were prepared to take its place.

The Newark Bay Drawbridge.

Nearly every one crossing the New Jersey Central's Bridge over Newark Bay is interested in the work incident to the pier building, and though it is a gigantic undertaking, the work is progressing rapidly and traffic has not been delayed. Seventy foot piles have been driven to form foundation for the new piers, and these have been cut off by machinery, at a depth of 30 feet below water. As these piles were driven and cut off under each track separately, it was necessary to carry the traffic on a single track, which has been done with almost no delay to trains, which at this point are very numerous. The large caissons in which the piers are built were erected last fall on the north bank of the Bay. These consist of a grillage, or floor four feet in thickness, and sides built with strong posts and planks, and the whole is made water tight, the joints being caulked in same manner wooden vessels are built. Three of these caissons have already been towed to the site of the new draw and partially filled with concrete, of which the new piers are to be built. When the weight of concrete sinks the caissons at low water to the level of the foundations, they are towed into their final position under the trestle, and when accurately located, by boring a few holes in their sides, they are filled with water and sunk in their permanent position, being supported by the piles, and stone filling which has been thrown in, making a durable and substantial foundation. Work is then continued on each pier until they have reached their final height. It is expected that all four piers in the westerly half of the new piers will be filled and ready to receive the steel work by the 20th of June.

Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., has donated $50 toward the Armourdale fund for A. O. U. W. members who suffered by the recent Kansas floods.

TRIED FOR STEALING A WATERMELON

It Was Only a Mock Trial, However, at Trinity Reformed Church.

FUN FOR C. E. SOCIETY

CONVERSATION ON VITAL TOPICS A FEATUTE OF ENTERTAINMENT.

Instrumental and Vocal Music Also on Programme—Everybody Taking Part Did Well and All Had a Good Time.

A unique social, including a musicale, a mock trial, together with a number of special subjects for conversation, attracted a very large number of young people to Trinity Reformed Church, last evening. It was given under the auspices of the social committee of the Christian Endeavor Society and was the last affair of the kind for the season.

The programme opened with a tenor solo by W. T. Jeffery, accompanied on the piano by R. E. Humpstone, after which the young folks took part in a game called "Conversation." They were allowed a limited number of minutes to discuss these vitally important subjects: "Should summer flirtation be encouraged?" "If Columbus had not discovered America where would we be?" "Patience." "Summer Vacations." "Opportunities." "The Value of common sense." "Some lessons worth learning." "Is a lie ever justifiable?" "The ideal woman." "The ideal man."

Interspersing this portion of the programme, there were instrumental selections by a quartette comprising Joseph Sattels, Arthur Mosher, violins; G. W. V. Moy, viola, and Kenneth Shupp, 'cello.

The most fun resulted from the mock trial, which concluded the entertainment. This was given by the members of Sunday-school class No. 15, of which Miss Mabel Wilson is the teacher. "Obadiah Root," in the person of Clarence Rittenhouse, was accused of stealing a watermelon, and a number of persons were employed to decide the important case. It took about half an hour to discover that the accused was not guilty and that a hired man had collected the melons from Deacon Timothy Seed's patch and stored them in the farm house cellar. This fact was brought out by "Jerusha Seed," his wife, after much argument and many perplexities. The prize melon of the patch was exhibited in court.

There was considerable fun during the seleciton of a jury, some that were called being rejected for reasons of a more or less ridiculous nature. One would-be juror was not wanted because he had not paid his poll tax and it happened that he had not in fact paid because he is exempt. He really thought the accusation was intentional, until matters were explained afterwards. The court refused to allow one woman to serve because she had been engaged five years. This and similar incidents helped to make the trial unusually funny.

These were the characters and their interpreters: "Judge Curlywig," Charles M. Dolliver; clerk, Frank Bach; "Lawyer Goosequill," Albert L. Schomp, representing the complainant; "Lawyer Chanticleer," Thomas Carter, representing the accused; "Deacon Timothy Seed," the complainant, Frank Platts; "Jerusah," his wife, Mrs. William Trembath; "Obadiah Root," the accused, Clarence Rittenhouse; "Hans Oubenblauben," a store-keeper, William Trembath, and "Sally Muggins," Obadiah's sweetheart, and witness for the accused, Miss Nettie Kreitling. The jury: Epizoot Kriney, Angelina Davenport, Jehosaphat Latourette, Christopher Columbus VanHorn, Mary Ann Young, Rebecca Bodine, Joshua Zimmer, Clara Belle VanDoren, Enoch Bach, Nehemiah Remsen, Samantha Martin and Hiram Bolsterli. Every one took his part exceedingly well and the trial was a decided success. "Judge Curlywig" kept excellent order in court and promptly called attention to any violations of the rules.

After the entertainment, the watermelon over which there was so much trouble, was brought out of the cellar and served as refreshment. To the social committee is due the credit for the successful social. Those on the committee are Miss H. M. Kreitling, chairman; Miss Minnie Wyman, Miss Nettie Young, Miss Kate Bodine, Miss Emma Lindsay, Miss Bessie Martin, Miss Elizabeth Davenport, Hiram S. Humes and Clarence Rittenhouse.

They were pronounced man and wife by Rev Chas. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The bride was attired in Persian lawn, covered with real lace. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the immediate relatives being present.

HUSBAND HEARTBROKEN, WIFE BURIED AT SEA

Pierre Bonnet's Helpmeet Stricken on Board Ship Bound for Havre.

LOCATED BY REPORTER

DAILY PRESS MAN FINDS MR. BONNET AT MT. BETHEL.

Sorrowing Husband Offered Ship's Captain $5,000 to Bring Body Back, But Was Refused—Bonnet Tells His Own Story.

Driving through the rain on an unknown road with the night so dark that one could almost feel the inky blackness, a reporter for The Daily Press started for Mt. Bethel last night in search of a "story." A wealthy Philadelphian's wife died on her way from this country to France of smallpox, and was buried at sea, in spite of offers of a great sum of money by the husband if he would be allowed to bring the remains back to America. That was the basis for the "story." The destination was unknown. Pierre Bonnet, the bereaved husband was living with relatives on the road to Mt. Bethel.

Each farmhouse on the road was haled and some sleepy head appeared at the window and there the question, "Do you know Pierre Bonnet?" was asked. William Kirch's house was finally reached. A knock at the door by the reporter surrounded on every side with barking dogs, brought forth a hollow sound from an upstairs chamber, "Who's there?" The reportre could not raise his voice above the noise made by the dogs. Finally the householder appeared in neglige at the door.

"Two hundred yards down the road 'till you come to the end of my property then turn to your left into a lane and follow that for half a mile through the woods and the first house on the left hand side is the one you are looking for," were his instructions. The darkness was impenetrable.

The directions were followed and the lane found after going a dozen yards beyond the road. The carriage wheels sank up to the hubs in mud and the horse was hardly unable to draw the load. Both occupants of the carriage alighted and led the horse up he dark, muddy and steep road until a faint light in a window told us the house had been reached.

The reporter, in getting out of the carriage started for what he thought was the door. A voice called out from a top story window, "What do you want there? Get out of my berry patch." Looking up he spied a man in night apparel with a wicked looking rifle. The reporter briefly explained his errand and was finally admitted to the house. Here is the "story:"

While on her way to visit the birthplace of her husband, Pierre Bonnet, a wealthy carpet designer, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Bonnet, whose home is at Mt. Bethel, was taken suddenly ill on the Steamship Savoie, of the Franco-American line, and died on June 10. Death was due to a violent type of varioloid. Not a soul among the passengers on the ship was aware that a death from a contagious disease, had occurred aboard and no one knew of the burial which took place at midnight, save a few trusted sailors, the captain, Dr. Maire, the steamship physician, and the woman's husband.

Mrs. Bonnet left this country for France, Thursday, June 4. She was then in perfect health, apparently. When she had been at sea for several days she showed evidences of sea sickness. She was treated for this complaint but to the surprise of the physician on board she grew rapidly worse. An examination brought to light the fact that the woman was suffering from varioloid of a violent type. Her death resulted four days later. She was buried at sea.

Mr. Bonnet returned to this country on the same steamship. He sought seclusion at once at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jules Ledos, near Mt. Bethel. He has been living apart from the world since his wife's death, and has refused to see anyone.

Last evening a reporter for The Daily Press saw him in his mountain retreat and obtained the story of the death and burial at sea. This is Mr. Bonnet's version:

"My wife and I left this country to visit my birthplace at Havre, France, on Thursday, June 4. Four days out she was taken sick and in a few days died. While the men were preparing the body for burial I went to the captain of the vessel and asked him to allow me to take the remains back to her native land when the ship returned. He said that the rules of the steamship company forbade such proceedings inasmuch as the death was due to a contagious disease.

"Almost frantic with grief I besought the officers of the ship to grant my request. I said that if it was merely a question of money, I would be willing to pay almost any amount to take the remains back to America for interment in Newark. I would have been willing to pay $5,000 to have brought the remains home with me.

"While I was yet pleading to be allowed to bring the remains back the sailors were preparing the casket for burial. In some part of the boat I heard eight bells ring out and then, with a prayer by the captain, with the sailors standing bare headed about the casket, drapped with a French flag, the remains were consigned to the deep. A splash and all was over. No one save myself, the captain and the four silent sailors attended the funeral service.

"The passengers were not informed of the death. Many inquired after my wife but I was instructed to say that she could not be seen. The passengers were all watched for evidences of the disease but so far as I know there were no other cases on board.

"I went to Havre with the ship and returned on the same vessel. I came here to be away from the rest of the world. Tomorrow I will return to Philadelphia."

The dead woman was Mr. Bonnet's second wife. He married a Miss Baron, of New York, about twenty years ago. She died in her native city and in 1893 he married Miss Ledos.

The Ledos family is well known in and about Mt. Bethel. Mrs. Ledos is the proprietress of a summer boarding house about a mile outside the village.

Mr. Bonnet is the manager of the Oldham mills in Philadelphia. He is known to many in this city in the Pierre Frerries glove factory on Grove street.

SCHOOL BATTALION TO BE ABOLISHED

Lack of Interest Reason for Change at the Plainfield High School.

HEREAFTER A COMPANY

A FOUR YEARS ELECTIVE COURSE NOW ARRANGED.

Appointments Made for Next Year—Many Pupils Intend to Select a Branch in Military Instruction—Other Details.

After the opening of school in September, the Plainfield High School Cadet Corps will be a voluntary organization. During the past year the military work has been a part of the school training for the boy pupils. The work of the battalion in which there was an element of the uninterested could not be entirely satisfactory and after consideration this battalion has been abolished and a company will be formed.

School Principal Ira W. Travell has planned to have this military work count as a full course in the school curriculum if pursued for the full four years of the course. The members of the company will all be uniformed and drills will be held twice a week during the school year. A size limit will doubtless be fixed. The drilling will take place in the afternoons for periods of one hour—not during school as has been the case during the past term. The boys will be required to hold a certain standing in the military drill.

With such a voluntary company, the field of work of the High School cadets will be greatly broadened. Much interest is shown among the pupils and some forty of them have signified their desire to take part in the military work.

The commandant has selected the officers for the coming year from the list of candidates, considering as far as possible the rank held by the men this year.

The appointments are these: Francis K. Anderson, captain; Lucius T. Koons, first lieutenant, Harry G. Thompson, second lieutenant; Charles F. Neagle, first sergeant; Ralph R. Eckert, quartermaster sergeant; Harold E. Lovelle and Stuart F. Freeman, sergeants; Paul C. Meyer, Phillip Leichtentritt and Joseph Gavett, Jr., corporals; Harold A. Brownell, first lieutenant and quartermaster; Charles Elliott, color sergeant; Adam V. Scott, drummer.

Commencing Suit.

John P. Owens has been retained by Mrs. Frederick Skillman and her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Lewis, to commence suit for $10,000 damages against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Railroad Company. The suit is the outcome of an accident at Elizabeth two weeks ago when the motorman was killed and several passengers were injured by the car leaving the track and crashing into a trolley pole.

Dr. Hedges is There.

Dr. E. W. Hedges, of this city, corresponding secretary of the Medical Society of New Jersey, is in attendance at the 137th annual meeting of the society which is being held this week in Asbury Park at the Coleman House. The convention started Tuesday and will continue through tomorrow when the election of officers will take place.

Minister's Trial Postponed.

The case of Rev. Mr. Crudup came up for trial in Elizabeth yesterday, the parties and all their witnesses being present. The prosecution desired the defendant to waive his right to a trial by jury, and he being unwilling to do so, the case was postponed for the term.

The bride attired in white cregon trimmed with lace was attended by her cousin, Miss Delia Cuddy. The bridesmaid wore white mousiline de soie. The best man was John Flynn, a life long friend of the groom. After the ceremony in the church a wedding breakfast took place at the home of the groom's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Morcon left this morning for Washington, D. C., where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside on South Second street

MERCHANT TRICKED.

Goods Ordered for New England Went to a Nearby Town—Most of the Goods Recovered.

A clever ruse practised on a Plainfield merchant has just come to light. The Plainfielder manufactures an article which has gained a wide and extensive sale in various markets and recently he received frequent orders for it from parties representing themselves as merchants in a New England city. It was the frequency of the orders that made the local manufacturer suspicious and he began to investigate. When the last order was received he wrote the out-of-town parties that he must have a guarantee that the article would not be retailed for less than fifty cents before shipping the goods. Back came the guarantee and the goods were promptly shipped. A few days later the Plainfielder, unexpectedly heard hat his article was being sold in a nearby New Jersey town at 39 cents each. Further investigation was made and it was then learned that a concern in New York was making a practice of buying goods in this way and shipping them to other towns, where cut-rates were established. The Plainfielder has succeeded it getting nearly all of his shipment of goods back and in the future he will be guarded as to sales in large quantities. In this instance his goods never reached the New England city and it was not intended that they should.

Courts Investigation.

"I have nothing to fear from any investigation, and it is needless to say that I have the confidence of my people," said the Rev. Dr. George R. Van De Water, rector of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, who has been named in connection with the divorce suit brought by Commodore Archbald Watt against his wife, Mrs. Adele Watt, of North Plainfield, just before he sailed on the Lombardia for his annual three months' vacation yesterday. Dr. Van De Water said that he would not make any answer until his return, in the autumn.

KIELY ISSUES ORDERS

INSTRUCTS POLICE TO REPORT SALES CONTRARY TO LAW.

Youngsters possess Toy Pistols and Other Firearms—To Keep Sharp Watch on Dealers—Text of Law on the Subject.

A ban has been placed on the small boy with a pistol this year and on Fourth of July or at any other time no boy will be allowed to fire a gun or pistol, whether it be a toy or genuine revolver, except in the presence of his father or guardian.

A number of boys have been seen with toy pistols and in some cases carrying weapons of a more dangerous nature. Chief Kiely has instructed the roundsmen and patrolmen to ascertain where these articles are sold. He declares his intention to rigidly enforce the law.

This is the text of the act of Assembly bearing on the subject:

"It shall not be lawful to sell, barter, exchange, hire or loan to any person under the age of fifteen years, any gun, pistol, toy pistol, or other firearms, or for any person under the age of fifteen years to purchase, barter or exchange any gun, pistol, toy pistol or other firearms, nor for any person under the age of fifteen years to carry fire or use a gun, pistol, toy pistol or other firearms, except in the presence of his father or guardian, or for the purpose of military drill in accordance with the rules of a school; it shall be the duty of all persons selling, hiring, bartering or exchanging pistols, revolvers, guns or other firearms, to keep and maintain a book of registry of the same, in which said book of registry shall be entered the number of the article sold, if any, the name of the maker, together with such other means of identification as may be obtainable concerning the same, and also the name and address of the person to whom such pistol, revolver, gun or other firearm is sold, bartered, exchanged or hired, which said book of registry shall be at all times open to inspection by or upon the written order of the judges of the several courts of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions, the attorney-general, and the several prosecutors of the pleas of this State; any person violating this section or failing to comply with the several provisions of the same, or giving a fictitious name or address, or knowing, receiving or registering such name and address, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Legal notice by Sheriff B. Frank Coriell and A. Q. Keasbey & Sons, of Newark, attorneys for the applicant under which a warrant of seizure was granted against the cruiser Chattanooga, that the vessel will be sold within three months from the first publication of the notice, for the payment of claims against her, "unless the owner, consignee, or commander thereof, or some persons interested therein, appear and discharge the said warrant." Persons having claims against the vessel are required to deliver an account of them to Commissioner John A. Miller, of Newark, within two months.

Lake Hopatcong has become justly famous for several reasons but chief of these is its location. High up in New Jersey's beautiful mountains, a thousand feet above the sea level, surroudned by verdant hills and charming landscape, it is the perfection of outing places. To reach it is a delightful journey through a series of picturesque valleys, and the time of the traveler is so occupied feasting on the scenic sights that the few hours journey are like fleeting moments. For a Sunday excursion no place is more popular than Lake Hopatcong, and if you want a day of enjoyment take in the $1 excursion to Lake Hopatcong. The New Jersey Central is to run on June 28th. There will be a special train from Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., and the return train does not leave the lake until late afternoon. An Unusual Opportunity.

One of the remarkable opportunities of the season is announced by Amos H. VanHorn, Ltd., 78 Market street, of Newark. They have very wisely taken all their discontinued spring patterns and incomplete rolls of carpets of all weaves and carefully made them up into room sizes, placing them at their actual cost from the mills; velvets, brussels, moquettes, ingrains and other popular weaves are included, making the display an attractive one for those interested in an opportunity of this kind.

The Amos H. VanHorn, Ltd. people are also stirring up matters in their furniture lines; they report a marvelous increase in sales in all departments, which is far from surprising, considering the generous terms they are willing to make, where people prefer paying a little at a time rather than all cash when purchase is made.

Our Friends, the Druggists.

It is a pleasure to testify to the generally high character of druggists. But because of a few exceptions to the rule, it is necessary to caution the public to be on guard against imitations of Perry Davis' Painkiller. See that you get the right article, the soothing, helpful Painkiller that was used in your family before you were born. Don't be taken into buying a substitute. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

ALDEN IS ARRESTED

Former Assistant of Charities Charged With Forgery.

WENT ON STUMP IN CIVIC ELECTION

It Is Said He Wrote Name of Kellar on Back of Check For $447—Alden Is a Retired Minister and Was Formerly of Schenectady.

MONTAGUE, Mass., June 24.—Rev. Charles A. Alden, formerly assistant to J. W. Kellar when the latter was commissioner of charities of New York and who was arrested some months ago on a charge of grand larceny during his terms of office and subsequently released, was taken into custody again, this time on a bench warrant charging him with forgery of a check.

The arrest was made at the home of his brother, Edward Alden, in this town, and a warrant which was issued on an indictment found in New York on June 17 was served by Officer William Brown of that city and Henry K. Ward of Franklin county. Mr. Alden was taken to Greenfield and locked up in the county jail. He will be taken to New York today, having waived examination proceedings.

The indictment alleges forgery in the second degree, the specific charge being that Alden forged the name of Kellar on the back of a check for $447. The check had been sent to the commissioner by John L. Collins and drawn on a Schenectady bank.

When the warrant was served Mr. Alden seemed to be considerably surprised and at the time said that while it was sudden it was not unexpected. He refused, however, to talk regarding the charge. He readily consented to accompany the officers to Greenfield.

Rev. Mr. Alden is a retired Baptist minister and was for a number of years pastor of a church in Schenectady, N. Y. During the municipal campaign in New York which resulted in the election of Mayor Van Wyck he went on the stump and spoke in favor of Tammany Hall. He was later made an assistant commissioner of charities, which he held for a year or two, when he suddenly disappeared. He later appeared in Philadelphia, and six months ago he came to the house of his brother in this town. Shortly afterward he was arrested on the charge of grand larceny and was taken to New York, but the charge was subsequently withdrawn owing, it was said, to the lack of evidence.

TO PUSH FOR THE NORTH POLE.

Ziegler of New York Sends Expedition From Norway.

TRONDHJEM, Norway, June 24.—The Ziegler polar expedition has sailed on the steam whaler America for Franz Josef Land with the following members of the expedition: Anthony Fiala in charge, R. R. Tafel of Philadelphia, Charles L. Seitz of Evansville, Ind.; William J. Peters of the National Geographical society, second in command of the expedition; Francis Long of the weather bureau, meteorologist; Dr. G. W. Shorkley of Camden, Me.; J. Colin Vaugh of Forest Hill, N. J.; Charles E. Rilletts of St. Louis, John Vedoe of Boston, Spencer W. Stewart of Brooklyn and H. H. Newcomb of Milford, Mass. The America will pass the winter at Franz Josef Land, whence expeditions will be sent out with dog sledges.

Material for the construction of winter quarters was taken on board the steamer. All the members of the expedition were in good health and spirits.

Wedding of an Anglicized American.

LONDON, June 24.—The Guards' chapel at Wellington barracks was crowded with distinguished persons to witness the wedding of Lieutenant Marshall O. Roberts of the Scots guards, son of Mrs. Ralph Vivian, formerly Mrs. Marshall O. Roberts of New York, to Miss Irene Helen Murray, daughter of Sir George Murray, secretary of the British port office, who was private secretary to Mr. Gladstone when the latter was prime minister. The archbishop of Armagh officiated and the band of the Scots guards, of which regiment Lieutenant Roberts' stepfather, Colonel Vivian, was formerly colonel, furnished the music. There were eleven bridesmaids.

Negro Murderer Kills Himself.

GEORGETOWN, S. C., June 24.—John Brownfield, colored, who killed Deputy Sheriff Scurry and who was under sentence of death, has killed himself in jail by taking poison. Brownfield had fought his case through every court to the United States supreme court and finally was sentenced to die on the 26th. His arrest for the murder precipitated a riot of negroes, and the militia was called out.

Dougal Guilty of Holland Murder.

LONDON, June 24.—Samuel Herbert Dougal was found guilty of the murder of Miss Camille Cecile Holland, a wealthy spinster, and has been sentenced to death. The trial created a great sensation here on account of the mystery which surrounded the crime. Throughout the trial Dougal exhibited great stoicism. He listened unmoved to the death sentence and smiled and nodded to acquaintances in the court room.

Explosives to Blow Up Jail.

CANYON CITY, Colo., June 24.—Enough giant powder and nitroglycerin were found in the penitentiary to blow up the entire prison. The discovery was made after the convicts who had attempted to escape had been put through the sweating process. The explosives were concealed in the wall of one of the shops. It is believed that the nitroglycerin was manufactured by Kuykendall, the convict who was killed.

Briggs Ave., Morris Park, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1902.

Enclosed please find bill for Washer, with cash to settle same. I can hardly express my satisfaction with the machine, and thoroughly agree with you that the first time you use it you like it, but the more you use it the better you like it. I did not believe it possibly could do what you claimed, but thought it must have some good points, or you could not venture to send one on free trial. The free trial is a splendid idea, as I never should have been induced by any amount of advertisements to invest my money to find out if it was a good machine. I stood amazed as I lifted the articles from the washer on my first trial, articles that as I put them in were so soiled that I exclaimed: "Oh, yes, they'll come out clean and white—?" But they certainly did! I have three little ones and plenty of washing, and pretty much soiled generally, but my only regret is that I did not have the washer years ago, and thus have saved myself very much. Thanking you for being the means of robbing washday of its terrors, I am,

Yours very truly, MRS. E. H. VOSE.

REMEMBER—You take absolutely no risk, incur no expense or obligation whatever. The washer is sent by us on 30 days' trial. Express to your door in Plainfield or suburbs and positively without any advance or deposit of any kind.

PEATS NOW IS SANE

Driven Insane by Prosperity, He Is Cured by Disaster.

HEROIC MOTHER RISKED HER LIFE

Little Genevieve Dies From Burns Received When Her Home, Alta Crest, Was Destroyed by Fire.

GREENWICH, Conn., June 24.—Little Genevieve Peats, the eight-year-old daughter of the insane millionaire wall paper manufacturer, Alfred Peats, died in the gardener's cottage on the estate from the burns she received in the burning of Alta Crest, the country home of the family on Electric hill.

Peats, who was driven insane through stress of business, has somewhat recovered his reason in the most marvelous manner after the fire which burned his little daughter Genevieve to death and destroyed his home.

While his mind is not entirely normal after months of insanity, it is partly clear, and it is now believed that he will completely recover his reason.

The heroic mother, who risked her life to carry her burning child through the flames and who herself was seriously burned while extinguishing the fire which was consuming the little one, is resting easier, and the doctors say she will recover.

Just before Genevieve, who had inhaled the flames into her lungs, died the father was carried away by the attendants.

Mrs. Peats' sister, who was also burned in escaping from the fire, is reported improved. She will recover.

Fear is now expressed concerning Mrs. Peats' strength to withstand the mental strain which must come when she learns of the death of her child, the one hope which remained after her husband drove himself insane by overwork in building his great fortune.

AIR SHIP MANEUVERS WELL.

The Santos-Dumont New Craft Sails About Champs Elysee.

PARIS, June 24.—Santos-Dumont made his first appearance in air ship No. 9 over the center of Paris. He maneuvered above the Arc de Triomphe and descended at his residence on the Champs Elysee.

The aeronaut started from Longchamp, going in the direction of the Place de l'Etoile, followed by many cyclists. He executed a number of skillful maneuvers over the Place de l'Etoile, made a tour of the Arc de Triomphe and, turning down the Champs Elysee, brought his air ship down at the door of his house, 114, which he entered and there breakfasted.

Meanwhile bystanders and mechanics held down the air ship, which was surrounded by a curious crowd for half an hour. Later Santos-Dumont reappeared, smoking a cigarette. In order to avoid the trees the airship was towed to the center of the Champs Elysee, whence it rose and returned to Longchamp. There was little wind.

The ship maintained an altitude of about a hundred feet and answered her helm perfectly. No. 9 is the smallest air ship Santos-Dumont has yet constructed. She measures about 8,300 cubic feet, has a three horse power engine and resembles an elongated egg.

Ex-Convict on the Rampage.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., June 24.—Panhandle detectives, sheriffs, policemen and farmers are in pursuit of Willard Herrell, an ex-convict who has terrorized Case and Miami counties for the past twenty-four hours. Herrell, fully armed, has sworn he will not be taken alive. He amused himself by shooting at traveling men in the Lake Erie depot at Bunker Hill. Then he visited a saloon and shot out the mirrors. On the way home he shot at everybody in sight, breaking the windows of a passenger train, the passengers narrowly escaping death. He met John Shively and told him to prepare to die. Shively leaped a barbed wire fence and fled, Herrell sending after him a shower of bullets.

Death of Diego de Castro.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Advices from Chile have brought news of the death in Santiago after a brief illness of Diego de Castro, who for twenty years was a commission merchant in New York. Mr. de Castro was born in Santa Marta, republic of Colombia, in 1838. In 1878 he married Miss Teresa Ortuzar Montt of the family of ex-President Montt of Chile. His wife and ten children survive him.

Boston May Have a Holiday.

BOSTON, June 24.—It was announced that the Boston clearing house would be closed on Thursday in observance of the dedication of the monument to General Joseph Hooker in this city. A petition is being circulated among the banks to suspend on Thursday in accordance with the request made by Governor Bates that the day be observed as a general holiday.

Pardoned For Good Service.

TRENTON, N. J., June 24.—The court of pardons in special session pardoned Charles Statts, colored, who was serving a one year sentence in the Hudson county penitentiary. Statts was pardoned in recognition of his services in saving the life of one of the keepers of the institution who was being attacked by another prisoner in an effort to escape.

Injunction Against Strikers.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 24.—Judge Lochran of the United States circuit court has issued a temporary injunction restraining the longshoremen's union of Duluth from threatening or in any way interfering with nonunion men in loading and unloading freight at the Northern Pacific docks.

Plainfield, N. J., June 24, 1903.

The local street railway management, who have been running open cars during the cold and wet of the past two weeks, probably have a considerable crop of colds to answer for.

It is said that Boston is slowly sinking into the sea, at the rate of a trifle more than a foot in each one hundred years. And probably some people in the Hub are beginning to worry already about getting their feet wet.

The crowds that gather in groups on Park avenue and Front street on a Saturday night doubtless help along the good cause socially but they certainly interfere to some extent with free passage along the sidewalks. "Move on, please."

"A boy armed with a pistol is a dangerous nuisance, and he should be suppressed. Every boy caught firing a pistol should be arrested and fined as heavily as the law will permit. In most instances the boy is not the guilty one, and a good round fine will reach the man who supplied the pistol. A wound made by a "didn't think" or a "didn't know" should be treated just as a wound made with malice aforethought is treated. The wound hurts just as much and is just as dangerous as if the bullet had been fired on purpose to kill."—Jersey City Journal.

Correct. A recent case in point is that of the James boy in North Plainfield.

Ladies and Children Invited.

All ladies and children who cannot stand the shocking strain of laxative syrups, cathartics, etc., are invited to try the famous Little Early Risers. They are different from all other pills. They do not purge the system. Even a double dose will not gripe, weaken or sicken; many people call them the Easy Pill. W. H. Howell, Houston, Tex., says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Layayette, Ind., says all others gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work well and easy. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

DRESSY AFTERNOON GOWNS

Hand Painted Muslins—Chine Effects Very Smart.

Hand painted muslins and chiffons are the favorite materials for those who can afford them, but good imitations are to be seen in the printed nets and mulls. Many of the latter introduce chine effects, and these soft materials lend themselves admirably to gaugings and tuckings.

Rough hats of yellow straw are very smart trimmed with black ostrich plumes.

A particularly up to date gown seen recently was of white crepe de chine with a deep flounce of openwork black silk fringe decorated with cream lace motifs and studded with emerald and gold and silver sequins. The top of the skirt was gauged slightly over the hips. With this was worn a wide belt of old rose damask silk with a bolero coat of the same knotted fringe studded with lace and sequins and finished with inner folds of rose chiffon. The hat to be worn with this was a big picture shape in chip trimmed with waving ostrich plumes, the brim being lined with pink roses. Certainly cream or ivory white is one of the best foundations for a smart gown.

The dainty costume shown is of gray veiling trimmed with fringe and bands of old rose embroidery.

PETTICOAT STYLES.

Handsome Models In Brocades and Useful Ones In Gingham.

Silks, satins and brocades predominate in fashionable underskirts, though there is something dainty about a white cambric lace befrilled petticoat on a hot day. China silk, too, is used for underskirts as well as colored satins and mervellieux of different shades, often stitched by hand in a contrasting color. Nothing is daintier than an inexpensive white silk petticoat edged with black chantilly and further decorated with black motifs and insertions.

Pretty petticoats for useful wear are made of colored gingham trimmed with ecru lace.

Pongee and mohair petticoats are prettily finished with a flounce of buttonhole embroidery.

White cambric petticoats are made with wide flounces headed by a beading, through which is run a colored ribbon. These flounces are inserted with open lace either in straight or bias lines.

Black taffeta petticoats are always smart trimmed with chantilly lace.

The three-quarter coat in the cut is of black peau de soie trimmed with silk braid and lined with white silk.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

That night the sentries had just called off half past one when there was some commotion at the guard-house. A courier had ridden in post haste from the outlying station of Fort Beecher, far up under the lee of the Big Horn range. The corporal of the guard took charge of his reeking horse, while the sergeant led the messenger to the commander's quarters. The major awas already awake and half dressed. "Call the adjutant," was all he said, on reading the dispatch, and the sergeant sped away. In less than five minutes he was back.

FROM THE REAR GALLERY OF HIS QUARTERS, MAJOR WEBB WATCHED THE PAIR.

"I could get no answer to my knock or ring, sir, so I searched the house. The adjutant isn't there!"

For a moment the major stood in silence; then, briefly saying, "Call Capt. Ray," turned again to the dimly-lighted hallway of his commodious quarters, (the women thought it such a shame there should be no "lady of the house" for the largest and finest of the long line known as "Officers' Row,") while the sergeant of the guard scurried away to the soldier home of the senior cavalry captain on duty at the post. When the major again came forth his field glasses were in his hand and he hurried down the steps and out into the broad sheen of the moonlight when he caught sight of the courier seated on the horseblock at the gate, wearily leaning his head upon his gauntleted hand. Webb stopped short:

"Come right in here, my lad," he cried, "I want to speak with you," and followed slowly by the soldier, he entered his parlor, and whirled an easy chair in front of the open fireplace. "Sit right down there now, and I'll be with you in a minute," he added; bustled into the rear room and presently reappeared with a decanter and glass; poured out a stiff dot of Monongahela; "A little water?" he asked, as the trooper's eye brightened gratefully. A little water was added and off came the right hand gauntlet. "I drink the major's health and long life to him," said the soldier, gulping down the fluid without so much as a wink. Then, true to his training, set down the glass and stood strictly at attention.

"You've had nothing to eat since yesterday morning, I'll be bound," said Webb. "Now, I've got to see some of my officers at once. You make yourself at home here. You'll find cold beef, bread, cheese, pickles, milk, if you care for it, and pie right there in the pantry. Take the lamp in with you and help yourself. If you want another nip, there's the decanter. You've made splendid time. Did you meet no Indians?"

"Not one, sir, but I saw smokes at sunset out toward Eagle Butte."

"Your name—I see you belong to Capt. Truscott's troop."

"Kennedy, sir; and I thank the major."

"Then I will leave you in charge until you've had your fill," said the commander. "Then go over to 'F' Troop's quarters and get a bed. Tell anybody who comes I've gone to the flag staff." With that the major stalked from the room, followed by the Irishman's adoring eyes. A moment later he stood by the tall white staff at the edge of the northward bluff, at whose feet the river swept by in musical murmurings. There he quickly focussed his glass, and gazed away westward up the Platte to where but the evening before a score of Indian lodges dotted the other bank, perhaps two miles away. The September moon was at its full and, in that rare, cloudless atmosphere, flooding the valley with its soft, silvery light so that close at hand, within the limits of the garrison, every object could be almost as distinctly seen as in broad daylight, but, farther away, over the lowlands and the river bottom and the rolling prairie stretching to the northern horizon, the cottonwoods along the stream or in the distant swales made only black blotches against the vague, colorless surface, and the bold bluffs beyond the reservation limits south of the flashing waters, the sharp, sawlike edge of the distant mountain range that barred the way to the west, even the cleanest outlines of Eagle Butte, the landmark of the northward prairie, visible for 50 miles by day, were now all veiled in some intangible filament that screened them from the soldier's searching gaze. Later in the season, on such a night, their crests would gleam with radiance almost intolerable, the glistening sheen of their spotless crown of snow. All over this broad expanse of upland prairie and wooded river bed and boldly undulating bluff line not so much as a spark of fire peeped through the wing of night to tell the presence of human wayfarer, white, halfbreed or Indian, even where the Sioux had swarmed, perhaps 200 strong, at sunset of the day gone by.

It was to Ray he promptly opened his heart, as that veteran of a dozen Indian campaigns, then drawing his fourth "fogy," came hastening out to join the commander.

"Here's confirmation of the telegram. Read that, Ray," said Webb, handing him the dispatch from Fort Beecher. "Then come with me to Field's. He's—missing."

"Missing!" cried Ray, in consternation, as he hurriedly opened the page. "In God's name what do you mean?"

"I mean he isn't in quarters and hasn't been in bed to-night. Now I need him—and it's two o'clock."

"Lame Wolf out? That's bad in itself! He's old Red Cloud's nephew and a brute at best. Stabber's people there yet?" he suddenly asked, whirling on his heel and gazing westward.

"Can't make it out even with my glasses. All dark as pitch among the cottonwoods, but Kennedy, who made the ride, says he saw smokes back of Eagle Butte just before sunset."

"Then you can bet they won't be there at dawn—the warriors at least. Of course the women, the kids and old men will stay if only for a blind. He had 40 fighting men, and Wolf's got at least 200. What started the row?"

"The arrest of those two young bucks on charge of Killing Finn, the sheep herder, on the Piney last week. I don't believe the Sioux began it. There's a bad lot among those damned rustlers," said Webb, snapping the glass into its well-worn case. "But no matter who starts, we have to finish it. Old Plodder is worried and wants help. Reckon I'll have to send you, Ray."

"Ready whenever you say, sir," was the prompt and soldierly reply. Even marriage had not taken the edge from Ray's keen zest for campaigning. "Shall I have out my sergeant and cooks at once? We'll need to take rations."

"Yes, but wait with me till I wire the chief at Laramie. Come to the office." So saying the post commander turned and strode away. The captain glanced at the upper window where the light now dimly burned, but blind and window were open, and a woman's form appeared.

"It's all right, Maidie," called the captain, softly. "May have to start out on scout at daybreak. That's all. Home soon," and with a reassuring wave of the hand, turned again to his stanch friend and commander.

"I hate to send you—again," said Webb. "You were out in June, and the others have had only short scouts since—"

"Don't bother. What's a cavalryman for? Shall we? —I—can't believe it—some how," and Ray stopped, glanced inquiringly at the major, and then nodded toward the doorway of the third house on the row. The ground floor was occupied by Field as his quarters, the up-stair rooms by Putney and Ross.

RELIANCE AND SHAMROCK III.

First Meeting of Cup Yachts In Erie Basin.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The new cup defender Reliance and the new cup challenger Shamrock III. were matched together side by side when Reliance slid into the big Boston dock in the Erie basin, from which Shamrocks II. and III had just been taken.

The difference between the two boats was marked, and the yachting sharps who saw them were more positive than ever that the blue ribbon of the seas would stay on this side of the pond.

The two Shamrocks, spick and span in their new painted top sides, with brightly burnished hulls, were floated out of the dock without incident at an early hour.

They were taken over to the dock near by, and the work of fixing them for racing began at once despite the rain.

The Reliance went into dock to be cleaned and polished and to receive a general overhauling for the ocean trial races off Newport beginning the end of this month.

Carrying out the careful regard for all superstitions which has marked the care of the new challenger, neither Shamrock III. nor Shamrock I. will be taken down into the horseshoe until after Sir Thomas' arrival on the Oceanic today.

Every cup challenger heretofore has met her owner while she was swinging at anchor near the Hook, and every one of them has been beaten. It is to be hoped by keeping the challenger in the basin until after her owner reaches here to break this succession of defeats.

Races at Washington Park.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Advantage, a two-year-old filly owned by T. C. McDowell, won the Lakeside stakes on a heavy track at Washington park. She went to the front at flag fall and set the pace all the way. Near the end of the five furlongs she tired and was put to a stiff drive to beat Glisten a neck. Ten fillies started in the race, which had a gross value of $3,260. The value to the winner was $2,960. Gregor K., the most popular horse in the west, ran an impressive race in the mile handicap, beating a strong field, Gregor K. gave weight to every other horse in the race. He led all the way and won handily by a length.

World's Hand Ball Championship.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The first half of the international hand ball match for the championship of the world between Michael Egan of Jersey City, the present champion, and Timothy Twohill of Kanturk, Ireland, the Irish champion, was played at Egan's court in Jersey City. Seven games were played, and Egan won all of them, the best showing made by the visitor being six aces in the third game. While the Irish champion is a clever two handed player, he was no match for Egan, whose wonderful strength and activity enabled him to play all around Twohill at every stage of the match.

River Pirate Breaks Record.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Perry Belmont's River Pirate, with Hicks up, won the Swift stakes at Sheepshead Bay. He also broke the track record, covering the full Futurity course (seven furlongs) in 1:25, which is one second faster than the best previous time, made by Irish Lad. River Pirate had everything in his favor, as he is a noted mud runner, and the track suited him.

To Welcome Lipton.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Major General Corbin and several other officials have left here for New York to take part in the welcome to be extended to Sir Thomas Lipton, challenger for the America's cup, who is expected to arrive today on the Oceanic. The president has requested General Corbin to invite Sir Thomas to take luncheon with him at the White House. The steam yacht Erin went down the bay to await the arrival of the Oceanic with Sir Thomas Lipton. The Shamrocks will hardly leave the Erie basin for their temporary anchorage off Tompkinsville before Thursday.

SPORTING NEWS.

STRUCK OUT.

The Westfield team will play the Brooklyn Field Club at Westfield, Saturday afternoon.

Five games have been scheduled to take place between Hope and St. Marys. The dates are July 25, Aug. 15 and 29, Sept. 12 and 26.

The Park A. C. will play the Westfield Grammar School team on the Myrtle avenue grounds, today. Friday morning the Parks will play the Underwood team on the same grounds.

There is some talk of a game of baseball between St. Mary's team and Alis Club. As the former team has been strengthened considerably no doubt an interesting game would result.

"Warry" MacLaughlin, who was released by the Newark Eastern League Club, last week, will probably remain in Plainfield for a couple of weeks. He has received several offers from minor league clubs, but has made no decision as yet.

Manager Johnston, of the Scotch Plains team, promises to bring his strongest team to Plainfield, Saturday, to meet the Alis Club. The 'Plains manager recently secured McManus, formerly of the Westfield team, to cover left field.

The game on Saturday between Alis and Scotch Plains should be one of the best of the season as the teams are evenly matched. Westfield defeated Alis 5 to 3 and the 'Plains teams 4 to 0. It now remains to be seen whether Alis is stronger than its neighboring team.

Some surprises of an agreeable sort are promised by Manager MacLaughlin, of the Alis Club, for next Saturday. He expects to have a new crack shortstop and a surprise may be seen in the pitcher's box. Page will catch and Barnes will play second base, his old position. Last Sunday Page made a record of thirteen put outs and one assist playing for Ridgewood against Brooklyn Field Club.

Westfield will play the Brooklyn Field Club, Saturday. Manager DeVoe, of this team, was one of the organizers of the first "Cuban Giant" team eighteen years ago, and in the Field Club for the past twelve years has brought out as many players of prominence as any other manager hereabouts. A double interest is centered in Saturday's game by reason of the Field Club's having defeated both the Alis Club and Aeolians this season.

Nine fat men and nine thin men employed at the Hall Signal Company's plant congregated for a game of baseball Saturday on the Spruce street grounds. They worried through fourteen innings, the fat men leaving at the end in a fainting condition. They won the game however, 1 to 0. Their pitcher, Pace, he of the suggestive name, struck out twenty-one lean enthusiasts. The line-up was thusly: Fat Men—Voorhees, 1b; Hoofman, cf; Ludlow, rf; Springer, c; R. Kelley, capt., 2b; Pace, p; Coombs, lf; Wedekind, ss; Oelman, 3b. Thin Men—Hill, p; Yorke, cf; Tremly, rf; Lindbloom, c; B Kelly, 2b; L. Nicholas, 1; Vanderbilt, lf; Darling, ss; C. Nicholas, 3b; umpire, Mr. Shadder.

GOLF.

"Although defeated by his colleague, L. H. Conklin, in the Morris County invitation tourney, Frank Reinhart's competitive efforts during the past week have not been entirely for naught. Just prior to leaving for Morris County on Wednesday Reinhart competed in the annual championship tournament of the Baltusrol Golf Club. Conditions called for thirty-six holes of medal play and the Plainfield boy led the field with a score of 166. Reinhart, who is a Plainfield man, made a 70 in the morning and followed this with an 87.

"Another event decided at Baltusrol recently was the play-off of the tie in the eighteen-hole medal play handicap, originally held on the last day of the State championship. The three golfers that had to play off were E. N. Todd, N. Stout and N. P. Rogers, Jr., the latter of this city. It resulted in Todd winning, his card reading 91-16-75. Stout's card read 95-18-77, while Rogers had 89-8-81. J. W. Baker, of Princeton, also of Plainfield, maintained his reputation for being one of the nerviest match players in college, by his remarkable exhibition against Conklin in the semi-final round of the invitation tournament at Morris County yesterday afternoon. Conklin started off in whirl-wind fashion, winning the first four holes right off the reel in 4, 3, 3, 5, which gave him what appeared to be the safest kind of a lead.

"From the fifth hole Baker's play was the kind that wins in any company, his card for the last thirteen holes only showing 3 over an average of 4's. He came home in 39 and had the match all square on the seventeenth green. Conklin played the extra hole beautifully after they had halved the eighteenth in 4. Baker's drive from the nineteenth tee was good for 200 yards, but it was just enough off the line to run to an almost unplayable lie close to the fence. Their cards were as follows:

Conklin:
Out	4	3	3	5	6	4	5	5	3	—35
In	4	5	4	5	5	7	4	4	4	—42— 80
Baker:
Out	5	4	4	6	6	4	4	4	4	—41
In	3	5	4	4	6	6	4	3	4	—39— 80

Valuable Guide.

On June 1 the passenger department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company published the 1903 edition of the Summer Excursion Route Book. This work is designed to provide the public with descriptive notes of the principal summer resorts of Eastern America, with the best routes for reaching them, and the rates of fare. It contains all the principal seashore and mountain resorts of the East, and over seventeen hundred different routes or combinations of routes. The book has been complied with the greatest care, and altogether is the most complete and comprehensive handbook of summer travel ever offered to the public. The cover is handsome and striking, printed in colors, and the book contains several maps, presenting the exact routes over which tickets are sold. The book is profusely illustrated with fine half-tone cuts of scenery at the various resorts and along the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad. This very interesting book may be procured at any Pennsylvania Railroad ticket office at the nominal price of ten cents, or, upon application to Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, Pa., by mail for twenty cents.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut, formerly pastor of the First M. E. Church of Plainfield, reports to the Morris County Bible Society that "many homes in Morris County are without Bibles and many persons do not know there is such a book." Such statement seems rough on a county whose churches contribute large sums to both foreign and home missions. The condition is even more deplorable than that of the good old lady in another county who had a Bible but whose husband did not take the newspapers. Seeing a clergyman approaching she caught up the Book and sat with it open on her lap as he entered her home. He complimented her pious occupation and said he hoped she found great consolation in the death of Jesus Christ. "Land sakes!" she exclaimed, "Is Jesus Christ dead?" Well, I always told John he'd never know nothin' if he didn't take the papers." Foreign missions may be all right to a certain extent, but after all and before all it is well to remember that true charity begins at home, where all should have a Bible and take their county newspapers.—Bound Brook State-Centre.

The State encampment ground at Sea Girt has now become a practice ground for the regular army. For some time detachments of regulars have been encamped at Sea Girt for rifle practice. The navy is also to use the ranges for rifle practice. When the new militia law shall be fairly in operation Sea Girt will be the most important military headquarters on the Atlantic seaboard, except Fortress Monroe.

The acquisition of the Sea Girt tract by the State was the best transaction in real estate that the State ever entered into. When the purchase of the tract was proposed during Governor Abbett's administration there was vigorous opposition and principally by the back country members of the Legislature, who had always blindly antagonized the interests of the National Guard. The Legislature failed to make an appropriation, and as there was then danger that the property would go into other hands, several citizens, among them the late George A. Halsey, of Newark, advanced them money for the purchase and trusted to the Legislature to reimburse them.

With the nationalization of the State Guard the expense of maintenance of the encampment ground should be transferred from the State to the Federal government, and doubtless this will have been practically done indirectly by payments by the War Department for the use of the grounds. Thus the State can retain possession of the property and be relieved entirely of the cost of keeping it in order.—Newark Evening News.

ROOSEVELT'S WELCOME.

Children Will Sing New Hymn, "God Save the President."

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 24.—Final arrangements for the reception to President Roosevelt on his homecoming on Saturday have been completed. The most important feature of the welcome will be the unveiling of the civil war trophy gun by the president and the parade of the school children. Each child will be provided with a small American flag, and just before the gun is unveiled they will sing a new national hymn entitled "God Save the President."

A brief address of welcome will be made by E. Morgan Griffen, president of the board of trade, and the president will be escorted to the town clerk's office, in front of which he will unveil the gun.

The head of the line will be given to the children of the Cove school. This is the school which the president's children attend.

Troops to Awe Strikers.

RICHMOND, Va., June 24.—Governor Montague has ordered the Seventieth regiment, the Richmond Blues battalion and the Richmond howitzers, an artillery company, on duty to aid in maintaining order as against the street car strikers and their sympathizers. The Seventieth regiment is to report today. Five of its companies are in Richmond. The other seven will come from Danville, Farmville, Charlottesville, Staunton, Lynchburg, Alexandria and Roanoke. There has been much rioting during the day as a result of the strike, and the situation is ugly. Nobody has been seriously hurt as yet.

A Victory to be Proud Of

is the final and absolute cure of a sore throat, in which the rawness and tenderness have been spreading dangerously near those guardians of life, the lungs. The luxury of a sound throat and robust lungs is most keenly enjoyed by people who, having suffered all the consequences of "a little cold, you know," have been rescued from misery and danger by Allen's Lung Balsam.

DR. RICHARDS HONORED BY HIS ALMA MATER

Yale University Confers Degree of Doctor of Divinity Upon Clergyman.

SCHOLARLY PREACHER

UNITED STATES MINISTER BOWEN MADE A MASTER OF ARTS.

Failed to Receive a Degree As Bachelor of Arts When Graduated — Other Distinguished Men Also Honored.

Rev. William Rogers Richards, an alumnus of the institution was one of two to receive the degree of doctor of divinity at the two hundredth and second commencement of Yale University, at New Haven, Conn., yesterday. Dr. Richards was for nineteen years pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church, where his powers as a preacher and pastor were developed. He is now pastor of the Brick Church, New York. Some years ago the College of the City of New York honored him in a similar way. Rev. Lyman Abbott, pastor of the Plymouth Church, New York, was the other clergyman to receive the degree.

Herbert Wolcott Bowen, United States Minister to Venezuela, a brother of H. E. Bowen, of this city, was restored as a member of the Class of '78. Mr. Bowen failed to get his bachelor's degree in that year because of a boyish prank. The degree of master of arts was conferred upon him, carrying with it all the privileges of an alumnus. Mr. Bowen has had a distinguished career in diplomatic and consular departments of the Government, having been for many years Consul General of the United States at Barcelona, Spain, before receiving his present appointment.

The degree of doctor of law was conferred upon Wm. Henry Brewer, Norton professor of agriculture in the Sheffield Scientific School, and George Gray, Judge of the United States Circuit Court for the Third district.

The young people were entertained with musical selections and with stereopticon views of the principal cities in the Holy Land. Refreshments were served.

Among the members of Anchor Lodge who witnessed the degree being conferred on their chaplain's son were Past Worshipful Master Peter A. Emmons, Past Worshipful Master S. B. Joseph and Junior Warden Montgomery. Dr. Rodman was also present.

Unique Window Display.

What is probably the most unique window display ever shown in Plainfield may been seen at Woodhull & Martin's new store. A window is most artistically dressed with the July number of the Ladies' Home Journal. Hundreds of copies with bright illuminated red covers are cleverly grouped in pyramids around two newsboys with paper slings over their shoulders. Two immense American flags are grouped in back. To Joe Martin belongs the credit of both design and execution.

Exhibiting Relics.

A curious and interesting pair of relics can be seen in J. Hervey Doane's show window in Park avenue. They are a couple of duelling pistols made by Kentland & Co., of London, during the reign of George the Third. They are of the flint-lock variety with brass barrels. The pistols belong to the Col. Julian Scott collection.

COMMENCEMENT DAY AT SCOTCH PLAINS

Class of 1903 is Graduated From Borough Schools, Exercises in Baptist Church.

E. B. SHALLOW SPEAKS

BROOKLYN SUPERINTENDENT MAKES ADDRESS TO THE CLASS OF FOUR.

Each Graduate Takes Part in Programme—Large Crowd at Commencement—Invocation by Rev. G. M. Shott.

Commencement Day at the Scotch Plains Public School is the one time in the whole year when the residents of the village cast aside all social lines and meet in one assembly. Last night's exercises was no exception to the rule. When Rev. G. M. Shott opened the exerises with an invocation, the large auditorium of the church was nearly filled with the representative residents of both places.

Seated on the platform with the members of the class were Rev. G. M. Shott, Dr. F. W. Wetscott, president of the Board of Education; Edw. B. Shallow, superintendent of Brooklyn Schools and Professor Howard D. White.

All members of the class participated in the programme. "Famous Homes of Art" was an interesting essay read by Miss Cora Miller. "The Bard of Scotland," by Herbert M. Douglass, was an oration, upon the life, habits and poems of Robert Burns. "Some American Beauties," by Miss Elsie Shott, proved to be a well-written essay. Professor White introduced the speaker of the evening, Edward Shallow. He dwelt upon "Civilization in the Light of Education," contrasting the American school with those of foreign countries. The educational system of the country which compels children to go to school, to prepare themselves for the battle with the world, he declared to be greatest in the world. Harold Todd, valedictorian of the class, chose as his subject, "Foresty." Dr. Westcott, the president of the Board presented the diplomas and the exercises were brought to a close.

Miss Cora Miller and Harold Todd, two of the graduates, tendered the customary reception to their friends in the assembly room of the school. Conde's orchestra furnished the music for the tripping of the light fantastic until a late hour.

Members of the graduating class are Harold Todd, valedictorian; Miss Cora Miller, Miss Elsie Shott, Herbert Douglass.

ITALIAN BARBER GONE.

Newark Man Establishes Himself in Business Here and Then Disappears.

John Zarra, an Italian barber, who came here from Newark on June 1, and established himself in a shop at 135 North avenue, has disappeared and there leaves behind no trace of his whereabouts. The cause of his sudden disappearance is unknown, an air of mystery surrounding it.

The man rented the store, leased the shop for ten months and paid one month's rent in advance. He moved his shop furniture here and started business. His shop was opened for three days and he began to have a good patronage. On the evening of Wednesday, June 3, Zarra closed his shop and took a train for Newark. That is the last seen of him in this city. Ever since then the shop has been locked and no one has been inside of the premises.

Inquiries among a number of Italians in this city this morning brought the information that the man had had some difficulty with his former partner in Newark and came here to start a business. No one seems to have known him intimately.

Big Realty Purchase.

The Investors' Realty Company closed the title to a large track of about 200 lots, last evening, at the office of Lindabury, Depew & Forbes, Newark. The company will commence work cutting through streets and grading, for the purpose of putting the lots on the market immediately. The land purchased is bounded by Fourth street, Rushmore and Rock avenues. William Jeffery sold the land for Aaron Keyser, of Salt Lake City, and the estate of Cortright, through Frank M. Bacon to Bolton Hall, who is a son of the late Rev. Dr. John Hall, and a brother of Rev. Thomas C. Hall. Mr. Hall resold the property to the company, and is largely interested in it.

FIFTY HAPPY YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE

Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Duensing Celebrate Half Century of Union.

CAREER OF MINISTER

CLERICAL AND LAY FRIENDS OFFER CONGRATULATIONS.

Affair Arranged by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's German Lutheran Church — Many Tokens of Esteem.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Theodore Duensing, of Liberty street, observed the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, yesterday, and last evening a celebration appropriate to the occasion was enjoyed at the home by the pastor and wife and a large number of friends. Among the ministerial friends present were Rev. Mr. Fisher, of Elizabeth; Rev. Otto Heidenreich, of Rahway, and Rev. Mr. Peterson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran Church. Rev. Mr. Peterson was accompanied by his congregation. There were also guests from Brooklyn, New York, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., including a number of persons who had attended school in New York, where Mr. Duensing was an instructor.

During the evening there were short addresses by the various divines and Mr. Duensing made a happy response to the pleasant words spoken in behalf of himself and his wife. The young people of Mr. Duensing's church, the German Lutheran in Grove street, took part in the festivities by singing. A happy feature of the affair was the presentation to the pastor and his wife of a purse of gold. The presentation was made in behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society and trustees of the German Lutheran Church by George Schmidt, a trustee. Some of the women also made handsome individual presents. Among the gifts were some valuable ones sent from Germany.

It was the Ladies' Aid Society and the trustees that arranged the celebration. Since coming to Plainfield in October, 1901, Pastor Duensing and his wife have endeared themselves to their people and many expressions of kindly thoughts and well-wishes were extended last evening. A bountiful collation was served by the women of the church and it was a late hour when the event terminated.

Rev. and Mrs. Duensing were both born in the Province of Hanover, near Hamburg, Germany. They became acquainted at that place while Mr. Duensing was a tutor in a private family, but it was fifty years ago yesterday that they were married in New York City by Rev. Dr. Stohlmann, at that time pastor of one of the two most prominent Lutheran Churches in New York. Before coming to this country, Mr. Duensing graduated from a seminary in Germany and he then continued to teach both in St. Mark's and St. Matthew's Academies in New York. Between the years of 1863 and 1868 he taught languages and mathematic in New York, Brooklyn and Williamsport. He was at one time principal of the German-American School, New York. He was principal of the public schools at Mt. Vernon for two terms.

In 1875 Mr. Duensing was ordained a minister in the Lutheran Church, at Philadelphia, and he afterward held two charges in that city. He then went to Tamaqua, Pa., where he remained for five years doing mission work in the coal regions. From there he went to a place called Potter, N. Y., where he continued his mission work for five years. For ten years he lived in retirement in Brooklyn, occasionally doing mission work. During his very active career, Mr. and Mrs. Duensing has found time to cross the Atlantic three times, visiting the land of his birth. Mr. Duensing's only illness was an attack of the cholera in 1849, during the epidemic in New York.

During his varied and active life, Mr. Duensing has had the support and faithful help of his wife, and now at the completion of their first half century of married life they are hale and hearty and bid fair to live many years.

Mr. Thomas is an extensive traveler, but this is his first visit to Plainfield.

Miss Conway made a charming bride gowned in white silk and carrying bridal roses. The maid-of-honor wore a gown of crepe de chine with a bouquet of white carnations.

A reception at the bride's home, following the ceremony, was attended by about one hundred guests from Englewood, Mattewan and Somerville. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle will take a wedding trip through the Catskills. Mr. Doyle is a successful electrician.

AN ITALIAN LABORER CLAIMS TITLE AND BRIDE

Pedro Anguilio Returns to Sunny Italy, Having Been Forgiven by Angry Parent.

WORKING IN QUARRY

FELLOW COUNTRYMEN AT WILSON'S CRUSHER SURPRISED.

Story Reads Like Fiction—To Escape Parent's Wrath Son Flees to This Country, Leaving the Girl of His Choice in Italy.

For three months the Italian laborers at Wilson's quarry in North Plainfield have been working side by side, cracking stone with a fellow countryman who now claims to be a count. No one knew it until a letter arrived from Italy Saturday addressed to Pedro Anguilio, the quiet Italian. As soon as the man received the news he drew his wages and quietly left the place. Before going away he told William Schorb, the engineer at the crusher, that he was going back to Italy to claim his title and a bride.

He said that a year ago his father, who is said to be wealthy, objected to the attentions he was paying a handsome daugher of sunny Italy. The girl was alleged to be beneath his station in life but he loves her fondly. Pedro's father threatened to disinherit him if he did not respect his wishes in the matter. A quarrel between father and son resulted in the latter leaving his native shores.

Landing in New York Pedro secured work on the subway, but the task there was too hard and he came here four weeks ago. He secured work at the stone crusher. The men employed in the diggings, it is said, did not like him. It was whispered that the newcomer was a spy and he was shunned by many. He held aloof from his fellow laborers and lived in a respectable boarding house on West Second street. Pedro is a musician and, it is reported, showed evidence of refinement uncommon in men of his apparent station. Over $16,000 was sent him from Italy and he prepared to return home. The elder Anguilio had forgiven the love-sick son. He told him in the letter that his fiancee was waiting for him and Pedro sailing, in first class passage, on Monday.

THE EXAMINATION.

State Board of Medical Examiners Against Leniency to Those Wishing to Study Medicine.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 25—The State Board of Medical Examiners has held a conference with State Superintendent Baxter, the object of which was to ascertain if there is any way to modify the provision of the law passed by the Legislature last winter requiring each applicant for a license in this State to produce a certificate showing that he has taken a four years' high school course.

Superintendent Baxter states that the enforcing of this Act at this time would be a great hardship to applicants for licenses. He asked the Board if it were not possible to bring about the change gradually in order that it might not come so hard upon those who had prepared to apply before the law was passed.

The members of the Board have told Superintendent Baxter that they see no way of modifying the law, which is explicit in its provisions in this regard.

ROOSEVELT'S LETTER.

Post Office Scandals Must Be Probed and the Guilty Punished.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The president has sent the following letter to the attorney general:

"As you know, the charges in connection with the post office department are now being investigated by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who has had placed at his disposal by the postmaster general every resource of the department, including the services of Mr. Robb, whom you detailed from the department of justice to the post office department immediately after the removal of Mr. Tyner. As a result of this investigation a number of indictments have already been had, and it is probable that other indictments will hereafter be asked for.

"There can be no greater offense against the government than a breach of trust on the part of a public official or the dishonest management of his office, and of course every effort must be exerted to bring such offenders to punishment by the utmost rigor of the law. The district attorney's office of the District of Columbia has faithfully and zealously seconded the efforts of the post office department in this matter, but the amount of work in the office is such as to make it difficult, without neglecting other important duties, to devote all the time necessary to the prosecution of these cases.

"I suggest, therefore, that if you cannot detail some of your present staff you appoint special assistants in these post office cases not only to take up the cases in which indictments have been found or hereafter may be found, but to examine into all charges that have been made against officials in the postal service, with a view to the removal and prosecution of all guilty men in the service and the prosecution of guilty men, whether in the service or not, where the cases are not barred by the statute of limitations."

Attorney General Knox has in accordance with the president's suggestion appointed Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore as special attorney to assist in the prosecutions.

GERMAN EMPEROR AT KIEL.

Many Honors are Shown Admiral Cotton and the Fleet.

KIEL, Prussia, June 25.—Emperor William arrived here at 6 o'clock last night on board the Hohenzollern. When the imperial yacht was sighted steaming into Kiel harbor she had the stars and stripes flying from the after mast, and as she sailed by Rear Admiral Cotton's flagship, the Kearsarge, the imperial colors floating at the stern were dipped three times. This courtesy, being without precedent in the German navy, caused Rear Admiral Cotton at an audience he had later with the emperor to thank his majesty in the name of the president of the United States for the honor shown to the American navy.

The emperor's entrance into the harbor was the occasion for a tremendous cannonade, each of the thirty-two war ships firing thirty-three guns, the Americans observing the German regulation for honoring the sovereign. As the smoke from the thousand guns blew aside the Hohenzollern entered the lane of warships, at the upper end of which were the American vessels. The emperor stood alone on the upper bridge.

The crews manning the crosstrees, turrets and sides of each of the American ships gave his majesty three cheers as the yacht passed, which he acknowledged by saluting continuously. The imperial colors were flown from the after mast of each American war ship. Aboard the Kearsarge was a party of Americans, including Ambassador Tower, R. R. Hitt, secretary of the Berlin embassy; Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mrs. Potts, wife of the United States naval attache.

Earlier in the day Rear Admiral Cotton had received a telegram from the emperor saying his majesty would be pleased to receive him and the other American commanders as soon as possible after his arrival. Consequently the rear admiral assembled the captains on his flagship, and just as the Hohenzollern was attached to her mooring buoy Rear Admiral Cotton's barge reached the yacht's gangway.

Captain Usedom met Rear Admiral Cotton, Captains Walker, Hemphill, Cornwell and McCrea, Lieutenant Hussey of the admiral's staff and Naval Attache Potts at the head of the gangway and presented them to Emperor William, who was standing two or three steps away with his suit grouped behind him. His majesty shook hands and conversed for a minute with each of the American officers, saying how glad he was to see them in German waters. Turning to Rear Admiral Cotton, the emperor said:

"You were in the Monitor at Hampton Roads, were you not?"

"Not in the Monitor, sir," replied the admiral, "but in another ship which stuck in a sand bank."

His majesty alluded to other incidents in Admiral Cotton's career and said he wished to visit the Kearsarge and would be pleased to take lunch aboard her. Rear Admiral Cotton and his captains then retired.

BURNING OF WHITE.

Must Be Investigated and Lynchers Punished.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 25.—It is reported that a number of requests have come to Attorney General Ward to investigate thoroughly the lynching of the negro George White and fix the responsibility for allowing the mob to break into the workhouse where White was confined. The attention of the attorney general has been called to the fact that no attempt was made to arrest the leaders of the mob while they were attacking the public institution and no display of force was made to keep them out save the locking of the iron doors which the mob forced.

Attorney General Ward said that rigid investigation would be made in the matter and that the officers accountable, whether they were city or county officers, would be held strictly to their responsibilities.

Justice Hollis said: "Some one was derelict in duty, and some one must be held responsible for that outrageous affair. No matter who was in that mob, no matter what respectable positions they hold in the community, they were transgressors when they attacked that public institution. The officers in charge should have shot and shot to kill. A dozen determined men, armed and ready to shoot, could have held the corridor against a thousand. This affair will be a lasting disgrace upon the community."

King of Roumania Insulted.

VIENNA, June 25.—Advices from Bucharest say the king of Roumania has received an insolent telegram signed by several officers of the Sixth Servian infantry, of which regiment he recently resigned the honorary colonelcy. The officers declare in offensive language that King Charles is not competent to judge their actions, say that he himself ascended the throne of Roumania after a military breach of faith and add that the officers forego with pleasure the distinction of their regiment bearing the Roumanian king's name.

Professor Breckenridge Dead.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., June 25.—Professor William L. Breckenridge, a graduate of Princeton and well known in educational circles, is dead of tuberculosis at the age of thirty. He had been connected with a southern university for the last two years, but failing health forced him to resign. He was en route to the Adirondacks at the time of his death.

SIR THOMAS ARRIVES

Was Delighted With Good Feeling Shown Him.

HAPPY TO BE ROOSEVELT'S GUEST.

General Chaffee Proposed a Toast to Shamrock III. and Said If the Cup Must Go the American People Would Prefer Lipton to Win.

NEW YORK, June 25.—That the affection of New York for Sir Thomas Lipton has not diminished was shown when he arrived by the White Star liner Oceanic. All the way from the Narrows to the pier the big ship moved to the music of tooting whistles and hearty cheers.

Sir Thomas was delighted as a boy at the evidences of good feeling and announced that if he does not succeed in lifting the cup in August he considers it his duty to make another attempt.

The foggy weather outside retarded the progress of the Oceanic, and it was past noon when the familiar scenes inside the Horseshoe greeted the eye of Sir Thomas Lipton.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

His steam yacht, the Erin, fully dressed with flags, was awaiting the Oceanic in the lower bay and escorted the big ship to quarantine.

As soon as the ocean vessel stopped at quarantine to let the health and customs officers aboard the Privateer, with the reception committee aboard, went alongside. A ladder was lowered from a companionway, and General Corbin scrambled up to the deck of the Oceanic, closely followed by John D. Crimmins and the other members of the committee.

Sir Thomas greeted each of them by name—in fact, he greeted all those who came aboard by name, and he had not seen some of them in five years. Reporters who had met him on his previous trips to New York were accosted by name, and incidents were recalled by Sir Thomas that had entirely escaped their recollection.

The Irish sportsman wore his familiar suit of blue serge, with a yachting cap, a blue necktie and tan shoes. Beside him as he greeted the American committee were William Fife, Jr., designer of the three Shamrocks, and his three secretaries—West, Wood and Duncan.

General Corbin's first duty was to extend to Sir Thomas the invitation to take luncheon at the White House tomorrow.

Sir Thomas said that it had been his intention to go aboard the Erin today and there remain until after the races, but he could not refuse the invitation. He said it would give him pleasure to go to Washington as the guest of the president.

Then he posed for the photographers with unfailing good nature. He posed with his cap on and with his cap off, facing the cameras and standing sideways, leaning against the side of the cabin or braced with his arms folded.

At the invitation of Sir Thomas all hands adjourned to the smoking room. When the glasses had been filled General Chaffee proposed a toast to the Shamrock III. General Chaffee said that if the cup must be lost the American people would rather see Sir Thomas win it than anybody else.

Alleged Jewel Stealers Caught.

CHICAGO, June 25.—The police have arrested Charles Reinlein and John Ergvahl, who are charged with the theft of jewels valued at $15,000 from the safe of the Hotel Melrose in Los Angeles, Cal. The robbery occurred Oct. 28, 1902, and from that time until last night nothing had been heard of the two men. At the time of the theft Reinlein was employed as clerk of the hotel and Ergvahl was a bell boy. The jewels had been placed in the safe by Mrs. J. J. Webster of Brooklyn.

RICHMOND'S STRIKE.

Militiamen With Fixed Bayonets Guard All Trolleys.

SENTINELS AT ALL IMPORTANT POINTS

The Street Car Company Proposes to Run Cars Each Day, and There Is Much Fear of Possible Bloodshed Occuring.

RICHMOND, Va., June 25.—Street cars have been run on all the lines under military protection. The cars have been manned by strike breakers, and on the front platform of each car have been two militiamen with bayonets fixed and on the rear platform two militiamen similarly prepared for action.

The power houses and supply depots within the city also have been guarded by militia, and a military guard has been on duty at the state arsenal, while sentinels have been posted at car line crossings. Notwithstanding these precautions the first car of the Clay street line to leave the east end barn was attacked and obstructed by a mob, and Captain Skipwith, an officer in one of the Richmond companies, was wounded in the leg by a fragment of bomb exploded on the track. The car finally made its way into the more central part of the city without further casualty, but the disorder for awhile threatened much more serious bloodshed than actually occurred.

The west end car barns are in Henrico county, outside the city limits, and the sheriff of the county refuses to ask for troops. The barns are guarded by armed men in the employ of the company, and details from the company's guards protect the cars between the barns and the city line. There is much strike sympathy in both the east and west ends, and the greatest danger points in the present difficulty are there, the barns being centers around which disturbers gather. Prominent in the crowds that hoot and jeer the strike breakers and the militiamen are women, supposedly the wives and daughters of strikers and strike sympathizers.

The company proposes to run cars each day, and it is very much feared there will be serious bloodshed as the spirit of disorder is still rampant.

Hitherto the cars have been withdrawn from the streets at nightfall. The military force now in the city numbers about 800 men, and more are coming from Norfolk.

Americans at Edward's Court.

LONDON, June 25.—The fifth, last and largest court of the season was held by their majesties at Buckingham palace, when fine weather permitted a large gathering of spectators outside the palace, and the arrival of notable persons, many in open carriages, was greeted with cheers. The decorations within the palace were even more than usually effective. Among the Americans presented in the diplomatic circle were Mr. and Mrs. J. Choate, Jr.; Mrs. Stockton, wife of the United States naval attache; Miss Florence Hayward and Miss Alice Stickney of the St. Louis fair commission. In the general circle the following Americans were presented: Lady Yarmouth, Mrs. L. K. Wilmerding and Miss Wilmerding of New York, Mrs. W. J. and Miss Pearl White of Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Robert Chapin of New York and C. F. McKim, the New York architect.

Strike Shuts Down Paper Mills.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., June 25.—The firemen employed at the International Paper company's mills at Fort Edward have quit work. This, in addition to the strike of unskilled laborers, compelled the closing down of the entire plant. The firemen's grievance is that they could not do all the work required of them, as several had been laid off. The unskilled laborers say they will not go back unless they receive 20 cents an hour. The continuance of the shut down now seems to rest on the support given the strikers by the skilled men. These have it in their power to break the strike should they consent to work with other than union laborers.

Captain Whelan's Body Found.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—The body of Captain John Whelan of the tug Cheney that was sunk by the steamer Chemung off this port Tuesday morning has been recovered in the river off Fort Erie. The body had a marked bruise on the temple, and that, with the fact that the body was floating so soon, shows that the captain was killed in the collision. The bodies of the other two lost have not been found.

Aid For Kansas City From Boston.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 25.—Charles Francis Adams of Boston has sent $500 to the Kansas City (Kan.) relief committee. This committee, which has been obliged to care for 20,000 homeless people for three weeks, has only $30,000 remaining of the $70,000 received. This balance will be expended in the purchase of household goods. The Belt Line railroad bridge across the Kansas river will be completed today.

First Cable From Midway Isles.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Secretary Moody received his first cable message from the Midway islands, in the Pacific. It simply announced that the naval tug Iroquois had left that place for Honolulu, which is her regular station.

KING AT BELGRADE.

Servia's New Ruler Received With Enthusiasm.

FIRST ACT WAS TO CELEBRATE MASS

American Minister Has Left Belgrade—He Will Be Guided In His Course by Action of Representatives of the Powers.

BELGRADE, June 25.—King Peter has arrived at his capital. He was received with great enthusiasm. The ministers, government officials, judges, municipal and military authorities and leading citizens were assembled on the platform of the railroad station, which was profusely decorated. The only foreign representatives who participated in the reception of the king were the Russian minister, M. Tcharykoff, and the Austrian minister, Herr Dumba, with the members of their respective legations.

In a procession to the cathedral the king occupied a state coach. He was accompanied by Premier Avakumovics. Along the entire route were deputations from various Servian towns and bodies of students. The occupants of the windows and balconies threw bouquets at the king's carriage. The number of peasants in the streets was remarkable. Many of them came from far distant provinces to attend the festivities and enjoy the free entertainments provided by the government.

After the celebration of a mass, which was attended with all the splendor of the eastern church, King Peter drove in state to the new palace.

King Peter was welcomed with many shouts of "Long live the king!"

After his arrival at the new palace the king received an address of welcome from the skupshtina.

On reaching the konak the king made his appearance on the balcony, surrounded by his ministers, and was greeted with a tremendous outburst of cheering from a dense mass of people gathered in front of the palace. His majesty said that, in accordance with the traditions of the Karageorgevitchs and helped by the experience he had gathered during the forty-five years he had spent abroad, he would try to give the people the government they required.

After patriotic songs had been rendered by choral societies the king retired and the crowd dispersed.

United States Minister Jackson has left Belgrade on his return to Athens, to which capital he is also accredited. He has not presented his credentials to King Peter, and his course will be in line with that adopted by the diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, Germany, France and the other countries which have up to date refused to recognize the new Servian government.

American Rule In Philippines.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Judge F. Finley Smith, justice of the supreme court of the Philippine Islands, discussed with the president the situation in the islands. Judge Smith recently was elevated to the supreme court. "During the two years I was on the circuit bench," said he, "I tried 1,500 cases. The Philippine people, despite occasional outbreaks, are taking kindly to American methods and to American government. I think it is a safe assertion that three-fourths of the people would not accept any other form of government even if they had the chance. The greatest monument to American government in the Philippines is the public school system. When the United States took possession of Philippine affairs in 1898 there was not a single common school in the islands outside of Manila. Today there is not a city or town of any size in the islands without its common school and many pupils. The beneficent results of this system can be appreciated very readily."

Marshall P. Wilder Marries.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Marshall P. Wilder, the "prince of entertainers and entertainer of princes," has married Miss Sophie Cornell Hanks, daughter of Dr. E. F. Hanks of Brooklyn. The ceremony was performed in the studio of Theodore C. Marceau, Rev. Dr. Houghton of the Little Church Around the Corner officiating. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. Wilder and his bride started for Boston on their honeymoon. Marshall P. Wilder is probably the most widely known professional entertainer in the country, and he has many friends abroad, among them the king of England. He was born in Geneva, N. Y., in 1859. Nature was unkind to him when presenting him with a physique, but she was lavish in her gifts of brain and sunny temperament.

Leo's Health Is Improving.

ROME, June 25.—In the throne room at the Vatican, surrounded by his whole court, Pope Leo, who looked much better than at Monday's consistory, imposed with great ceremony the red birettas on the new cardinals, Mgrs. Nocella, Cavicchioni and Fischer, and congratulated them on the high honor they had attained. Cardinal Nocella in the name of his colleagues thanked the pontiff in a brief speech and then made a move to retire, but his holiness detained the new cardinals and insisted on having them in his private study, where he kept them in conversation for some time.

Heard of Pond's Death and Died.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 25.—Alfred R. Johnson, formerly of Akron, O., and Janesville, Wis., died a few hours after being told of the death of his brother-in-law, Major James B. Pond of New York. The men had been lifelong friends. Mr. Johnson was the organizer of Kansas City Typographical union and was prominent in labor union work.

Weather indications until further notice: Rain; stationery temperature.

It may be an ill wind, but the cold wave is certainly appreciated by the theatre managers.

It's pretty cold, but notwithstanding his habit of appearing as he does, Cupid manages to keep himself warm. Just notice the number of marriages contained in this issue.

Won't the Asbury Park hotel proprietors give the "icy hand" and "cold shoulder" to the newspaper correspondents who wired the snow story to the New York dailies.

Supreme Court Justice Fort has disallowed a bill for cigars furnished jurymen at the rate of fifteen cents a smoke. If Havana cigars were an incidental of jury service, how easy it would be to fill the panel.

In the famous shipbuilding muddle yesterday, Judge Kirkpatrick said regarding reorganization: "The fellow who may not consent is the one who is asked to give up his bonds and take a nice printed chromo." "Chromo" is good; everything coming from syndicates nowadays is highly colored.

Chief Kiely's crusade against selling firearms to youths in violation of the law is to be commended. Every year, as July 4 approaches, the press is filled with accounts of injuries caused by the reckless handling of weapons. There's only one way to suppress an evil and that is to get at the root of it. Stop the sale and you'll stop the use.

The East Orange Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has done one thing, if nothing more, to win the esteem of a humane public. It has haled a citizen of Livingston, N. J., to the bar of justice, charging him with having docked a horse's tail. Bob-tailed horses may please fashionable society, but can anyone gainsay the fact that the operation is brutal. Life is filled with silly customs, many of which are probably harmless to man or beast, but this one is certainly barbarous.

The foolish practice of many institutions of learning in conferring degrees without any regard to the worth of those receiving the honor has to a great extent cheapened their value. Men who have done nothing to entitle them to such honors flaunt their degrees on every possible occasion and the PH.D., LL.D., M.A., S.T.D. D.D., and D.C.L. are becoming commonplace. Little "one-horse" colleges scattered throughout the country seem to make it a practice to barter the honorary degrees for some financial assistance or special gift.

The big institutions, such as Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Columbia and Cornell, however, furnish a marked exception to this silly practice. The honors they confer upon public men are generally well earned and well deserved. It is for this reason that Plainfielders welcome the announcement that Yale University has attached a D.D. to the name of Rev. William R. Richards, for many years the pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church. Rev. Dr. Richards is recognized as an able preacher whose utterances and writings have won him well merited distinction. He is a leader in his field of work; he is worthy of being called a doctor of divinity.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The work of reconstruction is gradually nearing completion at the Babcock building.

—Edward Mosher, Jr., oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mosher, of Elmwood place, is detained at home with a severe injury to his knee, the result of playing baseball.

—Under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett, Front street west of Central avenue, is being resurfaced with cracked stone. The street has needed the improvement for some time.

—Representatives of the Gamewell Company, of New York, are gradually getting the police patrol system in this city in working order. Much of the trouble attendant upon the first operation of the system has been removed.

—Theodore Glazier, of Netherwood, was thrown from his carriage last evening on Richmond street near the freight depot. The horse took fright at a trolley car and ran away. At the corner of Richmond street and North avenue the carriage collided with a tree and practically demolished the vehicle. The horse was stopped at the corner of East Front and Richmond streets. Glazier was uninjured although considerably shaken up.

Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, June 4, 1903, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all the members present—20.

The minutes of the previous meeting were on motion approved as read.

PETITIONS, COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

Summit Office, June 3, 1903.

Union County Board of Freeholders.

Gentlemen—It is the desire of this company to open a street through the town of Springfield, namely Morris avenue, for the purpose of laying a gas main. This work will be done as quickly as possible and road put back in as good shape as found.

(Signed) Very truly yours,
M. S. Sherwood, Agent.

On motion of Freeholder Swain it was ordered that the communication be received and referred to the County Road Committee.

The following petition signed by H. O. Meeker, Henry N. Haines, B. H. Campbell and twenty-eight others, was presented and read as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, State of New Jersey:

The undersigned owners of property or residents on and near Newark avenue in the city of Elizabeth hereby respectfully petition and show, that Newark avenue in the city of Elizabeth from its intersection with North Broad street to the city line is a county road, that during the summer and fall of 1902, the east side of said avenue for a long distance was disturbed by having a trench dug to accommodate the underground telephone wires. That since that time the said avenue has been in an unsightly and disgraceful condition, having its surface covered with several inches of mud during wet weather and with a like quantity of dust at other times, which dust is carried by the wind onto the walks and into the homes of your petitioners much to their discomfort, and annoyance, as well as to the discomfort of all who walk or ride on said avenue or the adjoining streets. That by reason of said avenue being a county road it receives little or no care from the city authorities; and it has received but slight attention from the county authorities. Wherefore your petitioners request your honorable body that steps be taken at once to clean up the avenue by removing the dirt accumulated during the past six months or more, and to put the avenue in first-class condition.

And your petitioners further request your honorable body that such proceedings be instituted as will result in placing the said Newark avenue again in the control of the city authorities, so that your petitioners may hereafter look to the city, and not to the county authorities, to keep the avenue in proper condition; it seeming to your petitioners that every point of view the said avenue should be controlled by the city rather than by the county authorities.

And your petitioners will ever pray, etc.

Dated Elizabeth, N. J., April 27, 1903.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher, it was unanimously ordered that the petition be received and referred to the County Road Committee.

From Lloyd Thompson, Clerk of the town of Westfield, as follows:

Westfield, N. J., June 2, 1903.

The Hon. Director and Members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen — The Council of the town of Westfield, at a meeting held June 1, 1903, appointed a committee of three to confer with the Central Railroad relatives to abolition of grade crossings in Westfield, and the clerk was directed to invite the Board of Freeholders to appoint a committee to co operate with the committee from the Westfield Council in the matter. The Board of Trade has also been invited to appoint a committee to act with the others. The committee from the Council is Mr. Charles D. Losee, Mr. Alfred L. Russell, Mr. George B. Dickerson.

Yours very truly,
Lloyd Thompson,
Town Clerk.

Freeholder Westphal moved that the communication be received and that a committee of three be appointed as requested, which was ordered without dissent.

The Director appointed as said committee Freeholders Westphal, King and Brucklacher.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By Committee on Bridge in Cranford Township, as follows:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen — Your committee appointed on the bridge matter at Front street and Park avenue, in Fanwood Township, would hereby report that they have viewed the location, and would respectively report that a new culvert, concrete and iron sides, should, in our opinion, be built, at a cost not exceeding $400, and do so re-

FLAT DENIAL.

Dr. Van De Water Files Answer Regarding His Relations With Mrs. Watt, of the Borough.

Rev. George R. Van DeWater, rector of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, New York, whose name was coupled with that of Mrs. Adele F. Watt, of North Plainfield, by Commodore Archibald Watt in the suit for divorce pending between that couple four days before sailing on Tuesday, swore to an answer denying the allegations contained in the divorce papers.

This answer was filed yesterday by Dr. Van De Water's counsel, William H. Sage, within twenty-four hours after the clergyman's departure.

In his answer the clergyman referred specifically to the charges made by Commodore Watt in regard to his relations to Mrs. Watt and flatly denied them. He made affidavit to the truth of the answer on June 17 and asked that the counter-claim of Mr. Watt, so far as it related to the co-respondent, be dismissed with costs.

The litigation between Commodore Watt and his wife began last July when Mrs. Watt began suit for a limited divorce on the ground of cruelty. Commodore Watt denied his wife's allegations and field a counter-claim accusing her of impropriety with a "certain clergyman." Recently Commodore Watt filed a more elaborate and detailed answer and in that named Dr. Van De Water as one of two correspondents.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 28—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Christ in our cities.—Acts xviii, 1-11; Luke xix, 41-44; Matt. xi, 23, 24. (City missions.)

The problems of city government and city evangelization and salvation have always been great ones. From time immemorial the great cities of the world have been the centers where vice and iniquity have flourished, and the downfall of nations has often had its beginning in the downfall of the city. A nation's life is very often but the life of its important city or cities. Ancient Greece was but an enlarged Athens, the Roman empire an enlarged Rome, and Paris and London sustain the same relations to France and to England today, and if the city life of America is not yet its most predominating force because of the extent of our rural habitations it is rapidly becoming so. The tide of population moves more and more toward our cities, and into them is poured the bulk of the foreign population that comes to our shores. City missions are needed. The impurity of city politics, the character of the large foreign populations, the natural gravitation of evil to the city, where it can be more secluded, the inexorable demands of city business life, the religious indifference of the vast multitudes of its people, all go to show the need of mission work in the city. Only those who come into personal contact with the work have any real conception of the needs in our great cities today. Heathenism as pronounced as exists anywhere is frequently to be found. Foreigners congregate together and occupy entire sections, living very often in moral and spiritual darkness such as is scarcely imaginable. All forms of vice manifest themselves, and here and there direct opposition to the truth as it is in Jesus is frequently manifested. It was so at Corinth, and in this respect the cities of today are not unchanged.

But the difficulties that face us in city mission work should not deter us. Christianity hesitates not because of difficulty or opposition. The command is "Go!" the promise is "I am with you," and with such a command and promise difficulties are not to be considered. Paul sought the great cities as strategic points for his missionary labors. Antioch was the key to Asia and Rome the key to the world, and these became the great centers from which Christianity spread in the early Christian cities. Save the cities and you can save the country. They are the leaders in business, social and political life and also in religious life. Christianize them and the country will not be in danger from lack of religion or indifference to it.

The cities can be Christianized and saved. God saved Zoar in answer to the prayer of Lot and Nineveh as a result of the preaching of Jonah. In the apostles' days flourishing churches were established in the great heathen cities of the world, and in many of our cities today there is much vital Christianity. It is a mistake to think that our cities are devoid of all religion. Christian people, devout and consecrated, are to be found in large numbers in all of them. This fact proves the possibility of Christian living even in our cities. More than this, there is always a hearty response from the unevangelized in our great cities. In many of them there are flourishing missions among the foreigners, such as the Chinese and Italians, and God has abundantly blessed evangelistic work among the masses of our cities.

Christ was interested in cities. It is true He declared that God would hold them responsible for their opportunities, but He also wept over the city of Jerusalem and desired to shelter and save it. This should be the attitude of all His disciples. As He was interested in the salvation of Jerusalem, so we should be in the moral and spiritual welfare of all cities. Specially should all Endeavorers who live in cities bend all their energies toward city evangelism. Christianity, patriotism and personal interest all call upon us to follow such a course.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xix, 15-25, 27-29; Josh. vi, 16, 20; Ps. ii, 8; Isa., lii, 7; Jonah iii, 1-10; Matt. xxi, 1-11; xxviii, 19, 20; Acts viii, 3-8; xvii, 16-34.

The Denver "Sticker."

The "sticker" has come to play a very important part in every Christian Endeavor convention of late, state, international and often county union. The Denver one, announcing the date of the twenty-first international convention, is original in nearly all of its details. The reproduction of it herewith will prove interesting. More than 100,000 of these stickers have been made use of in telling the "where and when" of the twenty-first international gathering.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 28, "Heathen Doctors and Medical Missionaries"—Text, Matt. x, 7, 8; I Cor. xii, 9-11.

"Gifts of healings in the one spirit."

The connection of spirit and body in mankind is so close that whatever affects one has great influence over the other. Disease of body causes a person to view matters in a far different light from what they would appear to him in health. Purposes, plans, disposition, character and even destiny depend in large measure on health and disease. Vice and crime and sin need to be studied in their relation to body and soul. The act of healing is more than a matter of medicine. The cure of souls also has much to do with the cure for the bodies of men.

Jesus gave much attention during His ministry to the relief of disease. His miracles of healing will in the future have a closer and more profound study than they have ever had in the past, as we come to appreciate the necessity for more adequate knowledge and treatment of diseases of body, mind and soul.

In the church of Jesus Christ emphasis from the first has been placed on relief of distress, poverty and sickness. Nursing and healing ministrations have had a place close beside the offices of preaching and teaching.

In the mission work of the modern church special value has been found to lie in the healing art in reaching the people of heathen lands. Whatever may be the defects of medical science and practice in civilized lands, outside of the distinctively Christian nations there is absolutely no such thing as medical knowledge and skill. The suffering is appalling; the disregard of human life and indifference to the conditions of women and children among the heathen are almost beyond belief. Death is the only deliverance. The medical missionaries have opened the door of hope for this life and for the life which is to come.

Whether the work be in China, India, Africa or Mexico, the poorer classes of the people are almost totally destitute of any help from physicians. The native doctors are in many cases worse than useless. By opening dispensaries and hospitals where all can be treated at a reasonable charge or free of cost multitudes are cured. At the same time they are made acquainted with the gospel of Jesus and the hope of eternal salvation. A new world of experience is opened to them. Those who can and will heal bodies will be trusted to give directions to the soul for its salvation.

The printing press, the school, the pulpit and medical skill all unite to spread the kingdom of Jesus Christ. We no longer can rely upon miraculous gifts of healing, but God has in the past few years wonderfully led the world into better views in medicine and an immense number of valuable remedies have been discovered. A quarter of a century has revolutionized the practice of medicine and surgery. This all seems providential and will advance the cause of Christ as the conditions of men improve.

Slumbering Christians.

When is the Christian most liable to sleep? Is it not when his temporal circumstances are prosperous? Have you not found it so? When you had daily troubles to take to the throne of grace were you not more wakeful than you are now? Another dangerous time is when all goes pleasantly in spiritual matters. There is no temptation half so dangerous as not being tempted. The distressed soul does not sleep. It is after we enter into peaceful confidence and full assurance that we are in danger of slumbering. The disciples fell asleep after they had seen Jesus transfigured on the mountain top. Take heed, joyous Christian! Be as happy as you will, only be watchful.—Episcopal Recorder.

"Not of Himself."

A detached railway car will go alone and even up grade for a short distance, but it soon exhausts itself and remains motionless until moved again by a power outside itself. He who undertakes to live by his own energy alone will soon find himself at the end of his resources. God gave man dominion at the first. He took from him the divine commission when he sinned. It is restored to him again when he renews his allegiance to the God of man and the universe.—Philadelphia Methodist.

Silence.

What a noble weapon is silence! It turns aside the tempest of anger. Before it hatred and malice are abashed, if not defeated. Slander and detraction are hushed in its presence. The babble of idle gossip soon grows tired in the face of its rebuke. If we could but keep silence the world would be rid of half its evils.—Irish-American.

Every.

Every day its toil,
Every life its mission;
Now we till the soil,
Afterward fruition.

Every task its time,
Every grief its season,
And in ways sublime
God makes known His reason.

Every eye its tear,
Every back its burden;
Tribulation here;
Peace in Christ our guerdon.

Every heart its pain,
Alternating pleasure;
Sunshine after rain,
Joy in fuller measure.

Every day its night,
Every night its waking;
Faith leads on to sight;
Cloudless day is breaking.

Every shattered hope
May, like sunbeams riven,
From a rainbow slope
To the gate of heaven.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

THE SELFISH WOMAN

And the Unselfish One

"THERE is a type of woman who goes through life getting the best and giving the worst," remarked the old bachelor. "My friend Jones married just such a one. He loved her to distraction, and she was one of those wishy washy maidens who simply look on and simper while a man tears up his heart for her benefit and rips up things generally."

"Such slangy expressions!" commented the society woman, with a lift of her eyebrows.

"Well, I don't care," he returned. "When I get to talking about that type of woman my vocabulary becomes brutal. She was pretty and dainty and always cool and serene. She had all the virtues because she was too neutral to have any faults. She would have married Jones or Tom or Dick or Harry or any of the eligible men who crowded around her. It didn't make any difference to her, but Jones happened to propose first, and he was a good catch, her parents told her, so she married him. Love? She didn't know the faintest meaning of it. Oh, wait; yes, she did; she knew the love of her own self. To be pretty, to be admired, to dress well, to get a good husband, to occupy a high place in this world, to be loved, to be petted, to be taken care of—these were parts of her creed. The mere fact of her marrying Jones and allowing him to provide for her until the end of her days, she considered, entitled her to absolute worship. In her own house she reigns absolute. Even her friends wait on her hand and foot. Of sympathy, generosity, she has none, but when but the least thing happens to her, ah, how she cries out! Every one must sympathize. And Jones, poor man, realizes at last what he has married. He might perhaps have been a great man if he had had a little sympathy and consideration. As it is, he is merely a hard plodder.

"Yes," said the society woman slowly, "but there is the other side to consider. For my part, my experience in the world has taught me rather to applaud the selfish woman. In fact, I will say even more. I will say that I think the harm done by the selfish woman, great as it is, is not so great as that done by the unselfish one."

WAITED ON HAND AND FOOT.

The bachelor only gasped, and his friend went on.

"One of my friends is a thoroughly unselfish woman. Her idea of dividing an orange is to give the orange and keep the peel for herself. Well, in the house where she lives are five of the most selfish people in this town—her husband and her four children. And they are selfish simply and solely for the reason that she always thinks of them before herself, so that they have grown to have an exaggerated idea of their own importance. If her husband has a toothache she may be dying ill herself, but she will get up and walk around with him. She forgives him everything because she understands him so well and sympathizes with his weaknesses. Result, he feels he can do about as he pleases, and he does. If some day that little woman were to assert herself I believe the family would drop dead. If they didn't do that they would certainly consider themselves the most injured people in the world. Now isn't she doing an enormous amount of harm? The greatest deeds in this world have been done by men for utterly selfish women.

"The generous woman, on the other hand, has hardly ever provoked a great deed. The more she has given the less she has received from the beginning of the world to this day."

"Why not, then, make a rule for women," put in the bachelor—"be unselfish to your own sex and be selfish to the men?"

"Because that wouldn't be always fair. There are some men who are so big and strong in their natures that they never could be selfish under any circumstances. They are the ones who make allowances for a woman's weaknesses, who give continually, almost mechanically, because they are the stronger, and it is the part of the stronger to give without counting the cost and never to take. They are the ones who make us realize the real meaning of the word 'man.' For their sake no woman should be entirely selfish."

MAUD ROBINSON.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

"Come in," said the major, briefly, and, pushing through the gate, they softly entered the dark hallway and struck a light in the front room. A wood fire was smouldering on the andirons in the wide brick chimney-place. An open book, face downward, was on the center table. Two embroidered slippers lay as though hurriedly kicked off, one under the sofa beyond the mantlepiece, the other half-way across the worn carpet. Striking another match at the doorway, Ray passed on to the little inner room—the bed chamber. On the bed, carelessly thrown, were the young officer's best and newest forage cap, undress uniform coat and trousers. He had used them during the evening when calling at the Hays'. On the floor were the enameled leather boots he wore on such occasions. The bed was otherwise untouched. Other boots and shoes in orderly row stood against the wall beside the plain, unpainted wardrobe. The spurred riding boots and the knee-tight breeches were gone. Turning back to the front room, Ray found the major, his face gray and disturbed, holding forth to him an open envelope. Ray took it and glanced at the superscription, "Lieut. Beverly Field, Fort Frayne," and returned it without a word. Both knew the strange, angular, slashing handwriting at a glance, for both had seen and remarked it before. It was Nanette Flower's.

Dropping the envelope on the table—he had found it on the floor—Webb led the way to the open air. There was no time to compare views. There stood the sergeant.

"Sir," said he, with a snap of the gloved left hand at the brown tube nestling in the hollow of the shoulder, "Number Five reports that he has heard galloping hoofbeats up the bench twice in the last half hour, and thought he saw distant horsemen—three—couldn't say whether they were Indians or cowboys."

"Very good, sergeant," was the major's brief answer. "Send for the telegraph operator and my orderly."

The sergeant turned.

"One moment," called Ray—"your pardon, major—my first sergeant, too, and—sergeant, have any sentries reported horses taken out from the stables to-night?"

"Not one, sir," and stanch and sturdy, the commander of the guard stood ready to vouch for his men.

"That's all!"

A quick salute, a face to the right about and the sergeant was gone. Webb turned and looked inquiringly at Ray.

"I asked, sir," was that officer's brief explanation, "because wherever Field has gone he wore riding dress."

CHAPTER III.

Comforted by abundant food, refreshed and stimulated by more than two or three enthusiastic toasts to the health of the major, the men so loved, Trooper Kennedy, like a born dragoon and son of the ould sod, bethought him of the gallant bay that had borne him bravely and with hardly a halt all the long way from Beecher to Frayne. The field telegraph had indeed been stretched, but it afforded more fun for the Sioux than aid to the outlying posts on the Powder and Little Horn, for it was down 10 days out of 12. Plodder, lieutenant colonel of infantry commanding at Beecher, had been badly worried by the ugly demonstrations of the Indians for ten days past. He was forever seeing in mind's eye the hideous details of the massacre at Fort Phil Kearney, a few miles further on around the shoulder of the mountains, planned and carried out by Red Cloud with such dreadful success in '67. Plodder had strong men at his back, whom even hordes of painted Sioux could never stampede, but they were few in number, and there were those ever present helpless, dependent women and children. His call for aid was natural enough, and his choice of Kennedy, daring, dashing lad who had learned to ride in Galway, was the best that could be made. No peril could daunt the light-hearted fellow, already proud wearer of the medal of honor; but, duty done, it was Kennedy's creed that the soldier merited reward and relaxation. If he went to bed at "F" troop's barracks, there would be no more good cakes and ale, no more of the major's good grub and rye. If he went down to look after the gallant steed he loved—saw to it that Kilmaine was rubbed down, bedded, given abundant hay, and later water—sure, then, with clear conscience, he could accept the major's "bid," and call again on his bedward way and toast the major to his Irish heart's and stomach's content. Full of pluck and fight and enthusiasm, and only quarter full, he would insist, of rye, was Kennedy as he strode whistling down the well-remembered road to the flats, for he, with Capt. Truscott's famous troop, had served some months at Frayne before launching forth to Indian story land in the shadows of the Big Horn range. Kennedy, in fact, essayed to sing when once out of earshot of the guard-house, and singing, he strolled on past the fork of the winding road where he found he should have turned to his right, and in the fullness of his heart went striding southward down the slope, past the once familiar haunt, the store, now dark and deserted, past the big house of the post trader, past the trader's roomy stables and corral, and so wended his moonlit way along the Rawlins trail, never noting until he had chanted over half a mile and most of the songs he knew, that Frayne was well behind him and the rise to the Medicine Bow in front. Then Kennedy began to laugh and call himself names, and then, as he turned about to retrace his steps by a short cut over the bottom, he was presently surprised, but in no wise disconcerted, to find himself face to face with a painted Sioux. There by the path side, cropping the dewey grass, was the trained pony. Here, lounging by the trail, the thick black braids of hair interlaced with beads, the quill gorget heaving at his massive throat; the heavy blanket slung negligently, gracefully about his stalwart form; his nether limbs and feet in embroidered buckskin, his long-lashed quirt in hand; here stood, almost confronting him, as fine a specimen of the warrior of the plains as it had been Trooper Kennedy's lot to see, and see them he had—many a time and oft.

"How, John," said he, with an Irishman's easy insolence, "Lookin' for a chance to steal somethin'—is it?" And then Kennedy was both amazed and enraptured at the prompt reply in the fervent English of the far frontier.

"Go to hell, you pock-marked son-of-a-scut! Where'd you steal your whisky?"

For five seconds Kennedy thought he was dreaming. Then, convinced that he was awake, an Irishman scorned and insulted, he dashed into the attack. Both fists shot out from the brawny shoulders; both missed the agile dodger; then off went the blanket, and with two lean, red, sinewy arms the Sioux had "locked his foeman round," and the two were straining and swaying in a magnificent grapple. At arms' length Pat could easily have had the best of it, for, the Indian never boxes; but, in a bear hug and a wrestle, all chances favored the Sioux. Cursing and straining, honors even on both for a while, Connaught and wild Wyoming strove for the mastery. Whisky is a wonderful starter but a mighty poor stayer of a fight. Kennedy loosed his grip from time to time to batter wildly with his clinched fists at such sections of Sioux anatomy as he could reach; but, at range so close, his blows lacked both swing and steam, and fell harmless on sinewy back and lean, muscular flanks. Then he tried a Galway hitch and trip, but his lithe antagonist knew a trick worth ten of that. Kennedy tried many a time next day to satisfactorily account for it, but never with success. He found himself speedily on the broad of his back, gasping for breath with which to keep up his vocal defiance, staring up into the glaring, vengeful black eyes of his furious and triumphant foeman. And then in one sudden, awful moment, he realized that the Indian was reaching for his knife.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Plainfield people endorse our claim.

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says: "I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across my back and hips. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping, and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could not get relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles as mine, got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation and from my experience Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine."

BAD BOYS CONFESS THEFT

ADMIT STEALING FROM E. S. F. RANDOLPH'S DRUG STORE SUNDAY.

All Under Sixteen Years of Age and of good Families—Are Out On Bail.

The mystery surrounding one of last Sunday's three petty burglaries seems to be cleared, and the responsibility for the rifling of the money drawer of E. S. F. Randolph's drug store on the corner of Watchung and North avenue in broad daylight Sunday afternoon is placed. Louis Hurtt, a boy employed about the store, has confessed his guilt of the theft, and with two other boys who have acknowledged that they were his accomplices, is held for trial Saturday morning. He is out under $200 bonds, and his companions, Frank DeCamp and Leslie F. Martin, are out on the same bail, which was furnished in each case by the boy's father.

The store was closed Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock by Frank Dencklau, the clerk, and ten minutes afterwards the proprietor, Mr. Randolph, entered and found the money drawer looted.

Suspicion rested upon the boy, Hurtt, who, when he was quizzed by the police, produced the other two boys as witnesses to the fact that he was not about the premises at the time of the robbery. The suspicions of the police were not removed by this testimony especially as DeCamp and Martin had been seen hanging around the Love building just before the theft took place. Sharp questioning finally brought out a confession that they had stolen the money and that Hurtt had done the planning and made the necessary arrangements for admitting them into the store. Hurtt at first denied all complicity in the affair, but broke down on persuasion and made a full confession.

The boys are all under sixteen years of age and are members of excellent families.

THEATRICAL.

Seldom it is that any novelty is strong enough to hold the stage at Keith's longer than two weeks, but Howard Thurston has proved such a drawing card, that he has again been held over to head the bill for the coming week. Thurston is the supreme sovereign in the realm of marvels, and is without doubt the greatest illusionist the world has ever known. The illusions he presents are absolutely new, and no finer or more pretentious setting has ever been seen at Keith's.

"Dolly and Betsy," a clever comedy by F. G. Burnand, will hold sway at Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street next week. The cast will be headed by Edna Archer Crawford and Robert Cummings. Others in the support will be Frank Currier, H. Dudley Hawley, Duncan Harris, Joseph Greene, Mary Davenport, Margaret Drew and many other favorites. The vaudeville will have Willard and Marlow, banjoists; Kamochi, magician and others. New scenery will be used in this production.

One of the novel incidental features in "The Wizard of Oz" at the Majestic Theatre, the successful extravaganza which is holding the boards at the new Majestic Theatre in New York City is an amusing expose of the famous East Indian basket trick which has been, perhaps for centuries, the chief feature in the repertoires of the tawny fakirs and still startles the credulity of many. "The Wizard of Oz" is just as potent a wizard as any that ever had dealings with the occult.

Never before has a monster hippodrome, covering a plot of ground 260 by 150, been constructed in a space of ten days. Yet such is the remarkable achievement of the Luna Park directorate in order to properly accommodate the 400 animals in the collection of Carl Hagenbeck, which opened June 23. The building has a complete promenade, with cages all around it, and a monster scenic jungle cage in the center for the exhibition of the trained and wild animals brought from Hamburg for the St. Louis World's Fair and which are to be seen here until September 15.

The Separation a Solution.

Carl and Marcus Silbert, and their brother-in-law, Leo Slocum, have settled their business difficulties out of court, and the complaint for assault against Marcus Silbert and Slocum has been withdrawn by Carl Silbert. The three have dissolved partnership in the jewelry business which Carl Silbert will continue alone. He was represented by Lawyer William Newcorn.

Sixty-Eight Now.

George Gayle, of 18 Vine street, the treasurer of Trinity Reformed Church, celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday last evening at his home. He is the father of H. E. Gayle, the hardware merchant.

The condition of Mrs. Frank Clawson, of West Seventh street, who is critically ill, remains about the same.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

port. (Signed)
John Robison,
W. W. Connoly,
Thomas J. Pierson,
Committee.

Freeholder King moved that the report be received and recommendation therein contained adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by unanimous vote.

By the Committee on two Bridges in Roselle Park, as follows:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee would respectfully report that they have examined the two bridges in question, and find them in very bad condition, virtually no bridges, and would recommend that new bridges be built, the one on Faitoute avenue not to exceed $600, the one on Webster avenue not to exceed $400.

(Signed) Noah Woodruff,
W. W. Connoly,
Thomas J. Pierson,
Committee.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the report be received and recommendation contained therein be adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Adams:

Resolved, That a committee, of three be appointed to investigate the advisability of building a brick arch iron bridge in place of the old wooden structure over brook in Walnut avenue, at Cranford.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The Director appointed as said committee Freeholders Adams, Tillman and Pierson.

By Freeholder Adams:

Whereas, J. Walter Thompson of the city, county and State of New York, claims to have constructed a private sewer at his own expense and cost, for the purpose of draining the premises situate on the northwest corner of North and Union avenues in the Township of Cranford, County of Union, formerly owned by him and now owned by his wife, Margaret R. Thompson, and running from said premises easterly along North avenue to Rahway river, and

Whereas, The said J. Walter Thompson and Margaret R. Thompson have granted permission to this Board to use two sewer basins, one located on the corner of North and Union avenues, and the other on North avenue about 125 feet west of the corner, for the purpose of draining the surface water which accumulates on said North avenue which is a road under the control of this Board, be it

Resolved, That an agreement in writing, be entered into between this Board and said Thompsons, wherein and whereby it shall be convenanted and agreed that in consideration of the said Thompsons' giving to this Board permission to use said sewer, this Board shall at its own expense, keep said sewer basins clean and free from the accumulation of sand, rubbish or other material that may tend to obstruct the free flow of water from said basins into and through said sewer to the river, and upon the failure of said Board to do so, then the said Thompsons' upon thirty days written notice, to the Director of this Board, shall have the right to terminate the use of said basins by the county, and cement up the same so as to prevent the flow therein of surface water from the avenue aforesaid; unless the Board of Chosen Freeholders remove said basis within said thirty days.

Freeholder King moved that the foregoing preamble and resolution be adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

The following bill, properly sworn to, was presented by B. Frank Coriell, Sheriff, and read by the clerk, to wit:

For provision furnished for the county jail from March 13 to June 1, 1903, as per bills rendered	$530.27
For services of C. W. Dodd as warden for same time	281.25
For services of Fanny Dodd as matron	62.50
For cleaning and keeping Clerk's and Surrogate's offices in proper condition and running boiler, as per order of the chairman of the Building Committee	150.00
For services as keeper of the jail and general supervision over the cleaning of the buildings connected therewith for the same time, $3.50 per day	280.00
	$1,304.02

Freeholder King moved that payment of the bill be refused (which was duly seconded), and expressed himself to the effect that the question of the Sheriff's compensation be left to the courts.

Freeholder Farrell said, at the rate charged by the Sheriff (36c. per day per prisoner) it would cost over $1,500 more per annum to run the jail than when the same was conducted by the Board. He believed that some understanding should be arrived at with the Sheriff. He was informed that the Sheriff would accept 32½c. per day per prisoner, provided the daily average of prisoners should be fifty or more. As the law provided that the custody of the jail should remain with the Sheriff, he thought that this Board should arrive at some agreement with the Sheriff as soon as possible.

Freeholder Woodruff favored paying that portion of the bill which was for money expended in the maintenance of the jail, but objected to paying $3.50 per day for the Sheriff's personal services.

Freeholder Westphal thought that, as the Legislature had passed the bill giving the custody of the county jail to the Sheriffs throughout the State, the compensation should have been fixed by the same body at the same time.

After some further debate, Freeholder King's motion to refuse payment of the bill of the Sheriff was adopted, on roll call, by the following vote, viz.:

Ayes—Freeholders Adams, Bonnel, Brucklacher, Embree, King, Klee, Krouse, McCandless, Pierson, Robison, Smith, Wahl and Westphal—13.

LITERARY.

The American sailor is getting to be a very rare bird in these days, says a writer in Leslie's Monthly for July, who has contributed a series of articles on the Modern Sailor. The recruiting officers for the navy have the very greatest difficulty in getting Americans, even for our men-of-war. If we have not sailors trained in the merchant marine, where will we get crews in time of war? Even on the big lines which fly the American flag in the foreign trade, the crews are in reality foreigners, though many of them have taken out first papers in order to get berths in the line.

HOSPITAL GOVERNORS APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Want Eight Thousand Dollars to Complete the Second Ward.

NEED IS MOST URGENT

MUST VACATE OLD BUILDING BEFORE COLD WEATHER.

Board to Meet Monday Evening—Contributions May be Sent to Treasurer and Information Obtained From Finance Committee.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital is in need of about $8,000 to complete the second ward of the new building. The foundation was built in conjunction with the other foundation work, a considerable saving in the cost of construction thus having been effected. No contracts, however, have been given for further work as the Board of Governors has restricted its expenditures to its resources.

The necessity of completing the second ward is deemed to be urgent because the old hospital building must be vacated before cold weather. Inasmuch the heating apparatus in the old hospital broke down completely in the spring and $800 or $1,000 would have to be expended to make the repairs, which is considered unwise.

To open the new building with only one ward available would severely handicap the management and greatly increase the cost of maintenance, [as the patients who otherwise would be located in one ward would be scattered through the rooms intended for private patients. This would necessitate the employing of a larger corps of nurses and lessen materially the revenue derived from private patients.

It would seem that no charity should appeal more strongly to the citizens of our community, and yet thus far there are only about one hundred contributors to the building fund. The Board of Governors holds its next meeting Monday evening and desires at that meeting to give authority to the building committee to contract for the completion of the second ward. Consequently funds are needed.

The finance committee expresses the hope that the good people of Plainfield and North Plainfield will appreciate the necessity of promptly coming to the aid of the institution in this emergency, making it possible to open the new building fully equipped to meet the constantly increasing demand upon the institution early in the fall. Any special information desired concerning the new building will be gladly given by any member of the committee. These compose the committee: Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Ernest R. Ackerman, George A. Chapman, Benjamin A. Hegeman, Jr., William L. Saunders.

Contributions should be sent to William C. Kinney, treasurer, 828 Arlington avenue.

"FOURTH ESTATE" ON THE ASBURY PARK

Newspaper Men Guests of Railroad Company Aboard Its New Vessel.

PRESENTATION OF CUP

"TRIP UP THE HUDSON AND DOWN THE BAY."

Mayor of Asbury Park Presents Cup on Behalf of Common Council and Board of Trade—Many Park Residents Aboard.

One continuous ovation from the craft along its course marked the initial trip of that splendid example of steamboat construction, "The Asbury Park," yesterday afternoon. The vessel bearing some 1200 passengers plied its way up the Hudson and down again in a fashion that made the officials of the New Jersey Central Railroad Company as enthusiastic as were their guests. The outing was tendered by the railroad company to prominent citizens of the seaside resort for which the boat is named and the editors along the lines of the rejuvinated road.

Early in the day the Asbury Park steamed down to Atlantic Highlands and took aboard the guests borne by special train from the southern sections. Turning its head the boat set out for Jersey City, a signal from the pilot house to the engine room being given for "full steam." Then and there a record was made—the fastest time yet heard of for boats plying between those two points.

When the gang-plank was thrown out at Jersey City, Vice President Besler, General Superintendent Huntington, General Passenger Agent Burt and others, who have achieved a heroic task in wiping out the unhappy condition of the former administration, were there to greet the guests living along the main line of the road in this State and in Pennsylvania. The efficient Chief of Detectives Dougherty was "on the spot" as usual.

At 12:45 the start was made and for nearly two hours it seemed as if the passing boats were trying to drown the instrumental music furnished by a corps of Asbury Park school pupils, by endless salutes. Just opposite Tarrytown the vessel was turned about and allowed to drift down stream with the tide.

From among the crowd of merry-makers, Bruce S. Keater, mayor of Asbury Park, stepped forward and in the name of the Common Council and Board of Trade of that place presented a handsome solid silver loving cup as a token of appreciation of the honor conferred on that city. Incidently he said:

"We desire that you shall accept this as a very slight token of our appreciation of what you have done for us and for our city. We have selected the loving cup in preference to anything else which we might have given you because it is emblematic of love and symbolic of friendship, and it is given to you by our citizens in this very spirit.

"I trust that as we sail to and from New York on this beautiful steamer in years to come, this spirit of friendship now existing between our people and the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey may grow stronger and stronger. It is with this hope and expectation that I now present you with this very slight token of our friendship and regard."

Upon receiving the gift, Vice President Besler said:

"On behalf of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, I accept and sincerely thank you for this beautiful cup, and wish to reciprocate the thought that this token may be but the beginning of a friendship lasting—not only so long as the good ship "Asbury Park" plows the briny waters of Old Ocean—but through all time.

* * * * * * *

"For the past year it has been the constant aim and endeavor of the present management of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey to make its line the popular, and so to speak—the home-road of the communities which it serves. We wish, if possible, to do the greatest good to the greatest number, and if we succeed, shall probably have accomplished all that we can reasonably hope to achieve.

"And now in conclusion, allow me to again thank the citizens of Asbury

DEMOCRATIC PARTY'S GUBERNATORIAL TIMBER

Judge Kirkpatrick Does Not Seek a Nomination, According to Friends.

POSSIBLY LINDABURY

MAYOR HINCHLIFFE AND ALFRED REED MENTIONED.

Friends of Thomas Ferrell Booming Their Favorite—Former United States Senator James Smith Seeks His Revenge.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 26—United States District Court Judge Andrew Kirkpatrick will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor next year. This announcement has been made by one of Judge Kirkpatrick's closest friends, a prominent Essex County Democrat.

The Kirkpatrick boom had reached formidable proportions, especially in Essex, and in other counties in which ex-United States Senator James Smith's influence is strongest.

Another man whose name has been frequently mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination is Mayor John Hinchliffe, of Paterson, but he, too, is out of the race, if, indeed he was ever in it in the personal sense.

Richard V. Lindabury is spoken of as a likely candidate.

It was ex-Senator Smith who first mentioned Counselor Lindabury as a gubernatorial possibility. This was several months ago. Since then the Lindabury boom has been growing, and, although no definite steps were taken to push it, many of the Democratic leaders, including ex-Senator Smith, have shown deep interest in the movement.

Next to Lindabury the most talked of Democrat at the State House these days is Vice Chancellor Alfred Reed, of Mercer. He is looked upon as a man possessing all the qualifications for a Gubernatorial candidate. He is thought to be strong in counties where the Democrats are weakest.

Many prefer that the Democratic nominees for Governor shall come from South Jersey. This preference is shown especially by friends of Senator Thomas Ferrell of Gloucester, who has had a Gubernatorial lightning rod raised for several years, and who entertains hopes that the expected bolt will strike it this time for sure.

Big Sale of Realty.

You have had another week in which to consider the purchase of a building lot at the auction sale of the Plainfield Real Estate Company, which was adjourned last Saturday on account of the weather. It will have been a profitable week for you if have decided to buy one or more of these fine lots; for if you do not build yourself, you will be able to get 10 per cent. on your money invested from the man who does want to build, and who knows that it is the most desirable place in which to put his home. Don't be afraid to purchase for the other man; he is sure to return to you your money invested with ample interest.

Said Au Revoir.

Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott, of West Front street, who sail next week Tuesday for England, on a pleasure trip, were given a surprise last evening by forty friends from the First Presbyterian Church.

CELESTIAL ORB'S RECEPTION

PLAINFIELDERS IN WALL STREET GREET OLD SOL'S APPEARANCE.

"Absence Makes the Heart Grow Fonder," and Mr. Sun Quickly Disappears.

The wildly enthusiastic crowd of Wall street brokers that gathered along the street in New York yesterday afternoon cheering themselves hoarse were not old Yale "grads" celebrating the achievements of the blue on the water. No, indeed. They had a more vital cause for rejoicing. They were greeting the return of the sun from its long retirement.

About 150 of them congregated on the sidewalk, among them a number of Plainfield enthusiasts, and for a few minutes it looked as though the riot act would have to be read them. They viewed the unaccustomed light of the sun as a strange phenomenon, solemnly shook each other by the hand, breaking forth at intervals into wild though concerted shouts of rejoicing. Some of them endeavored to obtain photographs of the celestial orb, desiring tangible evidence of its unwonted appearance. Then the sun discouraged sank behind a cloud.

Threats and innuendoes immediately arose, and accusations were heard on all sides that someone was cornering the light market. A suggestion to organize a trust in sunlight was shouted down, and an attempt made to mob the wretch htat offered it. Finally loud shouts of "excitement in the stock market; sudden rise in 'copper'" was followed by the appearance of several bluecoats, and the men of millions dispersed in disgust and discouragement.

But the hoodoo (requiescat in purgatorio) has gone to his last resting place, and this morning the delightful spectacle of a bright sun in a clear sky was viewed by all—those who are broke as well as those who are brokers—with joy and thanksgiving.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR SOME GOOD RACES

Col. Edwards to be Starter at Driving Park on Independence Day.

JUDGES ARE PROMINENT

BAND TO FURNISH POPULAR MUSICAL SELECTIONS.

Police Protection on the Grounds—Large List of Entries—O. T. Waring and J. W. Johnson Among the Judges.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley announced today that Col. Edwards, of Newark, has consented to act as starter at the races to be held under the auspices of the Plainfield Driving Association on July 4. This arrangement appears to meet with the hearty approval of those who are well informed on racing matters. He will represent the National Association. Years ago when the Union and Middlesex Fair Association was the great attraction in this section, Col. Edwards was a well-known figure. Plainfielders will recall him as the starter at the races there. The Colonel is now with the Newark Sunday Call and is still a lover of clean sport.

"Much care has been taken in selecting those who will have anything to do with the races," said Mayor Smalley to a reporter for The Daily Press. "We want the confidence of the public and the only way we can get it is to have everything clean." The Mayor says that Orville T. Waring, J. W. Johnson, Nathan Robins, R. A. Fairbairn and C. P. Rose have agreed to act as judges in the various events scheduled.

The number of entries already made confirms the belief that the field will be the largest on record at the local driving park. In addition there will be an exhibition of saddle horses and high-steppers. The committee has completed arrangements to handle the crowd and good order is assured. Chief Kiely will have a detail of men on the grounds. Stages will meet all trolley cars on the Arlington avenue line and three will be additional conveyances starting at regular intervals from the corner of North and Park avenues.

A band of fifteen pieces will furnish the music. The musical programme will start one hour before the races and all the latest selections rendered in the New York theatres will be played.

E. B. Finch, Speechmaker.

At the ovation given to Postmaster Cornelius VanCott and his son, Richard VanCott, by the Lincoln Club, of the Fifth Assembly district, New York, a handsome silver loving cup was presented the younger VanCott. Edward B. Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Finch, of Park avenue, was chosen to make the presentation speech, which he did in a felicitous manner.

ARTHUR W. VAIL WEDS MISS P. B. EMMONS

Marriage Takes Place Quietly at Home of Bride's Parents in the Borough.

DR. YERKES OFFICIATES

ONLY THE NEAR RELATIVES OF BRIDE AND GROOM PRESENT.

Now Enjoying Honeymoon—To Reside in This City—Many Handsome Gifts Presented to the Bride.

Miss Priscilla Beatrice Emmons, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Emmons and Arthur Wilbur Vail, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Vail, of East Seventh street, were quietly married yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place, North Plainfield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of the First Baptist Church, in the presence of the near relatives of the bride and groom. The couple were unattended.

The decorations at the home were very effective, but simple, consisting chiefly of vines and daisies. This scheme was carried out in the parlor, reception and dining rooms. In the parlor there was an improvised altar, with a profusion of daisies and vines leading up to handsome jardinieres. It was here that the ceremony was performed. Miss Myra Emmons, the bride's sister, played the wedding march.

After the wedding, an informal reception was held and supper was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Vail left the city to enjoy a honeymoon. They will return home in about a week's time and will reside in Putnam avenue, where the groom has furnished a home adjoining that of his brother, E. Frank Vail.

The couple received a great many handsome gifts from relatives and friends, including silver and goldware, cut-glass, furniture, paintings, banquet lamp and a substantial check from the bride's father. An appreciative gift was a solid silver set of knives, forks, spoons, etc., from the groom's employers, Sutro Brothers & Company, bankers and brokers at 25 Broad street, New York.

A. Wos y Gil is the new president of the Dominican Republic It is not so bad as the affected distortion of some modern maiden's Christian name.

Notwithstanding predictions to the contrary we are convinced that summer is here. Did you ever know the hand-organs to fail as a sign of warm weather?

Here's a man in Passaic boasting that he is the father of twelve girls and has only been married twenty-two years. About time he started a female seminary.

"Former Lieutenant Governor J. H Tillman, who killed Editor Gonzales, has secured a change of venue."—Exchange. And it is more than likely that he will secure a change of climate a little later on.

News comes from Caracas that Venezuela intends re-establishing her legation at Washington and the first minister will be Jose Hernandez nicknamed "El Mocha." Sounds like bands of cigars and coffee.

Former Governor Robert E. Pattison declares that the people are opposed to Cleveland as a presidential candidate because he has already been the chief executive of the Nation for two terms. The governor is well qualified to speak on the subject. The citizens of the Keystone State taught him this lesson just a short time ago.

The flag intended to fly from the flag staff in Park avenue is taking a vacation. It is said that those having the custody of the National emblem are afraid to have it unfurled to the breeze, because it may be worn out. Better be worn out than preserved in camphor these days. Wouldn't it be well for the Common Council to order its exhibition. If spoiled by wind or storm we imagine that there is sufficient money among wealthy Plainfielders to replace it.

Park for this beautiful loving cup, and may the sentiment which has inspired it remain forever indelibly and indissolubly implanted in our minds and hearts. May the 'Central Railroad Company of New Jersey'—The 'City of Asbury Park'—and 'Progress' stand linked together, synonymous,—one for all,—all for one."

A collation was enjoyed at the conclusion of the speechmaking and the guests were allowed to view the loving cup. Cheers rent the air for the officials of the road, when the editors and others from the main line of the Central stepped ashore at Jersey City promptly at 4:30 o'clock.

Among the guests were 286 citizens of Asbury Park; fifty officials and employes of the road, including Assistant General Passenger Agent W. C. Hope, Claims Agent J. K. Large, District Passenger Agent Ira E. Whyte, and Walter Hendry Hayden; 312 editors, with their wives and families, including A. L. Force, editor and proprietor of The Daily Press; H. W. Webb, of the North Plainfield Weekly Review and wife, and R. F. R. Huntsman, advertising manager of the Brooklyn Standard Union; representatives of the Associated Press and New York newspapers and a party of special friends of the road.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Linen Coats—The Question of Petticoats and Shoes.

The linen coat of short or three-quarter length lends itself to a variety of elaborations. Very smart motor coats are made of linen and simply strapped. Needless to say, they must be extremely well cut.

There are some linen coats made in three-quarter effects, and these are very smart and useful for traveling, especially in the iron gray mixtures which come in the better linens this year.

Skirts which just escape the ground demand smart shoes, and in Paris fancy footwear is the rule, even red and pale blue kid being worn, but nothing can be smarter than the bronze or patent leather Louis XV. shoe, fastening with a buckle or a bow of grosgrain ribbon.

White cambric petticoats are the thing for muslin frocks, but foulards, plain taffetas and wash silks are to be preferred woolen gowns.

The old fashioned brown holland is being revived, and it is trimmed with torchon lace and embroidery. When this material is well made and worn with right accessories it forms a charming costume.

The evening dress in the cut is of dotted muslin trimmed with bands of shirring and honiton lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT IS WORN.

Batiste Frocks—Foulard Utility Gowns—Some New Sunshades.

Young girls wear a good deal of hand embroidered batiste or muslin, and this is very dainty. These little gowns are made simply with openwork lace collars and ribbon belts or sashes.

Spotted and figured foulards make ideal shirt waist costumes. They are designed with the skirts and waists tucked perpendicularly with lines of fagoting or smocking for trimming.

Petticoats of dark blue and white and green and white gingham are smart to wear with blue serge or chevlot tailor made suits.

With a full dress a very full frou-frouing petticoat is a necessity. The red underskirt holds its own in a soft dull shade for wear with all black gowns.

Sunshades are returning to their old shapes and are for the most part unlined. The latest notion is a hand painted handle, the wreath creeping on to the ball top. Flowered chine moire is very artistic. White lace with black leaves in transparent work is also chic. Many of the handles have rosettes of chiffon or soft ribbon.

The pretty dinner dress in the cut is of white veiling trimmed with fine white lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

Another instant it gleamed aloft in the moonlight, and the poor lad shut his eyes against the swift and deadly blow. Curses changed to one wordless prayer to heaven for pity and help. He never saw the glittering blade go spinning through the air. Vaguely, fainting, he heard a stern young voice ordering "Hold, there!" then another, a silvery voice, crying something in a strange tongue, and was conscious that an unseen power had loosed the fearful grip on his throat; next, that, obedient to that same power—one he dare not question—the Indian was struggling slowly to his feet, and then, for a few seconds Kennedy soared away into cloudland, knowing naught of what was going on about him. When he came to again, he heard a confused murmur of talk about him and grew dimly aware that his late antagonist was standing over him, panting still and slightly swaying, and that an officer, a young athlete, was saying rebukeful words. Well he knew him, as what trooper of the —th did not? —Lieut. Beverly Field; but, seeing the reopened eyes it was the Indian again who sought to speak. With uplifted hand he turned from the rescuer to the rescued.

"You're saved this time, you cur of a Mick," were expurgated of unprintable blasphemy, the exact words of the semi-savage lord of the frontier, "but by the God that made us both I'll get you before another moon, dash dash you, and when I do I'll cut out your blackguard heart and eat it." Then bounding on his pony, away he sped at mad gallop, westward.

For a moment no further word was spoken. The officer presently helped the soldier to his feet and stayed him, for the latter's legs seemed wobbly. Field let his salvage get its breath before asking questions. Yet he was puzzled, for the man's face was strange to him. "Who are you?" he asked, at length, "and what on earth are you doing out here this time of night?"

"Kennedy, sir. Capt. Truscott's troop, at Fort Beecher. I got in with dispatches an hour ago—"

"What!" cried Field. "Dispatches! What did you do—"

"Gave 'em to the major, sir. Beg pardon; they was lookin' for the adjutant, sir, an' Sergt. Hogan said he wasn't home."

Even in the moonlight the Irishman saw the color fade from the young officer's face. The hand that stayed him dropped nerveless. With utter consternation in his big blue eyes, Field stood for a moment, stunned and silent. Then the need of instant action spurred him. "I must go—at once," he said. "You are all right now—you can get back? You've been drinking, haven't you?"

"The major's health, sir—just a sup or two."

"I've no time now to listen to how you came to be out here. I'll see you by and by." But still the young officer hesitated. One hand grasped the rein of his horse. He half turned to mount, then turned again. "Kennedy," he faltered, "you'd have been a dead man if we—if I—hadn't reached you at that moment."

"I know it, sir," burst in Pat, impetuously. "I'll never forget it—"

"Hush, Kennedy, you must forget—forget that you saw—spoke with me—forget that you saw or heard—any other soul on earth out here tonight. Can you promise?"

"I'll cut my tongue out before I ever spake the word that'll harm the lieutenant, or the—the—or anyone he says, sir. But never will I forget! It ain't in me, sir."

"Let it go at that then. Here, shake hands, Kennedy. Now, good-night!" Another instant and Field was in saddle and speeding away toward the post where lights were now dancing about the quartermaster's corral, and firefly lamps were flitting down the slope toward the stables on the flats. Ray's men were already up and doing. Slowly, stiffly following, Pat Kennedy rubbed his aching head, with a hand that shook as never did his resolution. His bewildered brain was puzzling over a weighty problem. "The lieutenant's safe all right," he muttered, "but what's gone wid the squaw that was shoutin' Sioux at that murtherin' buck?"

Meantime all Fort Frayne had seemed to wake to life. No call had sounded on the trumpet. No voice had been raised, save the invariable call of the sentries, passing from post to post the half hours of the night; but the stir at the guardhouse, the bustle over at the barracks, the swift footsteps of sergeants or orderlies on the plank walk or resounding wooden galleries, speedily roused first one sleeper, then another, and blinds began to fly open along the second-floor fronts, and white-robed forms to appear at the windows, and inquiring voices, male and female, hailed the passerby with "What's the matter, sergeant?" and the answer was all sufficient to rouse the entire garrison.

"Capt. Ray's troop ordered out, sir," or "ma'am," as the case might be. No need to add the well-worn cause of such night excursions—"Indians."

The office was brightly lighted, and there, sleepy-eyed and silent, were gathered many of the officers about their alert commander. Ray was down at his stables, passing judgment on the mounts. Only 50 were to go, the best half hundred in the sorrel troop, for it was to be a forced march. Neither horse nor man could be taken unless in prime condition, for a break down on part of either on the way meant delay to the entire command, or death by torture to the hapless trooper left behind. Small hope was there of a march made unobserved, for Stabber's band of Ogallalas had been for weeks encamped within plain view. Less hope was there of Stabber's holding aloof now that his brethren at the Big Horn had declared for war. He was a recalcitrant of the first magnitude, a subchief who had never missed the warpath when the Sioux were afield, or the consolation trip to Washington between times. Where Stabber went his young men followed unquestioning. It was a marvel that Kennedy had succeeded in getting through. It meant that the Indian runners, or the Indian smokes and signals, had not at once so covered the country with scouts that couriers could by no possibility slip between them. But now the signal fire was gleaming at Eagle Butte, and an answering blaze had flared from Stabber's camp. Invisible from Fort Frayne, they had both been seen by shrewd non-commissioned officers, sent scouting up the Platte by Maj. Webb within half an hour of the coming of the alarm.

"Ray will push ahead at once," said Webb, to his silent subordinates. "You see Col. Plodder has only two troops up there and he will need all his infantry to defend the post. I've wired to Laramie and to department headquarters and further orders will come before noon. Let all the cavalry be ready. Then if we push out, Dade, we leave Fort Frayne to you. They'll hardly venture south of the Platte this time."

"Is—Mr. Field going with Capt. Ray?" presently ventured young Ross, who knew Ray had but one subaltern for duty at the moment, and whose soul was burning with eagerness to accompany the first troop to take the field.

PASSED BALLS.

The St. Mary and Scotch Plains' teams will meet at the 'Plains, Saturday, July 11.

Manager Owens, of St. Mary's baseball team, has his eye on another pitcher. Carr was not able to remain with the team, but John says he will have one just as good.

The suits for the baseball team of the Church of the Holy Cross choir arrived yesterday. They will be worn for the first time next week when the team will play its initial game.

The St. Anthony F. C., of New York, have July 4 open for two games with teams ageraging fifteen to seventeen years. Address Jack McGowan, manager, 23 Vandam street, New York.

Manager John Owens, of St. Mary's baseball team, has arranged three games with the Alis Club July 18, August 22 and September 5. All the games will probably be played on Crescent Oval.

Probably the record game of baseball for this season was played between Chicago and New York, of the American League, at Chicago. Eighteen innings were played and the score stood 6 to 6, when it was necessary to stop the game on account of darkness. The game was of four hour's duration. After the ninth inning neither team scored again.

The game of baseball, tomorrow afternoon, between Scotch Plains and Alis on Crescent Oval, will be called at 3:45 o'clock sharp. This will be the batting order: Alis—Moore, cf; Barnes, 2b; Henriquez, ss; Richardson, 1b; Worthley, 3b; Page, c; Lederer, lf; Williams, p; Dupee, rf. Scotch Plains—Baldwin, rf; Bryan, 1b; Brogan, c; Bolsterli, 2b; Davis, p; Williams, 3b; Cruzins, ss; McManus, lff; Flannery, cf. Both teams are very evenly matched and a great game may be expected. Henriquez, the new man secured to play short stop for Alis, formerly played with the New York A. C. He is a hard hitter and a fast base-runner. Williams, who will twirl the ball for Alis, comes highly recommended. All lovers of the National game should not fail to see this contest.

MORE RAIN.

Nearly Nine Inches of Rain Fall for Present Month—Predicts More to Come.

Figures prepared by Professor Sonn, of Newark, show that although this month has been the wettest June in the last twelve years, it by no means carries off the premium for precipitation when compared with other months. The total fall for June to date has reached 8.61 inches, which is less than half of the precipitation for July, 1897. In that month 19.09 inches of rain fell. In one storm the rainfall was 7.69 inches, or nearly as much as has fallen so far this month.

According to Professor Sonn's observations, more rain is yet in sight, and there is no indication of settled weather in the near future. The barometers in the West and here hover at about the same point without giving any indication of rising. The weather conditions in the West, it is said, are as unsettled as they are in this vicinity.

—An entertainment at the T. A. B. Hall last evening under the management of John Venable, was delayed because some of the performers demanded their salaries, refusing to play until they were reimbursed for their services. Dancing was substituted to music supplied by Eugene O'Reilly.

FOUND WITH SKULL CRUSHED

Michael Doyle Dying and Charles Saueracker Confesses Crime.

A MURDEROUS ATTACK

Victim Hit on Head With Sharp Stone—Case Was Not Reported to the Police Until This Morning—The Doctors Say He Can't Live.

Michael Doyle, of West Fifth street, is dying at his home, his inner and outer skull being cracked, and Charles Saueracker is confined in the police headquarters charged with being responsible with the crime. The injured man was found last night but the matter was not reported to the police until this morning. The accused was soon arrested, subsequently making a full confession to Chief of Police Kiely. A large stone was the instrument used by Saueracker.

Doyle and Saueracker have been at odds for some time and when they met in Shea's saloon, on West Third street, an altercation occurred. The two men left the place about 9 o'clock. Two hours later Doyle was found laying in a gutter in the neighborhood. He was taken home by two men, whose names have not been learned. His skull was cracked and the man was delirious. Drs. Boone and Long were called and they say he cannot live.

When the case was reported at headquarters, Chief Kiely worked on the matter until he had obtained sufficient evidence to warrant an arrest. Patrolmen McCarthy and Higgins arrested Saueracker in Potter's barn. He will be held pending the result of his victim's injuries.

The injured man is forty-five years of age and has a family. He and Saueracker are both employed in the Potter Press Works.

DOGS DO DIRE DAMAGE

BITE BOYS, CARVE COPS AND DIE VIOLENT DEATHS.

Police Pour Withering Broadside Into West End Dog That Terrorized Inhabitants.

Dogs and their troubles have given the police occupation during the past day or two. Joseph Salvatore is the owner of a mongrel that took forceful possession of a considerable portion of the calf appertaining to the person of the young son of one Jeremiah Griffin. The animal has now passed into the great beyond, being assisted thereto by the police department, whose recent revolver practice is beginning to bring forth fruit. The boy's calf is now out to pasture, and Joe is footing the bills.

Another rash canine had the audacity to attack a number of the police force and paid for his temerity with his life. Patrolman Mattox was bitten this morning between North avenue and Front street, and also between his knee and his instep. The justly enraged officer perforated the dog's anatomy in sixteen separate places.

A stray mad dog has been terrorizing the inhabitants of Seventh street in the West End and Patrolmen McCarthy and Higgins went out on the warpath after him last evening armed with shot guns. They stalked the animal heroically for some two hours before they were able to locate and slaughter him. Both officers emptied about a pound of lead into the dog who was not expected to survive the night. He fulfilled expectations.

Voting Machine for Borough.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, chairman of the Republican county committee of Somerset county, has had two voting machines placed at his disposal for use in that county, under the law passed last Winter. One will be allotted to North Plainfield and the other to the Fourth district of Bridgewater. They will probably be used first at the special Constitutional election.

A Losing Venture.

John Venable wishes to inform the public that the entertainment in T. A. B. Hall Thursday evening for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital was given at a personal loss of $15. He says there was a misunderstanding between himself and the talent.

MAYOR SWACKHAMER, OLDEST RAILROADER

Sketch of Dunellen Citizen, Well-Known in This Section.

ALWAYS A RAILROADER

MEMBER OF JERSEY CENTRAL'S ENGINEERING CORPS IN 1847.

Instructive Data Concerning Company's Equipment and Service in Early Days of Railroading—Other Interesting Details.

An excellent sketch of the career of Ruliff J. Swackhamer, who died at his home in Dunellen last month at the ripe age of seventy-six years, is contained in the current number of the Railroad Employe. As he was without doubt the oldest man connected with railroading in the East and was associated in many respects in this vicinity, the article is herewith reproduced in part.

"Mr. Swackhamer descends from sturdy Dutch stock, his ancestors coming from Holland during the last century. He was born at Whitehouse, Hunterdon County, November 21, 1826, and was the son of John and Ann Swackhamer. His father was a farmer and young Ruliff assisted on the farm in the summer and his only opportunity for an education was presented during the winter months.

"He remained on the farm until he was 21 years of age when he married Huldah T. Oakes, daughter of Eben Oakes, of Lubeck, Me. They had four children, three of whom are living, but Mrs. Swackhamer died in 1863.

"In 1847 Mr. Swackhamer joined the engineer corps then running the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey from Somerville to Whitehouse, and subsequently was employed by the contractors who built the road between these points. From 1825 to 1867 he was in the bridge gang of the road, and on June 10th the latter year was appointed by Superintendent R. E. Riker general foreman of bridges, his jurisdiction including the Newark and New York road and all buildings in addition to the bridges west of Somerville, and on April 18, 1871, he was made master of bridges and buildings for the entire system, in which place he remained until 1899, when he resigned to fill a less arduous one, which position he held until the time of his death. He remained for a time in Phillipsburg and then removed to Somerville, from which place he moved to Dunellen.

"Mr. Swackhamer's reminiscences of the early history of the New Jersey Central were exceptionally instructive and interesting, and it is to be regretted that no written or printed record of the same survives him. For over fifty years the deceased and former Conductor Philip Van Arsdale, of Somerville, whose record of service with the Central antedates that of Mr. Swackhamer's by about a year, Mr. Van Arsdale having entered the employ of the company on October 13, 1894, were personal friends.

"When Mr. Van Arsdale commenced his railroad career in 1846 on what was then the Elizabethtown and Somerville Railroad, the entire motive power of the road consisted of three engines, namely, the 'Eagle,' Philadelphia' and 'General Wall,' and on December 1, of that year, the engine 'Speedwell' was added, making a total of four, which was all the power the road had at that time. These engines were of Baldwin build and weighed nine and a half tons, running on a strap rail at a speed not exceeding 15 or 20 miles per hour.

"On December 17, 1847, Mr. Van Arsdale says, the engine 'Commodore' was purchased. This engine was of Norris build. On December 15, 1848, the 'Easton' was added to the list. The 'Easton' was a very handsome machine, built at the Taunton Works, in Massachusetts, and was the first engine turned out at that place, and was in fact a sample engine. On February 9, 1850 the 'Clinton' was added to the equipment.

"The road was opened to Whitehouse October 15, 1848, and on May 5, 1852, was extended to Clinton, and on July 3, 1852, to Phillipsburg. On January 16, 1852, the engine 'New York' was purchased, which was followed on April 5 by the 'Pennsylvania;' February 4, 1853, by the 'Plainfield,' and on February 10 by the 'Westfield.' The 'Westfield' was the engine that had the initial collision at Green's Bridge, on March 25, 1853, with the 'New Jersey,' and Mat Johnson, baggagemaster, was killed.

"The engines 'Raritan,' 'Bloomsbury' and 'Elizabeth' were put in service December 6, 1855, together with the 'Essex,' the first engine built for experimenting on burning hard coal. These engines were all from Taunton shops. On May 28, 1852, the 'New Jersey;' June 2, the 'Delaware;' July 19, the 'Lehigh,' were received from the Rogers Works in Paterson, which concern was at this time rapidly coming into prominence as builders of high class locomotives.

"The engine 'Lebanon' was received on November 7, 1855, and the 'Asbury' on November 13, following the opening of the Lehigh Valley to Mauch Chunk, on October 1 of that year, which brought the Central a largely increased business, and in 1856, the 'Elizabethport,' 'Bound Brook,' 'New Market,' 'Crainville,' 'North Branch,'

The late Ruliff J. Swackhamer.

'Phillipsburg' and 'Somerville' were purchased, which were shortly followed by the 'Middlesex,' 'Union,' 'Monmouth,' 'Richmond,' Petersburg,' 'Pewitt' and 'Wren,' which did all the local work between Elizabeth and Jersey City when the road was extended from Elizabethport to that city in August, 1864.

"In conversing recently on his early railroad experience Mr. Van Arsdale said: 'Looking back on railroad progress over my three score years and ten, from a strap rail and engines weighing nine and a half tons, burning pine wood, to coal-burners weighing a hundred and ten tons, burning coal, I cannot but be thankful that I am an American and that I have been permited to live and behold the triumph of American brains and energy in the development of the world's greatest industry.'"

WANT TO SEE FLAG.

Californians Wish to Have Banner, Presented by Them to New Jersey's Soldiers, in Parade.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 27—Adjutant General Breitnall has received from George C. Round, a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, whose home is at Manassas, Va., a letter requesting that at the national encampment of the G. A. R., to be held in San Francisco, August 17, the veterans be given the opportunity to do honor to the flag, which was presented by the people of California to the New Jersey soldiers in 1861.

He suggests that the State officials fo New Jersey designate one of the New Jersey G. A. R. posts to be the escort to this flag and that it be exhibited in parades and in other ways during the encampment.

At the same time that the people of San Francisco presented the flag to New Jersey they presented similar flags to Maine and Massachusetts, and Mr. Round is making efforts to have these flags sent to the Golden Gate city in August.

The flag which was presented to New Jersey has a placed with the other flags in the show case in the State House corridor. It is called the California flag.

CLOSING EXERCISES, ST. MARY'S SCHOOL

Miss Margaret Lutz Choses Class Motto As Subject for Valedictory.

OPERETTA A FEATURE

FATHER EGAN PRESENTS DIPLOMAS TO THE EIGHT GRADUATES.

Prize Winners Announced—Gold Medals Awarded—Those Taking Part in the Exercises—Large Crowd Present.

With the production of the operetta "The Bell in the Forest" in St. Mary's Parochial School Hall last evening the last of the commencement exercises was held and diplomas were presented to the graduates by Rev. Andrew M. Egan. Two hundred people were present.

Miss Mary Smith opened the exercises with an overture and Frank Mc Inerney followed with an address. The parts in the operetta were taken by John Donnelly, Joseph Sullivan, John Casey, James Cullen, Edward Carty, Cornelius McCarthy, Thomas Harding, Martin Welsh, Robert Skinner, Warren Seaman, Martin Flatley, Thomas Kennedy, Neil Scott, William Summers. During the play Misses Catherine Galbraith and Elizabeth Brown played a piano duet commendably well and little tots from the primary department sang a motion song.

In the second act of the play, the Misses Elizabeth Brown and Catherine Powers favored with a piano duet and Miss Adele Von Ohl recited. Selections were rendered by the school mandolin club, the members of which are: Miss Mary Smith, Miss Helen Hanrahan, Miss Katherine Harding and Miss Ellen Callahan. Miss Katherine Quinn gave several selections on the piano in a manner which brought forth applause.

The valedictorian, Margaret Lutz, chose for her text the class motto, "Excelsior," illustrating its appropriateness, as encouraging faith, hope and ambition, by incidents from the lives of great men. She said that as long as the class motto holds its influence over the members, there can be no danger from the difficulties and temptations in the way.

Rev. Father Egan presented the diplomas to the graduates. Those receiving them were Miss Margaret J. Lutz, Miss Cartherine I. Harding, Miss Helen M. Hanrahan, Miss Ellen F. Callahan, Miss Mary A. King, John P. Kyle, John T. Donnelly and Joseph R. Sullivan.

At the time the diplomas were presented Rev. Father Egan announced the prize winners of the several contests which have been held during the school term. They are:

For general excellence in sewing, Miss Margaret Lutz, a gold medal; for excellence in grammar, Miss Ellen Callahan, gold medal; in Christian doctrine, Miss Cartherine Harding, gold medal; in penmanship, Miss Nellie Hanrahan, medal. In the grammar department Louis Dixon was awarded a medal for high standing all studies. Class pins were presented to Miss Margaret King, and Masters John Kyle, John Donnelly and Joseph Sullivan.

The evening's exercises closed with a tableaux entitled "Faith, Hope and Charity" and a chorus "Farewell."

The exercises of Thursday and last nights were arranged by the Sisters of Mercy connected with St. Mary's convent and it is to them that the credit for the success of the affair is due.

HIGHER WAGES.

Local Trolley Men to Receive Increased Pay—Shorter Hours of Work.

Announcements were posted yesterday by the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, of the adoption of a uniform wage schedule for all motormen and conductors, including those on the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey line.

The men will be graded according to the length of their service with the company and in all cases ten hours will constitute a day's work. It is now eleven and twelve hours. The pay will be from $1.90 to $2.20.

The change will necessitate a reconstruction of all the street railway time table in Northern New Jersey, and will result in improved service.

William Mills is rejoicing over the arrival of a son at his home on Summit avenue, Thursday evening. Mother and son are doing well.

MRS. F. T. CLAWSON DIES SUDDENLY

Wife of Dr. Frank T. Clawson Unexpectedly Passes Away At Her Home.

FUNERAL IS ARRANGED

LEAVES HUSBAND, SON AND LITTLE TWIN DAUGHTERS.

Daughter of Captain Holmes—But Thirty-Four Years of Age—Funeral Services at House Monday Afternoon at 3 o'Clock.

The death of Mrs. Frank T. Clawson occurred yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, at her home in West Seventh street. She had been critically ill for four days. Dr. Marcus L. Clawson and Dr. Hedges, were at her bedside at the time, but had little warning of the untimely end. Yesterday she was unusually well and hopes were held out for her recovery.

Mrs. Clawson was formerly Miss Augusta Holmes. She was the daughter of Captain Holmes, for many years a resident of East Fifth street, and was born at Newburyport, Me., thirty-four years ago. She had lived in Plainfield since a child. Nine years ago she was married to Dr. Frank T. Clawson, Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, officiating. Their union was a particular happy one. Mrs. Clawson was a member of the Crescent Avenue Church and for several years was a member of the church choir. She was also a member of the Plainfield Choral Society and the Monday Afternoon Club.

She leaves a husband, a son five years old, and two daughters each four days old. Two sisters, Mrs. John Faxon and Mrs. Frederick Nichols, of Fitchburg, Mass., and a brother, Alfred Holmes, of Long Island, who was married a few weeks ago, also survive her.

The funeral services will be held from the late home on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The interment will be at Hillside.

CHANCELLOR THOMAS MUIR

POPULAR NEWSPAPER MAN HEAD OF PERSEVERANCE LODGE.

Youngest Chancellor Commander of Pythians in the United States.

Thomas M. Muir, for sometime a reporter for The Daily Press, is the youngest chancellor commander in the ranks of New Jersey's Knights of Pythias, and his fellows hint that he is the youngest in the whole country. "Tommie," as even the newsboys and bootblacks call him, has just celebrated his twenty-third birthday, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, the strongest in the State numerically if not also financially has chosen him for the exhalted position of chancellor commander. He has "gone through the chairs" and now is supreme in the local organization.

The action was taken at an election held by the lodge last evening. At the same time these were also chosen: Vice chancellor, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.; prelate, Phillip Jahn; master-at-arms, Elmer Cutting; master-of-work, Charles M. Ulrich; inner guard, John Davis and outer guard, Peter Stram. The installation takes place next Friday evening.

Grand Military Review.

Pawnee Bill and his hundreds of mounted heroes are coming to visit us on Monday, July 6. Many additions have been made this year and now his famous Wild West is numbered among the big shows of the world. Detachments from the armies of the world with a battery of artillery in dazzling military reviews is one of the many new features. The Juvenile Wild West for the children is an innovation that should startle and please all the little folks.

Grand Old Man.

Capt. and Mrs. S. C. Peck, Jr., of West Front street, have returned from Milford, Conn., where they went to attend the birthday celebration of Capt. Peck's father, Samuel Peck, on Thursday. Mr. Peck is one of the oldest residents of Milford, having just passed his ninety-fifth birthday. He is enjoying good health and is quite active.

Herman Bremmer, of Harrison avenue, is visiting friends at Stirling.

Mrs. William Campbell is ill at her home in Somerset street.

CHARLES E. BUELL HAS PASSED AWAY

Prominent Former Resident of North Plainfield Dead at Atlantic City.

WELL-KNOWN INVENTOR

PATENTED TELEPHONE AND STREET SPRINKLER DEVICES.

Civil War Veteran—Secretary to Porto Rican Commissioner—Married Twice—Leaves Wife and Two Sons.

Charles E. Buell, formerly of the borough, is dead at 821 Atlantic avenue, Atlantic City, paralysis causing his end. He had been at the seashore since last May, having gone there from his home in Camden, for his health.

Mr. Buell was born in Torrington, Conn., in 1841. He moved to North Plainfield in 1889. On account of injuries sustained in the Civil War he was obliged to give up farming and he then entered the telegraph service of the Government. In 1898 he accompanied Dr. H. K. Carroll, special commissioner to Porto Rico, as secretary to the commission. He remained in the islands about six months and after returning to Plainfield assisted Dr. Carroll in preparing his report to President McKinley.

As an inventor, Mr. Buell won distinction, having been a patentor of improvements in the telephone systems. He was also the first inventor of the street sprinkler. As a writer on special subjects he gained much attention. He was a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Mr. Buell was married twice and by the first marriage leaves a son, who is a patent lawyer at Washington. He is also survived by a second wife and a son, Wm. C. Buell, by that marriage.

The best clothing at the right stores is the truest economy. Buy your summer suit at Werner's, West Front street, and see if it isn't so.

Summer with its overpowering heat is made endurable by the use of electric fans. William H. Pope, of North avenue, can install electric fans in houses, offices, and even on board yachts. Electric wiring is done at prices as low as in New York. Let him quote you prices on Fourth of July window display illuminating.

Whether you get good photos depends upon the man behind the camera when you buy it. It is all in the lens and it is easy for an unreliable dealer to impose on a customer. "Honesty is the best policy." In buying your camera from F. W. VanWinkle, of North avenue, you may depend on what he says to be so

Summer millinery, just the styles that will predominate at the sea shore this summer can be secured at prices as low as in New York at I. H. Boehm's on Front street. A half a day spent by the bargain hunter in Boehm's is worth two in New York.

Fourth of July.

Everyone just now is making plans for some kind of an outing on the Fourth of July. Too often in the past has the day been followed by vain wishes that it had been spent in some other way than the one selected, but no such regrets ever attend the trip to Mauch Chunk. Many people travel half over Europe without viewing more romantic scenery than in this, the so-called "Switzerland of America." Rugged mountain peaks are in awe-inspiring contrast to deep chasms and gorges while there is hardly a spot in this section where the artist does not long to plant his easel or the amateur photograher to expose a plate. And the beauty of it is that the jaunt may be made at very moderate expense and within the limit of a day's outing. The New Jersey Central announces an excursion on July 4th to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switchback, the round-trip costing only $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. It is alone worth making the trip to have experienced the novel ride of 14 miles over the gravity road known as the Switchback. There is nothing quite like it anywhere in the country. While it is exciting, the most timid have nothing to fear for the trip is quite safe. A fast special express train will leave Plainfield at 9:22 a. m., and arriving at Mauch Chunk about noon. There is ample opportunity to see and enjoy everything as the return train does not leave until 5:40. The nearest tickes agent will supply circulars giving full details. People who decide to make this excursion will have something to remember all their lives and much to tell their friends. c

—There is a barn in the borough 113 years old. It is located on the property of Elston M. French, Somerset street, where it was moved from this side of the brook. The building is still in excellent condition, although it is at present undergoing repairs. It has interesting connections with Plainfield's early history.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

More harm has been found to have resulted to the peach crop by the May drought than was expected. The June drop was more severe than was at first suspected, and not only the usual amount of immature fruit fell off, but a lot that would have stayed on the trees and developed had rain come a week or two sooner.

It is not the wise woman from Philadelphia this time who has brought comfort to American women after the manner of that illustrious dame who was wont to bring comfort to the Peterkin family by her common sense view of matters. The wise woman hails from Massachusetts who has brought the servant question where it can be handled without fear of entire demolition, when she confronts us with statistics showing that eighty-three per cent. of American women do not keep servants. When only seventeen per cent. of the women of a country are servant ridden there is a hope that the independence of American women can never be entirely sacrificed to unjust and unreasonable demands. So overwhelming has been the deluge of complaints against "the hired help" and so forlorn the outlook for a better condition, that the sense of dismay has become all prevading until this New England woman greatly diminishes the extent of the danger and annoyance by her statistical information that less than one fifth of our women have to grapple with the subject at all.

We all breathe more freely to know that in eighty-three families out of every hundred, the mistress of the house is, so to speak, the master of the situation with "none to molest or make her afraid, and the tyranny of servants is a tyranny limited to a fractional part of the community." Moreover as no one believes that any class has all the "ills that flesh is heir to" some of the servant keeping women represented by the seventeen one hundredths must find their domestic helpful and faithful so that the proportion of homes is small whose peace is threatened by the rule of the kitchen.

Truly the Massachusetts woman is a real Joshua in her estimate of the sons of Anak.

LITERARY.

Writing of "American Politics" in the July-September Forum, Mr. H. L. West discredits the prospects of either a Cleveland or a Bryan nomination for the Presidency, but he thinks that with a candidate generally acceptable to their party the Democrats would have a real opportunity of success.

Lincoln Steffens has at last tackled Philadelphia. In the July number of McClure's appears his story of municipal grafting in Philadelphia. "Philadelphia Corrupt and Contented," is a pretty scathing title, but the writer justifies it. Mr. Steffens sees in Philadelphia "a city all through with reform." Philadelphians, he says, are disfranchised like negroes in the south—dead dogs and children vote in their places. Nothing but a revolution, in Mr. Steffens's opinion, could overturn the Philadelphia ring, which is forged, not in city, or even State, but in the flame of national politics. This is the most outspoken, the most trenchant, and the most powerful of all Mr. Steffens's splendid city articles.

Lake Hopatcong.

Lake Hopatcong has become justly famous for several reasons but chief of these is its location. High up in New Jersey's beautiful mountains, a thousand feet above the sea level, surroudned by verdant hills and charming landscape, it is the perfection of outing places. To reach it is a delightful journey through a series of picturesque valleys, and the time of the traveler is so occupied feasting on the scenic sights that the few hours journey are like fleeting moments. For a Sunday excursion no place is more popular than Lake Hopatcong, and if you want a day of enjoyment take in the $1 excursion to Lake Hopatcong. The New Jersey Central is to run on June 28th. There will be a special train from Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., and the return train does not leave the lake until late afternoon. There is ample opporunity for a trip over the lake or such enjoyment as one may care to indulge in.

It is a pleasure to testify to the generally high character of druggists. EDWARD'S BIRTHDAY.

King Rode on Horseback For the First Time Since His Illness.

LONDON, June 27.—King Edward's birthday was officially celebrated in London and at all the home naval and military stations. All the government buildings were decorated with flags, salutes were fired, the war ships at all the ports dressed ship and the troops were reviewed.

The main feature was the trooping of the colors on the Horse guards' parade here, which the king attended on horseback. This was the first time he had ridden since his last illness. The parade ground presented a highly picturesque scene. Queen Alexandra, the Princess of Wales, the Duchess of Albany, the Duke and Duchess of Fife, the Duchess of Connaught, Princess Henry of Battenberg and the khedive of Egypt occupied seats in the central window of the Horse guards' building.

Many Americans were present, including the staff of the United States embassy and the American rifle team, who were under the guidance of Major General Lord Cheylesmore.

The king, who wore the uniform of colonel of the Grenadier guards, rode on the ground surrounded by a brilliant staff, including the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, Field Marshal Lord Roberts and others of the headquarters staff.

Their majesties returned to Buckingham palace, heartily cheered by the crowds along the route.

CONGRATULATE PETER.

Germany, Austria and Bulgaria Send Cordial Messages.

BELGRADE, June 27.—The German emperor has sent King Peter a telegram couched in cordial terms.

The Austrian minister resumed official relations with the Servian government.

The king's reappointment of the ministry is regarded as a notification that no punishment will be meted out to the assassins of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

Telegrams have been received from Emperor Francis Joseph and Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria in reply to the notification of King Peter's accession. The telegrams congratulate King Peter and express wishes for the happiness of his majesty and the Servian people.

Killed His Sweetheart In Anger.

SHERMAN, Conn., June 27.—P. H. Worden of Carmel, N. Y., angry because she refused to marry him, killed Edith Roscoe, also of that town, wounded her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sherman Roscoe, perhaps fatally and then attempted to take his own life. Both Worden, who is about forty years old, and Miss Roscoe, aged twenty, have recently been visiting her brother, Sherman Roscoe, who manages the farm of Orlando Pepper, two and a half miles outside this village. Sheriff Allen went to the scene of the murder and placed Worden under arrest. The prisoner's condition was such that it was not considered advisable to remove him to the Danbury hospital, and he was kept under guard in his room. Mrs. Roscoe, who had her skull fractured and her throat gashed, was reported to be in a serious condition at the Danbury hospital. Her recovery is considered doubtful.

May Settle Paper Company Strike.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., June 27.—Thomas A. Braniff, representing the state labor bureau, has been at Fort Edward for two days trying to settle the strike against the International Paper company. All conferences with the union representatives so far are without result. A representative of Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor and President Mackey of the Paper Makers' union will be here today. Mr. Braniff has left for Albany, sanguine that the national officials will adjust the difficulty. The Union Bag and Paper company and the Allen Bros. company of Sandy Hill expect to confer with the unions today.

Quiet In Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., June 27.—The street car strike situation is quiet, the city being still under military protection. The company is running cars on all its lines. A trestle on the Seven Pines road, one of the suburban branch lines, was fired early in the day, but the fire was extinguished before damage was done.

Record In Making Steel Rails.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The South Chicago plant of the Illinois Steel company turned out 1,894 tons of steel rails, breaking the world's record, which had been 1,772 for a day's work. In celebration of the successful day the company presented every man in the rail department with a box of cigars.

Avalanche Strikes Swiss Students.

BERNE, Switzerland, June 27.—Sixteen students belonging to the second class of the gymnasium in Airolo, canton of Ticino, while mountaineering around Mount St. Gothard were overwhelmed in the Val de Piora by an avalanche. Seven of the students are missing, and their fate is uncertain.

Central to Pay $45,000 Damages.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Two heavy verdicts have been given in the supreme court against the New York Central railroad. Mrs. Amelia S. Meinrenken recovered $25,000 for the death of her husband, killed by a train, and Daniel J. Reardon, a boy of twelve, got $20,000 for the loss of a leg.

Schooner Disabled by Smallpox.

CAPE HENRY, Va., June 27.—The schooner Henry Sutton, Captain Rogers, bound from Bangor, Me., to Fernandina, Fla., has been anchored off Ocracoke for three days. It is reported that smallpox has broken out among the crew and that the schooner is disabled.

CORNELL WINS ALL

Ithacan Oarsmen Capture Every Event at Poughkeepsie.

THE DAY'S TRIUMPH WAS EASY WORK

In Freshmen's Race Cornell's Boat Broke the Record In Grand Form. Thousands Line the Banks and Cheer the Victorious Crews.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 27.—Cornell oarsmen made a clean sweep in the intercollegiate regatta. Victorious in the four oar and freshmen events, the Ithacans added the last leaf to their wreath by winning the big varsity race, the most highly prized victory in the annual intercollegiate regatta. Cornell beat Georgetown by eight full lengths. Wisconsin finished third, half a length behind Georgetown. Pennsylvania was fourth, Syracuse fifth and Columbia last.

The varsity race was Cornell's from the start. Columbia made a fine spurt at the pistol shot, but was plainly putting too much into the start to last the four miles. Cornell made the first mile in 4m. 34s. and had clear water between her stern and Columbia before the first half was passed. At a mile Cornell led by three good lengths, rowing thirty-one strokes to the minute.

The race was in three divisions altogether, one for second and third places, at first between Georgetown, Wisconsin and Columbia, while Pennsylvania and Syracuse fought gamely in the rear. Just above the bridge, however, the rear eights had crowded up on Columbia, and as they passed under the bridge Syracuse had lapped her, just below bringing her bow even with that of the Columbia eight, which, played out by her early spurt, was falling to the rear. Cornell's stroke never went above thirty and probably did not exceed twenty-nine to the minute.

The pretty feature of the race was the plucky work of Syracuse, which, seemingly hopelessly at the rear at the first half mile, crowded up on her rivals, passed Columbia and pushed nose to nose with Pennsylvania and worried Wisconsin for third place.

At the finish Cornell was rowing easily at twenty-eight strokes ten lengths ahead, Georgetown second, Wisconsin third, Pennsylvania fourth, Syracuse fifth and Columbia, her crew played out, at the tail of the procession. It seemed almost a dead heat between Pennsylvania and Syracuse.

Time—Cornell, 18m. 57s.; Georgetown, 19m. 27s.; Wisconsin. 19m. 29 2-5s.

The four oared race, in which four colleges had crews, proved a hard fight between Cornell and Pennsylvania for first place, Cornell finally winning by half a length, with Pennsylvania second, Wisconsin third and Columbia fourth.

Pennsylvania caught the water first in the four oared race and at the 100 yard mark had opened up a lead of a boat length. Cornell was second and gaining on Pennsylvania, while the sturdy oarsmen from Wisconsin, pulling a strong stroke, were third.

Columbia was behind Wisconsin.

As the four crews approached the one mile mark all were holding their course in good shape, although it had become apparent that the contest for first position was between Cornell and Wisconsin. Columbia was then dropping behind and Cornell forging steadily to the front, Wisconsin being a safe third.

Columbia soon began to fall back, and Pennsylvania and Cornell gained a lead of about a length over Wisconsin.

At the one mile point Pennsylvania had a bare lead, with Cornell pushing her hard and Wisconsin third by a half length.

As the crews neared the one and a half mile station Pennsylvania and Cornell engaged in a fierce struggle for first place. Columbia was then a bad fourth.

Cornell soon afterward gained a slight lead, winning by only half a length, Pennsylvania finishing four lengths ahead of Wisconsin, while Columbia brought up the rear. Time—Cornell, 10m. 34s.; Pennsylvania, 10m 35 4-5s.; Wisconsin, 10m. 55 3-5s.

After having won the four oared event Cornell's colors again flashed in front in the freshman race, and a new record for the course was established.

Cornell caught the water first and led Columbia by half a length, with Pennsylvania third. Nearing the half mile mark Syracuse and Wisconsin were drawing close together and were on even terms with Cornell.

At the mile Cornell was in the lead by an eighth of a length and remained in front from that time. Columbia and Pennsylvania began to lose ground fast at this stage, and the race was plainly between the other three. When another half mile had been covered Cornell had increased her lead slightly and Syracuse was pulling away from Wisconsin.

Columbia was a bad fourth, with Pennsylvania half a length behind. Syracuse spurted and made a desperate effort to overtake Cornell, but approaching the finish Cornell held her lead, leaving Syracuse and Wisconsin to fight it out for second place.

Time—Cornell, first, 9m. 18s.; Syracuse, second, 9m. 22 1-5s.; Wisconsin, third, 9m. 32s.

Record for the course was: Yale, 9m. 19⅛s. in 1897.

KAISER'S RESPONSE

Ambassador Tower's Dinner Attended by Emperor.

"GOD BLESS PRESIDENT AND STATE!"

Wilhelm, Replying to the Minister's Toast, Speaks of the Friendship of America and the German Empire.

KIEL, Prussia, June 27.—The dinner given by United States Ambassador Tower to the German emperor was made an opportunity both by the emperor and the ambassador to utter speeches of political significance.

Ambassador Tower said: "It is with very great pleasure that I have been permitted to present to you Rear Admiral Cotton and the officers of the United States navy who accompany him upon this visit to Kiel in response to your invitation. They come here with their ships of war upon a mission of peace, bringing with them cordial sentiments of friendship from America to Germany. I am convinced, sir, that you and your people entertain the same sentiments in return toward the president and people of the United States. Your interest in us has proved this on many memorable occasions, especially upon that visit of his royal highness Prince Henry, who was received throughout the country with demonstrations of hearty and sincere welcome and who when he embarked left behind him the universal wish that he would visit us again.

"You have also given proof of these sentiments in the present you made of magnificent casts to Harvard university. These works are so rare a collection of the best examples of sculpture and architecture in Germany that they establish an art museum by themselves and will afford splendid opportunity for study to the youth of America, who will henceforth remember you as a public benefactor.

"Mutual understandings between nations, as between individuals, is best attained by personal intercourse, which leads to better acquaintances, and it is a happy outcome of an occasion like this that friends strengthen their friendship, which in the case of two great powers like Germany and the United States is a benefit to the whole civilized world. The efforts of Germany and the United States are constantly tending toward the same purposes in the development of civilization, the extension of commerce and the peace of the world.

"The closer our acquaintance becomes the more we are sure to discover how near our paths lie to each other, how readily we may follow them together and how much we have each to gain by the maintenance of harmony in the future as well as in the present and the past. America wishes this, sir, with all sincerity. There are hundreds of thousands of people of German birth or German extraction living in the United States who look back from their new home with feelings of tender affection toward their fatherland. They are among the best of our citizens.

"Speaking for the nation, I have the honor to convey to you the cordial greetings and hearty good wishes of the president and the people of the United States."

Mr. Tower then proposed the health of the German emperor, the empress, crown prince and the members of the imperial family.

Emperor William, speaking in English, made the following reply:

"In responding to your excellency's warm and sympathetic toast I offer a cordial welcome to the American squadron, Admiral Cotton and his officers in the name of the German people. We look upon them as the bearers of the friendly sentiments of the citizens of the United States, to which I can assure your excellency the whole of Germany heartily responds. I am happy that my hopes for a better mutual understanding between our two countries through the personal intercourse which my brother, Prince Henry, was able to hold with your excellency's countrymen have been fully realized and have strengthened the bonds of friendship between Germany and America. That my gift of casts of mediæval German architecture has been received in so gracious a manner by Harvard gives me the greatest satisfaction. I hope that the samples relating to our old history will entice many young students to come over and study the originals.

"My sincerest wish is that our two peoples may become yet closer acquainted. No serious citizen in America or Germany, I trust, believes that the harmony and continuance of our mutual interests could be disturbed by permanent factors in our relationship. We are knit too closely together to allow of the development of any antagonism. It is my firmest conviction that the fact of so many thousands of Germans living and thriving in the United States with their hearts still warm with their love of their old fatherland will render the task more easy of smoothing the path of undisturbed and progressive relations which are of vital importance to our countries.

"It is now my duty to beg your excellency to thank his excellency the president of the United States for this joyous occasion for which we are indebted to his kindness. We all over here admire his firmness of character, his iron will, his devotion to his country and his indomitable energy, and we readily grasp the hand proffered to us across the sea in cordial friendship, feeling at the same time that blood is thicker than water.

"Gentlemen, I propose the toast of his excellency the president of the United States. God bless him and the United States!"

Enclosed please find bill for Washer, with cash to settle same. I can hardly express my satisfaction with the machine, and thoroughly agree with you that the first time you use it you like it, but the more you use it the better you like it. I did not believe it possibly could do what you claimed, but thought it must have some good points, or you could not venture to send one on free trial. The free trial is a splendid idea, as I never should have been induced by any amount of advertisements to invest my money to find out if it was a good machine. I stood amazed as I lifted the articles from the washer on my first trial. Articles that as I put them in were so soiled that I exclaimed: "Oh, yes, they'll come out clean and white—?" But they certainly did! I have three little ones and plenty of washing, and pretty much soiled generally, but my only regret is that I did not have the washer years ago, and thus have saved myself very much. Thanking you for being the means of robbing washday of its terrors, I am,

Yours very truly, MRS. R. H. VOSE.

REMEMBER—You take absolutely no risk, incur no expense or obligation whatever. The washer is sent by us on 30 days' trial. Express to your door in Plainfield or suburbs and positively without any advance or deposit of any kind.

WILMINGTON RIOTS.

Corwell, Charged With Murder of White, Is Released.

COLORED MAN SHOT THURSDAY IS DEAD

Authorities Are Taking Prompt Measures to Suppress All Lawlessness—One of the Rioters Sentenced to Imprisonment.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—The danger of further lawlessness as a result of the lynching of George F. White for the murder of Helen Bishop and the arrest of a man on the charge of complicity in the lynching has not yet passed. While there is no visible evidence that another outbreak will occur, there is a feeling of uneasiness among the police authorities which has caused them to take extreme measures of a precautionary character to nip in the bud any further attempts of the whites to wage war on the blacks or of the latter to retaliate. Every saloon keeper in the city has been ordered to suspend business for twenty-four hours. In addition to this, all other public places, such as billiard, pool and bowling alleys and the public library, were requested to close up. This was generally done. In line with the peace precautions Mayor Fisher has issued a statement requesting parents to keep their boys off the streets at night.

The lawless element among the colored people is largely blamed for the disorder of the last two nights. It is claimed that in certain parts of the town they marched through the streets and roughly handled any white person that dared stand in their way. On the other hand, the whites—and some of them of the better class—are not held blameless. There have been instances during the last few days where white men and boys were the aggressors. A race war is not looked for or feared by the police.

There were no arrests made yesterday in direct connection with the lynching, and the police give no intimation that they contemplate making any such arrests. There is a feeling among the citizens that the authorities will let the matter drop in order to bring about peace and quiet to the community. It is known that certain prominent citizens have suggested to the police that further arrests for the burning of White would be inadvisable in view of the excitement and disorder caused by the arrest of Arthur Corwell of Indiana in connection with the lynching.

Corwell was released from custody after a lengthy hearing before Magistrate George H. Hollis for want of evidence.

William Cramer, the colored man who was shot Thursday night, is dead. Contrary to police reports, Cramer was shot by William Simms, a man of his own color. The two men got into an argument in a restaurant over the lynching of White. Simms was given a hearing and held without bail to await the action of the coroner.

The courts acted promptly on several cases growing out of Thursday night's disturbances, and some of those under arrest were "railroaded." Leander Moore, colored, who was one of the crowd of rioters at Ninth and King streets, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the workhouse.

Raid on Pool Rooms.

NEW YORK, June 27.—More than 600 prisoners were taken in the largest and most spectacular raid on pool rooms ever executed in this city. One hundred policemen, armed with axes, crowbars, sledge hammers and ladders and led by captains, swooped down on six places simultaneously, pounding their way through a network of doors in all the places except one.

Earthquake Shakes Hungarian Town

ERLAU, Hungary, June 27.—Four violent earthshocks have been felt here. Several houses in the suburbs collapsed and nearly all the buildings in the town were more or less damaged. The inhabitants were panic stricken. Erlau is the capital of the Hungarian province of Heves. It is a fortified town, having about 23,000 inhabitants.

Thought to Have Fled the Country.

PATERSON, N. J., June 27.—William MacQueen and Rudolph Grossman, the anarchists convicted of having taken part in the labor riot here last June, failed to appear in court to have their five year sentence put into execution, and their bail bonds of $6,500 each were declared forfeited. It is thought they have fled the country.

Sir Thomas Brought Over a Cup.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 27.—A letter from Sir Thomas Lipton to the Corinthian Yacht club of this city announces that Sir Thomas had brought to the United States the cup which he offered as a prize for the yacht races to be held on San Diego bay in the near future and that it will be forwarded at once from New York.

Rochester Priest Bishop of Cebu.

ROME, June 27.—The pope has ratified the appointment of the Rev. Thomas A. Hendrick of Rochester, N. Y., to the bishopric of Cebu, Philippine Islands, in succession to Mgr. Martin Garcia y Alcocer, at present apostolic administrator of the archdiocese of Manila, the last Spanish episcopal dignitary in the Philippine Islands.

Big Fire In Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, June 27.—Almost the entire plant of the Cincinnati Abattoir company, General Michael Ryan president, has been destroyed by fire. It is one of the largest slaughtering establishments in the west. The fire was caused by an explosion in the engine room. The loss is estimated at $200,000. The insurance is $125,000.

Yales undergraduates by popular vote decided that Harvard is the second best college and then proceeded to do up the wearers of the crimson in a boat race. A sensible vote; no one would expect the blue to decide that its enemy is only a third rate institution.

It is reported that Chairman Frelinghuysen, of the Somerset County Republican executive committee, proposes to allow North Plainfield to have one of the two voting machines donated the county. There's already a voting machine in North Plainfield which knocks the automatic device all hollow.

The appeal made by the Board of Governors of Muhlenburg Hospital for funds to complete the second ward in the new building should meet with a ready response. There should be no hesitation on the part of citizens to subscribe the $8,000 needed for the purpose. It seems remarkable that in a city of this size there has been so much difficulty in raising a sufficient amount to complete the structure. We are informed that up to the present time the list of contributors is scarcely over one hundred. This does not reflect credit upon the community. The money is urgently needed and should be forthcoming. Send in a subscription today.

Bishop Potter has notified Rev. R. C. Fillingham, a priest of the Church of England, that if he or his associates interrupt the services at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, New York, as proposed, he will be thrown into the street. The prelate declares that he has instructed the rector of the church to apply for a police detail to do the throwing. He adds that happily there is a law in New York to cope with such disorderly persons. The English priest is no doubt following in the footsteps of that fanatic Kensit, who was jailed time and again in England for the same offense. The Anglican communion unfortunately within its fold a few of these men who overstep the law in protesting against what they term idolatrous practices. Whether it be in the Anglican Church or any other such men as these should receive severe punishment. There is an orderly way for them to proceed in all such cases without restorting to a breach of the peace.

APPEAL FOR THE HOSPITAL

CITIZENS OF CITY AND BOROUGH ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE.

Eight Thousand Dollars is Urgently Needed at Once—Letter From Committee.

The finance committee of Muhlenberg Hospital makes the following statement:

The institution is in need of about $8,000 to complete the second ward of the new building. The foundation was built in conjuntcion with the other foundation work, a considerable saving in cost of contruction having been thus effected. No contracts however have been given for further work thereon as the Board of Governors has restricted its expenditures and contracts to its resources.

The necessity of completing the second ward is deemed to be urgent because the old hospital building must be vacated before cold weather. Inasmuch the heating apparatus in the old hospital broke down completely in the spring and $800 or $1,000 would have to be expended to make the repairs, which is considered unwise.

To open the new building with only one ward available would severely handicap the management and greatly increase the cost of maintenance, as the patients who otherwise would be located in one ward would be scattered through the rooms intended for private patients. This would necessitate the employing of a larger corps of nurses and lessen materially the revenue derived from private patients.

It would seem that no charity should appeal more strongly to the citizens of our community, and yet thus far there are only about one hundred contributors to the building fund. The Board of Governors holds its next meeting Monday evening and desires at that meeting to give authority to the building committee to contract for the completion of the second ward. Consequently funds are needed.

The finance committee expresses the hope that the good people of Plainfield and North Plainfield will appreciate the necessity of promptly coming to the aid of the institution in this emergency, making it possible to open the new building fully equipped to meet the constantly increasing demand upon the institution early in the fall. Any special information desired concerning the new building will be gladly given by any of the undersigned.

Contributions should be sent to William C. Kinney, treasurer, 828 Arlington avenue.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report Outlook Not as Good as It Has Been.

NEW YORK, June 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

No definitely unfavorable element is apparent in the business situation, but there are several unfavorable features that engender conservatism. In regard to distribution of merchandise, the long period of low temperature has curtailed trade in dry goods, clothing and other seasonable lines. Stocks have accumulated, and prospects for semiannual inventories are not altogether encouraging. Regarding crop progress, there is also sufficient uncertainty to maintain high prices for grain, while the manipulated position of cotton is a menace to the industry. Labor controversies still harass many branches of business, the building trades of this city and the textile mills at Philadelphia being completely demoralized, while minor struggles are in progress elsewhere.

Even in finance there is some question as to the future, although money is now abundant and comparatively easy. In two months over $22,000,000 in gold has been exported, and rates of exchange do not yield materially, while a decline of about $24 per share in the average quotation of the sixty active railways from the high record of last September has failed to attract any liberal investment demand. There is no cause for alarm in any one or all of these symptoms, yet it is not surprising that a feeling of caution exists, and many undertakings are postponed pending a restoration of normal conditions.

Foreign trade at this port for the last week shows an increase of $904,741 in value of merchandise exported, while a decrease of $630,974 occurred in imports as compared with the corresponding week in 1902.

Railway earnings thus far available for June surpass last year's by 10.2 per cent and exceed those of 1901 by 17.4 per cent. Bank exchanges for the week at New York were 11.3 per cent smaller than in 1902, and a decrease of 23.1 per cent appears in comparison with the same week two years ago, when speculation was much more active. At other leading cities clearings were 5.3 and 5.8 per cent larger, respectively.

After further moderate concessions in prices of iron and steel, especially in pig iron and partly finished shapes, the market has steadied, and there are indications that no additional reductions of consequence are probable for the present. Manufacturers of cotton goods have again advanced quotations in several lines, notably sheetings, although there is no attempt to secure prices in proportion to the present position of the raw material. Wool is unchanged and quiet. New England shoe shops are busy on fall footwear, with sufficient orders on hand to assure activity for some time.

Receipts of wheat at the interior were only 2,213,361 bushels against 2,557,397 bushels a year ago. Exports of flour made up part of the loss in outgo of wheat from the Atlantic coast, and shipments of both from all ports of the United States were equivalent to 2,789,466 bushels of wheat compared with 2,363,529 last year and 4,102,651 two years ago. Corn has made up some of its early loss in growth, but is still several weeks late in less favored regions, yet receipts on the old crop were 4,098,819 bushels for the week against 2,193,690 bushels a year ago.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for June aggregate $5,806,153, of which $1,708,400 were in manufacturing, $2,145,469 in trading and $1,952,284 in other commercial lines. Failures this week were 223 in the United States against 200 last year, and 19 in Canada compared with 20 a year ago.

Racing at Sheepshead Bay.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The summerlike weather that prevailed at the Sheepshead Bay track drew out a big attendance, and the talent had a profitable time. The Thistle stakes went to the second choice, Andy Williams, who closed very strong in the stretch and beat the favorite, Duke of Kendal, a short head. The rival warmed up like a wild horse, and there was a heavy play on him. He flattered his backers for awhile, but died away in the stretch. Effie Sheppard, backed from 50 to 1 to 12 to 1 in the first race, wheeled as the barrier went up and was left at the post. Valour, the winner of the last race, was bid up to $4,000, an advance of $2,300 over his entered selling price. C. Fellows was the buyer.

Gregor K., Favorite, Wins by a Head

CHICAGO, June 27.—Gregor K. was put to the fiercest kind of a drive to beat Sidney C. Love at Washington park. The little gelding, who rivals McChesney in popularity, was a 6 to 5 favorite. He led all the way, but in the stretch was challenged by Sidney C. Love and was ridden out to the last ounce to win by a head. The track was fast, and the seven and a half furlongs was run in 1:33 3-5, which is within one-fifth of a second of the track record. Golden Rule was a handy winner of the six furlong sprint. Lester Reiff made a conspicuously weak ride on High Chancellor in the second race.

Meteor Wins American Cup.

KIEL, Prussia, June 27.—The Meteor sailed by the emperor of Germany won the race for cruising schooners and the American cup, beating the Hamburg by 4m. 19s. The Hamburg was leading toward the finish when she broke her topmast and thus lost several minutes. The Iduna finished 25½ minutes behind the Meteor, which covered the course of a fraction over twenty-one miles in 6h. 19m. 14s. The Herreshoff built Navahoe in her class beat the English built Comet, which was presented by Emperor William to the German navy, by 14m. 18s.

Shrine Beats the Favorite.

DETROIT, Mich., June 27.—The improved track at Highland park, after three weeks of rain and mud, set the form players all at sea, and picking the winners from the big fields was a most difficult task. The feature event, a race at seven furlongs for three-year-old fillies, was won by Shrine, who cut out a commanding lead in the first furlong and finished two lengths before Birch Broom, the favorite.

Four Leaf Clover Won Easily.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—Six races were run over a muddy track at the fair grounds. Four Leaf Clover, with as good as 15 and 20 to 1 against her, won the feature very easily. Maverick ran a splendid race in the third, being cut off at the start and having to work his way through a big field.

Georgians Shoot Each Other.

FORSYTHE, Ga., June 27.—As a result of a shooting affray last night between Walter S. Childs and Zolly M. Maynard, two highly prominent citizens of this place, Childs is dead and Maynard is perhaps fatally wounded. It is said that the cause for the altercation was a former dispute between the two men over a negro employee, which had been intensified recently by Childs engaging some negroes who were employed by Maynard.

Barricaded Cars Will Be Released.

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., June 27.—The trouble on the Oneonta, Cooperstown and Richfield Springs trolley line with the Italian laborers who have been working on the extension from Richfield to Mohawk has been quieted by the partial payment of the wages due. Many of the 300 laborers have been paid. Officials of the road promise that the rest will be paid today. The barricaded cars will then be released and peace restored.

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

LITTLE ARTICLES OF DRESS.

Elastic Belts, New Fans and Veils Seen In the Shops.

The neck ruffles, stoles, little capes or whatever one may chose to call them are very smart and are calculated to set off the lines of the figure. The foundation may be of any fluffy material, caught here and there with little bunches of ribbon, artificial flowers, etc.

The wide elastic belt is also a feature of the season, and it is especially designed for wear with the short sack coat effects so much in vogue. One of the newest is of gold and silver elastic worked in a Russian design and held in place by jeweled clasps and slides.

Veils are simpler in texture and less closely figured than formerly. Pale blue chiffon veils are much affected with plain sailor hats.

Washable gloves are worn by all smart women during the hot weather.

TAILOR MADE OF RED CHEVIOT.

The favorite glove, however, for those who have dainty hands is made of silk in black or white, with double finger tips and snug fitting wrists.

Pretty fans are being sold in the shops. They are made to resemble when open bunches of flowers or a huge single flower, and they are most effective when worn with a gown which they match.

The simple tailor made sailor shape is being revived and is just the thing for outdoor summer wear.

The tailor made in the cut is of deep red cheviot trimmed with ecru and black applications of velvet and lace.

one, and for those who may not wear it the French sailor is designed in different sizes and trimmings.

The smart hats nearly all tilt off the face, but are brought well to the front to throw a shadow into the eyes.

A chic way of trimming a French sailor is to encircle the crown with a wreath of small flowers held together with a ribbon bow.

Scarlet touches in a rather deep shade appear on much of the white millinery.

The ecru hat trimmed with a single ecru ostrich plume is very pretty worn with a pongee gown.

The sailor shape of white linen simply trimmed with folds of china silk or a white breast is always smart and becoming.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

"No," said the major, ——— "Capt. Ray needs no more."

"I only asked because Field isn't here, and I thought—maybe—" tumbled Ross, ingloriously, but the mischief was done.

"Mr. Field is—busy," answered the major, still more shortly, then reddened to his bushy brows, for at the doorway, in riding dress, and with a face the color of parchment, stood the officer in question. It was a moment that threatened panic, but Webb met the crisis with marked aplomb.

"Oh, Field," he cried, "there's another matter. I want two good men to slip out at once and see how many of Stabber's people start or have started. It may be daybreak before they can tell. Sergt. Schreiber would be a tiptop man for one—and little Duffy. You 'tend to it."

And so, mercifully, he sent the lad away until the crowd should have dispersed. Only Blake and Ray were with him when, after awhile, Mr. Field returned and stood silently before them. Well he knew that the post commander could hardly overlook the absence of his adjutant at such a time.

"Have you anything to tell me, Field?" was the major's only query, his tone full of gentle yet grave reproach.

"I was restless. I could not sleep, sir. I went out—purposely."

"You know no horse can be taken from the stables at night except in presence of the sergeant or corporal of the guard."

"I took none, sir," was the answer, and now both faces were white. "I rode one of—Mr. Hay's."

For one moment there was no sound but the loud ticking of the big office clock. Then came the question:

"Who rode the others, Field? The sentries say they heard three."

There was another moment of silence. Ray stepped on tiptoe to the door as though he wanted not to hear. Blake looked blankly out of the window. Then the young soldier spoke.

"I—cannot tell you, sir."

For full ten seconds the post commander sat with grave, pallid face, looking straight into the eyes of his young staff officer. White as his senior, but with eyes as unflinching, Field returned the gaze. At last the major's voice was heard again, sad and constrained.

"Field, Capt. Ray starts on a forced march at once for Fort Beecher. I—wish you to go with him."

CHAPTER IV.

Many a time has it happened in the old days of the old army that the post adjutant has begged to be allowed to go with some detachment sent after Indians. Rarely has it happened, however, that, without any request from the detachment commander or of his own, has the post adjutant been ordered to go. No one could say of Beverly Field that he had not abundantly availed himself of every opportunity for active service in the past. During his first two years with the regiment he had spent more than half the time in saddle and afield, scouting the trails of war parties or marauding bands, or watching over a peaceful tribe when on the annual hunt. Twice he had been out with Ray, which meant a liberal education in plainscraft and frontier duty. Twice 20 times, probably, had he said he would welcome a chance to go again with Capt. Ray, and now the chance had come, so had the spoken order, and, so far from receiving it with rejoicing, it was more than apparent that he heard it with something like dismay.

But Webb was not the man to either explain or defend an order, even to a junior for whom he cherished such regard. Field felt instinctively that it was not because of a wish expressed in the past he was so suddenly bidden to take the field. Ray's senior subaltern, as he has been said, was absent, being on duty at West Point, but his junior was on hand, and Ray really did not need, and probably had not applied for, the services of Mr. Field. It was all the major's doing, and all, reasoned he, because the major deemed it best that for the time being his young adjutant should be sent away from the post. Impulse prompted Field to ask wherein he had offended or failed. Reflection taught him, however, that he would be wise to ask no questions. It might well be that Webb knew more of what had happened during the night than he, Beverly Field, would care to have mentioned.

"You can be ready, can you not?" asked the major.

"I am ready now, sir," was the brief, firm reply, but the tone told unerringly that the lad resented and in heart rebelled at the detail. "To whom shall I turn over the post fund, sir?"

"I do not care to have you transfer funds or—anything, Field. This is but a temporary affair, one that will take you away perhaps a fortnight."

"I prefer ——uld be permanent, sir," was the young officer's sudden interruption, and, though his eyes were blazing, he spoke with effort, his face still white with mingled sense of indignity and indignation.

"Gently, Mr. Field," said Webb, with unruffled calm, even while uplifting a hand in quiet warning. "We will consider that, if need be, on your return. Meantime, if you desire, I will receipt to you for the post fund or any other public money."

"That is the trouble, sir. The best I can do is give you an order for it. Post treasurers, as a rule, have not had to turn over their funds at four o'clock in the morning," which statement was true enough, however injudicious it might be to bruit it. Mild-mannered commanding officers sometimes amaze their subordinates by most unlooked for and unwelcome eruptiveness of speech when they feel that an unwarrantable liberty has been taken. Webb did not take fire. He turned icy.

"The quartermaster's safe can be opened at any moment, Mr. Field," said he, the blue gray eyes glittering, dangerously. "I presume your funds are there."

"It was because the quartermaster would not open it at any moment that I took them out and placed them elsewhere," hotly answered Field, and not until then did Webb remember that there had been quite a fiery talk, followed by hyperborean estrangement, between his two staff officers, and now, as the only government safe at the post was in the office of the quartermaster, and the only other one was Bill Hay's big "Phoenix" at the store, it dawned upon the major that it was there Mr. Field had stowed his packages of currency—a violation of orders pure and simple—and that was why he could not produce the money on the spot. Webb reflected. If he let Ray start at dawn and held Field back until the trader was astir, it might be eight o'clock before the youngster could set forth. By that time Ray would be perhaps a dozen miles to the northward, and with keen-eyed Indian scouts noting the march of the troop and keeping vigilant watch for possible stragglers, it might be sending the lad to certain death, for Plodder had said in so many words the Sioux about him had declared for war, had butchered three ranchmen on the Dry Fork, had fired on and driven in his herd guards and wood choppers, and, what started with Lame Wolf's big band, would spread to Stabber's little one in less than no time, and what spread to Stabber's would soon reach a host of the Sioux. Moreover, there was another reason. It would give Field opportunity for further conference with—inmates of the trader's household, and the major had his own grave reasons for seeking to prevent that.

"Your written order will be sufficient, Mr. Field," said he. "Send me memorandum of the amounts and I will receipt at once, so that you can go without further thought of them. And now," with a glance at the clock, "you have hardly half an hour in which to get ready."

Poor Norwegian Boy Who Rose from Deepest Obscurity and Now Is One of the Great Statesmen of the Hour.

The life of Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, has in it the elements of a purpose novel of twofold intent. The themes, which are closely interwoven, are the powerful influence which the early inspiring of a definite ambition has in shaping a life, and how success is gained despite the most untoward conditions. These points are clearly brought out in a clever little sketch, contributed by Antoinette Van Hoesen to the Cosmopolitan.

A foreign-born American, Knute Nelson came to this country from Norway with his widowed mother when he was less than five years old, and earned his first money selling newspapers upon the streets of Chicago. Later, when he and his mother were settled on a little sandy farm out in Wisconsin, his life was given a definite direction by one Mary Dillon, who taught the district school. Miss Dillon was a cultivated woman who came with her family to this country from Belfast, Ireland, to mend their broken fortunes. She became interested in the little, virile, eager-minded Norwegian boy, and, at stated intervals, invited him to her home. There, for the first time he saw the table-napery in use and a teatable ornamented with flowers. On one of these occasions, in talking with him of the famous personages of history, Miss Dillon said:

"You, too, may become a distinguished man, Knute. You've a good mind, and all you have to do is to be industrious and persevering. You can't be president, for you were not born in this country, but you can be a United States senator." This was long before there was a "New Education," but one of its foundation methods was used by Miss Dillon in thus relating young Nelson's life to the vital facts in the lives of men of success. From this time on he studied them with keen personal interest, seeking to find just how they had achieved. He realized that the first step was to learn more than a country district school taught.

HON. KNUTE NELSON.
(Statesman Who Succeeded Despite Most Untoward Conditions.)

Senator Nelson tells that he journeyed in an ox-cart of home construction, the wheels of which were sections of a big log, to the little village academy from which he graduated. On this cart was a large wooden chest which contained, in addition to his scanty wardrobe, sufficient provision from the farm to last him half the term. He did his own cooking, living as simply as did Daniel when he was in training to stand before Babylon's triumphant king. At this time he bore, without the slightest thought of relinquishing his object, the constant slights and ridicule of his fellow students.

Senator Nelson's personality announces the staying qualities which enabled him to realize the ambition inspired by his first teacher. He walks short, sits tall, and has the sturdiness of those not easily overthrown. His wide, firm mouth closes evenly; his iron-gray hair and beard are cropped to coordinate with the square-turned lines of his head and face; and his ear, which, according to de Maupassant, indicates one's origin far more accurately than any certificate of birth, is sizable, with elaborate, well-defined convolutions.

In a small way he entered the arena of politics shortly after he had finished his academic course, and has filled almost every office in the gift of the people, once or more, up to the one he now occupies. Meanwhile, he found time to serve as a soldier during the civil war, and to become an able lawyer.

The woman who opened the world of books to the senator, and the scarcely less important world of the amenities of life, was a guest at his home while he was a congressman. After her death, among her effects was found, carefully dated and arranged, almost every thing that had been published, up to that time, about him. It is one of the regrets of his life that Miss Dillon, the inspirer of his attainments, did not live to see him a senator.

Walks Paved with Corncobs.

A man who has been traveling in Iowa has hit upon an odd use of corncobs. He says: "I made a trip through a big part of Iowa recently, and I found several grain shipping towns that had corncob sidewalks. In spite of what one would think about it, cobs make a pretty good walk. They are a little rough at first but when the cobs become trampled down the walk is smooth.

A Victory to be Proud Of

The luxury of a sound throat and robust lungs is most keenly enjoyed by people who, having suffered all the consequences of "a little cold, you know," have been rescued from misery and danger by Allen's Lung Balsam.

"Asbury Park's" Loving Cup.

This magnificent loving cup is the token presented by the citizens of Asbury Park to the Central Railroad of New Jersey in appreciation of having named the handsome new boat for their city. When Acting Mayor Keater handed over the cup to Vice President Besler Thursday it was admired by the 1,200 passengers crowded about the decks of the steamer. The token cost $700 and was given in the name of the Common Council and Board of Trade of the seaside resort. Vice President Besler proposes to have it conspicuously mounted on a marble pedestal at the head of the grand staircare on the steamer.

The Asbury Park was built by the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building Company, Philadelphia. The contract provided that she should be a twenty knot boat and on the trial trip which took place in the open sea, she surpassed these requirements by half a knot. The new boat thus takes her place as the fleetest of her class and the owners of the fast steam yachts hereabouts now have a new standard against which to measure their speed.

The Asbury Park is forty feet longer than the largest of her sister ships. The exact measurements are 308 feet in length. There are thirty-two private state-rooms, all of which have been engaged for the season by prominent New York families having summer estates on the New Jersey coast. There are 360 incandescent lights with shaded bulbs, and at night when the boat is all ablaze she presents a picture of a floating fairy-land with the brilliant illumination streaming through her many windows. Her normal draft is 10 feet 10 inches and it requires twenty tons of extra weight to sink her an additional inch in the water. The hull is built of steel and is divided into five water-tight bulk-heads.

Capt. J. L Braisted, late of the St. Johns and senior captain of the fleet, has been placed in command. There is a crew of about fifty men, exclusive of the commissary department. These are a first and second officer, purser, three engineers, electrician, six oilers, two auxiliary men, two water tenders, twelve firemen, two stewardesses, eight porters and twelve deckhands. Aft on the main deck are a package room, barber shop with three chairs, news stand, purser's office and men's lavatories. The latter are specially commodious and equipped with the latest sanitary appliances. There is running water all over the boat. The Asbury Park will consume about fifty tons of coal a day.

Alis Club Defeated by Scotch Plains in a Hard Fought Battle on Oval.

ST. MARY'S CLUB TROUNCES THE DUNELLEN BALL TOSSERS.

Great Crowd Attends the Game on the Crescent Oval—Detailed Scores—Much Interest in the Matches—Other Games.

SCOTCH PLAINS, 6; ALIS, 2.

It was a bitter disappointment for Plainfield, Saturday, to see Alis go down in defeat before Scotch Plains on Crescent Oval. The home team made a plucky fight, however, in one of the best exhibitions of the season. In the first inning, the first man up for Scotch Plains, was hit by the ball and the next man walked. These gifts together with a couple of opportune hits, gave Scotch Plains three runs. Three more were added while Alis was scoring twice. "Lefty" Davis, the Scotch Plains pitcher, was effective, keeping the eight hits made off his delivery well scattered.

Staub for Alis, pitched well and was finely supported by Page behind the bat. He was touched up for nine hits.

The playing of Henriuez was a feature. The new shortstop contributed a three-bagger, one of the longest hits ever made on the oval. The other members of the team distinguished themselves more or less, except in the batting department.

The game was witnessed by the largest crowd of the season. A big crowd from Scotch Plains rejoiced in the success of their pets. The same teams will play two games next Saturday, one on the oval and one at Scotch Plains.

Game Forfeited by Ironsides.

Because Adair, the pitcher for the Ironsides of Newark, in Saturday's game between Hope and Ironsides on Hope Common, stepped outside his box in the ninth inning and the umpire awarded the batter his base, the visiting team refused to play out the game and forfeited it to Hope, 9 to 0. The score when the dispute arose was 11 to 9 in favor of Ironsides, with no one on base and nobody out in the first of the ninth. Adair had been warned against the offense several times previously in the game. Both teams played poor ball, a star catch by Pollack relieving an otherwise featureless conest. The summary:

ST. MARY'S, 11; DUNELLEN A. C., 0.

Dunellen people who saw their pets play St. Mary's on the latter's field Saturday afternoon had no occasion to root themselves hoarse. The game that was all one sided, the score ending 11 to 0 in favor of St. Mary's.

The eleven runs were well earned, Dunellen men doing good field work. The exceptionally clever work of the short stop, Monahan, and the excellent command, change of pace, and variety of curves of St. Mary's pitcher, Hughes, were features. In the seventh inning, Monahan caught a sizzler off Hughes' bat after a hard run of nearly 60 feet.

HOLD WEDDING BREAKFAST

MISS EDITH HYDE AND EVERETT COLBY WITH THEIR BRIDAL PARTY.

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hyde, Where Affair Was Held, Magnificiently Decorated.

In honor of the marriage of Miss Edith Hyde, daughter of Mrs. Charles Hyde, to Everett Colby, of Llewellyn Park, which takes place tomorrow afternoon, Mrs. Frank L. Hyde gave a wedding breakfast at noon today to the bridal party.

It was one of the most brilliant affairs held in this city in some time. The magnificent residence was adorned throughout with American beauty roses arranged in large clusters about the rooms. The dining room where the breakfast was held was banked by red roses on every side. The tables were lavishly strewn with flowers. Hung in festoons were strings of roses caught at the sides of the rooms with large lovers knots made of strings of great red roses. The effect was charming.

Among them were: Miss Edith Hyde and Everett Colby, the bride and groom elect, Miss Edith Hoadley Smalley, the maid-of-honor, Howard A. Colby, the brother of the groom, and the ushers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Mead, Mr. and Mrs. John Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Day, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hyde, of Titusville, Pa.

After the wedding breakfast the party went to the Crescent Avenue Church, where the wedding will take place, and had a rehearsal.

FUNDS FOR ORPHAN'S HOME.

Free Masons of New Jersey Responding Generously to Appeal.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Mount Holly, June 29—The manner in which the Free Masons of New Jersey have taken hold of the Orphans' Home project has greatly encouraged Grand Master W. Holt Apgar and his associates on the committee recently appointed at the session of the Grand Lodge to make arrangements for the erection of a suitable building on the Masonic Home grounds, near this city. There has been a generous response to the appeal sent out requesting a sum equal to $2 for each member of the fraternity in the State, and it is believed that through this source a sum sufficient to build and equip the orphanage can be obtained.

Young Schorb Commences Suit Alleging Child Wife is Kept From Him.

A BRIDE OF A MONTH

ACTION FOR DAMAGES NOW IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Married in Haste; Repent at Leisure?—Said That Groom Sought Riches—Denial by the Young Husband.

Summons were served this morning on George Marsh, his wife, Virginia Marsh and Mrs. Hannah Marsh, all of Scotch Plains, in a suit for $50,000 instituted in the Supreme Court by Clifford Schorb for damages and alienation of the affections of his bride of a month, Isaac P. Runyon is Schorb's lawyer.

The suit is the result of the secret marriage of Miss Ethel Marsh to young Schorb, Tuesday, June 9. The wedding was performed by Rev. Dr. Fenton, of Metuchen. On Wednesday, June 17, the young couple announced that they were man and wife. The parents of the bride opposed the match and, it is said, circulated reports about to the effect that young Schorb enticed her away.

It is claimed that he forced her to marry him, wealth being his real object. In the suit Mr. Schorb denies these allegations and makes a counter claim against the defendants for enticing his bride away from his house under false pretenses.

It is alleged that Schorb has in his possession certain billets doux tending to prove the young wife urged a hasty marriage.

GROOM FAILED TO APPEAR

BRIDE WAS ALL PREPARED FOR THE WEDDING DAY.

Plainfield Girl Deserted by Her Childood and Lifelong Sweetheart.

Miss Florence Moore, who lives with her uncle, Paul Meissner, on Watchung avenue and East Fifth street, is suffering from nervous shock caused, it is said, by the failure of her fiance, Burdette E. Ross, to put in appearance on the day she was to have married him.

The story of Miss Moore's courtship dates from her childhood days. She and Ross attended school together and a strong friendship arose between them. Ross left school to go west in search of a fortune and home for his sweetheart. Only once since then has Miss Moore seen him. He came East three years ago to claim his bride, proposed and was accepted.

He then went away once more and the two maintained an intimate correspondence. Letters came to Miss Moore from all parts of the United States. Finally one arrived from Philadelphia which said that Ross was sick in a hospital. Following this, the letters became more infrequent and three weeks ago Miss Moore received one bidding her return to her work as dress maker. Nothing was said about the marriage and since then, it is said, nothing further has been heard of the prospective groom.

The wedding day was set for some time in June and Miss Moore had completed all her arrangements. She refuses to say anything about the affair.

BETTER POLICE PROTECTION

BOROUGH'S FORCE NOW CONSISTS OF FOUR MEN.

Three Men to Do Night Duty—Fahn and Meyers the New Officers.

North Plainfield's police force has been reorganized and three officers now patrol the streets at night. Chief Marshal William T. Campbell maintains good order in the day time.

For almost a month the borough residents have been practically without police protection at night. One special officer, Walter Smalley, has been patrolling his beat in a community of 5,000 people. By day he drives an ice wagon.

The attention of the people was called to this condition of affairs as a result. At a meeting of the police committee of the Borough Council Smalley was made a regular marshal and Lawrence Fahn and Henry Meyers were reinstated on the force. These three will do night duty.

PRAISED WESLEY BY SONG AND SPEECH

Local M. E. Churches Observed the Anniversary of Birth of the Founder of Methodism.

HIS LIFE AND HIS WORK

FIRST M. E. AND MONROE AVENUE CHURCHES HOLD SPECIAL EXERCISES.

Pastors and James R. Joy Speak—Sunday-Schools Observe the Day —Dr. Halleron at Monroe Avenue M. E.—All Day Worship.

Hymn and prayer and sermons combined to celebrate the bi-centenial of the birth of John Wesley in the local M. E. churches yesterday. The exercises were held in the morning and evening, consisting of special sermons by the pastor and observances at the Sunday-school session by the teachers and pupils.

At the First M. E. Church, the pastor, Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, preached a special sermon in the morning on "John Wesley's Work." The sermon treated of the founding of Methodism and its rapid growth from the time when Wesley started as a missionary among the Indians.

The session of the Sunday-school was a combination of the quarterly service and a celebration of the birth of the "Father of Methodism." Parallels were drawn between the lives of Paul and John Wesley. Ten teachers of the school told of some one characterisic of the great preacher corresponding with a similar trait of the Apostles. Charles and John Wesley's hymns were sung by the school.

At the evening hour of worship James R. Joy, the author of a biography of the great divine, delivered an address on "How John Wesley Awakened England." Mr. Joy told of the awakening of Wesley to his personal responsibilities to God. He told of the man's birth, his education and characteristics of industry and common sense, physical and moral courage and the singleness of his purpose in life and his strength of purpose. He referred to his introduction of congregational singing in his churches. He quoted McCauley's characterization of Wesley as an ecclesiastical statesman.

At the Monroe Avenue M. E. Church yesterday morning special services were held during the Sunday-school session. The exercises were in charge of Walter McGee, the superintendent of the school. Each teacher read a short sketch on the work of Wesley. Papers were read by Mrs. J. C. Pearson, Clarence Bouard, Miss Fay Beekman, Mansfield Smith, J. C. Pearson, Edward Beekman and Miss Cumerson.

"Wesley and his time" was the theme of a sermon by the pastor, Rev. John McMurray. The religious beliefs of the English people at the time of the great preacher's birth were described. The pastor also spoke of the missionary work of Wesley, at the meeting of the Epworth League.

An address was given by the presiding elder of this district, Rev. Dr. Daniel Halleron, at the evening service. The fact that there are millions of Methodists in this and other countries shows convincingly, said Dr. Halleron, that a firm foundation was laid by Wesley upon which Methodism will continue to build until the world shall be redeemed.

THEATRICAL.

One of the catchiest songs in "The Wizard of Oz" the successful extravaganza now running at the Majestic Theatre, New York City, is the sensational "Sammy" song which is being whistled and hummed from one end of the metropolis to the other. Miss Lotta Faust trips down to the footlights and sings "Sammy" with so much gesture and such an excess of languishing facial expression that many people in the audience doubtless imagine that she must really be in love with some man of that plebian name. But it is not until two score of pretty girls forming a background for Miss Faust's serenade begin to really work that the excitement starts. Imagine forty of the prettiest girls in "The Wizard of Oz" singing this ode to Eros and duplicating Miss Faust's amorous pantomine.

—Several residents along West Front street have complained to the street department about the practice of spreading dirt and scrapings from other streets along that thoroughfare. The dirt has been used as a binder for the cracked stone used to repair the street.

OUR FLEET AT KIEL

Emperor Entertains Officers on the Yacht Meteor.

KAISER QUITE A SPORT WHEN AFLOAT

Many Festivities Occupy the Naval Officers—American Sailors Get a Hearty Welcome Ashore From Germans.

KIEL, Prussia, June 29.—The emperor's yacht Meteor crossed the line first in the race for cruising schooners Class A and kept the lead all the way over the thirty mile course, beating the Hamburg, second, in a ten knot breeze by one and a half minutes. The empress' yacht Iduna was again twenty minutes behind.

Emperor William had as his guests on board the Meteor during the race United States Ambassador Tower, Prince Henry of Prussia, Prince Adelbert, the emperor's son; Count Tiele-Wenckler, Count Redern and United States Naval Attache T. M. Potts. The emperor was quite a different man aboard the yacht than when aboard the battleship, talking about yachting and sporting matters the whole time. When lunch time came his majesty helped each member of the party himself from the large cold dishes provided, and Prince Adelbert photographed the group.

Though the Hamburg was a close second during the whole of the race, she lost a minute by her club topsail going by the board.

R. W. Goelet's Swan in the race for yachts of her class finished three and a half minutes ahead of Gustav Stinne's Glueckauf, but had to take second place under the handicap, which gave the latter four and a quarter minutes' time allowance. The Betty VI. was third.

In the cutter yawl race the Navahoe easily disposed of her only competitor, the Comet. The Therese unexpectedly beat the Commodore, and the big English schooner Cicely turned the tables on Herr Guilleaume's Clara, which won on Friday. The Cicely finished three minutes ahead, but the Clara protested owing to the Cicely carrying only one anchor, whereas under German rules two are necessary.

The officers of the Kearsarge hold a reception this afternoon, to which the emperor and empress, Prince and Princess Henry and all the notabilities at Kiel have accepted invitations. A reception will be given aboard the Kearsarge probably tomorrow for the crews of the German fleet. The German sailors will be able to see the inside of the ship and will be entertained by the crew.

There has been nothing whatever to complain of regarding the behavior of the American sailors who have been allowed ashore. They are welcomed along the water front, and the shops and restaurants are engaging interpreters for their convenience. Signs are displayed everywhere, "Americans are welcome to Kiel." The American tars cause considerable wonderment to the Germans by driving around in carriages and cabs. At least half of Kiel's limited supply of these vehicles is thus nightly employed.

Newcastle Tin Plant Burned.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., June 29.—Conservative estimates place the actual loss sustained by the Shenango tin plant in the fire Saturday night at not less than $25,000, while the figures may go much higher. No. 3 engine house of the hot mills, where the fire originated, was the worst damaged, and the ten hot mills to which it furnished power cannot operate for some time, although the other twenty hot mills will not be affected. It is thought the entire plant will be thrown into idleness as a result of the fire and the 2,500 employees thrown out of work.

Shot Both Father and Son.

ALBANY, Ga., June 29.—Z. T. Bryant and Albert Bryant, father and son, have been fatally shot in Worth county, near here, by J. S. Barfield. The Bryants are sawmill operators, and Barfield is a planter. There had been hard feeling between Barfield and the Bryants, growing out of the possession of a dog. Recently Barfield sent a message to the elder Bryant, which was accepted as an insult. Barfield and the Bryants met and quarreled, and the shooting followed.

Great Storm In West Virginia.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 29.—Great damage is reported from the storm over the southern portion of West Virginia. Wires are down, and it is impossible to get details. A number of buildings were struck by lightning here, one being the city hall. The telephone service was damaged, and the fire alarm system is down. An inch and a half of rain fell here in an hour and twenty minutes.

Italy at St. Louis Fair.

ROME, June 29.—Owing to the ministerial crisis it has been impossible for the chamber to discuss before its adjournment the appropriation for Italy's participation in the St. Louis fair. The cabinet has therefore decided to devote the necessary funds to this end from other sources and to submit their action for parliamentary approval at the autumn session.

A FRIEND TO TREATY

President Marroquin Wishes Agreement Ratified.

CONGRESS WILL DECIDE THE ISSUE

Preliminary Skirmish Won by the Friends of Canal Scheme—Many at Bogota Still Look Askance at the Big Ditch Plans.

BOGOTA, Colombia, June 29.—President Marroquin's message at Bogota respecting the canal convention says:

"To my government has been presented this dilemma: Either it lets our sovereignty suffer detriment or renounces certain pecuniary advantages, to which, according to the opinion of many, we have a right.

"In the first case, to consent to the sacrifice of our sovereignty and, not aspiring to a great indemnification, the just wishes of the inhabitants of Panama—a large portion of Colombia—would be satisfied if the canal were opened, but the government would be exposed to the charge afterward that it did not defend our sovereignty and that it did not defend the interests of the nation.

"In the second case, if the canal is not opened by Panama the government will be accused for not having allowed Colombia that benefit, which is regarded as the commencement of our aggrandizement.

"I have already allowed my wish to be understood that the canal should be opened through our territory. I believe that even at such cost of sacrifices we ought not to put obstacles to such a grand undertaking, because it is an immensely beneficial enterprise for the country and also because once the canal is opened by the United States our relations will become more intimate and extensive, while our industry, commerce and our wealth will gain incalculably.

"I leave the full responsibility for the decision of this matter at first for congress. I do not intend to make opinion weigh. When I have given instructions to our representatives at Washington it has been coupled with the order that the decision of this important matter must be left for congress.

"After years, in which the question has been treated in a vague way, without precise conditions, it is now presented in a way to obtain practical and positive results. It has been our indisputable triumph that the senate and the government of the United States should declare, notwithstanding every effort to the contrary, the superiority of the Colombian route."

Plans Great Scientific College.

LONDON, June 29.—The Earl of Rosebery has written to the chairman of the London county council submitting a plan for the establishment of a great institution for advanced scientific and technological education at a cost of $1,500,000, toward which sum Wernher, Beit & Co., the well known diamond firm, and others offer large contributions. A site for the institution has also practically been secured. Lord Rosebery asks the council for an annual grant of $150,000 for the maintenance of the institution, upon securing which the whole scheme depends. Lord Rosebery says, "It is short of scandalous that our ambitious youths should be obliged to resort to the United States and Germany for technical training." He points out that English industries are suffering in consequence of the neglect of this important branch of education in the United Kingdom.

Cunarder Beats American Liner.

NEW YORK, June 29.—In an exciting race between the steamers St. Paul and Umbria the latter won. The St. Paul passed Nantucket at 8 o'clock, the Umbria passing about two hours later. Learning at Nantucket that the St. Paul was only two hours ahead, Captain Dutton of the Umbria determined if possible to overtake the American liner before she reached Sandy Hook. When Captain Jamison of the St. Paul sighted the Umbria he ordered full speed ahead, hoping to leave the latter behind, but the Umbria proved to be the faster and passed the Sandy Hook lightship six minutes ahead of the St. Paul.

British Steamers In Collision.

FALMOUTH, England, June 29.—The British steamer City of Gloucester, Captain Milburn, has arrived here with her starboard bow cut down from the topgallant forecastle to the water's edge, her plates badly indented below and her forepeak full of water, the result of a collision in the fog off Bishop's rock with the British bark Eudora, Captain Fulton, Vancouver, B. C., for Plymouth. The Eudora, it is reported, is being towed to Plymouth. The City of Gloucester was last reported at Hamburg from Savannah, Ga.

Clyde Walker Dawson Drowned.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 29.—Clyde Walker Dawson, assistant agent of the board of children's guardians of the District of Columbia, was drowned here. He had ventured well out where a strong ebb tide was running. He tried to get ashore, but became exhausted just within the edge of the breakers. He lived at Linden, Md. Commissioner Macfarland of the District of Columbia, who was here on a visit, took charge of the body. It was recovered about two hours after the drowning. Dawson leaves a family.

Overdue Minnetonka Is In Port.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The overdue steamer Minnetonka, on which reinsurance was quoted at 18 per cent, has arrived from New York via Coronel. The voyage of the big freighter was uneventful. She occupied eighty-eight days coming from New York.

Plainfield, N. J., June 29, 1903.

Senator M. A. Hanna in an address before Salvation Army workers yesterday intimated that if he had the power to touch men's hearts he would resign from the Senate to preach. No need for him resigning. A little preaching in the Senate would be helpful.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, not only boasts that it is the largest single body of Pythians in the State but that it has the youngest chancellor commander. Effervescent Thomas Muir, notwithstanding his youthfulness, should make a capable and creditable commander.

A negro minister in Wilmington last night advised his congregation to emulate Tracy the outlaw when wrongfully accused. "Be your own sheriff, court and jury," said he. Any man white or black advocating such lawless doctrine should be behind the bars. He's unsafe to mingle in civilized society.

People like to know how they're rated in this world. Sometimes you can find out though your name is not in Bradstreet's or Dunn's. For instance the suit instituted by a husband against his parents-in-law, tells his young wife how much he thinks of her. Just $50,000. Don't you think she ought to live with him after that?

The Chicago Maternity Hospital has prepared a table showing how much babies should weigh. One a year old, according to this authority, should tip the scale at twenty and a half pounds. Any weight over this is superfluous flesh. Strange to relate no suggestion is made as to a course in physical training. Dieting is recommended.

It seems rather strange that the police department received no information regarding the assault upon Michael Doyle until the morning after it occurred. The first duty of a citizen in such cases is to notify the police. Fortunately in this case no harm resulted from the delay. Chief Kiely ran down the man responsible for the offense in short order.

Scotch Plains is wrestling with the police question. At present the department there consists of one man. Now some of its citizens express the opinion that a police officer is an ornamental and costly fixture of the municipality and should be abolished. Others take exceptions, wishing to have an imposing force, say for instance of two men. It's a weighty question, but possibly the Scotch Plains Council will be able to dispose of it on Wednesday evening without appointing a commission.

Ladies and Children Invited.

All ladies and children who cannot stand the shocking strain of laxative syrups, cathartics, etc., are invited to try the famous Little Early Risers. They are different from all other pills. They do not purge the system. Even a double dose will not gripe, weaken or sicken; many people call them the Easy Pill. W. H. Howell, Houston, Tex., says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Layayette, Ind., says all others gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work well and easy. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

At the opening of the eighth a change was made in the visiting team. Cushing went into the box and Ettlinger covered second. Rangers at second base swapped with Cushing, better work resulting from the change.

Hughes for St. Mary's scored fifteen strikeouts against Hilinger's four and Cushing's one. Mallay at center played good ball for the home team and "freezing" onto several hot ones. Fred Winn, at first played an exceptionally good game in spite of a sprained ankle.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The Dunellen A. C. does not feel discouraged because of its overwhelming defeat on Saturday by the St. Mary's team as it had to contend with a number of difficulties. In the first place Ettinger is away and was unable to play on Saturday. His absence was harmful as his brother, who took his place, was sadly out of condition, and did poor work. Besides the locals had to bat against Hughes, who formerly pitched on the Brooklyn National League team. He was invincible and the locals could not touch him.

The Levering & Garrigue's baseball team journeyed by stage to Metuchen on Saturday and played the A. C., of that place. The Metuchen team thought they were to play the Dunellen A. C., hence they padded up their team with strong out-of-town players. As a result the Levering & Garrigue's team was smothered by a score of 26 to 2.

The Watchung A. C. went down to defeat at the hands of the Bound Brook A. C. at the latter place Saturday afternoon. The game was a close one and was won by the Bound Brook's 12 to 7. The locals claim that if the umpire had been fair they would have won.

A junior ball team from Bound Brook defeated the Silver Leaves, of this place, on Saturday morning in a red hot game by a score of 3 to 2. Kuchner pitched a fine game for the Silver Leaves.

There was a good attendance at the morning service in the Methodist Church yesterday. Rev. S. K. Doolittle preached.

Mrs. Everett Ward, of Newark, has returned home after a visit at the home of Mrs. S. B. Nelson.

NEW MARKET.

The Y. M. A. baseball team at last redeemed itself on Saturday and overwhelmed its old rival, the Triangle A. C., of New Brunswick, on Nelson's field of the score of 23 to 2. The locals played well and completely outclassed their rivals from the county seat. Each team now has a game to its credit.

A number of members of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. spent Saturday afternoon canoeing on the lake.

A meeting of Lakeside Council will be held Thursday evening to transact important business.

Rev. Frank Fletcher conducted services in the First Baptist Church yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Will we continue the one man police department or abolish it, will be the business discussed at the Borough Council meeting to be held in the borough rooms on Wednesday night Many of the residents feel as though this branch of the borough work is a needless expense while others, many of whom have been the victims of burglars in the past, feel as though they want some protection at night. The Council will probably decide the matter.

A serious runaway was narrowly averted on Sunday morning on Park avenue. A stranger driving a spirited team allowed one of the reins to drop to the groundi striking one of the horses on the heel. The animals became scared and started but the driver with rare presence of mind, pulled the team up on the sidewalk with the one remaining line, a bystander came to his assistance and the animals were caught before any damage was done.

Fully two hundred baseball enthusiasts from town journeyed to Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, to see the crack local team add the scalp of Plainfield's best team, the Alls, to their belt. The locals went into the game in their half of the first inning and pounded out three runs, after this the game was never in danger and the locals won by the score of 6 to 2.

Some of the local followers of the ball team have been kept busy since Saturday afternoon, burning Plainfield money. The two teams meet again on the Fourth. In the morning the locals will journey to Crescent Oval; the afternoon game being played on the local diamond.

The efforts made to organize a second ball team in the village has practically failed, the material was here, but the games played by the first team was too much of an attraction and the members of the proposed seconds decided that they would not put another team in the field this season.

Manager Johnston's new finds, Mc Manus at left field and Kavanagh at right field, made good in Saturday's game, McManus's three base hit in the seventh inning made him a favorite with the fans at once.

Some of the local lovers of the national game, journeyed to Newark, yesterday afternoon to witness the game between the N. Y. National League team and the Newarks, of the Eastern League.

The balloon ascension at Galvin's Park, yesterday afternoon, drew a large crowd. Cars were run under eight minutes headway and the service, while hard to realize, was right up-to-date.

Manager Johnston intends having the infield of the ball grounds cut out square instead of diamond shape, as it now is. This will give morec hance for infield work in a game.

The members of the Epworth League, of the Methodist Church, will hold a business meeting and social in the church tonight.

THEATRICAL.

The magic of a name was never more clearly demonstrated than in the case of Miss Fay Templeton with "The Runaways" at the Casino. "The Runaways," massive, spectacular, colorful and tuneful, was playing to more money each week than any of the former big successes of that popular play house. Miss Templeton has now been with the company two weeks and there has not been an unoccupied seat in the theatre at any performance in that period. Her every appearance on the Casino stage is greeted with the most enthusiastic applause.

Among the guests present at the one hundred and fiftieth performance of "The Earl of Pawtucket" at the Manhattan Theatre, were C. M. Schweb, president of the United States Steel Company, and Sir Percy Sanderson, British Consul general, who, with their families, occupied boxes; Captain Wringe, who will sail "Shamrock III;" Captain Watson who sailed "Shamrock II" and the sailing master of "Shamrock I" in another box; and George C. Boldt, of the Waldorf-Astoria and assistant manager Barse and their families in another box. At the close of the first act the house burst into enthusiasm over the acting of the star, Lawrence D'Orsay. Mark Twain arose in his box and made a characteristic speech, in which he euligized "The Earl of Pawtucket" and the company, making humorous remarks about the author of the play.

BILBAO'S BIG WRECK

Spanish Mail Train Goes Into the Nejerilla River.

THIRTY KILLED AND SIXTY INJURED

Two Engines and Sixteen Coaches With Three Hundred Passengers Thrown From Bridge on the Bilbao-Saragossa Road.

MADRID, June 29.—Fourteen bodies and fifty injured persons have been extricated from the wreck of a Bilbao train which was overturned at Nejerilla river late Saturday night.

According to official information, thirty persons were killed and sixty others seriously injured. Many of the latter will die. Of the 300 passengers on the train it is stated that only six escaped unhurt.

The train, which was composed of two engines and sixteen coaches, was crossing the bridge when the couplings between the engines broke. The second engine left the track and fell, followed by the entire train, into the bed of the river. Fortunately the water was low.

The nearest medical attendance was a mile and a half distant.

The train fell fifty feet from the bridge to the river bed, the coaches piling up in a mass of splintered wood and ironwork. The scene is described as horrifying.

Many corpses were carried down the stream, which was actually reddened with blood. It was found impossible to extricate numbers of the injured who were pinioned under the wreckage. A railway guard was arrested in the act of robbing the dead and narrowly escaped lynching.

It is believed that the official figures underestimate the number of the killed, some accounts giving the number of dead as 100. The full extent of the catastrophe will only be known when the wreckage has been cleared away.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS.

Annual Communion Services In Boston Attended by Thousands.

BOSTON, June 29.—The annual communion service of the mother church of the Christian Science denomination, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, was held in Mechanics hall yesterday, the three congregations aggregating over 15,000 persons. Each service was impressive, especially in the silent communion when the entire congregation knelt. At each service the readers of the First church, the directors and other members of prominence had seats on the platform.

Professor Herman S. Hering, formerly of Johns Hopkins university and who is a son of Dr. Constantine Hering, one of the founders of homeopathy in this country, officiated as first reader, and Mrs. Ella E. Williams was second reader. There was no departure from the order of service followed at previous annual communions of the mother church, and it closely followed the service in the individual churches of the denomination.

Many thousands of the Scientists will make the pilgrimage today to the home of Mrs. Eddy in Concord, N. H., and numerous special trains have been chartered. It is estimated that about 18,000 members of the denomination have come here to attend the services.

Twenty-four Mexican Miners Killed.

BARRATOERAN, Mexico, June 29.—Twenty-four miners were killed and about fifty others injured in an explosion of gas that occurred in Las Esperanzas coal mines, the property of the Mexican Coal and Coke company. The disaster was caused by the ignition of the gas by the flame from a defective lamp. As soon as it was known that the flames had subsided miners went below to ascertain the extent of the damage, when the dead bodies of twenty-four men were brought to light. A call of the roll has shown that they were the only ones who perished, though others may die as a result of their injuries.

Ravenna's Big Blaze, Loss $250,000.

RAVENNA, O., June 29.—Fire almost completely destroyed the massive plants of the Riddle Coach and Hearse company here, creating a loss of $250,000. It was the largest fire in the history of Portage county, and for a time it was feared that all the business places along Main street would be destroyed. The White hospital is only a few doors away, and a panic was created among the patients. Flying sparks and brands were carried two miles, and a dozen smaller buildings were ignited.

Crash on Long Island Train.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Four persons were rather badly injured in a collision on the Long Island railroad at Vesta avenue and New Lots road. The train of three coaches was on the way from Long Island City to Manhattan Beach and was fairly filled with passengers. The first of the three coaches was thrown off the track and overturned. Not many were in the other cars. They were soon out and helped to take care of the injured and excited passengers.

Big Irrigation Scheme.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The interior department has withdrawn from all forms of settlement except homestead entry 127 townships in the Walla Walla, Waterville and Yakima land district, in Washington state, under the reclamation act. This withdrawal, involving almost 3,000 acres, is the largest in the recollection of officials here and is for irrigation purposes in what is known as the Big Bend project.

Decatur Fire, Loss $50,000.

DECATUR, [illegible] has destroyed Kerr, Becker & Co.'s department store here. The loss was $50,000

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

WOMAN LASSO EXPERT.

She Hurls a Lariat With the Skill of a Cowboy.

"You think," said the man from the ranch, "that a cow puncher is a drunkard and a reckless shooter. It's not so. It is this way: Six weeks at a time he may be alone on the treeless plains with his cattle and not see a soul to speak to."

"Is he lonely?"

"No," replied Frank Chamberlin. "He learns to be interested in very little things. Maybe an antelope crosses the plain. He watches it an hour till it goes out of sight. Perhaps some Indians pass by on their way from one reservation to another, and that, too, diverts him. He looks after his steers, sleeps outdoors and maybe gets into town once a year. If he happens to get hilarious and raise things this once a year, then all the world says cowboys are drunken desperadoes. The fact is there is no more temperate man living than the cow puncher. Now, for myself, I never drink, smoke, chew or gamble. Once I smoked two years, but didn't care for it, so gave it up. There's my wife Myrtle, who was with me on the plains. She is a teetotaler too. Neither of us ever touches anything intoxicating, though we're both show people."

SPINNING THE LARIAT.

Mrs. Chamberlin is one of the few women in America who can spin a lariat and lasso a steer as well as any man cow puncher can do. She can perform with the best of the cattle men their tricks with rope and noose.

Some of her feats seem like sleight of hand. She begins with the merest loop in a rope, spins it round and round in a gradually widening circle, jumping into the circle and out of it again, meanwhile keeping up the motion steadily. She can gradually raise that whirling rope without marring for an instant the perfect circumference, throw it over her shoulders and leap out from under it again, it spinning, spinning all the while in a way to make you dizzy. One trick is to whirl the rope by a wrist motion; also a forearm movement, leaving the hand quite free. All this looks easy as smiling when Myrtle Chamberlin does it, but if you think it is easy try it. It is impossible for an animal or a human being to escape the lasso in the hands of an expert.

The picture shows Myrtle whirling a rope around her husband, Frank. She was a Michigan girl who went west to live on a Montana ranch. She and her husband became inseparable comrades and chums outdoors as well as in. He coached her in rough riding, cow punching and lariat throwing till she confessed she was as good at rope tricks as he himself was, and he was for awhile one of Buffalo Bill's riders. The pair after a time began to give exhibitions because that paid better than taking care of cattle for other owners. But after awhile—

"Then what are you going to do?"

"We are going directly back to Montana and get a ranch of our own and run it. We like that life best. Where you have your own ranch you can double your money in five years."

Myrtle is a noble specimen of physical womanhood, with arms like marble pillars. She is 5 feet 8½ inches in height and weighs 220 pounds, yet is active as a cat. She is a woman athlete. She told me she always rides astride at her home in Montana.

"It wouldn't be safe any other way, with the steep places you have to go up and down. At home on the ranch I never wear anything but a short skirt or out and out trousers, never a long dress. I have one suit with leather breeches just like that the cow punchers wear. I like that the best of all. Oh, trousers are altogether the best dress.

"Physical culture? I never open a Sunday paper that I don't see columns of stuff about it. I don't believe in 'physical culture.' I can do every one of these things these women can and I never had any training in my life. Work, that's what they want, something useful, that will exercise the whole body all over at once. If they would get out and do a good washing—that's the kind of exercise. But these ladies—they make this sort of motion, and this and this"—moving her arms. "What good? After exercising they squeeze themselves up into a corset like a vise, and fifteen minutes' of corset will upset and destroy two hours' physical culture."

In her public performances this nobly developed young woman wears knickerbockers and no skirt at all. On the plains, riding alone, she always carries a knife and "gun," as the cowboys call a pistol. The gun is carried partly because some accident may make it necessary to shoot a steer or even the horse, one is [illegible]

SUSAN [illegible]

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

Raising his hand in mechanical salute, Field faced about, cast one look at Blake, standing uncomfortably at the window, and then strode angering away to his quarters, smarting under a sense of unmerited rebuke, yet realizing that, as matters looked, no one was more to blame than himself.

Just as the first faint flush of coming day was mantling the pallid eastern sky, and while the stars still sparkled aloft and the big, bright moon was sinking to the snow-tipped peaks far away to the occident, in shadowy column a troop of 50 horse filed slowly from The Sorrels' big corral and headed straight for the Platte. Swift and unfordable in front of Frayne in the earlier summer, the river now went murmuring sleepily over its stony bed, and Ray led boldly down the bank and plunged girth deep into the foaming waters. Five minutes more and every man had lined up safely on the northward bank. In low tone the order was given, starting as Ray did, in solid column of fours. In dead silence the little command moved slowly away, followed by the eyes of half the garrison on the bluff. Many of these were women and children, who gazed through a mist of tears. Ray turned in saddle as the last of his men went by; looked long at the dim light in the upper window of his home, where, clasping her children to her heart, his devoted wife knelt watching them, her fond lips moving in ceaseless prayer. Dimly she could see the tired leader, her soldier husband, sitting in saddle at the bank. Bravely she answered the flutter of his handkerchief in farewell. Then all was swallowed up in the shadows of the distant prairie, and from the nursery adjoining her room there rose a querulous wail that told that her baby daughter was waking, indifferent to the need that sent the soldier father to the aid of distant comrades, threatened by a merciless foe, and conscious only of her infantile demands and expectations. Not yet ten years wed, that brave, devoted wife and mother had known but two summers that had not torn her husband from her side on just such quest and duty, for these were the days of the building up of the west, resisted to the bitter end by the red wards of the nation.

The sun was just peering over the rough, jagged outline of the eastward buttes, when a quick yet muffled step was heard on the major's veranda and a picturesque figure stood waiting at the door. Scout, of course, a stranger would have said at a glance, for from head to foot the man was clad in beaded buckskin, without sign of soldier garb of any kind, but in that strange garb there stood revealed one of the famous sergeants of a famous regiment, the veteran of a quarter of a century of service with the standard, wounded time and again, bearing the scars of Stuart's sabre and of Southern lead, of Indian arrow and bullet both; proud possessor of the medal of honor that many a senior sought in vain; proud as the Lucifer from whom he took his Christian name, brave, cool, resolute and ever reliable—Schreiber, first sergeant of old "K" troop for many a year, faced his post commander with brief and characteristic report:

"Sir, Chief Stabber, with over 30 warriors, left camp about three o'clock, heading for Eagle Butte."

"Well done, sergeant! I knew I could count on you," answered Webb, in hearty commendation. "Now, one thing more. Go to "F" troop's quarters and see how Kennedy is faring. He came in with dispatches from Fort Beecher, and later drank more, I fancy, than was good for him, for which I assume all responsibility. Keep him out of mischief this morning."

"I will, sir," said the sergeant, and, saluting, turned away while Webb went back to set a dismantled pantry in partial order, against the appearance of his long-suffering housekeeper, whose comments he dreaded as he did those of no inspector general in the army.

Ten minutes more and the sergeant was back again.

"Sir, I have to report that Trooper Kennedy has not been seen about the quarters," said he.

"Then try the stables, sergeant," answered the veteran campaigner, and thither would Schreiber next have gone, even had he not been sent. And, sure enough, there was Kennedy, with rueful face and a maudlin romaunt about a moonlit meeting with a swarm of painted Sioux, over which the stable guard were making merry and stirring the trooper's soul to wrath ungovernable.

"I can prove ut," he howled, to the accompaniment of clinching fists and bellicose lunges at the laughing tormentor nearest him. "I can whip the hide off'n the scut that says I didn't. Ask Lootn't Field, bejabers! He saw it. Ask—Oh, Mother of God! what's this I'm sayin'?"—And there, with stern, rebuking gaze, stood the man they knew and feared, every soul of them, as they did no commissioned soldier in the —th, Sergeant Schreiber, the redoubtable, and Schreiber had heard the insane and damaging boast.

"Come with me, Kennedy," was all he said, and Kennedy snatched his battered felt headgear down over his eyes and tacked woefully after his swift-striding master, without ever another word.

But it was to his own room Schreiber took the unhappy Irishman, not to the quarters of company "F." He had heard words that, coupled with others that fell through the darkness on his keenly listening ears some two hours earlier, had given him cause for painful thought. "Lie down here, Kennedy. Pull off your boots," said he, "and if you open your fool head to any living soul until I give you leave, by Gott—I'll gill you!" It was Schreiber's way, like Marryatt's famous boatswain, to begin his admonitions in exact English, and then, as wrath overcame him, to lapse into dialect.

It was but a few minutes after seven when Maj. Webb, having previously dispatched a messenger to the post trader's to say he had need to see Mr. Hay as soon as possible, mounted his horse and, followed by Sergeant Schreiber and an orderly, rode quietly past the guard-house, touching his hat to the shouted "Turn out the guard—commanding officer" of the sentry on Number One. Mr. Hay was dressing hurriedly, said the servant, so Webb bade Schreiber and the orderly ride slowly down to the flats and await him at the forks of the road. It was but five minutes before Hay appeared, pulling on his coat as he shot from the door, but even before he came the major had been carefully, cautiously scanning the blinds of the second story, even while feigning deep interest in the doings of a little squad of garrison prisoners—the inevitable inmates of the guard-house in the days before we had our safeguard in shape of the soldier's club—the post exchange—and now again in the days that follow its ill-judged extinction. The paymaster had been at Frayne but five days earlier. The prison room was full of aching heads, and Hay's coffers of hard-earned, ill-spent dollars. Webb sighed at sight of the crowded ranks of this whimsically named "company Q," but in no wise relaxed his vigilance, for the slats of the blind of the corner window had partially opened. He had had a glimpse of feminine fingers, and purposely he called Hay well out into the road, then bent down over him.

RACES TO SELECT DEFENDER.

America Cup Yachts Will Sail Six Trial Spins.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 29.—For the first time since the rival cup yachts Reliance, Constitution and Columbia began the season's racing they were all at their moorings in Newport harbor, fully prepared for a continuation of their interesting contests in the six races which have been arranged off this port on every day this week by the New York Yacht club.

While the day's winner in each will probably receive some emblem from the club, the races have been planned more as a test of the yachts in the open sea and in the strong winds which usually prevail at this point on the coast. The contests will also have some bearing with the America's cup committee in the selection of a defender of the cup against Shamrock III., although what are known as the official trial races will not take place until the last of next month.

Up to the present time the three yachts have sailed eight finished races, and in each one the latest aspirant for cup defending honors, Reliance, has finished in the lead, although, owing to secrecy regarding the actual measurements of the two boats, there is some question whether or not Constitution did not win two of them because of her smaller sail area, as in each case she was scarcely two minutes behind the Reliance at the line.

SHAMROCK III. IS FAST.

Lipton's New Challenger Shows Up Well In Trial Race.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Shamrock III. has been given her first test in American waters in an informal trial with the Shamrock I. off Sandy Hook. In the first ten miles of a fifteen mile beat to windward in a very light air the new boat beat the old one about ten minutes and in a run of fifteen miles to leeward nine minutes. After beating offshore from Scotland lightship for ten miles the Shamrock III. turned about and rejoined the older boat, after which they sailed down along the Jersey coast past Long Branch and then squared away for Scotland lightship again. There was a long gentle sea, and the new challenger slipped cleanly over it, making little fuss under her bow.

Taking into consideration the assertion by English yachtsmen that the Shamrock I. is ten minutes faster in a thirty mile course than she ever was and fully as much faster than the Shamrock II., the new boat's first performance on this side of the Atlantic marks her as probably the most dangerous challenger Sir Thomas has brought over. In a light air and smooth water she showed herself to be very fast. The chief purpose of the trial was to stretch the sails and resume the tuning up of the new boat.

Ward Wins Final at Tennis.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Play in the special lawn tennis tournament on the courts of the Crescent Athletic club at Bay Ridge was completed after five days of contest in singles and doubles. In the final doubles Ward and Ware won the special trophy by defeating Larned and Whitman.

The report of the Sabbath commission Wednesday morning on the question of changing the Jewish Sabbath from Saturday to Sunday is expected to result in an interesting and important discussion. Papers on theological and historical subjects will be read by prominent rabbis from all parts of the country.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

"John Currid, who was born near here, spent his school days among us, and was in the employ of the New Jersey Central, at the time of his being killed in the Westfield disaster, has saved up about $7,000 from his earnings and investments. His heirs have just been allowed by the railroad nearly $4,000 on account of his death."—Clinton Democrat.

His Honor, Mayor Hinchliffe, authoritatively announced in The News yesterday that under no circumstances would he accept the Democratic nomination for Governor. And there are people mean enough to say that the Mayor, in making this declaration, did not sacrifice any ambition that had much chance of being realized by an election. — Paterson Evening News.

In an interview printed in The Sun yesterday the "kicker" of the ball field was presented in a new aspect by the New York National League captain, John J. McGraw, himself long known as a kicking king. Briefly, Capt. McGraw says that things have so improved lately with the game, the umpires and the spectators thereof, that there is not now the old "kicking at the umpires to get the crowd started."

So the kicker was primarily a stimulant to popular interest. No theory has come so near explaining the apparent collusion of the various club managers with the kicking practice. It was a question of policy. We welcome Capt. McGraw's assurance that it is dying out, though the episode of Celtic Park on Sunday had been discouraging.—The Sun.

If the Rev. R. C. Fillingham, the anti-ritualist clergyman of the church of England, whose zeal in the right way—as he sees it—has led him to make scenes in the churches of his own country, attempts the same sort of work in New York next year, as he threatens, he is likely to meet with different treatment from that accorded to him at home. Americans look with disfavor upon those who disturb religious services, upon no matter what pretext, and the reverend gentleman may find himself in a cold and uncomfortable police cell—that great chiller of enthusiasms—if he persists in his crusade. We do not take our religion hard in this country, but we propose to worship God in the way we consider the best, and each man is allowed the right of personal opinion. There is no room here for clerical brawlers of the Fillingham type.—Newark Advertiser.

Common sense says that the section of the election law which provides that the ballots cast at any election shall, after the count, remain in the boxes six months, only applies to general elections, or special elections to fill election offices. The object is, of course, to preserve the evidence in case of a contest. This is unnecessary in either the special election, when the proposed constitutional amendment are submitted to popular vote, or in the primary election. It is inconceivable that any court would so interpret the law as to put the different municipalities to the expense of purchasing new ballot boxes for each of these elections.

That City Counsel Young will reach this conclusion and advise the city clerk accordingly may be confidently anticipated. Mr. Young is not in the habit of finding difficulties where none exist.—Newark Evening News.

Former Attorney-General Griggs, when approached on the subject of again running for Governor or United States Senator, is quoted as saying: "I have not burned all political bridges behind me, and might accept some office of distinction if it came to me naturally, but I will not prosecute a strenuous, booming campaign, with an organized machine to push my candidacy. I have neither the time nor the taste for entering into that kind of a struggle. At the same time, if my fellow citizens at any time should feel that I could serve them acceptably in the Senatorship I should not wish to be regarded as beyond consideration." This declaration practically places Mr. Griggs in the hands of his friends, and he has plenty of them all over the State. The only question is as to whether they can make their power felt if they are unorganized and have no walking delegate.—Newark Evening News.

"Until he has come in direct contact with persons vitally interested in the famous Kentucky feuds, a northerner has no idea how bitter a hatred the members of one clan or family harbor against the enemy," said a Plainfield, N. J., man who was recently called to that section of the country, and saw and heard evidences of the feuds for the first time. "The malignity is not confined to the members of the immediate family of the man who fancies he has received an injury, but reaches out until grandchildren, uncles, aunts, nieces and even cousins who are connected by the most flimsy ties take sides in the fray and stand ready to do each other to the death at sight."

Continuing, he said: "A civil engineer, who had been sent to the region of a feud to look after some surveys, had such a scare that he and his assistant hurried away at the first opportunity. They were working along a lonely trail one day, when a man suddenly galloped towards them on a foaming horse. Seeing the engineer, he drew rein long enough to shout, 'If you see anyone asking for me, don't tell them that I passed this way,' and was off again. Suspecting that something was wrong, the engineer and his companion ran along the road, and around a bend came upon two men who had been shot. One was dead, and the other gasped his last breath as the two hurried up. As he expired, the dying man gasped out something about 'the feud.'

This was the first time the engineer had come in contact with death in this form, and he and his companion made up their minds at once to get away, and succeeded, but not before they had had another adventure. There was no passenger train out of the town that night, but a freight passed the station. The two men boarded that and found another occupant in the car they entered. He was a genuine Kentucky mountaineer, and the first thing he did was to offer the two Northerners a drink from the flask he carried. They refused his hospitality, upon which the Kentuckian declared they had insulted him, and, pulling a six-shooter, began firing at their legs and feet until they were glad to reconsider their resolution and help him empty the bottle."—Newark Sunday Call.

Street cars Again Cross the Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, June 29.—Street cars have again crossed the Kansas river, connecting the two cities after an interruption of exactly four weeks, caused by the great flood. Armourdale is now easy of access, but Argentine will be cut off for weeks to come. There is still no wagon bridge across the Kansas river, but two will be completed this week. In replacing the destroyed bridges stronger and higher roadways will be built to withstand future floods. Rains along the upper Kansas river brought a four foot rise here. Fifteen hundred men and 300 teams are working in the stockyards removing mud and rubbish. It will cost $50,000 to clean the yards, and repairs will require a large sum.

No Verdict Yet In Jones Murder.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 29.—A special from Wilson, N. C., says: "The jury has not yet agreed on a verdict in the Jones murder case. They now have had the case more than twenty-four hours, and there is no indication that they are ready to render a verdict. Judge Shaw visited the courthouse, but was told by the officer that no verdict had been reached. It begins now to look like a mistrial. The judge, however, has decided to keep the jury together until all hopes of a verdict are given up, and it is probable that he will keep them together all of this week if they fail to agree."

Canal Discussion In Colombia.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The state department received a dispatch from Minister Beaupre at Bogota saying that the canal discussion had been opened in the Colombian house by a representative opposed to the canal treaty, who began by calling for the documents relating to the treaty. The government objected on the ground that it was not ready to present the treaty to the house, but would do so later. The government's position was sustained by a vote of 38 to 5.

ROOSEVELT AT OYSTER BAY.

Quiet Sunday by the Sea—Summer Arrangements by Secretary Loeb.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 29.—President Roosevelt passed a quiet Sunday with his family at his Sagamore Hill home. During the afternoon some relatives and personal friends called to extend their greetings to the president and his family. The president, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and their children, attended divine service at Christ church, of which Mrs. Roosevelt is a member. At the conclusion of the services an opportunity was taken by the members of the parish to pay their respects to the chief executive.

It is announced by Secretary Loeb that the president will receive few callers at Sagamore Hill this summer, and those who hope to see him will be obliged to make engagements through Mr. Loeb in advance of their arrival at Oyster Bay. The president will devote his mornings to the transaction of executive business and his afternoons to recreation and rest. During the afternoons, too, he will receive such callers as may have engagements with him or those whom he may summon to Sagamore Hill.

President Roosevelt's work will all be done in his library at Sagamore Hill.

BRITISH NOT DEFEATED.

Latest From Somaliland Denied Report of Disaster.

LONDON, June 29.—According to a dispatch from Jibutil, Abyssinia, to the effect that the Mad Mollah had destroyed five British posts between Burao and Bohotle, in Somaliland, and that thirty-nine British officers were killed and 2,000 native soldiers taken prisoners is contradicted by the war office here. A telegram denying the report has been received from Somaliland.

The latest news of the Mad Mollah was that he was hovering eastward of the British forces, threatening the lines between Burao and Bohotle, which were the only British means of communication with the coast. General Manning was expected to reach Bohotle June 26 with re-enforcements.

The war office dispatch received was sent by General Manning from Bohotle June 26 and announced his arrival there unopposed. He captured a number of the Mad Mollah's camels and sheep while on his way to Bohotle. General Manning added that this flight of the Mad Mollah would have been turned into a rout if it had been possible to send a column of sufficient strength from Bohotle.

Pope Is In Usual Health.

ROME, June 29.—The Spanish embassy at the Vatican has received telegrams from Madrid anxiously inquiring about the health of the pope, saying that from a reliable source it was learned that his holiness was seriously ill. The rumor soon spread here, producing the usual sensation. On going to the Vatican, however, it was found that it was only another false alarm. The pope is in his usual health and received in private audience the bishop of Ibague, Colombia. The pontiff conversed with him on the conditions prevailing in the South American republics and the necessity of raising the standard of the clergy so that they might contribute to the intellectual and moral progress of the people. His holiness retired sooner than usual, but merely because he wished to rise early, today being St. Peter's day.

MRS. CLAWSON BORNE TO REST

REV. DR. WILLIAM R. RICHARDS OFFICIATES AT FUNERAL.

Beautiful Flower Tributes—Interment at Hillside Cemetery—The Pallbearers.

The funeral services of Mrs. Frank T. Clawson were held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late home in West Seventh street, where a large number of relatives and friends had gathered. Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, a former pastor of the dead woman, officiated at the services and offered tender words of sympathy to the family and friends. Three selections, Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," "O, Paradise, O, Paradise," and "The Hymn of the Homeland," were sung by the Lotus Glee Club, of New York.

There was a profusion of floral tributes from friends and relatives, including a large bunch of cut roses from nine associates forming a social club of which Mrs. Clawson was a member, and a smilax wreath festooned with pink roses from a similar association composed of six young women. There were also a bank of roses and sweet peas tied with lavendar ribbon and a large number of cut flowers. Perhaps, the most touching tribute was a bunch of roses from Mrs. Clawson's five-year-old son. These were placed within the casket.

The interment was in Hillside Cemetery and these were the pallbearers: Alfred Holmes, John Faxon, Ferderick Nichols, Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, Asa F. Randolph and Frank J. Hubbard.

But Just Watch the Returns.

The people of North Plainfield, especially the annexationists, have always complained that Somerset County has never done anything for them. The action of the chairman of the Republican County Committee in deciding to place one of his two new voting machines in North Plainfield must therefore be considered in the nature of heaping coals of fire upon the heads of the complainants.—Newark Evening News.

OVER TEN INCHES OF RAIN

GREATEST PRECIPATION FOR JUNE SINCE 1887.

Facts and Figures of Interesting Nature Concerning This Month's Weather.

June, 1903, breaks all records since 1887, according to the weather bureau man. In 1887 the reports showed that it rained nearly all the month and rained hard. When the weather man for Plainfield got the dampness computed the rainfall for the month was scheduled at 10.12 inches.

June, 1903, has 7.42 inches of moisture to its credit. For fifty-two days before the rainfall of the present month started there had hardly been enough rain to keep the dust settled. here was less than one inch of rainfall and in some districts prayers were offered for rain that the crops might be benefitted. While this was true of the East generally the West was being deluged. Rain was the rule nearly every day in the great grain-growing districts of the West.

Then came the storm that had been waited and prayed for. It came and with little intermission it has been here ever since. The average rainfall in the month of June for the past thirty-two years has been 3.16 inches. The years of 1887, 1871 and 1902 helped to bring up this average. The month of June, 1903, will increase it. But even with this average the rain of yesterday up till 4 o'clock had registered 2.49 inches. There was a greater rainfall in the few hours that it poured yesterday than there was in the whole month of June in several years. In 1898 there was 1.28 inches and less than two inches in 1899, while in 1901 there was less than an inch.

JERSEY LAWYERS' GAIN.

May Practice in New York If They Have Offices in That State.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 30—The Court of Appeals of New York State has made an important amendment to the rules governing the right to practice law in this State.

Heretofore New Jersey lawyers having cases before New York courts were only permitted to be heard by the courtesy of the court, which was not always extended. By the new rule any New Jersey lawyer may, without change of residence, be admitted to practice in the metropolis, a sufficient proof being furnished that he intends to open and permanently maintain an office in New York State.

The result of the this rule is that many lawyers, who have hitherto been inconvenienced in pushing their cases in New York, will open offices in that city.

A MERCHANT DISAPPEARS

WILLIAM SCADDEN LEAVES HOME, AND WHEREABOUTS ARE UNKNOWN.

Englishman Starts for Homesdale, and His Store is Closed in Consequence.

William Scadden, who has a shoe store at Peapack, N. J., disappeared on June 2, and his friends think that he may have been murdered. On that date he told some friends that he was going to Honesdale, Penn., to purchase stock, and would be back the next day. He borrowed about $30—enough with what he had, to make up $1,000.

That is the last which has been seen or heard of Scadden by his friends. He has not been to Honesdale, which has been discovered by writing to the shoe factory in that town with which he dealt. His store in Peapack is closed. All the stock in the store is paid for, and the missing man does not owe much money in that town. It is feared that he may have met with foul play owing to the fact that he carried a large sum of money. Scadden is an Englishman about forty years old. He walks with the assistance of a cane held under his right knee.

Prophet of Plainfield High School Class of 1903 Predicts Destinies of Members.

PUBLISHED BY REQUEST

SEER PROMISES MUCH FOR FUTURE LAWYERS, DOCTORS AND MINISTERS.

Fate of Each Member Fortold in Humorous Vein—All Sorts and Conditions of Occupations—To Scatter to Four Winds.

The class prophecy of 1903, Plainfield High School, has won many praises and is reprinted below at the request of readers. Harold C. Brown was the author.

Colombo, Ceylon, June 3, 1928.

My Dear "Rabbit":—

I cannot tell you how sorry I am that I have not kept up the correspondence which we started, but you know how things crowd into our lives and keep us from doing all we should like. But now I'm going to set everything aside and write. First I must tell of a happy meeting which I have just had with some of our old friends, and of what I learned from them about the others.

The other day as I stood on the wharf watching a launch coming from the U. S. Battleship Plainfield, I was startled by an undignified yell from a staid-looking officer in the stern. As the launch drew nearer I recognized the ne'er-to-beforgotten face of Fred VanAuken, who has now become a rear Admiral. You could hardly imagine my delight at seeing him, especially in this out-of-the-way hole, where one never expects to see an old aquaintance.

After Fred and I had fallen into each others arms and had slapped each other on the back for about five minutes, we went up to my bungalow, and immediately started to reminisce. Suddenly, I had a thought, (an usual thing for me, don't you know.) I remembered hearing that one or two '03 fellows were in this vicinity—Bob Meeker at Calcutta, and "Curly" Ulrich at Batavia, in Java; so I suggested to the Admiral that we have a sort of class reunion.

And this we did. Since all the officials here were on their knees to Fred, that mighty man of valor, it was an easy thing to have a revenue cutter sent for the two D. D.'s—the Right Reverend Robert Meeker, Bishop of the Indian Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and Rev. Dr. Carl Ulrich, missionary to the Paphlomian Malays. Don't you laugh at Bob and "Curly" as ministers, for the Vicar of Wakefield isn't in it with them.

Well, they arrived the next day, and along with them Charles Noble "Hiram" Doolittle, a dashing Captain of the 216th Cavalry, U. S. A., who had been shooting mountain lions in northern India, and had happened to be visiting the Bishop when my message arrived.

When we five were gathered together we resurrected old experiences, I can tell you. First of all we had the finest banquet the place could produce; all the fruits and vegetables cames from my own garden. You didn't think I had the making of a farmer in me when I was in school, did you? Mike Moynihan first led me to it by some learned articles he brought out in the Atlantic Monthly on "The Pleasure of a Life of Quiet Retirement in the Country." I started in a small way in camphor, and now control the market.

"Hi's" tongue was in it's old-time limber condition, and he gave us lots of news.

Luther Sheppard, he told us, is one of the leading reporters on the New York American. He runs the sporting column, which fact, the Captain said, accounted for the inaccuracy of the baseball scores.

"Oxey" Moore has gained a reputation for himself as America's greatest humorist, and, sad to relate, still spends his time writing puns of the worst sort. But he laughs less, perhaps because others laugh more.

"Berty" Beers has distinguished himself as professor of Greek in the Brown University for Deaf Mutes, which was founded by Cyril Brown, with the millions which he has amassed from the invention of a sure cure for colic. Flossie Martin, according to rumor, might have been Mrs. Cyril with all the millions, but preferred to devote her life to the physical improvement of womankind. She Splendid Trip.

Everyone just now is making plans for some kind of an outing on the Fourth of July. Too often in the past has the day been followed by vain wishes that it had been spent in some other way than the one selected, but no such regrets ever attend the trip to Mauch Chunk. Many people travel half over Europe without viewing more romantic scenery than in this, the so-called "Switzerland of America." Rugged mountain peaks are in awe-inspiring contrast to deep chasms and gorges while there is hardly a spot in this section where the artist does not long to plant his easel or the amateur photographer to expose a plate. And the beauty of it is that the jaunt may be made at very moderate expense and within the limit of a day's outing. The New Jersey Central announces an excursion on July 4th to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switchback, the round-trip costing only $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. It is alone worth making the trip to have experienced the novel ride of 14 miles over the gravity road known as the Switchback. There is nothing quite like it anywhere in the country. While it is exciting, the most timid have nothing to fear for the trip is quite safe. A fast special express train will leave Plainfield at 9:22 a. m., and arriving at Mauch Chunk about noon. There is ample opportunity to see and enjoy everything as the return train does not leave until 5:40. The nearest ticket agent will supply circulars giving full details. People who decide to make this excursion will have something to remember all their lives and much to tell their friends. c

Mr. C. D. Lippincott, of 39 Chatham street, says: "I was a victim of kidney complaint and dreadful backache, so bad in damp weather or when I caught cold that I could not get about. I was in the hardware business at this time and the heavy lifting and being on my feet so much greatly aggravated the trouble. I was at my worst when I concluded to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It only required a few doses to convince me that I had the right remedy. My backache disappeared before I had finished the first box."

THEATRICAL.

For a delightful trolley ride and a pleasant afternoon beside the winding Raritan river no pleasanter trip can be taken than a ride to Riverside Park. The boisterous element is an absent quantity, the management making it a point to preserve perfect order. High class vaudeville performances every evening.

Pain inaugurated and amusement season at Manhattan Beach last Thursday evening with his magnificent new spectacle, "Last Days of Pompeii" followed by a gorgeous display of the world-renowned Manhattan Beach fireworks. The opening went off in a blaze of glory. The fame of the attraction drew a crowd of 3,200 people, despite the fact that the weather was still unsettled and the air uncomfortably cool. Traffic Is Impeded by Heavy Storm.

LIKE A WESTERN CLOUDBURST.

Washouts Innumerable Tied Up Railway Trains and Trolley Cars. Long Island and Staten Island Suffer Severely.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Traffic in the outlying sections of the city was crippled by the heavy rainfall and numerous washouts. Flatbush, Gravesend, Flatlands, Manhattan Beach, a large part of Long Island and the upper portions of the Bronx all suffered, and trains and trolley cars ran hours behind their schedules.

One of the most serious washouts occurred not far from the East New York station of the Long Island railroad, where the trains for Manhattan Beach cross the Flatbush avenue-Jamaica tracks.

This washout tied up the race trains bound for the Sheepshead Bay track and delayed the running of the first race.

Washouts are reported on the Far Rockaway branch of the Long Island railroad at Arverne, at Penny Bridge and Bushwick Junction on the main line and at Kowenhoven, near Flatlands.

On the Brighton Beach line, along which trolley cars and elevated trains take thousands to the race track daily, a washout occurred close to the Prospect park station. A huge bowlder and heavy fence fell on a train bound for the beach and stampeded the passengers.

Ten women in the car went into hysterics and were carried from the stalled train by men who waded through water waist deep in the cut to go to their relief.

Williamsburg was a bad sufferer from the tremendous rainfall. In the lower section of the Nineteenth ward the streets were flooded, residents were imprisoned in their homes, children could not reach their schools, and the street cars were tied up for more than an hour.

Washouts are reported along the line of the Midland Electric railroad, which runs through the interior of Staten Island. The road is badly flooded most of the way from Richmond to Stapleton.

The shore line of the Staten Island Electric Railroad company was also badly handicapped at South Beach and Bullshead and Mariner's Harbor, and the commuters on this line experienced the same fate as those on the Midland line.

There were also bad washouts along the line of the Amboy division of the Staten Island Rapid Transit railroad.

Wanted Evicted Irish to Return.

LONDON, June 30.—The house of commons devoted about six hours to the Irish land bill, during which a number of amendments were offered and withdrawn later. John Redmond showed a conciliatory spirit, cutting off the debate on the part of the Nationalists with the remark that the time could better be devoted to some other sections of the bill. The most interesting amendment was offered by William O'Brien to empower the land commissioners to negotiate with the existing tenants with a view to securing the return of evicted tenants to their former holdings in case the latter so wished. The amendment was strongly urged by Mr. O'Brien, who declared that it was an essential social feature of the measure and would greatly aid in restoring contentment in numerous districts. Chief Irish Secretary Wyndham said he was willing to consider the question seriously at the report stage. Mr. O'Brien said that the government was displaying a friendly spirit and agreed to withdraw his amendment.

Insane Farmer's Fatal Work.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 30.—John Claas, an aged farmer residing near Baker's Summit, Bedford county, while temporarily insane attacked his wife with a butcher knife while she was in bed. He stabbed her four times, inflicting fatal injuries. He then attacked his son Justin with an ax, but the son overpowered him after a struggle and took the weapon from him. The son ran from the house and informed neighbors, and upon the party returning to the house they found the aged farmer had hanged himself to a tree near the house. He was dead when cut down. Mrs. Claas, who is seventy-two years of age, cannot survive her injuries.

Croatian Peasants Shot by Troops.

VIENNA, June 30.—One thousand peasants at Kopreinitz, Croatia, where the disturbances lately took place, while attacking the troops quartered there were fired on by the soldiers, who killed five persons and wounded several others. A great number of persons were arrested, and a battalion of infantry has been sent thither. So many persons have been arrested at Warasdin, where disturbances also occurred, that the prisons are full, and the authorities are using private houses and stables as prisons.

Plague of Lice In Orchards.

ALBION, N. Y., June 30.—A plague of lice has visited the apple orchards in Orleans county. The growers spray the trees with whale oil, but so far without effect. If the lice are not checked the apple crop of the county, valued at over $1,000,000, will be ruined. The apple borer is also at work.

Suspect Held For Hoplock Murder

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 30.—Frederick F. Williams was arrested on suspicion of having murdered Joseph E. Hoplock, whose body was found floating in Staten Island sound.

CONVINCING TESTIMONY.

$1,000.00 will be forfeited to any one proving this letter not genuine.

Briggs Ave., Morris Park, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1902.

Enclosed please find bill for Washer, with cash to settle same. I can hardly express my satisfaction with the machine, and thoroughly agree with you that the first time you use it you like it, but the more you use it the better you like it. I did not believe it possibly could do what you claimed, but thought it must have some good points, or you could not venture to send one on free trial. The free trial is a splendid idea, as I never should have been induced by any amount of advertisements to invest my money to find out if it was a good machine. I stood amazed as I lifted the articles from the washer on my first trial, articles that as I put them in were so soiled that I exclaimed: "Oh, yes, they'll come out clean and white—?" But they certainly did! I have three little ones and plenty of washing, and pretty much soiled generally, but my only regret is that I did not have the washer years ago, and thus have saved myself very much. Thanking you for being the means of robbing washday of its terrors, I am,

Yours very truly,
MRS. E. H. VOSE.

REMEMBER—You take absolutely no risk, incur no expense or obligation whatever. The washer is sent by us on 30 days' trial. Express to your door in Plainfield or suburbs and positively without any advance or deposit of any kind.

FAST IN STIFF BLOW

Reliance Proves Herself Swift In a Heavy Breeze.

BEFORE THE WIND IS VERY SPEEDY

Herreshoffs' New Yacht Beats Both Old Cup Defenders by Over Four Minutes In Thirty Mile Race.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 30.—The new cup yacht Reliance proved her worth as a heavy weather boat when she defeated the Columbia and Constitution in a stiff easterly breeze and lumpy sea over a thirty mile course, fifteen miles of which was a beat to windward. The newest Herreshoff creation sailed the course in 4 minutes and 9 seconds less time than did the Columbia and 4 minutes and 58 seconds less than did the Constitution.

What surprised the experts the most was the performance of the Columbia. In the previous races between the three ninety footers the showing made by the older boat has caused people to say that she had gone back, and at no time this season has the Constitution had any difficulty in beating her. All the racing in which these boats have participated has been in light airs and smooth water, but this time there was a smashing good whole sail breeze blowing and considerable jump to the water, conditions that are exactly suited to the Columbia.

With her owner, E. D. Morgan, at the helm the old cup defender sailed a grand race, reaching the windward mark only 1 minute and 56 seconds astern of the Reliance and 1 minute and 31 seconds ahead of the Constitution.

On the run home, however, with spinnakers and balloon jib hoisted, the Reliance pulled away steadily from both of her opponents, while the Constitution gained considerably on the Columbia. Captain Barr sailed the new sloop for all there was in her and gave her rigging and spars a thorough testing. Twice he wore ship when maneuvering for the start, and on each occasion a gust of wind healed the craft down until the water was nearly up to the hatches.

This race was the first of a series given by the New York Yacht club, and there will be racing all this week. Ex-Commodore E. Cass Ledyard has offered a cup for the boat making the best showing in the series, and Rear Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt will give a cup to the craft that comes off second best.

PRESIDENT TO SEE RACE.

Lipton Will Go to Newport Thursday For Sight of Defender.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Sir Thomas Lipton, on board the Erin at Sandy Hook, was hoping for a chance to continue the tuning up of the challenger, but the weather did not clear sufficiently to permit taking the Shamrocks out for a trial. He said that considerable weight would soon be removed from the challenger and that frequent changes would be made in her during the tuning up process.

Sir Thomas will see the Reliance for the first time on Thursday, when he goes to Newport to see the race between the three American boats. Captain Wringe of Shamrock III. and Captain Bevis of Shamrock I. will accompany him.

Sir Thomas has accepted an invitation to visit the Larchmont Yacht club. He said that President Roosevelt had promised to see the international cup races. Sir Thomas was pleased by the president's interest in the races.

Roosevelt Enjoys Ride In Rain.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 30.—Not daunted by the drenching rain, President Roosevelt, accompanied by two of his sons and some members of the J. West Roosevelt family, went for a long horseback ride. They were soaked thoroughly, but had an enjoyable outing. Arrangements were completed by Secretary Loeb for the president's trip to Huntington, N. Y., on the Fourth of July. He will go to assist in the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the town. The trip will be made from Sagamore Hill to Huntington bay in the Sylph. At the landing, which is about a mile from Huntington, the president will be met by a reception committee and under the escort of local militia organizations will be driven to the stand in the village from which he will deliver a brief address.

Woman Disappears From Steamer.

BOSTON, June 30.—A woman who registered as E. Hopkins of Portland, Me., on the steamer Governor Dingley, occupying a stateroom on the trip to Portland, Me., and on the beginning of the return trip Sunday night to Boston disappeared. The window in her stateroom was open, and the woman's gold watch and other effects were in the room. A hand bag contained a writing tablet on which were the initials "E. H." and several addresses in East Boston. The woman was unknown at the addresses given.

Pennsylvania Stock All Taken.

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—Official announcement is made by one of the executive officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad company that the latest returns show that the $75,000,000 of new stock has all been taken by the shareholders and that 90 per cent of it has been paid up in full.

Hanna Will Visit Tennessee.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 30.—United States Senator Marcus A. Hanna will spend next Sunday at Lookout Inn, near here, on his way to Thomasville, Ga. It is understood that he will get a rousing reception at the latter place.

Plainfield, N. J., June 30, 1903.

Unquestionably the exposures in the postal department Payne the President.

You can't Hyde the fact that the biggest society wedding of the season takes place today.

Judge Kirkpatrick declares that "suckers are born every hour." Well, where do the others come from?

That "Iowa idea" is forgotten for the time being and the Delaware idea is the leading figure in the public drama.

Sir Thomas Lipton visited Coney Island on Sunday. Possibly he was looking for a place to exhibit the Shamrock III.

The statement of Edward H. Southern that women rule the destiny of the theatre is too narrow. "All the world's a stage" when one considers the sphere of her authority.

No wonder Hanna declines to run the chances of being nominated for the presidency, when one realizes what work devolves upon the chief executive of this Nation. The strenuous life isn't to his fancy.

What has become of Frank Somers' boom for the governship? Possibly Somerset County has decided to be more modest and will nam a man for sergeant-at-arms at the next Republican convention.

The Union County Standard says that "a fortune is waiting to be handed out to the man who will invent a self-tying shoestring." There's much more for the person who invents a shoestring that won't come untied.

Santos-Dumont had an American small boy as a passenger in his airship the other day. If they had only stayed in that airship a while the American boy possibly would have had Santos-Dumont as his passenger. For a rising generation the American lad is without a peer.

In the announcement of the teaching corps for the North Plainfield schools we are pleased to find that Supervising Principal Homer J. Wightman is to remain. The excellence of the borough's schools is due to his able administration. He is the right man in the right place.

Attention is called to the noisy conduct of trolley employes at the East Fifth street switch after the midnight hour. Residents along that thoroughfare declare that the conductors and motormen indulge in such loud and uncalled for conversation that they are deprived of sleep. This same complaint is made by people residing in the vicinity of the car house in West Fourth street. The thoughtless practice should be stopped at once.

Clergymen in Orange are fighting Sunday baseball, while those in Belleville are lined up against bicycle racing. In all parts of the State the ministers are waging a war against the desecration of the Lord's day. Sunday golf should come in for its share of attention. Someone has said in a past age that laws are made by the rich for the poor to obey. Let it not be said in these times. There should be one law for one people. Sunday sports are demoralizing and should be stopped. The pulpit and the press should unite in preventing this violation of the State law.

Chief T. O. Doane gives timely warning to those who yearly persist in foolhardy practices on Fourth of July. The placing of firecrackers, rockets, torpedoes or other fire works on a sidewalk is admittedly dangerous and will not be tolerated. The Chief proposes to prosecute any one found violating his order against such use of fire works. Thousands of dollars worth of valuable property are destroyed every Fourth simply because of the reckless and unlawful acts of people celebrating the day in this fashion. If a citizen observes any violation of the Chief's order he should consider it his duty to notify the police or fire department at once.

Editor, The Daily Press:—

Having noticed several statements in your paper relative to the concert given in the T. A. B. Hall June 25, for the benefit of the Muhlenberg Hospital, in justice to the performers I will state a few facts. First it was stated in your paper that there was a misunderstanding between John Venerable and the performers about the salary. This is not true as W. D. Jones, acting in behalf of the performers, had arranged with Mr. Venerable to the effect that they would receive half of the salaries at the end of the first half of the performance. No money was forthcoming, therefore the concert was stopped. At a later date Mr. Venerable made a statement through your valuable paper to the effect that he had sustained a personal loss of fifteen dollars. Enough tickets were sold before the concert to meet expenses. By request the performance will be repeated at an early date.

The runaway was captured before any damage was done to the wagon or to the horse.

WHAT TWENTY-FIVE YEARS WILL BRING

is President of the New Woman's Club of America, and is Captain of the champion All-American Women's Basket-ball team.

Dorothy Waldo is a virtuoso on the violin. She has played before the Emperor of Germany and George Fifth of England. "Hi" says that when she is at home she resides in Plainfield, and performs her duties as honorary President of the W. C. T. U., in which position she keeps up her old reputation for arguing.

The "Parson" had just received a letter from his sister, in which she told him about some '03 girls. Nellie Rafferty is a shining belle of new Chicago society. Our demure little Friend, Mabel Vail, after graduating from college studied medicine, and is now matron of Muhlenburg Hospital, the largest in the United States. At the same place Edna Long is consulting-physician. Annis Kinsman has gone on the stage, and has of late been playing in several Shapespearean dramas, gaining special commendation in her part as Lady Macbeth. Grace Ten Eyck started life as secretary to J. Pierpont Morgan's widow. She began to speculate, and soon made a fortune out of United Universe Airship Preferred.

The Bishop recollected that a year ago he had attended a performance of the United Combined Unalloyed Circus and Hippodrome, run and owned by "Hank" Meeker and "Vin" Miner. The musk-trainer was Clarence Rocap, and the senseless clown, the brainy Hill. The managers, according to Bob, are also owners of the World's Electricity Supply Co., which draws electricity from the clouds. Among the directors of this concern is Ralph Savoy Lane, the sole political light of '03. He is Secretary of State under President Jones. And would you believe it? Mrs. President, who is said to be the power behind the throne, is none other than Louise Montfort Taylor Jones.

Since I have kept somewhat in touch with one or two members of the class still in the States, I myself knew about most of the others. Harriet Randall is renowned as a learned professoress of dancing in the co-educational University of Washington. Ethelyn Davis is instructor of music in the same institution.

But sweet Martha Maier and sedate Ethel Rogers have surpassed them all. The first is president of Bound Brook University, the largest in the country. The last has won her fame as a great distorian. Among her works are a "History of Mars" and a "History of Plainfield."

Lucie May Coriell, Alice Allegra Pugh, and Majorie La Tourette Burke no longer bear those names, but as mesdames lead the society at Dunellen, the Newport of today.

As to Helen Moodey, we are not sure. The last I heard of her was as a reporter for the woman's page of the Manila Telegraph. "Hi" says she married an army officer, and now lives somewhere in Borneo. The "Parson" is sure she is a missionary in Central Asia.

Mayhap, dear "Rabbit," you have noticed that none of our number has passed away. We five decided that the class owed its longevity to Dr. "Dick" Conant's "Life-Prolonging Fluid," which has at least tided us over many a critical point. Ours is the greatest class old P. H. S. ever graduated, and I'm glad I'm in it.

Write soon, and tell me when they're going to make you Governor of Alaska. Your old class-mate,

"Doc" Brakely.

W. L. Holbert, of Newark, has returned home after a visit of a few days with Plainfield friends.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil, of East Fourth street, has been spending a few days with friends in New York City.

Edward Shearer, of West Front street, has accepted a position with J. A. Smith & Brother, grocers.

WIN RACES AT KIEL

American Bluejackets Outrow German Tars.

EMPEROR PRESENTED A SILVER CUP

Admiral Cotton and His Captains Say Farewell to the Kaiser, Who Responds That the Visit Has Charmed Him Personally.

KIEL, Prussia, June 30.—The United States cruiser Chicago's sailing cutter, entered by Midshipman Stephen C. Rowan, won Princess Henry's prize for war ships' cutters.

The American boat was in competition with the cutters of the German ships Freya, Hohenzollern, Frauenlob, Ariadne, Blitz and Hagen.

The sailing launch of the United States cruiser San Francisco, entered by Ensign George W. Steele, Jr., won the prize in the race for war ships' launches.

The launch of the German turret ship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse was second, and that of the United States flagship Kearsarge, entered by Lieutenant Henry C. Mustin, was third.

The Americans had four boats entered in three events, while the Germans had thirty-seven, and the American crews were not familiar with the course and had not specially trained for the occasion.

More than 100 sailing launches covered the lower bay, for, besides the boats against which the American crews raced, eighty German boats took part in seven other events. The closest contest and the one which attracted most attention from the Germans was that between the large launches.

Lieutenant Mustin led after the first quarter of a mile and gradually increased his lead until near the finish he was one-eighth of a mile ahead of the San Francisco's launch. Then what was probably a civilian's yacht which was running obliquely yelled something unintelligible to Lieutenant Mustin, and a few moments later the stranger's bowsprit ran through the sail of the Kearsarge's launch, tearing away part of it. Before the two boats could be disentangled the San Francisco's launch passed and a hundred yards behind her the launch of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

Lieutenant Mustin and Ensign Steele both outsailed the German boats in turning the mark buoys, gaining several seconds on each turn. The German crews, although they cheered the American winners, could not help feeling vexed, because they had been training for a fortnight for this event.

The emperor presented the prizes to the winners at the yacht club in the shape of personal gifts to the officers commanding the launches. Ensign Steele received a silver cup. "I hope you will drink many a bumper out of it," said Emperor William, handing it to him. Lieutenant Mustin and Midshipman Rowan, who sailed the Chicago's small cutter, received large silver cigarette boxes.

The officers of the United States squadron received a thousand guests on board the flagship Kearsarge, principally German naval officers and visiting Americans.

Mr. Meyer, United States ambassador to Italy, lunched with Emperor William on the Hohenzollern.

The emperor again sent to Allison V. Armour of Chicago to inquire if he would not dock his steam yacht, the Utowana, which was damaged in collision, but Mr. Armour declined, as the yacht is not disabled.

Mr. Armour will accompany the emperor on the latter's yacht Meteor to Eckernfoerde.

In bidding Emperor William farewell on board the Hohenzollern Rear Admiral Cotton in behalf of the captains and officers of his squadron said they would carry away with them unforgettable memories of the hospitality and courtesy that had been shown them during their stay here. The emperor replied that the visit had been charming to him personally, and he hoped it would be enduring in its impress on the friendship between the two nations.

Admiral Cotton and the captains of the American war ships attended a dinner given by the yacht club in honor of the emperor and sat with his majesty and United States Ambassador Tower in the garden for an hour witnessing the display of rockets by the combined fleets and the playing of the vessels' searchlights.

The emperor will leave Kiel on the Meteor, while the Hohenzollern will leave in the morning, flying the emperor's flag, which will be saluted as though the emperor were aboard.

The jackies of the Kearsarge gave a minstrel show and boxing show. Twenty men and four officers from each of the German ships were present. It was the first time that many of the German sailors had seen boxing. The American squadron will leave Kiel this evening.

Kaiser's Inspection Was In Order.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Secretary Moody has received telegrams from newspaper editors and others inquiring as to published reports that Emperor William's inspection of the Kearsarge was sharply criticised in the navy department and was considered a breach of naval etiquette. In reply the secretary said: "No criticism of the emperor's inspection of the Kearsarge has been uttered by any responsible person in this department so far as I can ascertain. I am informed further by Rear Admiral Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation, that the emperor's inspection is in no way subject to criticism and can be considered in no light other than courteous attention on the emperor's part to us. It is a long established custom for foreign officials to inspect battle ships of friendly nations and is regarded as an honor."

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

NEW WOMAN IDEAS

What They Stand For

HERE is a story of the old woman and her ways. It was in a girls' boarding "home"—strictly old fashioned kind, girls fenced off to themselves, taught to be weak, defenseless, submissive, never to let anybody know they had physical strength or courage, even if they possessed any, because it was "unwomanly" to be otherwise than cowardly. No girl was allowed to have a latchkey. Every one must be in at nightfall and tell the matron just what she had been doing all day. One morning the girls and one of their female bosses were in the library at prayers. The female boss was reading the prayers. Not a be creature was ever allowed in the house, and the girls were kept away from them as from monsters, strictly according to old woman notions. That morning, however, a meek little man was down at the front door repairing the bell. He weighed 120 pounds. Suddenly two drunken fellows saw the door open and in a crazy freak ran in past the bell hanger, past the old woman who stood guard and on into the library where the girls were hearing prayers read. The drunken men pulled off their coats and talked big. Of girls, bosses and women servants in that house there must have been at least twenty. But they had all been brought up in old woman ways; therefore all they could do was to screech like cats and tumble over one another. Seeing their utter demoralization, the drunken men grew bolder and more bullying. If three new women had been there trained in athletics and taught to keep their heads on they would have simply collared the intruders and marched them out to the street. Their moral force would have given them physical strength even if that had been lacking. But, no! All those twenty women thought they could do was to screech and huddle together. Meantime the one little bell hanger ran into the room, seized hold of the two big fellows and threw them out before they knew what had struck them. Is it not time the new woman was here?

Miss Edith J. Griswold, the patent attorney of New York, is an enthusiastic bicyclist. She is now preparing a cycling calendar. It will contain 365 hearty indorsements of cycling, one for every day in the year, from that number of distinguished individuals in the industrial and professional world.

The fine ladies were having afternoon tea with a friend. All was costly and æsthetic; all the newest fads even in afternoon teas were manifest. A little boy three years old peeped shyly through the open door and gazed, wide eyed, on the scene. He was a rarely fine infant, perfectly formed, with all the radiant loveliness of normal childhood about him, beautiful as one of Raphael's baby angels. "Oh, oh, oh!" exclaimed the ladies. "How exquisite! Who is he? Come here, you little cherub, and let me kiss you!" "Do they think poor people can't have beautiful children?" grimly muttered the cook to herself as she snatched up her boy and took him back to where he had strayed from the kitchen.

Are you sure you are getting your right share of sunshine and outdoor air these days?

* *

No neighborhood is so poor that it cannot have a common clubhouse for lectures and social gatherings, even weddings. Jewish people have set a good example in this matter. If a grand social event, like a wedding or large reception or ball, is on, a suitable hall is hired for the occasion even among the wealthy. Thus all the nerve racking worry is taken out of the home to a more convenient place.

* *

One of the most efficient sanitary inspectors in this country is Mrs. Joanna von Wagner of Yonkers, N. Y. She is a refined woman and a linguist and can talk to the slum people in their own various languages. This gives her great advantage. She takes all a woman's sympathetic interest in helping people and in cleaning up things. This has enabled her to work a marvelous change among the poorer, consequently dirtier, districts of Yonkers. There ought to be women sanitary inspectors in every town and city in the Union.

Woman only wants now interior illumination of mind and soul to make her equal to her opportunities. She must know she is no longer to be the emotional, irresponsible creature of the Turkish harem, but a reasoning, thinking individual with a soul which she herself must save if it is saved at all.

* *

Dr. Lyman Abbott roars against woman suffrage in the columns of the Outlook, but when a woman wishes him to print a brief article in reply from the other side he answers that he will not discuss the question in his paper. This conspicuous example of the fairness and logicalness of the masculine mind tends to induce women to trust their interests to men, does it not?

* *

John Bickfer, a powerfully built six footer, told a judge in court that he'd be hanged if he'd work; he'd go to jail first, because his wife was a janitress, had a "good, easy job" and was able to support him and the children too. The woman who is willing to support an ablebodied husband ought to have to do it fifty years.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

"All your horses in and all right, this morning, Hay?"

"None have been out," said Hay, stoutly, "unless they've gone within an hour. I never let them have the keys, you know, over night. Pete brought them to me at eight last evening and got 'em at six this morning, the usual time."

"Where does he get them—without waking you?" asked Webb.

"They hang behind the door in my sleeping room. Pete gets them when he takes my boots to black at six o'clock."

"Come over to the stables," said the commanding officer, and, wondering, Hay followed.

They found the two hostlers busily at work grooming. In his box stall, bright as a button, was "Harney," Hay's famous runner, his coat smooth as satin. Hay went rapidly from stall to stall. Of the six saddlers owned by him not one gave the faintest sign of having been used over night, but Webb, riding through the gangway, noted that "Crapaud," the French halfbreed grooming in the third stall, never lifted his head. Whatever evidence of night riding that might earlier have existed had been deftly groomed away. The trader had seen suspicion in the soldier's eye, and so stood forth, triumphant:

"No, Maj. Webb," said he, in loud, confident, oracular tone, "no horse of mine ever gets out without my knowing it, and never at night unless you or I so order it."

"No?" queried the major, placidly. "Then how do you account for—this?"

Among the fresh hoofprints in the yielding sand, with which the police party had been filling the ruts of the outer roadway, was one never made by government horse or mule. In half a dozen places within a dozen rods, plain as a pikestaff, was the print of a bar shoe, worn in the off foot of just one quadruped at the post—Hay's swift running "General Harney."

CHAPTER V.

Only an hour was the major away from his post. He came back in time for guard mounting and the reports of the officers-of-the-day. He had reason to be on the parade at the "assembly of details," not so much to watch the work of the post adjutant pro tempore, as the effect of the sudden and unlooked-for change on certain of the customary spectators. He had swiftly ridden to the camp of the recreant Stabber and purposely demanded speech with that influential chieftain. There had been the usual attempt on part of the old men left in charge to hoodwink and to temporize, but when sharply told that Stabber, with his warriors, had been seen riding away toward Eagle Butte at three in the morning, the sages calmly confessed judgment, but declared that they had no other purpose than a hunt for a drove of elk reported seen about the famous Indian race course in the lower hills of the Big Horn. Circling the camp, however, Webb had quickly counted the pony tracks across the still dewy bunchgrass of the bench, and found Schreiber's estimate substantially correct. Then, stopping at the lodge of Stabber's uncle, old "Spotted Horse," where that superannuated but still sagacious chief was squatted on his blanket and ostentatiously puffing a long Indian pipe, Webb demanded to know what young men remained in the vilage. Over a hundred strong, old men, squaws and children, they thronged about him, silent, big-eyed and attentive, Schreiber interpreting as best he could, resorting to the well-known sign language when the crafty Sioux professed ignorance of the meaning of his words:—

"No young men. All gone," was the positive declaration of the venerable head of the bailiwick, when compelled at last to answer. But Schreiber had studied the pony herd and knew better. Moreover, not more than six of their ponies had been led along with the war party that set forth in the early hours of the moonlit morning. Others, both men and mounts, unavoidably left behind, would surely be sent forward at the first possible opportunity, and, much as Webb might wish to turn back to capture the party, well as he might know that other bands were in revolt and Stabber gone to help them, he was powerless under his orders to interfere until by some openly hostile act these laggards of the little band invited his reprisal. The rule of the road, as prescribed by the civil authorities, to which the soldier had sworn obedience, being practically, "Don't defend until you are hit. Don' shoot until you are shot."

Webb came cantering back assured that these frowsy, malodorous lodges concealed, perhaps, half a score of fighting men who were a menace to the neighborhood, and who could be counted on to make it more than interesting for any couriers that might have to be sent between the fort and the forces at the front. Calling Schreiber to his side, as, with long, easy stride their trained mounts went loping swiftly homeward, he gave instructions the veteran heard with kindling eyes. Then, parting from him at the corrals, the commander rode on and dismounted at his quarters just as the trumpeters were forming on the broad, grassy level of the parade.

It was the hour when all the girls were out, looking fair and fresh as daisies, and while the mothers sedately gossiped along the row of broad verandas, their daughters blithely chatted in little groups, or, as might often be, paced slowly with downcast eyes and mantling cheeks at the side of some young gallant who had no thought for other duty than that of the thrilling moment. And here they were, well-nigh a dozen of them, of all ages from 12 to 20, as the major sent his mount to the stables and made quick survey of the scene, and a moment's glance was sufficient to show that among them all there was stir and excitement beyond that which would be caused by so common an incident as the sending forth of a troop on scout. It was the fact that Field had gone and that young Ross was acting in his place that set them all to speculating on the cause. One of their number, promenading with Lieut. Hartley, glanced up at Maj. Webb as they passed him by, with such a word of mingled question and reproach in her soft blue eyes that his heart for the moment smote him. He had never seen Esther Dade looking so languid or wan, yet more of her and for her he had been thinking during the week gone by than of any other girl in or out of the army. Today, however, there was another he eagerly sought to see, and, with something akin to keen disappointment, noted that she was not among the strollers along the board walk or the chatting groups about the steps and gateways. Nor once during her brief visit had she as yet missed guard mounting. Now her absence was significant. In the very eyes of the little party hastening toward him—three young girls and a brace of subalterns—he read question and cross-question, and was thankful to see Hay, the trader, trudging up the walk to join him. So seldom did the old frontiersman enter the quadrangle that people remarked upon his coming—remarked still more when Webb hurried down to meet him.

"You're right about the horses, major," said Hay, mopping a moist and troubled face with a big bandana. "My racer and my best single-footer, Dan, were out last night. Dan's saddle cloth was wet and so was Harney's. Someone outside has got false keys—I'll put new padlocks on at once—but for the life of me I can't think who would play me such a trick. To steal the horses—run 'em off to Rawlins or up the Sweetwater or off to the Hills—I could understand that! but to borrow them for an hour or two—why, it beats me hollow!" And Hay in deep perplexity leaned against the low fence and almost imploringly gazed into the major's face. They all leaned on Webb.

"Any idea who they were?" asked the commander.

Hargis Makes a Record.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Track records suffered a triple break at Washington park. Hargis, in winning the mile and a sixteenth race, cut the old figures half a second, making the new record 1:45. Golden Rule, lugging 134 pounds in the high weight handicap, made the six and a half furlongs in 1:19 2-5, one-fifth of a second better than was ever done before at Washington park. Semper Vivum in the last race reduced the track record for seven and a half furlongs from 1:33 2-5 to 1:33. Sidney C. Love ran his field dizzy in the first race at one mile and made the distance in 1:38 3-5, winning from Epicure. Last time out Hargis, with less weight and the same distance, finished last in a big field, but this time he came with a rush at the end and if driven out might have equaled the world's record.

Pourqoi Pas Won the Handicap.

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—Pourqoi Pas, at 10 to 1, won the Inaugural handicap, the feature of Delmar park's opening day. Pourqoi Pas got off well and set all the pace, winning from Jack Young by half a length, with both driving to the limit. Buccleuth was a good third. Light Opera and Lady Strathmore, equal favorites, finished in the ruck. The ring received a severe scorching by the victory of Pierce J. in the closing event. Pierce J., backed from sixes to threes, finished well in hand.

Wire In Wins at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., June 30.—Wire In, unrestrained by a burden of 108 pounds, won the feature event at Highland park. Six horses accepted the issue, and the race was only between Wire In and Butterscotch, the latter setting the pace for half a mile, Wire In winning by two lengths. In the second race Cabriolet ran away, and after a vain effort to catch her a new book was made on the race.

Blues Wins at Sheepshead.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The heavy rain converted the track at Sheepshead Bay into a quagmire, and mud runners were in great demand. The Bay Ridge handicap, the feature of the card, was won by Blues, with Herbert second and Moon Daisy third. Blues got off in front and, making all the pace, won, ridden out.

Lou Dillon's Mile In 2:04 3-4.

CLEVELAND, O., June 30.—Lou Dillon broke all records for a mile to wagon for trotters, going the distance in 2:04¾. The race was at a matinee of the Gentlemen's Driving club at Glenville track. The horse was driven by her owner, C. K. G. Billings.

Vanderbilt Horse Wins.

PARIS, June 30.—W. K. Vanderbilt's Bright, with "Nash" Turner up, won the Prix du Conseil Municipal, $2,400.

Creosote Works Burn, Loss $200,000.

MOBILE, Ala., June 30.—A special from West Pascagoula says that fire has totally destroyed the West Pascagoula Creosote works, entailing a loss of probably $200,000. The works are said to be the largest in the south. The fire was caused by a piece of hot iron falling on the creosote. An explosion and fire followed.

SPORTING NEWS.

WITH THE ROOTERS.

Alis will play two games of baseball on July 4 with Scotch Plains. The morning game will be played on Crescent Oval and the afternoon game at Scotch Plains. "Warry" MacLaughlin will pitch for Alis in the morning.

Manager John Owens, of the St. Mary baseball team, feels confident that his aggregation will defeat Westfield next Saturday afternoon. He says that his nine can field and bat fully as well as the Mt. Ararat youngsters.

There is a possibility that Enright, formerly of the Safe Works' team, may continue to play with Hope Y. M. A. during the balance of the season. The Hope management has arranged to play two games at Raritan next Saturday.

The Cuban Giants team has booked a game with the Palmer Athleitic Club, of Elizabeth, for a game Saturday morning, July 4 at Elizabeth. Manager Walters is also arranging with the Elizabeth team for a series of Sunday games.

The ball game next Saturday on St. Mary's field promises to be a surprise. Manager Owens, of St. Mary's nine is not saying much but he is firm in his convictions that his team will give Harry Cox's nine, from New Brunswick, a warm reception. Harkins, who plays first base, is an old league player and in the nine is Bradley, formerly connected with the New Yorks.

The game will be played in the morning and will be called at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon St. Mary's will play Westfield at Westfield.

The Westfields have a good card for July Fourth. In the morning the Pearsalls, of Jersey City, will be the opposition. Last year the Westfields downed the Pearsalls 1 to 0 in a 9-inning game and 1 to 0 in a 10-inning game. Last Saturday the Pearsalls beat Madison 6 to 0 and Sunday defeated the Brooklyn Field Club 4 to 0. The one ambition of the Pearsalls is to down Westfield and then July Fourth, team will be constructed for that purpose. The St. Mary's journey down the line for the afternoon game and propose to take a holiday crowd with them to help bring back a victory.

Barnes was unable to play with Alis, Saturday, owing to the illness of his wife. The team missed his stick work considerable.

George Bolsterli played a fine game at second frr Scotch Plains last Saturday. He got everything coming his way and made a pretty catch of a low fly.

Henriquez, the new short stop on Alis team, is probably one of the fastest base-rnnners in this vicinity. When he got on first base, Saturday, he had no trouble stealing second, even with Brogan behind the bat.

The double play made by Alis in the game with Scotch Plains, and was not allowed by Umpire Townley, was one not often seen in this city. Page, the catcher, threw the ball to Henriquez, the short stop, who covered second, and caught a base-runner going in from first. The short stop then returned the ball to the home plate in time to catch a base-runner going in from third. It was the general opinion of everyone that both men were out, but Townley only called the man out at home.

At the game next Saturday, between the Cuban Giants and the Palmer A. C. at Elizabeth, the ball will be twirled for the local team by Davis and King. Manager Walter's new importation from the South, Charlie Johnson, will catch. They say he is great.

Manager William F. Walters, of the Cuban Giants nine, would like to arrange with an out-of-town team for a game Saturday afternoon, July 4. For details address W. F. Walters, manager Cuban Giants, 217 Lee place.

W. F. Walters, manager of the Cuban Giants baseball team, was in Brooklyn yesterday arranging with the Brooklyn Giants for a series of games to be played there. The Brooklyn Giants is a team composed of strong colored players.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The proposed formation of a federation of the Protestant churches of North Jersey, which has been approved by a committee of ministers appointed to investigate the subject, and which bids fair of final accomplishment, is in conformity with the spirit of the times, the combination and amalgamation of interests. The era of trusts in business and associated charities in benevolent work makes it entirely natural that the community-of-interests movement should spread to the churches. The federation idea does not in the least contemplate the wiping out of denominational lines, but it does contemplate co-operation in all Christian work, such as evangelization, civic reform and the betterment of social and moral conditions. The movement in Newark and North Jersey is not a local one, but is part of a plan that extends to all parts of the country and that has already been placed in operation in many communities with success.

The opportunities for usefulness of such an organization are many. If it but properly conserves and directs much energy that now goes to waste, the combination will have been justified. The need of the systematic districting of communities, and the co-operation of the various denominations in the matter of the location of churches so that there will be no working at cross purposes, is nowhere more apparent than in Newark. It is admitted that in some sections of the city there are now more churches than are needed for the accomplishment of the best results, while other parts of the community have been neglected. Rectification of these mistakes of the past, and preventions of similar ones in the future, is a task that of itself might appall the organizers of the federation unless they are certain that the time is ripe for positive Christian unity. The other objects sought to be attained by the organization are not less important, and if it "shall be ready for any service demanded by the united Christian conscience," it will be a power for good in Newark, in North Jersey and throughout the country. — Newark Evening News.
